TIE FOR FIRST PLACE IN ROQUE TOURNAMENT

Three contestants in the tournament of the National Roque association of America, Eastern Division of the American Roque league are tied for first place at the end of the first day's play Tuesday, having perfect scores. George Huot of Chicopee Falls, holder of the first Van Wickle medal, Harold Bosworth of New London and Gerald Brassill of Norwich, winner of the tournament last year, are the three players with perfect scores.

The play on the courts this year is exceptionally fast and many brilliant shots have been made during the matches Tuesday. No perfect games have been played but it is expected that before the tournament ends on Saturday several scores of 33 in succession will be rung up.

This year the playing is confined to two divisions, the first having 11 entries and the second 6 entries. No applications have been received for the third division and it is likely that the division will remain closed.

The tournament opened promptly at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning when President C. B. Crowell of Brattleboro, Vt., asked all to stand and sing America while the flag was raised and then lowered to half mast in memory of the late president, Warren G. Harding. President Crowell said that it is always a pleasure for him to come to the tournament at Norwich but this year it has a greater meaning as it will probably be the last time that the annual tournaments will be played in this city, after having been played here annually for 42 years. He then introduced Mayor Milo Waters who welcomed the players to Norwich.

Treasurer James L. Case said that it is known for some time that Norwich will lose the tournaments.

W. C. Rodman of Philadelphia, former president of the association, said that he had come to the tournament this year with an invitation from the city of Philadelphia to hold the next tournament in that city. Oak Bluffs, Mass., has also extended an invitation to hold the tournament there and the decision will be made at the annual meeting to be held at the club house at 4.30 o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon.

Arrangements — Gerald Brassill, chairman; A. D. Spellman, J. D. Miner.

Rules —W. C. Rodman, chairman; George Huot, C. M. Thompson.

The games started after Mayor Waters had made the first arch and in all fourteen games were played during the day in the first division and nine in the second division. The play was slow as the men were getting used to the courts, but in the evening speed increased and many beautiful caroms were made.

This (Wednesday) evening Gerald Brassill the local young star and George Huot will contest for the first Van Wickle medal. These games are four out of seven and Brassill is challenger for the medal and will give Huot a hard fight. Play for the second Van Wickle medal also begins this evening.

TRI-CITY OUTING PLANS CALLED OFF

Announcement was made Tuesday that the tri-city outing of the Norwich, Putnam and Willimantic Chambers of Commerce planned for Thursday at Connecticut Agricultural college will not take place. It is understood that the plans were called off owing to the fact that so many of the members of the three chambers are at shore resorts or out of town this month that it was found impossible to secure a crowd large enough to warrant the big expense the three chambers would be put to in carrying out the outing programme at this time.

BELL ALARM FOR BLAZING CHICKEN COOP

Box 312 was rung in at 7.39 o'clock Tuesday evening for a fire in a chicken coop in the rear of the house occupied by Alex Wierzeinski at 180 Boswell avenue. The coop was destroyed. A line of 2 inch to 1½ inch hose was quickly laid and water turned onto the blazing structure.

The fire was caused when Mrs. Wierzeinski went into the coop to look for a chicken enlisting the aid of a lighted match to find the chicken which had gone beneath some boxes. She threw the match down thinking it had been extinguished and shortly afterwards the coop was a mass of flames.

BAR HARBOR EXPRESS WRECKS FORD SEDAN

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver D. Jordy and two children of Manchaug, Mass., narrowly escaped death when the Ford sedan in which they were riding was sideswiped by the Bar Harbor express at the Central Village crossing about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning. The sedan was wrecked. Mr. and Mrs. Jordy received slight scratches on the face and body.

The party had been visiting friends in Taftville and had made an early start for home in the machine. Arriving at the Central Village crossing, Mr. Jordy apparently failed to see the approaching train which was traveling at a good rate of speed. The driver's view was obstructed by freight cars which were standing nearby.

The sedan was within a few feet of the tracks when the driver realized his danger and made an effort to swing his car parallel with the tracks. He was unable to accomplish this in time to escape, for the locomotive sideswiped the auto, and shoved it in the direction of from which it had come, completely wrecking it. The members of the party crawled from underneath the car.

The celebration here will be ushered in with the firing of 20 shots at 6.30 a. m., daylight time. At 8.30 the Italian Columbus band, of which Pasquale Puca is director, will begin a parade from Steiner hall. REFERENDUM ON HARD COAL STRIKE

The executive offices of the Connecticut chamber of commerce Tuesday mailed to its member, chambers of commerce in the other New England states, the states of New York and New Jersey letters, asking the members to record in favor or opposed to arbitration of the issues in the threatened coal strike.

An explanation of the "check-off" system is contained in the referendum and states:

In answering this referendum, the cost must be counted. It is one thing to give intellectual assent to a principle, but another to pay for our convictions in terms of sacrifice, hardship and inconvenience.

Whether the anthracite operators will stand up against the demand for the "check off" and insist upon the principle of freedom of employment, thus accepting an apparently inevitable strike, will probably depend wholly upon whether public sentiment promises to support such a stand.

There were, as we understand it, about 35 points of disagreement between the operators and the miners, some of which have been settled, but the crux of the controversy and the cause of the existing break in negotiations is the demand by the union for what is known as the "check off." This is a system "whereby the employer collects union dues and assessments by deducting them from the wages of his employees." It is a tax upon the wages of the workman collected at the source, and its effect, both in purpose and in practice is to compel every miner to join the union. It constitutes "a monopolistic agreement between the union and all anthracite operators, making membership in the United Mine Workers compulsory for all persons throughout the entire industry, except clerical and managerial forces."

A new demand: This would be an innovation in the anthracite industry. The demand is made by the United Mine Workers, as a condition of the continuance of negotiations relative to the other points at issue. Ever since the Roosevelt award following the strike of 1902, the following provision of said award has been readopted and reaffirmed in agreements between the operators and miners:

"No person shall be refused employment or in any way discriminated against on account of membership or non-membership in any labor organization and there shall be no discrimination against or interference with any employee who is not a member of a labor organization by the members of such organization."

The anthracite operators have offered, and stand ready, to submit to arbitration this and all other points of controversy between themselves and the United Mine Workers, the award to be retroactive, provided that production be continued.

MARRIED

CARSON—ROLLINS—In Groton, Aug. 10, 1923, by Rev. George R. Atha, Samuel Carson and Miss Edith M. Rollins.

HOME REMEDIES OF OUR ANCESTORS

Almost every man and woman in America can remember the bateau recipes of our mothers and grandmothers for the treatment of disease, and they were wonderfully dependable, too. Every fall there were stored away in the attic thoroughwort, pennyroyal, catnip, sage, wormwood, rue, etc., for treating ills of the family during the winter months that followed. In 1873 Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was first prepared from one of these botanic recipes, and the demand for it has increased to such an extent that hundreds of tons of roots and herbs are now used annually in its preparation. It has recently been proved that 98 out of every 100 women who try it have been benefited by its use, which is a marvelous record for any medicine to hold.

Whether the front wheels of the car got onto territory subject to King George is not known but at least the Canadian trip was less than fifty feet. This happened when the party were crossing the international bridge. All went well under the jurisdiction of Uncle Sam but when half way across Canadian officers stopped the party. The occupants of the car thought that it was merely a short stop for inspection of baggage. Not so. Mr. Bancroft was informed that no automobiles from the U. S. A. carrying dealers' number plates were allowed to enter the Dominion. The car was turned ed about and headed back into New York state and more of the Empire state and less of the Dominion was seen than had been anticipated.

Grading and fixing up the grounds remains to be done. The plan for the new school building and its consummation is another achievement of the pastor of the parish, Rev. Charles F. Bedard. Since he came to Putnam the value of the parish property has increased many fold, a new parish house has been built and the grounds improved. St. Mary's cemetery has been enlarged and beautified, the old St. Mary's church has been razed, the old wooden school building has been torn down the fine large convent building used for school purposes and for a home for the teachers, the entrance to the new church has been rebuilt and the interior of the church edifice transformed into one of the finest auditorims in the smaller cities of the state. An additional curate has been assigned to Putnam since the coming of Fr. Bedard.

New Jewett Six Wins Famous Hill Climbs

Easily Captures Honors at Albany and Syracuse Over Far More Costly Cars

AT Albany, N. Y., July 21, on the famous New Salem hill—and at Syracuse July 28, on the Brinkerhoff Hill, Jewett Sixes won everything in sight in the annual hill climbing events.

At Albany—67 cars competing, grouped in price classes—Jewett finished first, second, third, fourth and fifth—making the best time in ALL classes—except for second in the free-for-all [where the Paige-built Jewett was beaten by the Paige]. Jewett's best time was 1.19 2-5. All Jewetts entered were owners' cars. The third Jewett in its class event was driven by Miss Trumbell; time, 1.34 3-5.

At Syracuse—against 37 cars, some much higher in price, and many specially designed for hill climbing—Jewett Six, with standard wheel-base and gear ratio, won its piston displacement class event—also finished first in the free-for-all!

Jewett climbed the 1.4 mile Brinkerhoff hill, which has a 489.5 foot elevation from the start to the tape, in 1.31 3-5—a new hill record, defeating many famous specially-built hill climbing cars and celebrated racing drivers. It won every event in which it was entered—made the best time made by any car in the entire contest!

These two notable successes but continue the nation-wide hill climbing successes made consistently by Jewett since its first appearance. "Try to pass it on a hill"—a Jewett Six slogan—has meaty significance!

The NEW JEWETT SIX with 12 major improvements and 41 refinements, at no increase in price still costs you only $1065 factory. It dominates the thousand dollar class in easy handling, comfort, dependability, long life and value as well as in performance!

Come in and we'll let you put a new Jewett Six through its paces. [615-A]

WESTERLY

Representatives of all but one of the local teams in the community hospital campaign, to the number of more than 55, met Tuesday night in the high school auditorium to pick out the names of prospective givers on whom their team members will call.

Since only 60 were expected, the meeting was considered practically as successful as the Monday night gathering, to which all the members of all the local teams were invited and which was attended by more than 300 men and women—nearly 100 per cent. of the local organization.

A spirit of genuine enthusiasm and keen interest in the hospital movement prevailed Monday evening as was shown toward the close of the meeting when a number of well-known and representative people rose to ask pertinent questions, from the floor, which were in each case answered in full.

The meeting was opened by Chairman Utter of the campaign executive committee, who explained how the movement for a hospital originated and outlined the plans for the campaign, which is to begin in a few days.

All the important available facts about the movement were laid before the workers at considerable length, and answers were given to the numerous questions which those who will give will be likely to ask.

Miss Elizabeth Hiscox asked what would be done about the Sanitary Corps ambulance after the hospital as soon as the building is erected and in operation.

Numerous other questions about the new hospital and the present serious lack of hospital facilities, as well as other questions about the methods to be followed in the campaign, showed that the workers are putting considerable thought into the matter and are evidently preparing to make the movement a thorough-going success.

Those present were greatly pleased to hear the announcement that they had completed the local Westerly-Pawcatuck division of thirty teams, every team captain having obtained the full quota of ten members, and that most of the teams in the outlying communities, in the socalled "neighborhood division," have also been completed.

The captains and members of the seven men's teams which have been completed in the last few days, which have not previously been announced, are as follows:

Charles Butler, captain: Robert Hazard, Joseph Gaffney, Thomas Lenihan, Louis Rossi, Edward J. Butler, William J. Alexander, Richard J. Butler, Fazzy Wulz, George Dolan.

A life professional teachers' certificate was issued Monday by the Rhode Island State Board of Education to Elementery School teacher Annie Marie McNelly of Westerly.

In the Westerly town hall Tuesday night, when it was apparent that no member of the Westerly highway commission would be present, and Farquar Smith was the only member of the Westerly town council in attendance, Henry L. Burdick called the meeting to order and asked for the naming of a chairman. Dr. Edwin Whitford was the choice.

Dr. Whitford stated that there being not more than 40 present was undoubtedly due to a misunderstanding, as the impression had been gained that no meeting was to be held.

Harry R. Milner said that owing to the small number present he deemed it unwise to take any action but thought that the necessary steps should be taken for calling a special town meeting.

Henry L. Burdick moved, and it was so voted, that the chairman appoint a representative committee to wait upon the Westerly town council and request them to call a special financial town meeting: in the absence of such action the committee has a petition prepared for such purpose, signed by the necessary 5 per cent. of the electors.

Chairman Whitford named as the committee Henry L. Burdick, William Senar and Angelo Cappuccio. Following adjournment, Henry L. Burdick went to the president of the town council, Clifford Campbell, at Weekapaug, with the request that the necessary special meeting of the council be called. President Campbell stated that a special council meeting would probably be called within the week, as other business was to come up and the committee could appear at that time. At the meeting three women were present from the Watch Hill colony.

Martin, charged with violation of the automobile laws in operating his car at an estimated speed of sixty miles an hour. It was impossible for Martin to overtake Lefebre so a telephone message was sent to the toll collector at Saybrook to cause Lefebre to be intercepted. This was done and Lefebre brought back to Waterford where he was presented before Justice of the Peace Thomas F. Morton. A fine of $25 was imposed and paid.

The body of Michael Welsh, 34, a fireman in the employ of the Merritt-Chapman Scott Wrecking company, was found floating in the Thames river this forenoon by members of the crew of the tug Guardsman, on which boat Welsh had been employed. Welsh has no relatives in this country so far as known, but he has kin in Ireland. Medical Examiner Harold H. Heyer pronounced death due to drowning and gave orders for the removal of the body to an undertaking establishment. Thursday, following the tug docking for the remainder of the day Welsh was observed to go ashore about 5.30 o'clock and it is believed he went to places where liquor was sold and imbibed too freely. Returning to the craft and while attempting to walk from the wharf to the boat, Welsh lost his balance and fell overboard.

Ernest Gordon, Arthur Silliman and Julius Roth, of Hartford, spending a part of the summer at Ocean Beach, were arrested last night by Deputy Sheriff Manuel J. Martin, charged with trespass, upon complaint of Edward G. Hammond of Waterford. They pleaded guilty and their cases were nolled upon paying the costs of the trial. Gordon, Silliman and Foth, who are golf enthusiasts, performed with the stick and ball yesterday afternoon and in so doing entered the estate of Hammond, opposite Ocean Beach. The golfers caused some damage to the Hammond property so Hammond sought the prosecution of the trio.

Peter Przekop of Norwich was fined $25 in the police court today for the extremely reckless operation of an automobile Sunday. Peter admitted that he was speeding 35 to 40 miles an hour, but said he did not regard that as fast. There were five witnesses in court, but Przekop's plea of guilty obviated the necessity of testimony. He smashed into another car at the curve on Williams street near Connecticut college and damaged the car. He had seven or eight persons in the car he was operating.

Walter Hick, who has acquired the liquor or the narcotic habit to a degree that he becomes a wild man when he indulges his appetite, was in the police court this morning to which date the consideration of a complaint against him was continued a week ago. He was charged with having attacked his wife. He and his wife are the owners of real estate and while he is at work on the railroad she labors in one of the mills. They have a daughter about 5 years of age. When Hick was in the court a week ago his sanity was in question because of his unusually wicked disposition, but it has been established that he is mentally sound and that his trouble has been from the absorption of poisonous liquor that is being sold as genuine whiskey. At the time Hick was presented a week ago he was on probation and under a suspended sentence. Today his suspended sentence was withdrawn and he was committed to jail for ten days. When he will have to appear in court to answer for his attack on his wife a week ago.

At the council meeting Monday evening, the matter of the Groton-New London ferryboat was brought up. Manager Willard made a statement of the affairs of the ferry line, which was by no means such as would invite capital to invest in the boat and its operation with the expectation of ever getting the money put into it back again. City Manager Barlow stated that he had an offer of $13,000 for the boat and that he wished the council to decide whether he should accept or reject the offer.

Chief Engineer John A. Stanners, who has been 43 years in the fire department, 23 years as chief, presented his resignation which had the endorsement of the city manager. He asked to be placed on the veteran reserve list of the fire department at a salary to be fixed by the council. The resignation was accepted and Chief Stanners was retired at a salary of $1000 a year. His successor was not appointed.

An ordinance to prevent the throwing of any refuse whatever in the parks and on the beaches of the city had its first reading and will be passed at the council meeting next Monday. It also prohibits the presence of bathers on the pier or on the roof thereof at Ocean beach. A fine of not more than $50 is provided for violations of the ordinance.

Benjamin L. Armstrong and wife gave to the city, and the council accepted the gift, a strip of land 50 feet wide, between Gardner avenue and Thames street, which is to be opened as a street and as building lots. The corner lots on both Montauk and Pequot avenues, the western and eastern terminus of the proposed street are to be retained by the donors.

All of the members were in attendance excepting Councilor William C. Fox. It is the general belief that the office will be tendered a New London resident this time.

UNITED STATES FOREIGN TRADE.

The foreign trade of the United States in the 9 years since the beginning of the war is three-fourths as much as in the 125 years preceding the war. Statements compiled by the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York shows that the foreign trade in the United States in the 9 years from the close of the fiscal year 1914 to the end of the fiscal year 1923 was $77,000,000,000, against $103,000,000,000 in 125 years from the adoption of the constitution to the end of 1914. Imports in the 9 years since the beginning of the war to the end of the fiscal year 1923 are $28,000,000,000 against $50,000,000,000 in the 125 years preceding the war, and exports since 1914 are $49,000,000,000 against $53,000,000,000 in the pre-war period. The excess of exports over imports in the 9 years since the beginning of the war is $21,000,000,000, against an excess of but $3,000,000,000 in the 125 years prior to the war.

The fact that the excess of exports in the 9 years since the beginning of the war is more than double the export excess in the 125 yeras preceding the war is due, says the Trade Record, to the fact that our "favorable trade balance," as the excess of exports is sometimes called, only began in the closing quarter of the nineteenth century when the producing and exporting power of the Mississippi Valley was developed by the extension of plentiful transportation facilities to that area. Prior to 1875 imports usually exceeded exports, but with the increase in transportation facilities and development of production in the interior of the country exports began in 1876 to exceed imports and have so continued to the present time. In the 56 years from 1789 to the end of 1875 there were only 16 occasions in which exports equalled or exceeded imports. In the 48 years since 1875 there have been but three occasions in which exports failed to exceed imports. In 1875 the excess of exports was $30,000,000, in 1880 $168,000,000, in 1900 $544,000,000 in 1914 $471,000,000, jumping, with the big demands of the war to over $1,000,000,000 in the fiscal year 1915, 2½ billion dollars in 1917, and a little over 4 billions in the fiscal year 1919. With the fall off in world demand for our natural products, our exports dropped from the high record mark of $8,614,986,000 in the fiscal year 1920 to $4,771,182,000 in the firscal year 1922, advanced to $200,000, in the fiscal year 1923, making the total exports of the fiscal year just ended $3,965,967,000, or 50 per cent. greater than the highest pre-war year, 1913. The excess of exports in 1921 was $2,862,000,000, in 1922 $1,102,000,000 and in 1923, owing to unusually large imports, was but $176,965,000.

Imports since the close of the war have shown a much less percentage of fall than did exports, by reason of the demands of our manufacturers for foreign manufacturing material, and the total imports for 1923 are $3,789,000,000, against $5,238,000,000 in the high record year 1920, and are more than double the imports of any pre-war year. Imports of raw material for use in manufacturing in the fiscal year 1923 are in round terms $1,500,000,000 against $635,000,000 in 1913 or 2½ times as much in 1923 as in the highest pre-war year.

Meantime the exports of manufacturers have made a similar growth, the total exports of finished manufactures in the fiscal year 1923 standing at approximately $1,400,000,000 against $776,000,000 in the highest pre-war year.

Our foreign trade in the fiscal year 1923 extends that of 1922 by more than a billion dollars and is nearly double that of the year preceding the war.

A MILLION DOLLARS A WEEK FOR CHEWING GUM

The people of the United States pay more than a million dollars a week for their chewing gum. And the "habit" is apparently a growing one, for the value turned out by the factories of the United States in the latest census year 1921, is more than double that of the pre-war year 1914, the first year in which the government dignified the industry by official statements of the amount turned out by the factories of the country.

The assertion that the people of the United States now pay more than a million dollars a week for their chewing gum is based upon statements of the factory outturn of this particular industry compiled for the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York. It shows that the value of the factory of the chewing gum produced in the United States in 1921, the latest census year, was 38½ million dollars, to which may be added 2½ million dollars as a by-product of certain other factories, making the factory value of the total outturn in 1921 about 41 million dollars, while of course the additional sums paid by the final purchaser would bring the total sum paid by the consumers considerably above an average of one million dollars a week.

It seemed that the "habit" has proved contagious as relates to other countries for our exports of chewing gum shows as large a percentage of increase as do those of factory production. Whether it was the example set by the American soldiers who found it a convenient companion in their long marches it is at least a fact that the world demand began shortly after the opening of the war and grew very rapidly, since officials statistics of exports, which only began with the year 1916, shows an advance from less than .1 million dollars in 1916 to 2¼ millions in 1920, while the value of the exports in 1923, though materially less than in 1920, are 40 per cent. greater than in 1922.

Where does it go—these millions of dollars worth of this product now being sent out of the country? To practically every country in the world. Figures prepared for the Trade Record shows that the exports of chewing gum in 1920 went to no less than 75 countries and colonies scattered the world over. To dignified England the total exports of 1920 were approximately a million dollars, measured at the wholesale price at the port from which exported, and in 1913 the exports to Great Britain were $1,120,000. France took in 1920 $383,000 worth, and other European countries in proportionate quantities, though to Germany the exports was comparatively small, only $151 worth. That it is equally popular in the other side of the globe is evidenced by the fact that our total exports to Asia and Oceania amounted to nearly a half million dollars in value, including $288,000 worth to the Philippines, $75,000 to Japan, $42,000 to Australia, and $14,000 to India. South America also developed the habit and the total to that continent in 1920 was $275,000, while the sales in Africa were also large, the total to Egypt alone being nearly $100,000.

That the habit has "come to stay" seems to be an accepted view by that very high authority—capital, for nothing is so wary as capital in forecasting the future demand of a manufacturing industry. And when we find, says the Trade Record, that the amount of capital invested in the chewing gum industry as stated by the census reports was in 1919 $32,000,000 against only $10,000,000 in 1914, it would appear that those studying the manufacturing industries from the standpoint of the investor have confidence in the future world demand for this article of which the United States is apparently the chief producer, since official records of the government fail to show any importations of this class of merchandise.

Then, if ever, wives and mothers take a rightful pride in the spotless appearance of their husbands and sons—their shirts, collars, cuffs, and handkerchiefs fairly sparkling with whiteness.

These things, once so hard to wash, are now easily kept clean. Rinso, the new kind of soap, gently loosens all the dirt. Soaks the dirt right out.

You put your clothes to soak in the Rinso suds—soak an hour, two hours, over night, if you wish, and then just rinse.

Hold them up to the light and see how white and clean. Only the very dirtiest spots where dirt has been ground in need rubbing. And these you rub but lightly. Sprinkle on a little dry Rinso. The stubborn spots yield at once.

If you boil your white cottons, there is nothing so good as Rinso. Just pour enough into your boiler to get the suds you like. It will dissolve instantly in the boiling water.

For the final washing, whether in set tubs or in a washing machine, Rinso makes the work easier, quicker—your clothes whiter. You need no soap powder—no other soap with Rinso.

MARKET CLOSED STRONG

New York, Aug. 14.—Heavy selling of the oil shares, based on the extension of the gasoline price cutting war to 18 Middle Western and Southern states, unsettled the early part of today's stock market but a brisk recovery set in toward the close with net gains exceeding net losses in the final quotations.

Liquidation of the oil shares was accompanied by reports of another imminent cut in Mid-Continent crude prices and rumors that some of the smaller refining companies were on the verge of bankruptcy. New low records were established by Cosden, Sinclair common and preferred Phillips, Producers & Refiners, Marland, Middle States, Maracaibo, Transcontinental, Skelly, White Eagle and Invincible, the extreme losses ranging from 1 to 3 points. Substantial recovery from the low prices of the day was made in most cases, however, before the close.

Wall Street apparently is perplexed by recent developments in Europe. The reaction of the foreign exchanges, which are generally regardd as a good barometer of the trend of business and political thought abroad, were slightly unfavorable. Demand Sterling held steady around $4.56¾, but French francs broke to 5.48 cents, another low for all time, and Belgian francs registered a nominal loss. Both made partial recovery while German marks actually showed a net rain of 18 points on the day, being quoted at 40 cents a million.

The quick recovery in today's market was regarded in many quarters as proof of the market's sound technical position. Baldwin, which had sold as low as 112⅝ during the morning, rallied later to 117, closing at 116¾ for a net gain of 2⅜ on the day. U. S. Steel jumped from 87½ to 89⅜, showing a net gain of 1 point at the close. Similar recoveries were made by a number of other standard shares in the industrial group.

American Can, Allied Chemical, U. S. Rubber common and first preferred, Studebaker and Dupont were among the shares to close at net gains of 2 to 3 points.

Rails, while not as active as industrials, also made good recovery. St. Paul preferred and Southern Pacific, which had established new low records for the year of 24⅛ and 84¼, respectively, actually closed at net gains of approximately a point each.

Call money opened at 4½ per cent. and then eased off to 4¼ where it closed. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged with 5½ per cent. the ruling rate.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 14.—For the first time in nearly a week the wheat market today took a decided downward course. European selling of future deliveries was a bearish factor, and new buying lacked vigor in the face of a six cent recent upturn in values. The close was unsettled at ⅞c a &c to 1⅞c net decline, with September 99⅛ to 99⅝c, and December 103⅝ to 103¾. Corn finished ⅝ a ¾ to 1 a 1⅛c down, oats at ¼c off, to ⅛ a ¼c gain, and provisions varying from a setback of 5c to a rise of 2¼c.

Much of the selling which took place in the wheat market was based on opinions that a reaction might naturally be expected after the continued advance witnessed of late. Some bearish sentiment, however, was apparently related to news that the French government would flatly reject British suggestions regarding a settlement with Germany. In various quarters, a bearish view was also taken of an official announcement that the Canadian law applying to grin shipments from Canadian ports on the Great Lakes would be enforced this season despite threatened withdrawal of United States vessels from the traffic.

It was contended by bears that the effect of the shipping situation likely to result on the Great Lakes would be to cheapen wheat in western Canada, and render imports into this country profitable, off-setting more or less the otherwise bullish influence of an increased export business from the United States by way of the Gulf of Mexico or elsewhere. Fresh estimates purporting to show that world supply this season exceeded requirements were likewise given some notice, and the market closed at virtually the bottom figures of the day.

Provisions were steadied by firmness of hog values.

CURB MARKET

New York, Aug. 14.—Principal interest in today's curb market centered in the oil shares which were heavily depressed as a result of the gasoline price cutting war in the west and south. Standard Oil of Indiana, which initiated the cuts to meet state government competition, was hammered down to 49¾ but rallied later to 50⅝, where it was off 1⅝ on the day.

Losses of 1 to 3 points also took place in Imperial of Canada, Magnolia Petroleum, Ohio, Standard of Kansas and Standard of Kentucky. Prairie Oil & Gas dropped 7 points. Cities Service closed 1 1-2 points higher and small fractional gains were recorded by Vacuum, Southern Pipe and National Transit. Selling of these issues also was influenced by reports of an early cut in crude prices and rumors of questioning the solvency of some of the smaller refining companies.

Industrials weakened in sympathy but recovered later and closing prices, as a rule showed little change. Durant Motors registered a net gain of 1 point.

Fluctuations in the mining group were small and unimportant.

BOND MARKET

New York, Aug. 14.—After displaying considerable heaviness through most of the day bond prices rallied in sympathy with the late upward movement of stock and closing prices were somewhat irregular.

Weakness of French and Belgian issues again featured the early trading, but a number of those bonds closed above yesterday's final figures, notably Paris, Lyons & Mediterranean 6's, up 2¾, and Bordeaux, Lyons and Marseilles 6's, each up 1⅜. French 7½'s were off fractionally and Belgian 8's declined 1⅛. United States government bonds held relatively steady.

Net changes among railroad mortgages were small, a drop of 3 points by St. Paul of 1925 featuring the trading in that group. Industrials were inclined to heaviness, losses of a point each being recorded by sugar states of the Orient 7's, Sinclair Pipe Line 8's, Sinclair Oil 7's, and Kansas Gas & Electric 6's. Marine 6's were off 1⅛.

METAL MARKET

New York, Aug. 14.—Copper easy. Electrolytic, spot and futures 14¼ a 14¾. Tin firm: spot and futures 38.50; iron steady; prices unchanged. Lead steady; spot 6.50 at 6.7b. Zinc steady, East St. Louis spot and nearby delivery 6.25. Antimony, spot 7.87.

MONEY

New York, Aug. 14.—Call money steady; high 4 ¾; low 4½; ruling rate 4&; closing bid 4½; offered at 4¾; last loan 4½; call loans against acceptances 4¾.

COTTON

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Neil O'Brien's Super Minstrels With Bert Swor.

Nothing daunted by the rising cost of production and operation, Neil O'Brien and Bert Swor, minstrel magnates who have combined forces this season, announce that they intend to make this the golden year of minstrelsy. Neil O'Brien's Minstrels, with Bert Swor" (the title of the new organization), will be seen at the Broadway, Thursday, Aug. 16, and the promise is made that no such company has ever before been formed. Not only will both the stars appear at each performance—O'Brien has now returned to active stage work—but the entire programme has been gotten together with a view of making it a notable one—one that will long be remembered. Having combined their efforts they have also combined their pocket books to make this possible and the very best talent has been engaged regardless of cost. Even the band boys have been equipped with golden horns and the uniforms, costumes, scenery and appurtenances generally have been procured, with a lavish outlay of the coin of the realm.

Breed Theatre.

Once in a great while there comes a motion picture that brings happiness to all who see it. That is the kind of production that is booked for the Breed theatre today and Thursday.

This Fox picture, A California Romance, starring John Gilbert has much to recommend it. The story and direction are good. The acting is always of a high standard and the photography is a delight to the eye. John Gilbert's portrayal of the gay cavalier who sings love songs on the guitar is well done. His sword fighting in the later scenes is also very entertaining. There are many thrills and a sharp, exciting climax.

For the second feature Wanda Hawley, with T. Roy Barnes again as her leading man will be seen in Too Much Wife, a comedy of young married life. Movie Chats will complete the bill.

Coming, starting Sunday for three days only, the tremendous photodramatic sensation, Mary of the Movies, with forty famous motion picture stars.

New London County Fair.

Superintendent of Grounds Elmer R. Pierson has been busy at the fair grounds of the New London County Agricultural Society getting things ready for the fair to be held next month. New cattle sheds have been built and 300 head of cattle now can be housed during the fair. The track has also been put into shape and is fast and the judges' stand is moved back nine feet for a better view of the finish.

Speed Secretary A. J. Bailey has arranged for nine races with purses totalling $4,300, the events to be the 2.25, 2.17, 2.14 trot; and 2.12 trot; 2.25, 2.18 and 2.16 pace and the county race, pace or trot, open to 2.30 class horses.

Plans are being made to erect a tent 60x140 feet, to house the automobiles entered in the automobile show which is to be in charge of Kenneth N. Webb, who has conducted shows in Morristown, N. J., and Greenfield, Mass.

Secretary Gilbert S. Raymond, in charge of midway and stage programmes, has signed six big acts of free vaudeville and secured Prof. T. H. Flower of the American Balloon company for a triple parachute drop each afternoon of the fair. The midway attractions include many new features and will be larger than last year.

For musical attractions Swahn's band of 20 pieces, and the Italian Columbus band of 18 pieces, directed by Prof. Pasquale Puca, have been secured for three days.

The Strand.

The story tells of a modern, jazz-crazed girl and her quest for excitement. Although a comedy of the first water, this picture has many thrilling moments, among them a hydroplane wreck and scenes on a schooner manned by a number of disreputable adventurers. The comedy is much in much in evidence at a wild skating party and at a house social when Babs Weston, played by Miss Percy, finds herself engaged to three men at the same time.

The story, as adapted to the screen by Beulah Marie Dix, is a fast-moving comedy melodrama. It is sure to please both the eye and the mind and is quite different from the average screen offering. A comedy and news were the short subjects.

The program for the last half of this week at the Strand is composed of four fine acts of B. F. Keith vaudeville in addition to the universal special attraction, The Power of a Lie, which has a star cast.

New Line Dodge Autos.

Marked improvement in appearance and comfort is apparent in the new line of Dodge Brothers' motor cars, in the production of which the factory has been gathering momentum since July 1. Hundreds fo dealers are now supplied with display cars of the new type, and from every source the factory is receiving reports fo enthusiastic approval by the public.

While the basic characteristics of the familiar Dodge Brothers' cars of recent days are still present, there is an air of distinctiveness that surpasses all previous efforts of this concern to build a moderately priced car of commendable appearance as well as quality.

The wheelbase is a trifle longer, the body is lower and the rear springs changed to semi-elliptical type are underslung and increased from 45 to 55 inches in length.

All the features so popular with the public today are embodied in the design of the complete line, which includes a touring car, roadster, coupe, two types of sedan, and screen side and panel side commercial cars of 3-4 ton capacity. All steel bodies—as first introduced by Dodge Brothers in their open passenger cars several years ago—are now used for all types.

The effect of the longer and lower body and longer wheelbase, combined with the new lines and lower seats, is very fine. According to dealers and others who have driven the new cars, the improvement in riding qualities is no less pronounced than the improvement in general design. The reduction in body height lowers the center of gravity and thereby reduces sidersway, while rebound shocks are effectively dissipated by the improved front and rear springs. The car holds the road easily and gracefully and affords real riding comfort.

Another distinct new feature is the louvers or ventilator slits in the side of the hood panels. This change increases the flow of air through the radiator and reduces the flow of hot air to the floor boards, making summer driving most comfortable.

The rear seat and all upholstery of the touring car are removable, affording a large space for loading luggage or other articles. Seats in all types are deeper and lower, adding to comfort and leg room.

The instrument board is greatly improved in appearance, with instruments grouped on a raised panel and with longer lighting switch lever, facilitating control of the lights while driving.

Head lamps are specially designed to harmonize with the new body lines. A combination caution signal and tail lamp is mounted rigidly on the license plate bracket and conforms with the requirements of all states having lighting regulations.

Brake pedal pads are larger and of a design which makes for greater ease and safety. The hand brake lever, like the shifting lever, is moved forward, giving more leg room and making it easier to get in and out. A Yale lock is built into the transmission, making it possible to double-lock the car when idle.

The steering wheel is materially improved in appearance and all electrical connections are inside the steering column.

The front springs are increased in length and from 1 3-4 to 2 inches in width and built of more leaves of a thinner stock. The rear springs, in addition to being longer, are now semi-elliptic and flat.

The front axle is of a design unusually strong. The camber, or inclination of the front wheels, is increased, making steering easire. A new gear ratio of the rear axle gives increased flexibility and adds to the ability of Dodge Brothers' cars as hill climbers.

In the Type A sedan, the upholstery is the finest grade mohair velvet, and all interior hardware is of distinctive Dodge Brothers' design. The business coupe and business sedan are finished in attractive Spanish blue leather.

The fiscal year ending July 1 was the most successful in the history of Dodge Brothers, their dealers having marketed approximately 260,000 cars. With the improvements now put into effect, obviously making the car better and more attractive in every way, though still retaining the essential attributes to which the car owes its great popularity, it seems quite evident that this company has not yet reached the maximum of its potentialities, despite the tremendous record of the year just closed.

New Automobile Partnership Formed.

Frank Rinella and Philip Leeney have formed a partnership which is now in effect under the firm name of Rinella-Leeney Motor Car Co., located at 41 North Main street. These two well known and enterprising young men will continue the handling of the Velie Motor car which has been taken care of for some time in Eastern Connecticut by Mr. Rinella.

Philip Leeney, the new member of the business has a wide circle of friends in and about this city and has always made his home here. He has for the past thirteen years been employed at the local freight department of the N. Y., N. H. & H. railroad as a clerk and has held the position of cashier in the local office for the past eight years.

Frank Rinella has had considerable experience with the Velie car and under the new partnership with Philip Leeney there is no doubt but that the firm should prosper. The new organization desires the public of Eastern Connecticut to know that they will be pleased to see the Velie patrons of the past and solicit new ones, guaranteeing the best of service and courteous treatment to all. The business is conducted at the same location as in the past, 41 North Main street.

Under the new arrangement Mr. Leeney will take charge of the salesrooms while Mr. Rinella will devote his time to organizing outside territory. You cannot help but be impressed with the performance and features of the Velie motor car and remember these young men will deem it a pleasure to demonstrate this car of utmost value.

Grange Picnic.

The members of Norwich grange will hold their annual picnic tomorrow at Happyland. Arrangements have been made for the trains leaving here at 10.38 a. m. (standard time) and the one arriving here at 5.55 p. m., to stop at the Drawbridge station. See adv.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT
by DAVID CORY

The Young Prince.

As soon as he was comfortably seated in an armchair, the little snake took a book out of her bookcase.

"It's a book of travels," she explained, "and tells all about queer people and strange countries. I wish I could travel," and she looked wistfully at the bunny boy.

"You may go with me if you like," he answered.

"I will go," answered the little White Snake, and putting on her bonnet and hanging her vanity bag around her neck, she locked the front door and put the key in her purse. Then off they started through the woods, and you should have seen how fast that little snake glided along the ground in and out among the bushes.

After a while they came to a great big prison through whose windows, guarded by iron bars, the poor prisoners could see only a little of the big beautiful wide world. At one window a young prince looked out so mournfully that Little Jack Rabbit turned to the little White Snake and said:

"Do you think we might rescue this unhappy prince?"

"We can at least try," she replied, looking all over the wall for a hole in which to crawl. At last she found one close to the ground.

"Now," she said, "I will try to crawl up to his room," and she disappeared while the bunny boy waited below and maybe after thirteen minutes or so she let down a slender thread from a window.

"Fasten it to your jack knife," she called, and wasn't it lucky that the thread was so strong it never broke while the prince pulled it up to the window.

It took the prince some time to loosen the iron bars from the stone, which luckily was old and soft. Then, placing the tiny white snake in his pocket, he jumped down to the ground and with Little Jack Rabbit at his heels ran swiftly over to the wood, fearing that at any moment the prison keeper would learn of his escape.

But, oh dear me, in a little while they heard the hounds baying.

"We are lost!" cried the prince. "They will surely find us now."

"Fear not," said the little snake, taking a wonderfully scented powder out of her vanity bag and sprinkling it over the soles of their boots.

"Come, let us hasten away. The hounds will never scent us now, for they will find violets growing where we have stepped."

Away went the prince and the little bunny boy after the little white snake who glided in front of them as swiftly as an arrow, and the next story will tell you what happened after that.

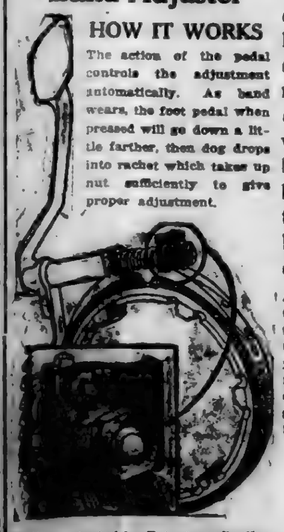
FORD OWNERS

YOU NEED NEVER ADJUST YOUR FORD BANDS AGAIN

Not If You Equip Your Brake and Reverse With The

Cooper "Automatic" Transmission Band Adjuster



HOW IT WORKS

The action of the pedal controls the adjustment automatically. As band wears, the foot pedal when pressed will go down a little farther, then dog drops into ratchet which takes up nut sufficiently to give proper adjustment.

Cooper Automatic Adjusters work as perfectly on the hills and highways as on city streets. Don't take unnecessary risks. You need quick, instantaneous stops wherever you are. Your brakes and reverse should be properly adjusted at all times. This little device keeps them right automatically.

As the brake or reverse wears the Cooper Automatic Adjuster will take them up—exactly right—never too tight—never too loose. And you need never remove the transmissions cover during the life of each set of linings. That mussy, greasy, frequent job of adjusting bands is done away with forever.

VETERANS OF 26TH CONNECTICUT VOLUNTEERS RE-ELECT OFFICERS

Charles Thrall of Staten Island was re-elected president of the Twenty-sixth Regiment Connecticut Volunteer association at the association's 60th annual reunion in Buckingham Memorial Tuesday. The business meeting was called to order at 11.30 o'clock by President Thrall, who in a brief address welcomed the veterans and their guests. At the suggestion of the chair, all stood in memory of the veterans who have passed on while Rev. Allen Shaw Bush of Gales Ferry voiced a fervent invocation. The corresponding secretary, Beriah B. Champlin of New Haven, acted as secretary in the absence of Frank E. Beckwith of this city, who is at present in the west.

In his report Secretary Champlin called attention to the fact that of the 815 men who left Norwich with the regiment Nov. 10, 1862, only 41 are listed on the muster roll, and some of these have not been heard from for ten years or more. Our comrades are living in seven states, he said, and if we get 20 at a reunion we do well. However, we will keep meeting as long as there is one left.

Six Deaths Past Year.

Those who have died since the last reunion number six, as follows:

Charles L. Burdick, Co. ch, died Jan. 2, 1923; D. L. Winchester, Co. A, died Feb. 10, 1923, aged 82 years; Edwin York, Co. H, died Feb. 11, 1923, aged 80 years; D. S. Merritt, Co. H, died Feb. 22, 1923, aged 79 years; William H. Bogue, Co. F, died July 23, 1923, aged 89 years; William F. Eccleston, Co. H, died July 24, 1923.

The financial report given by Mr. Champlin showed a balance of $150.88 on hand. A collection taken by Henry C. Wright amounted to $41.65, including about $20 previously contributed.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Bush and there were brief talks by Odell D. Tompkins of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Rev. Mr. Bush, and Mrs. Fox of New London recited two poems.

The officers were re-elected as follows:

President—Charles Thrall of Staten Island, N. Y.

Secretary and Treasurer—Francis E. Beckwith of Norwich.

Address by Henry Tyler.

The speaker of the day was Henry Tyler of New London, who served with Company F of the 26th. He spoke as follows:

Mr. President and my dear comrades of our 26th Regiment Association of Connecticut Volunteers and survivors of the Civil war of 1861 to 1865: This is our 60th annual reunion since we returned from the Civil war in the south in 1863. There are but few of us left to take part in it, at this time, and we are glad to and thankful to God to be able to be here together once more, and express our friendship in the ties of comradeship and fraternity as no others can who took no part in helping to save our beloved country from being broken up.

Had our country been broken up into smaller nations like Europe there might have been no end to wars between us as in Europe and no peace to be depended upon. As it is now with our Union and liberty preserved we are happy in the thought that our country has rapidly grown in the last sixty years to become one of the greatest and most powerful nations in the world, able to defend ourselves, and to help save other nations in Europe in a time of their greatest need from destruction, in the greatest of world wars. Our influence for good has been worldwide and is so acknowledged in helping to preserve the peace of the world. May our nation ever continue to exert its most powerful influence in behalf of peace and righteousness, the world over. The whole world was never so unsettled and restless as in the last few years, by the world war, and the blessings of peace and spirituality were never so much needed as now.

Dear fellow comrades: We who were once young and happy in the days long gone by, are now near the limit of life's journey on earth. A very few of us have attained to a remarkable old age. Our comrade in Captain William Bentley's company, Co. I of New London, who is now living in New London, is Oliver Mason in his 100th year. If he lives until January 25, 1924, he will be just 100 years old. He is a shut-in and helpless, having had a shock several years ago. He was wounded in the first battle of Port Hudson, La., May 27, 1863.

Another comrade of the same company, Beriah B. Champlin, now living in New Haven, was 94 years old June 6, 1923. He is the able and faithful corresponding secretary of our 26th Regiment Association and a regular attendant every year at our reunions at the Buckingham Memorial in Norwich. He also bids fair to reach the 100-year mark and over.

There are others among us whose ages range from near 80 years up to 90 years and over. Charles Niles of Co. K in Capt. Randall's company of Mystic was 90 years June 9, 1923. He is very deaf. Comrade Thomas Perry of the same company who lives in Mystic, is 85 years old and holds his own remarkably well, looks like he might go over the 100-year mark.

We thank God and congratulate ourselves on being so many years young in spirit and hearty good cheer. May we meet again, if not here, on high in the presence of God and our fellow comrades and all dear friends who have gone on before us. May we never forget that the chief end of man is to glorify God and enjoy Him for ever, for it is in God only that we live and move, and have our being and without God we can do nothing. Let us all praise God for His wonderful love, mercy, and goodness to us and our beloved country. He has not dealt so kindly with any other nation.

In the 18th Psalm and 8th verse King David says: "It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man." King David trusted in the Lord, but had no confidence in man, for man was such a deceitful, dishonest and unjust personality, unstable in his ways and unreliable, warlike and hateful in his disposition, not peaceful with himself or his fellowman. Such was the character and condition of man in King David's time, full of the evil spirit of unrighteousness and is the same today in our time the world over.

The late Elder Jabez Swan, the Baptist evangelist, said: Life is too short for man to quarrel in. If a man is wise he will set his house in order and be ready for eternity before it is too late. Daniel Webster, the greatest statesman of our country in his time, while a member of congress saw so much of deception, dishonesty and injustice among so many of its members that he longed to go home to his farm in Marshfield, Mass., and sit down by the brook, under the shade of the trees and look up into the great honest eyes of his oxen and commune with God in whom he believed and trusted fully.

God requires that man should do justly, love mercy and walk humbly before Him. If we confess our sins, God is faithful and just to forgive us and cleanse us from all unrighteousness. It is most reasonable and becoming and honorable that mortal man hould humble himself before God and confess his sins that he may be forgiven and cleansed from all unrighteousness, and be prepared not only for this life but for the life which is to come and which is eternal and full of the glory of God.

Letters Received.

Letters were received by the corresponding secretary from the following: John C. Smith and George H. Fuller of California, Mrs. N. S. Hale, daughter of John S. Gee of Saybrook, J. W. Coleman of the Soldiers' home at Hampton, Va., and Mrs. H. A. Haring, East Cleveland, who wrote of the death of her father, William F. Eccleston of Company H.

EIGHTEENTH CONN. HOLDS ANNUAL REUNION TODAY

The 55th annual reunion of the Eighteenth Connecticut Volunteers will be held at the Buckingham Memorial today (Wednesday). The Eighteenth regiment was organized in August, 1862, and was recruited from New London and Windham counties. It was commanded by Colonel William G. Ely and was the first regiment to leave the state under the call of President Lincoln for 300,000 volunteers in the summer of 1862 and was assigned to the Army of the Potomac.

It participtaed in the engagement at Winchester, Va., on June 13, 14 and 15, 1863, and was intercepteed by a superior force of the enemy, and after three charges was repulsed with great loss. In the charge Captain Porter was killed and Captains Bates and Bowen severely wounded. In the killed, wounded and taken prisoners the total loss in this engagement was 567.

At Newmarket on May 15, 1864, they sustained a loss of 56, and on June 5th of the same year at Piedmont, Vt., they were attacked by the Confederates and after hours of severe fighting the enemy were totally routed and nearly 1,500 of their number captured, not including the wounded. The day's engagement resulted in a loss to the regiment of 122 killed and wounded. Among the killed were Adjutant Culver and Lieutenant McGinnis. Later engagements were at Lynchburg, Va., Snicker's Ford, Va., Winchester, Va., and Berryville, Va.

After the promotion of Colonel Ely the regiment was under the command of Col. Henry Peale and was mustered out on June 27, 1865, at Harpers Ferry, Va.

The muster rolls of the regiment bear the names of nearly 1,200 men, and at the present time there are 84 living members known.

BOSTON INTERESTS SEEK MANHASSET PLANT

Negotiations for the sale of its holdings in Putnam and Taunton are being conducted by officials of the Manhasset Manufacturing company, which until recently maintained headquarters in Providence. At the same time William A. Vermilye, treasurer of the concern, announces his resignation. Boston interests, it is said, are seeking to purchase the mill property.

The contemplated sale of the company's property and the liquidation of the business comes as the culmination of a number of changes in the corporation's operation. Several months ago it was rumored that the Manhasset company intended closing its Taunton plant and moving the more modern machinery to Putnam.

At that time a company official said that the project was held up temporarily until housing accommodations could be provided for the large number of employes who would move to Putnam. The company planned to utilize a large brick structure erected in the vicinity of the Putnam plant during the period of prosperity following the armistice.

Owing to expiration of its lease last month on the plant at Warren operated by the company, the corporatoin discontinued its business in that town.

At the Putnam plant, where the headquarters of the concern are now located, a strike of the employes was called about 14 weeks ago. Although the company officials declare the strike has "petered out," the operators do not recognize the hostilities at an end, as they are still picketing the plant.

The company filled the vacancies caused by the strike and has conducted business uninterruptedly since that time.

The latest move of the directors was to order the offices of the plant moved to Putnam, to effect economy.

$76,000 APPROPRIATION FOR SUBMARINE BASE

According to a program to be submitted to congress in December by Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, the submarine base at the navy yard is to have $76,000 of an appropriation of $115,486,000 during the next 20 years. This is an average of $3,800 a year, which will not prove a sufficiently large expenditure to create any excitement.

The program is for a development of the shore establishments of the American navy and the program which, when carried into effect, will supply the fighting fleet with adequate bases from which to operate, was framed by a board of officers headed by Rear Admiral Hugh Rodman.

POETRY

THE SEASONS ROUND.

How smooth and quick the year
Spins me the seasons round!
How many days have slid across my mind
Since we had snow pitying the frozen ground
Then winter sunshine cheered
The bitter skies; the snow,
Reluctantly obeying lofty winds,
Drew off in shining clouds,
Wishing it still might love
With its white mercy the cold earth beneath.
But when the beautiful ground
Lights upward all the air,
Noon thaws the frozen eaves,
And makes the rime on post and paling steam
Silvery blue smoke in the golden day.
And soon from loaded trees in noiseless weeds
The snows slip thudding down,
Scattering in their trail
Bright icy sparkles through the glittering air;
And the fir-branches, patiently bent so long,
Sigh as they lift themselves to rights again.
Then warm moist hours steal in,
Such as can draw the year's
First fragrance from the sap of cherry wood
Or from the leaves of budless violets;
And travelers in lanes
Catch the hot tawny smell
Reynard's damp fur left as he vanished marauding
Across from gap to gap;
And in the larch woods on the highest boughs
The long-eared owls like gray cats sitting still Peer down to quiz the passengers below.

—Lascelles Abercrombie.

HILL MOODS.

The great hills have a thousand moods
Through seasons green and gray,
From soaring dawn until the dusk
Drifts down to close the day.

With hushed, material awe they watch
The valleys far below
Where little men in little ways
Live out the years and go.

Upon their slopes the spring's green feet
Creep upward and then die,
And Autumn's incense spirals blue
Into the spacious sky.

At dawn, they send their shadowings
Across the dreaming miles
To homestead door and valley stream,
Through drowsy forest aisles.

At dusk, they fire their altars high
That all the vales may see,
And sense beyond the things of earth
God's wide eternity.

The great hills have so many moods
That, like a friendship dear,
Into their secret heart of hearts
We never can draw near!

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"Are you the recipe editor? Well, your paper said that if I left a stained tablecloth out on the line all night the stains would have disappeared by morning."

"Well, and haven't the stains gone?"

"Oh, yes; they've gone all right."

"Then what's your complaint, madam?"

"They've gone all right—and taken my tablecloth with 'em."—Boston Transcript.

"So, that's it," faltered the new doorman, I thought he was an umbrella mender, sir,"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Maud's fiance stutters quite a bit, doesn't he?"

LABOR AND FOOD SITUATION IN BERLIN HAS IMPROVED

Change Was Due to the Calling Off of the General Strike of the Communists—Currency Shortage Continues, With Plentiful Supply of Bills of Large Denominations in Circulation—Germany Has Left the Situation in the Ruhr Open to Discussion.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—(By the A. P.)—The labor and food situation in greater Berlin today showed improvement over previous days. This was due to the calling off of the general strike by the communists.

The currency shortage continues although there seems to be a plentiful supply of bills of large denominations in circulation.

GERMANY HAS OPENED WAY FOR DISCUSSIONS

Berlin, Aug. 15.—(By the A. P.)—The government's declaration as presented to the Reichstag yesterday by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the new Chancellor, is considered to open the way for discussions with each of Germany's former war opponents, including France, assuming that France will "desist from dictating humiliating or impossible conditions," in the impression gathered by Vorwaets from the Chancellor's programme.

The newspaper, which is the organ of the socialist, asserts that Germany's moral position in the Ruhr never was stronger than at present in view of Great Britain's pronouncement that the invasion of the Ruhr was illegal.

The liberal newspapers view the debut of the new cabinet as wholly auspicious. They praise Chancellor Stresemann for having struck a new and optimistic note, "something which has been sadly missing from the government's bench in the past nine months."

2,180 AUTO DRIVERS' LICENSES SUSPENDED THIS YEAR

Hartford, Aug. 15.—For operating motor vehicles on Connecticut highways, while under the influence of liquor, ninety-seven drivers were required to surrender their operators' licenses last month, of this year, it was revealed by the August bulletin of the state motorvehicle department issued today by Commissioner Steeckel.

This is an increase of 370 per cent. over the number of licenses suspended for the same reason in the corresponding period last year and breaks all records of the department, whether for the period before or after the national prohibition amendment went into effect. The licenses suspended in July, 1923, because the operators were convicted of driving while intoxicated, totalled 30.

"July was, without question, the worst month for motor vehicle accidents which Connecticut has ever experienced," is the brief statement with which the department bulletin is introduced.

Accidents at the rate of sixty a day in Connecticut, resulting in two fatalities a day, on the average, considered in proportion to other statistical disclosures, brought Commissioner Steeckel to the conclusion that "a crisis in the control of motor vehicle traffic has arrived, requiring drastic action."

State and local police and courts were called upon to deal more severely with violations of the motor vehicle law in an effort to cope with the situation, particularly as regards state highways not within city limits, where the greatest percentage of accidents occurred in July.

Drastic measures have been undertaken by the motor vehicle department to raise the safety factor. Four hundred and fifteen licenses were suspended in July alone for reckless operation. In July, 1922, 162 were suspended. It was pointed out that 2,180 licenses have already been suspended this year, up to August one for all causes as against a total of 631 suspended in the corresponding period of last year. Evidence of increased discipline administered by courts is presented by the publication of the fact that fines for motor violations in the first seven months of his year aggregated $37,387.--, while the fines totalled $43,116.13 in the corresponding period of last year. Last month's fines reached $17,062.41, an increase of approximately $7,000 over the aggregate of fines for July, 1922.

At the same time, thirty-five automobilists were sentenced to jail in July serving a total of 790 days or an average of 23 days each. Twenty-seven of them were convicted of driving while drunk.

"Most of the state's serious accidents are now happening on the state highways in rural districts and in small towns where there is no active prevention work," the bulletin points out. This is borne out by the following comparison: During 1922, the comparison of city accidents with country accidents were as follows: "In the large cities, 7587; in the rural districts 3,422. During 1923, the situation has just reversed, and the following division is made in the July total. In the large cities, 714; in the rural districts 1,090."

SUGGESTIONS BY GEDDES TO IMPROVE ELLIS ISLAND

London, Aug. 15.—(By the A. P.)—Specific recommendations for the improvement of conditions at Ellis Island, the principal gateway into America for European emmigrants, are contained in a report to foreign Secretary Marquis Curzon from Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to United States, made public here today.

The report, drafted by the ambassador following a visit to the island last December, was issued in the form of a white parliamentary paper. The general criticism is that Ellis Island is too small, that what additional space is available is useless because it is unventilated, and that the buildings are generally in a poor state of repair.

SAUNDERS TO RESIGN THE PIGGLY-WIGGLY PRESIDENCY

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 15.—Clarence Saunders will resign the presidency of the Piggly-Wiggly corporation before August 31 and will go to some other city to establish a new business, he announced tonight to stockholders of the corporation who had met at his call to consider future control of the company.

His decision to resign the presidency and leave Memphis, Mr. Saunders said, was based on his belief that the local stockholders were not cooperating in his effort to retain control of that concern.

No indication was given by Mr. Saunders, who resigned Monday as president of the Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., as to what city he would remove to in seeking the establishment of a new business.

HOW GEORGE STEWART HAD SKULL FRACTURED

New York, Aug. 15.—Conflicting stories of how George Stewart, brother of Anita Stewart, film actress, had his skull fractured following a party in a road house on the Boston Post road Wednesday, were told tonight by attorneys for Stewart and for Ralph Ince, film actor and director who admitted he had an altercation with Stewart, who is twenty.

Miss Stewart's attorney, M. L. Malevinsky, charged Ince had assaulted the youth, beaten him into unconsciousness while he lay on the roadway, and then took him to the Lambs club, where he kept him concealed until the next day, when he was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

Malevinsky's story was corroborated by Harry Voight, Miss Stewart's chauffeur, who was driving the party into New York when the altercation took place, he said. Voight, Malevinsky said, told him he heard an altercation, and some one asked him to stop the car. As he did so Ince and Stewart sprang out and the director sent the youth to the pavement with a blow to the jaw, and then followed up the attack while he was lying there. The chauffeur declared he attempted to interfere, but was also knocked down by Ince.

Ince's attorney, Nathan Vidaver, admitted the fight, but said Stewart, who is small for his age, started the attack, having taken offense when Ince spoke of an enemy of Stewart during the party. He said Stewart became so abusive that Ince stopped the car and got out, intending to take a taxi, and in the ensuing struggle hit his head on the curbstone.

Ince, who is married to a sister of Stewart, has filed suit for divorce, and this was said to have caused intense feeling betwen the two.

No complaint has been filed, and both factions said that no legal action was contemplated.

Detectives from the homicide squad this evening called at the hospital where young Stewart was confined, to get a statement from him, and were told that he did not wish to see them. An assistant district attorney from Westchester county, where the altercation ook place, received he same answer when he appeared.

SEVERAL HUNDRED WERE ON PIER WHEN IT COLLAPSED

New Haven, Aug. 13.—A pier at Momauguin, a resort on the east of here on Long Island sound, in the adjoining town of East Haven, collapsed late this afternoon while several persons were on it. Nearly every one wore a bathing suit and while escapes from drowning were many, no one was reported seriously hurt.

As this is the day of the Feast of the Assumption when many persons make it an obligation to bathe at the seashore the resort was thronged by an unusual number of persons at the time of the accident.

Gasoline Price War Spreads Eastward

Cut in Prices Was Led by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

New York, Aug. 15.—Retail and wholesale gasoline prices were reduced from one to two cents a gallon throughout the Atlantic seaboard and New England states today as the gasoline price war spread eastward.

Led by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, formal announcement of the cut in tank wagon prices were made successively by the larger companies operating in the east.

The price to automobile consumers after the reduction ranged from 21 to 23 cents, the larger price being effective in New York city where distribution costs are greater. The wholesale price in New York was 19.3 cents a gallon. Buffalo, N. Y., motorists received the greatest benefit, the tank wagon price there being cut to 15 cents a gallon.

The first price cut announced was one cent effective in New Jersey by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. That company reduced the price two cents in North and South Carolina and West Virginia.

Subsequently cuts were announced by competing companies in the above states and also in New York, Virginia, Maryland, the District of Columbia and in New England.

While several state executives were considering the situation with the possibility of inaugurating separate investigations, Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield of New York city issued orders for an immediate survey in this city.

Advices from Ohio stated that Governor A. V. Donahey had telegraphed President Coolidge urging an inquiry into the gasoline situation by the federal government.

TO SOLVE CONTROL OF PRICE OF GASOLINE

Washington, Aug. 15.—Investigation of the gasoline prices situation by congress "to the end that positive and lasting relief may be had by the consumer" was advocated today by Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile Association. He wrote to the 300 clubs affiliated with the association urging the members to impress upon their representatives in congress the need of such action.

"The ultimate solution of the control of the price of gasoline," said Mr. Henry, "on a basis fair to the consumer and the producer and distributor lies in federal action.

"I am therefore suggesting that you immediately urge upon your congressmen and senators the importance of aggressively taking up the gasoline price situation immediately on the convening of congress. This may be done by the creation of a fact finding commission empowered to make a complete investigation of costs of production, transportation, selling with instructions to make an early report in order that congress may take such action as the facts warrant and the limitations of congress will permit."

TO INCREASE PRICE OF GASOLINE TO 20 CENTS

Pierre, S. Dak., Aug. 15.—Governor W. H. McMaster, who precipitated the present gasoline price "war" more than a week ago when he instructed the state highway commission's supply depot at Mitchell to sell gasoline to the public at 16 cents a gallon, today consented to increasing the price to 20 cents at a conference with a committee representing independent oil jobbers.

LITTLE PROBABILITY OF EXTENDING 3-MILE LIMIT

Washington, Aug. 15.—The decision of the federal court at Brooklyn that foreign craft attempting to smuggle liquor into this country may be seized even though they are beyond the 3-mile limit, is not likely to cause any change in the general policy of the government against making such seizures outside of American territorial waters.

While the question has not come up for final decision, treasury officials having to do with the enforcement of the customs laws under which a number of British craft were captured last year while operating beyond the 3-mile limit, expressed the opinion today that there would be no change of policy, at least until after the supreme court has passed upon the constitutionality of the old "hovering act" under which the seizures were made.

Although no announcement has been made there have been indications that treasury and justice department officers have been aware of the view of the state department that the prosing of such cases would further complicate efforts to clear up the whole ship liquor situation through diplomatic negotiations.

It is indicated that Great Britain's view with regard to the "hovering acts" is that they are old and out of date and at variance with international law. This view is held to square with British practice. Great Britain having surpressed its "hovering acts" in 1876 when certain customs regulations were drafted and consolidated.

97 LIVES WERE LOST IN KEMMERER COAL MINE

Kemmerer, Wyo., Aug. 15.—(By the A. P.)—Kemmerer tonight was in mourners for the miners—97 of them—who are known to have lost their lives in the explosion at Kemmerer Coal company mine No. 1 at Frontier, near here, yesterday.

Throughout the day and tonight hundreds of relatives and friends thronged to the I. O. O. F. hall which has been turned into a temporary morgue, and also to a local undertaking establishment where about half the bodies are being kep.

Tonight, however, there were but few people congregated at the portal of the mine where last evening hundreds crowded for news of those trapped in the workings.

The latest official report is 97 miners dead; 1 missing and 97 rescued alive and unhurt.

What caused the explosion has not been determined but officials of the company announced that the pumps were not damaged and that work will be resumed as soon as possible.

The mine is considered one of the deepest in the section—if not in the United States. The main shaft goes down at an angle of 16 degrees to a depth of about 6,000 feet and it was on the lower levels, or about one mile under ground, that most of the bodies were found.

Statement by New Haven R.R. Directors

In Opposition to Merger of New England Roads and Trunk Lines Outside.

New York, Aug. 15.—Directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad company are opposed to any consolidation plan which link in New England roads with trunk lines outside that region, a statement issued by them today disclosed.

The statement, which is in effect the board's reply to the recent report of the joint New England railroad committee headed by J. J. Storrow, has been forwarded to the company's 25,000 stockholders.

The New Haven board places itself on record as heartily in favor of the joint committee's recommendation, opposing a merger of New England roads and trunk lines outside that territory but takes exception to several of its other views.

"It is the firm conviction of your directors," the statement reads, "that it is vital to the interests of New England industries as well as New England railroads that in due time a consolidation of the rail lines within New England, including not only New Haven, Boston and Maine, Maine Central, Rutland and Bangor and Aroostock, but also the Boston and Albany and Central Vermont, should be accomplished and that a consolidation of either the Northern or Southern lines with the trunk lines will be in the highest degree detrimental to New England's future prosperity.

"There is a strong appeal in the joint committee's report to the pride and enterprise of New England business men to return the management and ownership of the railroads which have been built by New England men and money, and there is a significant warning to New England business men that if they allow those more interested in other parts of the country than in New England to guide and direct the destiny of their rail lines there may follow a decline of the position and importance of New England and New England industry.

"Vigorous and prompt words and action are needed to awaken New England to the fact that she cannot permit the industries which have made her rich and influential to slip away from her inertia.

"This is not the expression merely of a sentiment; it is a statement of a sound business axiom. These New England railroads should be owned, and managed by the people whom they serve. They are now principally owned and managed by New England people."

Opposition is expressed to a recommendation of the committee with reference to state guarantees and the surrender of the management of the property to trustees appointed by the governors of New England states. That plan, it is stated, offers nothing substantial by way of state guarantees in return for the surrender of control.

"The stockholders," the statement concludes, "have made great sacrifices and the directors are loath to call upon them to make more unless the joint committee's plan or some modification of it should promise substantial benefit.

"The company is justly entitled to increased revenue from several sources, and a co-operative effort which would result in a scaling down of its fixed charges and permit the issuance of securities upon the proper basis, if such can be worked out by the joint committee, should certainly not be declined."

The board states that the principal financing faced by the company is the renewal in April by its foreign loan, and that no difficulty in caring for it, is anticipated.

TEMPLETON TO GO SLOW ON RAILROAD PROBLEM

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 15.—Governor Templeton today wrote fire Commissioner Benedict M. Holden, of this city that the subject of the future of the New England railroads "is a large and complicated one, on which neither you or I nor anyone else can properly hazard either off hand support or off hand criticism," and that he intended to go into the matter carefully.

The letter was in reply to one in which Commissioner Holden urged the Governor to "stop, look and listen" before taking steps "that might have the appearance of committing at least a small portion of that party which honored itself by electing you as governor, to a plan of public ownership of public utilities."

"Snap judgment is a dangerous thing," says the Governor's reply; "and that is why I am going so carefully into the matter."

CONVENTION SIGNED BY AMERICANS AND MEXICANS

The signature brought to a successful conclusion the negotiations, extending more than thirteen weeks, between Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne, as personal representatives of the American President, and Fernando Gonzalez Roa and Ramon Ross, for President Obregon. The actual signature, however, was by Juan F. Urquidi and J. Ralph Ringe, secretaries of the Mexican and American delegations respectively.

The American delegates will leave shortly for Washington on a special train for submission of the records, together with the accompanying claims conventions, to President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes. It is confidently expected here that the Mexican government's interpretations of the sub-oil-petroleum legislation and Agrarian laws contained in the records signed today will be acceptable to the American administration and that the appointment of a United States Ambassador to Mexico will not long be delayed.

DEADLOCK OF COAL MINERS AND OPERATORS IS BROKEN

Intervention of U. S. Coal Commission Has Borne Fruit—Leaders of Miners Agree to Abandon Demand for "Check Off" For Union Dues, Provided the Operators Give Up Practice of Checking Off From Their Employes Payment for the Long List of Other Items—Operators Have Agreed to the Proposal—Both Parties Meet the Commission Today to Confirm the Situation.

New York, Aug. 15.—A way to prevent suspension of anthracite coal mining after September 1 was opened today by the intervention of the United States coal commission in the deadlock between the miners' union and the operators which has hitherto prevailed.

Officials of the miners' union proposed to the commission to abandon their demand for "check-off of union dues if the operators would cease their practice of collecting explosive and fuel accounts by the same method, and after conference tonight operators agreed to the proposal in full.

Wage negotiations which broke off two weeks ago between the operators and miners may now be resumed, the operators said in accepting the union proposal. Both miners' union officials and operators representatives, however, will meet again tomorrow with the coal commission to confirm the situation before going ahead.

Both the miners' proposal of terms upon which they would abandon the "check-off" demand and the operators' acceptance took the form of commission.

John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers and union officials associated with him laid before the commission at their first meeting with it today alternative proposals by which the wage negotiations which broke off two weeks ago might be resumed.

The first—which the operators accepted—pointed out that mining companies generally "checked-off" and retained out of miners' pay checks sums to cover the cost of explosives used by them in mining, of house rent fuel and general supplies of many kinds. If the companies would cease doing this, the union offer ran, the union would drop its demand that union dues be collected by the same method.

"The operators accept this proposition," the answer of the coal operators said. "They are prepared to agree insofar as the law of Pennsylvania will permit, to incorporate in the wage agreement a clause discontinuing the present basis."

The operators' answer, in the form of a letter signed by Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of their general policy committee, and addressed to the coal commission went on to say that wage negotiations could promptly be resumed. Further, it was suggested, an agreement could be reached to allow the mines to continue operating after September 1, by making any wage decisions retroactive back to that time in case the negotiations were prolonged through a period after September 1. Mr. Warriner explained that the proviso concerning the laws of Pennsylvania was not inserted to leave a loophole for evasion of the agreement but simply as a matter of protection. The operators also would cooperate with the miners individually, or the union, he said, to relieve any embarrassment that might be caused their employees by the necessity of collecting cash for mine supplies or other items which have been "checked-off" the pay roll in the past.

$529,575 SUIT AGAINST THE FAMOUS PLAYERS LASKY

New York, Aug. 15.—Complaint in a Sherman Law treble suit for $529,575 was filed today in the federal court against the Famous Players Lasky Corporation, moving picture producers, and fifteen of its directors, by William Marston Seabury, attorney for Joseph C. Boss, formerly a moving picture exhibitor in McAlester, Okla.

Among the directors named in his complaint were:

Boss alleged in his complaint that he had an understanding with Famous Players-Lasky he was to show their pictures exclusively in McAlester. After a year a subsidiary of the corporation decided to enter that field, acquired a theatre opposite Boss's and showed Famous Players-Lasky pictures. Later, the manager of that theatre, Boss alleges, told him he wanted to quit the corporation and buy Boss's theatre to run himself, independently. He paid only $2,000 cash and contracted to pay the remainder of $15,000, the total price.

Scientists May End World

COPYRIGHT KEYSTONE VIEW CO., NEW YORK

Sir Ernest Rutherford, of England, former winner of the Nobel prize for chemistry, and the world's leading authority on atomic structure, whose experiments, brought down to the understanding of the lay mind, means that by firing an atom which like the rest of the world, is filled with hydrogen, the entire world will explode in a puff of smoke. However, have no fear—no atom has yet been exploded. It is believed that Sir Ernest's experiments are so fundamental as to promise solution of many problems of physics which a few years ago seemed incapable of solution, among them actual transmutation of elements, or rather of some of the lighter ones, and the possibility of harnessing the stupendous energy at present locked up in the complex structure of the atom.

ARREST OF DE VALERA CAUSED LITTLE SURPRISE

Dublin, Aug. 15.—(By the A. P.)—News of the arrest of Eamon De Valera at Ennis reached Dublin today when the city was crowded with visitors who had come to attend the horse show. It was received calmly.

No real surprise seemed to have been caused by the taking of De Valera into custody, although it had been anticipated that once parliament was dissolved the government would withhold its hand. The public appearance of De Valera possibly may have been due to the fact that Professor John MacNeill, Minister of Education, who is being opposed by De Valera for MacNeill's seat in Clare, recently has been challenging the "President of the Republic" to answer his arguments on the platform. In some quarters the belief prevails that the decision to arrest De Valera was due to the military wing of the government.

The apprehension of De Valera if is believed will not affect his candidature for Clare, and it is generally anticipated that he cannot fail under proportional representation to secure election to one of Clare's five seats. Though the general opinion is that today's event will not turn votes either way. There are some persons who express the belief that De Valera, as a "martyr" will be a great gainer at the polls.

VICE, DRUG AND LIQUOR CONDITIONS IN BUFFALO

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Stories of enormous profits were told and names of prominent men were brought before the federal grand jury investigating vice, drug and liquor conditions in Buffalo today by the signed confession of Charles H. Stutzman, arrested on a charge of counterfeiting whiskey labels, revenue stamps and liquor prescriptions.

At least ten indictments are expected by the federal attorney as the result of Stutzman's revelations which were studied by the grand jury in a five hour session without a recess.

The production of spurious whiskey labels, revenue stamps and prescription blanks has been going on since 1921 and the principals have grown rich, federal agents say. One individual before the grand jury is reported to have paid an income tax of $10,000 last year. Profits of all concerned have been better than $1,000 a day federal agents estimate.

Stutzman was called into the grand jury room four times during the day. Engraving plates were taken to the federal building, presumably for identification as part of the evidence seized when he was arrested.

The uncovering of the plant and the operations of the ring is said to have occupied a force of department of justice agents four months.

This year there is more interest shown in rifle shooting all over the country and Baltic is no exception. No finer sport can a young or middle-aged man have than an afternoon on the small bore range, the .22 long rifle is inexpensive and very accurate up to 200 yards. One gets the best of nerves and health from this sport. At present Baltic has a few riflemen that can make any of them go some to beat them and with a little more practice can take care of anything in this part of the state. But the members would like to see more of the boys get in the game, form a civilian rifle club and become affiliated with the National Rifle Association of America which will only be too glad to give applicants all the help and information required. Rifle shooting is coming back into its own which is as it should be, as this is supposed to be a nation of riflemen.

FIVE AMERICAN AND THREE BRITISH STARS REMAIN IN TENNIS FIGHT

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 15—(By the A. P.)—Five American and three British stars remained in the running for the national women's singles championship today when third round play was completed on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis club. Competition for the national doubles title was narrowed down to one British and seven American pairs at the end of the second round.

Misfortune struck the ranks of the British invaders when the illness of Mrs. Geraldine Beamish obliged her by default to Miss Helen Hooker of Greenwich, Conn., in the singles, and also contributed later to her defeat in the doubles, partnered with Mrs. R. C. Clayton, by two youthful Americans, Miss Ceres Baker of Orange, N. J., and Miss Lillian Scharman of New York.

The elimination of the British pair in the doubles marked the first real playing upset of the tournament. The losers were clearly not up to their usual standard but Miss Baker and Miss Scharman aided their own cause by particularly brilliant team work on the last two sets to pull out the match by scores of 2-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Miss Baker's erratic play cost the Americans many chances in the first set but thereafter she steadied down, scoring brilliantly with her partner in a sparkling exhibition of net play. The youngsters, gathering confidence and displaying greater stamina as the match went on, drove and volleyed brilliantly, frequently catching their more experienced rivals for out of position with passing shots.

The default of Mrs. Beamish in the singles prevented fulfillment of prospects for an all-international lineup tomorrow in the fourth round. The seven other seeded players all came through decisively with the exception of Miss Leslie Bancroft, of Boston, No. 8 in the national ranking, who was forced to three hard-fought sets to eliminate Mrs. R. F. Stenz of New York, 9-11, 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Bancroft, whose game showed the effects of recent illness, was unprepared for the New York woman's vigorous attack in the first set, which established a tournament record for length. She steadied down, however, in the next two sets and outmaneuvered her opponent to pull out the match.

Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, campaigning for her eighth national title, was given a momentary scare by Miss Mayme Macdonald of Seattle, holder of the women's clay court crown, but quickly settled into her stride to vanquish the western girl. Displaying a puzzling [illegible] Macdonald up a lead of 3-1 in the first set, breaking [illegible] champion's service in the third game.

The little round star wilted, however, at this point and began netting, shot after shot, as Mrs. Mallory put more finishing power into her strokes. The champion took five straight games to capture the first set and was never in danger in the second though Miss Macdonald showed her gameness by snatching drive for drive in a number of brilliant backcourt rallies.

All three of the remaining Britishers in the singles played convincingly in gaining their fourth round brackets, particularly Miss Kathleen McKane, ranking star of the invading team. She quickly disposed of Mrs. W. M. Shedden, of Boston, 6-1 6-1, and tomorrow faces Miss Helen Wills, Berkeley, Calif., schoolgirl, who gave another impressive exhibition today in defeating Mrs. Helen Pollak Falk of New York, with the loss of but one game.

Miss Wills gained the verdict over Miss McKane in their first meeting last Saturday, when the international series was opened, but their play today was so closely on a par that experts were divided in their opinion as to the probable outcome of tomorrow's encounter, which is the feature attraction of the fourth round program.

Mrs. Nanay Covell and Mrs. Clayton were the other English women to advance the former outgeneraily the veteran Boston player, Miss Edith Sigourney, at 6-4, 6-1, while the latter quickly eliminated Miss Agnes Sherwood of Rye, N. Y., 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Elenor Goss, of New York, the remaining member of the last eight, showed that she must be reckoned with in title calculations by overpowering Mrs. Helen G. Lockhorn, No. 7 in the national ranking, by a margin of 6-2, 6-2.

Completion of the second round doubles play left two outstanding teams in the running. They are the British [illegible] Miss McKane and Mrs. Covell, who advanced today by putting out two veteran Americans, Miss Marie Wagner and Mrs. H. S. Green, and Miss Goss and Mrs. George W. Wightman, of Boston, who won two matches with the loss of but one game.

REDS CUT DOWN GIANTS LEAD BY TWO GAMES

New York, Aug. 15—Cincinnati cut into New York's league lead here today, winning a double-header 6 to 2 and 10 to 5. Luque, restored to good standing yesterday, won his fourth victory of the season from New York. Besides pitching well Luque hit a homer with Pinelli on base.

The second game was a pitchers' battle between Rixey and Ryan for seven innings, but Ryan was taken out for a pinch hitter and with the score tied, Cincinnati fell on Jonnard and Barnes for six runs. McGraw used five pitchers and seventeen players. Duncan collected a home run and five singles in the doubleheader. Scores:

No Bands—Why?

VAN REAL
A smart, cool summer VAN HEUSEN

Most troubles in collars are due to bands. The collar being one material and the band another, laundering distorts the collar at the top. The ordinary collar must have a band for shape. The VAN HEUSEN, shaped in the weaving, needs no bands. That is why it looks better and feels better than ordinary collars.

AUSTRALIANS AND FRENCH CLASH IN OPENING DAVIS CUP CONTEST

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 15—The golden fleece of lawn tennis for 1923 will be before the eyes of tennis players who have travelled thousands of miles to battle tomorrow for Davis cup laurels on the neutral courts of the Longwood cricket club at Chestnut Hill in the first of the finla round matches.

At 3 o'clock Rene Lacoste, 19 year old continental sensation will carry the tricolor of France against James O. Anderson, veteran leader o fthe Australian forces, in the opening match of the final tie, immediately after their encounter Jacques Brugnon, oldest of the French invaders, will oppose John B. Hawkes, the Melbourne lefthander in another singles contest. On Friday the same players probably will figure in the doubles and the order of Thursday's singles will be reserved for the windup of the series in the last two matches Saturday.

Chief interest in the opening day's play will center in the initial match. Lacoste "baby" internationalist, will oppose in Anderson a player who has won twenty of his two dozen matches in three years of Davis cup play. These two players have had few common adversaries, but one of these has been William M. Johnston, the San Franciscan, who holds the world title on hard courts and on turf. Johnston today expressed the opinion that Anderson's wide experience and greater speed probably would carry him through to victory over the Paris school boy, but he added that he considered La Coste to possess greater possibilities for future development than the new South Walea giant, who has known weaknesses in his tennis [illegible].

France got into the series as a distinct under dog. But that was true last year when the same teams battled on Longwood green. The 1922 struggle was of a thrilling nature and France not only won one of the opening singles contests, but also carried the first three matches to the five set limit. Whether the present team of Paris players can muster sufficient poise and power to make an equally impressive showing as Cochet and Gobert is a question. They will acquire some mental stimulus tomorrow from the presence of their own general Henri Gouraud, "Lion of the Argonne," who will attend the matches in the hope of spurring his countrymen on to victory.

Undeniably the Australian team is less formidable than a year ago. The Antipodeans practiced for the first time on the Longwood courts this afternoon and they showed clesaly the fatigue superinduced by their globe-trotting of recent weeks. They are more thoroughly injured to American playing conditions ,ohewever, and Captain Anderson stated that the plugless American tennis ball, always a bothersome factor to newcomers to this country, will offer no handicap to himself and Hawkes. Nor do the Frenchmen seem bothered to any great degree.

PEARL BENBOE WINS FEATURE EVENT AT TOLEDO TRACK

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 15—(By the A. P.)—Pearl Benboe, Tom Murphy's sensational entry, captured the Toledo Blade stake of $3,000 when she led the field of 2.12 trotters in the first two heats of the feature events of Wednesday's card in the grand circuit meeting at Fort Miami track. Nat Ray sent Davenport to the front early in the second mile but Murphy let out his mare at the draw gate, coming up through the field to win by a nose.

Ethelinda, with Cox up, won the Zenobia stake for 2.12 trotters by taking the last two heats, Eugenia Harvester finishing first in the initial heat.

The 2.04 pace went to the veteran Johnnie Quirk, who took the first two heats, stepping the second mile in 2.03 2-4. Logan Hedgewood was second and Roger C. third.

The 2.08 pace went to Easter Belle, which McMahon whipped in a head of Harry Gray's Maybelle Direct in the second and third heats, after Gray's entry won the first mile.

Sanarado, star pacer of the Geers stable, which holds the world's record for geldings on half mile tracks, failed in his attempt to beat two minutes flat against time. The veteran Geers drove the gelding to the wire in 2.02.

NORWICH TOWN HORSE SHOE STARS CHALLENGE EAST SIDERS

From Norwich Town comes a wail [illegible]e East Siders have no cleam to any kind of a "barnyard golf" title as the boys in the upper end have been perfecting themselves in this art for the past two years. To prove that they are real champions they quote victories over the teams from Yantic and Bean Hill earned in gruelling and nerve-racking contests. However, if there is going to be any wrangeling between the boys from the North End and those from the East Side as to which community has the best golfers, the best thing to do is to arrange a tournament. The Norwich Town team is ready to play the East Siders anytime and J. Denker, of 59 Sturfevant street is manager.

STRESEMAN SEES LIGHT.

When Dr. Stresemann, the new German chancellor, indicates in his first speech that there are conditions under which Germany might be brought to attempt to meet the view of France in the matter of reparations and the occupancy of the Ruhr he gives ground for hope that he will not be blind to the practical aspects of the situation. Only the future can tell how far he is willing to go in endeavoring to rehabilitate his country through the path of a settlement with France, but that he has been moved even to the present indefinite statement is a hopeful departure from Germany's policy of stubborn, passive resistance.

That was an unworthy intimation in Lord Curzon's note that France might be exercising bad faith in its occupancy of the Ruhr and that once the French hold was firmly established it might be difficult to loosen the grip. When the French went into the Ruhr it was with a distinct disclaimer of annexation, which has been reiterated more than once. This declaration has been accepted at its face value and is one of the reasons why American opinion has been so largely behind the Ruhr venture. France has done nothing and is doing nothing today to cause anyone to revise his confidence in her good faith in the Ruhr venture. It is easily apparent that the military power of France to do with Germany as she wills is beyond doubt, and only French good faith and common sense have restrained an even more drastic use of the power at her command.

In Dr. Stresemann's words it can be seen that he recognizes whose will must be met. The world will take his statements as sincere, if Germany meets the present situation by straightforward dealings with France, without whining appeals to America and Great Britain for help to extricate the German nation from the troubles brought on by the double-dealing of her own responsible leaders.

FORESTALLING A STRIKE.

Without having made a public statement on the issue between the anthracite mine operators and the miners, President Coolidge is credited with inspiring the action taken by the United States coal commission in calling a conference as a step in the direction of a settlement of the difficulty. Both sides have declared that they are entering the conference with minds completely open.

The move for a conference was made following a talk at the White House between President Coolidge and the secretary of the United States coal commission. This is taken to mean that there can be no question that the president stands squarely behind the commission in its efforts to bring about an agreement between the warring factions. There is absolutely no excuse for a strike in the anthracite field. None of the questions at issue are such that they cannot be settled by arbitration, and arbitration is what the coal commission is trying to effect. Even the question of the check-off, which would make the operators the agents of the unions for the collection of union dues, the point which broke up the Atlantic City conference, is one that can be submitted to arbitration.

Two methods of appeal lie open to the president to prevent a fuel shortage. In the event that either party refuses arbitration, or, having accepted it, refuses to abide by its results, he can appeal to the force of public opinion against this party. Should arbitration fail, the president could call a special session of congress and ask for power to take over the mines as an emergency measure. It will be the hope that a special session of congress and the conferring of extraordinary powers may be avoided if possible. Such an outcome can be avoided if blundering stupidity and obstinacy are left outside the conference room. Faced with the certainty of a strike and another fuel shortage with all its inevitable suffering and inconvenience, the people will demand a drastic remedy as better than no remedy at all.

SELECTIVE IMMIGRATION.

Having been an immigrant once himself, Secretary of Labor Davis had a background of experience when he went abroad to study the immigration problem, and he has come home with some very definite ideas on the subject, most important of which is his advocacy of a "real, true, rigid, selective immigration law." He cordially disapproves of the restrictions contained in the present law.

Selective immigration is, of course, merely a phrase. We have selective immigration now. The law is selective as to the number of immigrants that shall come from a given country. It provides for the exclusion of whole classes of moral, physical and financial defectives. Not a little of the trouble with the present law is its rigidity, and, theoretically at least, we should now be getting the strong, upstanding men and women of Europe who want to come to America.

But there are always difficulties. Even strong, upstanding men and women often have aged and decrepit parents and other dependents they would like to bring with them. At present we exclude the strong, upright Europeans who happen to knock at the door after their nation's quota is filled. And we do let in many undesirables. Mr. Davis does not defend the present law, but thinks that it has served a useful purpose in stemming the tide at a time when millions are clamoring to come to America.

Whether we have the courage and vision to enact such an ideal selective law as Mr. Davis advocates may be doubted. But he is right in his insistence upon changes in the present law which will make it possible to do the selecting of immigrants on the other side and end the scrambling and often heartbreaking experiences under the present law.

EIGHT HOURS IN STEEL.

This week sees the inauguration of the eight-hour day in a number of the largest steel mills of the country. The change will be attended with some difficulties, both because an extra shift throughout the entire industry would require many thousands of additional workers in these days of labor shortage and because the cutting of th eworkers' hours without an increase in their hourly wage means a one-third reduction in their earning capacity. Laborers who are now getting of the workers' hours without an rate will find themselves reduced to $3.20, with more free time in which to spend it.

One large independent company has announced that it will pay ten hours' wages at the old rate for eight hours of work. This will bring the 40-cent man up to $4 a day, and will mean to the company a 25 per cent increase in its cost for this class of labor. Will this additional cost be added to the price of steel or will it be made up in the long run by the increased efficiency of unflagged workers on the short-day basis? Advocates of the eight-hour day insist that the latter will be the case. In any event, notwithstanding any dissatisfaction that may result, students of human values are sure that the change is right.

Personal liberty is always limited by the good of the community as a whole, and, whatever uncompromising individualists may say, is necessarily encroached upon by sound considerations of human welfare. Public opinion has come to be overwhelmingly in favor of giving all workers in great machinelike industries a chance to know some leisure to cultivate citizenship and to bring up their children with proper parental care.

The change inaugurated this week in the steel mills is therefore first of all an interesting demonstration of the power of convinced public opinion.

FARM VALUE INCREASES.

Figures compiled by the bureau of the census on the value of farm lands and other farm property in Illinois, Wisconsin and other states west of the Mississippi river show an increase in value in the twenty years ending in 1920 of about $42,000,000,000. The average value of a farm had leaped from $4,366 to $18,781 and the total farm value in 1920 was $54,000,000,000. It is a remarkable growth in which the railroads have played a highly important part, according to an article in the Railway Age, which asks the farmers not to forget wherein the railroad development has helped them.

Appeal is made to the farmers of the west to have these things in mind when they are asked to support radical legislation that would cripple railroad enterprise. It is a worthwhile effort that seeks to show the farmer some of the economic aspects of the case and where action adverse to the railroads might seriously injure his hopes of prosperity for the future. His attention is called to the fact that the prices he got for his product after the panic of 1893 were very low, and if he had at that time succeeded in hamstringing the railroads, he could not have hoped for the great growth in values that the past two decades have witnessed, only a very minor portion of which can be ascribed to the change in value of the dollar.

It is a question how much the wheat growers of the Northwest are disposed to listen to any such advice. Convinced that they are losing money, they are in the mood to try almost any kind of remedy that may be recommended. But the wheat growers do not constitute the whole of the farm population. Others may be more disposed to look upon the railroad as a necessity to be properly maintained rather than as an evil to be abated. It is, therefore, well at this time to have attention directed to the no inconsiderable part the railroads have played in making possible the agricultural developments in the west.

ARTFUL IMOGENE

"Ouch!" cried the Hyde Park man when his friend from Woodlawn sat down beside him and a lurch of the train drove them together. "My left ribs are sort of sore. At least I think it is my ribs, although it may be my spinal column or something!"

"But you look well!" remonstrated his Woodlawn friend.

"I am well," agreed the man from Hyde Park indignantly. "I may be a trifle overweight, maybe I puff when I reach the sixth flight of stairs and I don't suppose I'd win in a 100-yard race—but take it all in all I have not the slightest quarrel with my health. I am entirely satisfied with myself as I am. Imogene isn't. Come to think of it I never did know a wife who was quite contented with her husband. She'll buy a chipped vase or a dented bronze marked 'as is' at reduced rates and be tickled to pieces with her bargain, but the minute she gets her hands on a good, ordinary, humdrum husband in a state of perfect repair she begins trying to make him into something different.

"I don't know what Imogene's idea is, exactly, but I gather that she hopes to make Apollo look like a mere also ran. When she walks out with me she wants to make all the other women, peering from the windows and stepping off curbs as they turn their heads to stare, so sick at heart that they'll go home and put poison in their husband's coffee or mail back their diamond rings if they are merely engaged.

"Imogene heard a lecture which asserted that all of us were concealing undreamed of possibilities within us and she has begun on the excavation job, in addition to feeding me grass and cut up whisk brooms she has a lot of exercises that I have to do night and morning. Don't mention daily dozens in the same breath, my friend! These are the morning millions and then some. Most of them pull and haul at muscles that I never knew that I had. But I know I've got 'em now!

"If I sit down it is as comfortable a process as trying to bend a wall of some skyscraper into angles without knocking it to pieces. And if I try to walk and dismiss my troubles I am exactly as happy as though I had had every joint dislocated by the Spanish inquisition. When I attempt to chew and swallow food I think I've had a stroke of paralysis. Just a little while ago when I met Howdinger down the street and threw back my head and laughed at one of his cheerful little sallies I thought somebody had dropped a safe on me from a roof. I was certain that I never should get my neck twisted back to normal or my head facing the right way.

"Bending over to pick up anything led me to believe firmly that I should be obliged to spend the remainder of my life doubled up in that position, because it seemed beyond mortal power ever to straighten up again. I tell you, all my joints and muscles and nerves have simply gone on strike and are screaming in indignant surprise at the treatment they're getting.

"I have told Imogene that I have better things to do than swing my legs in half-circles and wigwag at the ceiling. She pays not the slightest attention to me. While nothing formal has been said, I know that either I do these confounded exercises or else I get no breakfast, and I like our coffee better than the coffee at most places. Only yesterday I asked her whether she had considered the cost of an armed guard that will be necessary if she wishes to keep me after she has made me all surpassing beautiful. She said she wasn't worrying.

"She doesn't need to. I'm worrying enough for two. When I get so agile and limber and thin and lithe that I can't bear to slump down in my arm chair and eat chocolate cake and read a detective story, but must be out and away chasing tennis ball or hurdling races, she'll probably be satisfied, but our home life will be utterly destroyed.

"She tried to egg me on this morning by saying that it was wonderful the change to be noticed in me already. Did you—er—that is, do you think I look much—that is, younger and—"

"Why I can't notice a bit of difference in your looks," the Woodlawn man told him candidly after a survey.

"H'm!" bristled the Hyde Park man "You aren't very observing and I think it's benefitted me wonderfully and I'm going to keep right on with the exercises. For my health's sake, of course."—Chicago News.

Stories That Recall Others

Businessike

A western judge one day overheard his hopeful heir in animated conversation with a neighbor's boy.

"Yes, sir," said the hopeful, "I always guarantee my word."

Curious to know what his heir meant, the judge asked him: "And how do you guarantee your word?"

"Easy," came the ready response. "If he don't like it I'll take it back."

The Quarantined Car.

Katherine, six, had heard much of the quarantine when her school was closed because of diphtheria. All children were ordered to remain at home. The official notice of the quarantine was posted all over town, great red placards.

The next door neighbor owned a car, and a member of his family as a candidate for county office, was using the car. Incidentally he had printed large placards on red cardboard bearing the announcement of his candidacy. Several of the cards were attached to the car the day the canvass was begun.

The first evening when the little car was driven into the home garage, Katherine saw the car and the fluttering red placards.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

THE FORTUNES OF PRESIDENTS OF U. S.

The statement that Calvin Coolidge is the poorest man who ever entered the White House is contradicted by the known facts in the lives of some of his predecessors. The new president, as is well known, is a man of very moderate means, but there have been other presidents who were equally lacking in worldly goods, and several who unquestionably were poorer than he.

Lincoln was a poor man when he was elected president, and had he lived to serve out his term he would perhaps have retired worth only a few hundreds dollars more than when he entered. Both he and Mrs. Lincoln were very liberal and gave away a great deal of money to people in distress.

Another poor man elected to the presidency was McKinley. He was not only poor, but was in debt. By frugal management and the assistance of friends he was accumulating money when the assassin's bullet ended his life.

James Monroe entered the White House a very poor man, and he retired almost penniless. He lived well, but not extravagantly, while president, and he died so poor that he was buried at the expense of relatives. It took just 162 words to tell in his will what he wished done with the few dollars he left.

On the other hand, the most of the presidents have been comfortably fixed financially, and some of them were exceedingly rich, according to the standard of their times. George Washington, for instance, had so much money and property to dispose of that his will covered twenty closely written pages, and if put into type would make five columns of an ordinary newspaper.

Van Buren was so wealthy that he did not trouble himself to draw his salary until the expiration of his four years, when he signed for an even $100,000. When he died he left a fortune of nearly half a million dollars.

John Adams died moderately well off leaving about $75,000. His son, John Quincy Adams, died a rich man. He owned immense properties in Boston and Washington. Polk, Fillmore and Pierce were all rich men when elected president. Polk left an estate valued at $150,000. Fillmore was always frugal and added to his savings by marrying a woman of wealth, and was worth about $200,000. Pierce's estate was valued at about $50,000.

Thomas Jefferson, according to history, always put on a large amount of style and was rated a very rich man, but in old age he was reduced to hardpan and died so poor that if congress had not purchased his library at $20,000 he would have been a pauper. James Madison had a good bank account and considerable real estate when he became president, and it had not dwindled perceptibly when he retired. Andrew Jackson was another who was comfortably rich when he was chosen president. Buchanan was wealthy, too, as was also Andrew Johnson, but the latter was impoverished before death by assuming the debts of his son.

William Henry Harrison saved a goodly portion of his salary as president. His grandson, Benjamin Harrison, was likewise economical and died worth $250,000. John Tyler added to his wealth by marrying a rich woman. Cleveland was a poor man when he entered the White House, but was quite wealthy at the conclusion of his second term. Grant managed to accumulate considerable money while in the presidency, but lost his fortune in the Grant & Ward failure. Hayes was always frugal and added to his fortune, while Garfield was only moderately well off. Roosevelt had a substantial competence, Taft was comfortably well off, while Wilson has royalties from his books and his second wife is a woman of wealth. Mr. Harding, according to report, was worth between $50,000 and $100,000. Arthur was the most extravagant of presidents and left only a moderate fortune.

Few of the difficulties that have hitherto interfered with the work of exploration in Mesopotamia will have to be contended with by the joint expedition of the British Museum and the University of Pennsylvania Museum, in their exploration of the ruins of the city of Ur, the ancestral home of the patriarch of Abraham. This expedition will be fully equipped with excavating machinery and means of transportation that will make comparatively easy the exploration of these ruins that have been buried for 3,000 years.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The new Irish Free State stamps have aroused the enthusiasm of philatelists by their beauty of design. They owe their origin to Miss Millicent Girling, an Irish lass of twenty-two, who while she has been an art student has found time to qualify as a technical instructor in the Department of Agriculture. She purposed her own studies with such success that she obtained a scholarship in the Dublin School of Art. This she utilized to such advantage that she completed her course with highest honors. Miss Girling's design of the first series of postage stamps issued by the new Irish Free State has the merit of effective simplicity. On a background of shamrock is impaled a shield containing the arms of all the provinces, with "Ireland" in Gaelic above and the value below.

"The Three Musketeers," as they are called by their friends, ex-Senator Charles S. Avery, former Alderman Andrew H. Breed and Registrar of Voters Tyler D. Guy, had a reunion at Ocean Beach Tuesday, concluding their outing with a shore dinner.

Notification comes from Madison that Sunday, Aug. 19, is to be observed as Bushnell Sunday. This will be the 33d consecutive year of its observance. Rev. S. C. Bushnell will be the preacher and it is expected that Erickson Bushnell will be present to sing.

Three-quarters of an inch will be the basic width for women's belts this fall and cocoa and allied shades of brown will be the accepted colors, according to an announcement made by the belt manufacturers' group of the United Women's Wear League of America.

OVER 500 BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS IN STATE

Five hundred and fifty-five bankruptcy petitions were filed in the bankruptcy division of the United States court for Connecticut in the fiscal year ending June 30, according to the annual report completed at New Haven by Bankruptcy Clerk Richard Carroll. Of this number, 466 were voluntary and the remainder involuntary. In the previous year 172 were voluntary and 29 involuntary petitions were recorded. At the beginning of the 1922-23 fiscal year 1,412 cases were pending. A total of 55 new cases were filed and 299 were concluded. There now are 1,568 cases pending. Bankruptcy estate liabilities were $10,343,684.62.

Co-operative Fish Exchange.

Formation of a co-operative fish exchange by Connecticut commercial fishermen to avoid "getting stung" by professional fishmongers is suggested by Representative Charles E. Wheeler of Stratford, chairman of the legislative shell fisheries committee, in a publication on the condition of commercial fisheries in the state. Thirty barrels of butterfish and weakfish were sold by a Connecticut fisherman to a New York fishmonger on a certain date for $87.26, according to Mr. Wheeler, and on the same date they were sold for over $1,000. For 45 barrels of weakfish sold on another date $69.27 was paid to the fisherman or a little less than wholesaling in New York.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Judge and Mrs. Henry H. Pettis have returned from a trip to Maine.

Mrs. Arthur Marriott Shipley of Baltimore, Md., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles M. Coit.

Picturesque Fire Alarm.

ROQUE TOURNEY TO BE TRANSFERRED TO PHILADELPHIA

The Eastern division of the American Roque league, at its annual meeting Wednesday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock in the clubhouse at the Rockwell street courts, voted to hold future tournaments in Philadelphia, and Norwich, after having the tournaments here for 42 consecutive years, loses roque for lack of support.

The meeting was called to order by President C. B. Crowell of Brattleboro, Vt., 19 members being present. The reports of Secretary A. L. Peale and James L. Case were read and approved and ordered placed on file.

For the committee on grounds, Woodruff T. Sullivan of Norwich reported, and Gerald Brassill for the committee on arrangements announced the start of the Van Wickle medal play set for Wednesday evening, also that the tournament would probably close Friday night.

W. C. Rodman of Philadelphia stated that for many years roque players of the east have looked forward to coming to Norwich to take part in the great national game of roque, and had enjoyed the hospitality of Norwich and its citizens. It was regretted that from a financial standpoint Norwich would not be in a position to hold the tournament next year. Then, in behalf of the Quaker City Roque club, he invited the association to meet in Philadelphia next year. S. B. Prentice of Providence seconded the invitation of Mr. Rodman and it was unanimously voted to hold the 1924 tournament in that city.

The president then appointed the following nominating committee: W. L. Robinson, S. B. Prentice and C. M. Thompson. The following officers were elected: President, C. B. Crowell, Brattleboro, Vt.; vice presidents, Dr. B. R. Veazey, Wilmington, Del., A. D. Spellman, Willimantic, Conn., and George Huot, Chicopee Falls, Mass.; secretary, W. C. Rodman, Philadelphia, Pa.; treasurer, J. C. Walton, Philadelphia, Pa., and official editor, W. C. Rodman, Philadelphia, Pa.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the retiring secretary, Arthur L. Peale of Norwich, and to Treasurer James L. Case for their untiring efforts in the cause of roque and for the work they have done for the association for many years; also for the courtesy shown the roque players who had visited Norwich, and who incidentally promoted the interests of the Rose of New England.

Mr. Peale responded, stating that he regretted very much that roque was not to be played in Norwich next year as the players had set an example of true sportsmanship worthy to be emulated by all the younger members who have been taught the game in Norwich. We have enjoyed meeting the players and the public in general will miss the annual tournaments. What is our loss will be the gain of Philadelphia, he said.

Mr. Peale paid a very high compliment to the former treasurer, James L. Case, for his tireless efforts not only for the players but for his native city. Mr. Case stated that for 42 years the National Roque association has held its meetings here annually and it has always been a pleasure to see the players return year after year. While it had been a problem many times from a financial standpoint, he had been more than repaid for his work by the appreciation of the players.

He paid a high tribute to players like Bishop, Dickey and others who were pioneers in the game, and also to the present officers, and wished them success in Philadelphia, although he regretted to see Norwich lose roque after having it for nearly a half century.

It was voted to transfer the rights and property of the national association to the Norwich Roque and Tennis club.

Thanks were voted to the United Workers for the use of the grounds and to the Norwich Rotary club, Norwich Bulletin, Norwich Record, the Norwich Chamber of Commerce and Lions club for their assistance and courtesy.

The Van Wickle Contest.

People attending the roque games at the courts of the American Roque league on Rockwell street Wednesday evening witnessed two games between Gerald Brassill of this city, 1922 champion and challenger for the first Van Wickle medal, and George Huot of Chicopee Falls, Mass., present holder, who won the medal from Brassill last year after a hard series. The games Wednesday evening were divided, each man taking one game after a series of clever plays that brought rounds of applause from the spectators who appreciated the difficult shots before the final and winning runs could be made.

Brassil and Huot started off slow in both games but kept each other wired and it was only after continuous hard trying for the balls that the games were ended, Huot winning the first game 32 to 26, Brassill taking the second game 32 to 19. The play is to be continued this (Thursday) evening and it is expected that a large crowd will witness the contest between these two wizards of the mallet.

The first upset during the play for the championship came Wednesday, when Brassill playing a wonderful game defeated George Huot 32 to 8, placing him at a tie with Harold Bosworth of New London at six games won and none lost. Bosworth, who has not been seen on the Norwich courts for about seven years, is playing the strongest game of his career and when he and Brassill meet in the tournament, which will probably be today, the game will practically decide the championship, as the winner of this game, unless unforeseen hard luck prevails, should go through the remaining three games without any trouble. Brassill has passed one dangerous milestone in defeating Huot and has only Bosworth to play among the leaders. Bosworth, however, must defeat both Brassill and Huot in order to win out. Should he defeat Brassill and lose to Huot, a triple tie is likely and there will be a play-off between these three experts. Games today will be watched with interest because of their bearing on the championship.

In the Second Division.

In the second division James Brassill is out in the lead and this youthful roque player is likely to win out this year and go into the first division. Brassill, according to the older men in the first division, has the makings of a fine player if he steadies down, and a few years will bring this to him if he keeps at the game. He has won all of his games thus far and bids fair to go through the tournament with a perfect score.

In the play for the second Van Wickle medal, held by S. B. Prentice of Providence, Brassill, who is challenger, played a fast game Wednesday night and easily won by a score of 32 to 3. The second game was slow and was ended with Brassill in the lead, Mr. Prentice holding the balls, with about eight arches to go.

ROTARIANS HEAR OF COAST DEFENSE VALUE

The value of the coast defense in time of war was impressively described by Col. R. C. Abernethy, commander of the forces at Fort H. G. Wright, Fisher's Island, at the monday meeting of the Norwich Rotary club Wednesday. Colonel Abernethy said he was no believer in the slogan "Law, Not War," but that "Preparedness" was the watchword of the times, and went on to tell how if it was not for the coast defenses, invading nations could land troops on American soil and do great damage before the forces of America could be mobilized.

Colonel Abernethy said in part:

I do not believe in the practicability of living up to the slogan "Law Not War." The real safeguard against war—for the American people at least—is preparedness, and I have too much confidence in the shrewdness of the American to believe that he can ever be led by full preparedness for war into militarism—into disregard for the cost and the losses of war.

Frankly, I favor universal military training. Such training would save us from almost every danger of war, and make us all better men and better citizens. We are failing away from the simple virtues of our forefathers much as did the later Romans. Military training carries the development and upbuilding of the body, plain living, truthfulness, directness in dealing and love of country.

We are now convinced that the majority of the American people are opposed to universal training. It is the duty of every true American citizen to give his aid and his support to the development of our military strength by the means provided by law.

We need help in recruiting for the regular army and the national guard. We need as a reserve officer every American who has the qualifications, and we need to have you send your young men to the citizen's military Training camps. There is no one present who may not on occasion help along all these causes.

In this connection it is well to point out that up to November 11 next those who were commissioned officers during the World war are eligible for commissions in the reserves upon physical examinations only. A man whose record of service is well known in his community—who stays out of the reserve not only fails to help, he hurts the cause. If Major A. who has a distinguished record and a decoration, declines a reserve commission, many people in the community will think the reserve does not amount to much. you all know I am not exaggerating.

As an officer of coast artillery, I am much interested in the manning of our harbor defenses. We have never needed our harbor defenses in war because we have never gone to war with a foreign power whose navy could meet our navy on equal terms.

There is little danger from our neighbors on this continent. So, our country will be in serious danger only when in a struggle against a state or combination of states whose naval force is able to meet our own on equal terms.

In such a war we must depend on our navy—aided by air forces—to delay invasion until our armies are ready and—I need not point out to you—that will take weeks and months even with the best possible development of our present military.

Now, navies are based upon defended harbors, where they may be safe from attack by surface craft, underwater craft and air craft, and where they may take on fuel and supplies, may go into dry dock for repairs and overhauling, and where they may take refuge when crippled or defeated.

If some of the ships of the fleet must be left behind to protect the base from hostile raids the main fleet will be weakened and its chances of victory lessened. If the fleet divide up to defend several such bases, its strength will be dissipated. And this brings us to the necessity of having our harbor defenses ready.

If we go into a war in which our country is really endangered we must have in readiness at once:

1. The navy and its air service.
2. Our harbor defenses and the accompanying air service, and anti-aircraft defenses.

Parenthetically please note that the coast artillery is charged (and logically so) with anti-aircraft defense.

I wonder how many of you realize that our regular coast artillery is weaker in numbers than it was in 1914 and that the harbor defense troops in the continental United States are weaker than in 1902.

While we hope that in a few years congress will again build up the regular army, what we need now is your help in recruiting the harbor defense troops to the authorized strength and particularly in building up the coast artillery of the national guard and of the reserves.

Connecticut has now only about 200 national guard coast artillery men. We should have 800 more at once. There is a deficiency of at least 10 in the number of organized reserve officers required for the coast defenses of Long Island Sound, and to date we have no reserve non-coms and enlisted specialists and Connecticut which has always done its patriotic duty sent only two boys to the Coast Artillery Citizens' Military Training camp this year.

I hardly need ask your help in combatting the pacifist movement. You are all aware of its danger and its insidiousness. Have you thought of your personal duty in this connection?

Following Colonel Abernethy's talk, Colonel Shartel, commanding the citizens' military training camp forces at the island, gave a short talk and said that everything that the previous speaker had said was truth. He said that he had 90 boys in his outfit and that the citizens' military training idea was a good one and he believed it should have the support of the citizens.

Both speakers were roundly applauded at the conclusion of their talks.

As the Norwich club is entertaining the visiting roque players of the American Roque league this week, as has been the custom for the past few years, the Rotary club had many of the players as guests. There were 14 of the visiting roque players at the luncheon and all expressed their appreciation of being present. President C. B. Crowell of Brattleboro, Vt., and W. G. Rodman, two of the veteran roque players, expressed their pleasure at being present at the luncheon and also expressed their regret that the roque tournaments that have been held in Norwich for the past 42 years have been transferred to Philadelphia. They both said they hoped it would not be for long and that the tournaments would again be held in the Rose of New England.

At the business session President Charles A. Saxton presided at the meeting and Louis A. Wheeler was the song leader. There were several selections by the various members of the club and the Rotary quartet also sang. Mayor Mile R. Waters called attention to the meeting of the representative of the international bureau of traffic police with local people within a short time to discuss traffic problems with a view to having universal traffic laws.

About 14 signified their intention of attending the fall conclave at Rutland, Vt., next month and all were urged to attend this fall event. Among the guests at the meeting was a Norwich boy, Clarence Maynard, an engineer who recently returned from Africa in the interest of an American oil concern.

The meeting closed with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

FINED FOR OPERATING AUTO WHILE INTOXICATED

Monday was court day at Sterling. The first case of intoxication was brought against William Baker by Grand Juror Hazard, was tried before Justice of the Peace C. B. Montgomery, at his home; the result being a fine and cost amounting to $19.38.

At 2 o'clock Grand Juror Frank W. Hazard presented William Noles before Justice C. B. Montgomery in the town hall, charged with operating a motor car without a license, also operating while intoxicated. His case was an interesting one, many witnesses being called. James Wallace Esq., defended Noles, and secured his discharge on the charge of intoxication and the mercy of the court assessed him $38.38 fine and costs on the second charge.

Just when the sky was clearing nicely, a woman, the mother of eight children was brought before Justice Montgomery by Grand Juror Hazard on complaint of W. H. Phelps of the state humane society. She was charged with many serious offenses, the judge gave her 30 days jail sentence on each and then upon her promise to behave she was placed on probation under a suspended sentence with Frank W. Hazard, Esq., probation officer.

This latter case bids fair to involve a dozen or more others and has been under the observation of the humane officer for some time. The woman told where she secured liquor and the name of others who have been bringing it to town which bids fair to close up a number of irrigating sources.

The Value of Charcoal

Few People Know How Useful It is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when properly prepared and taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, and after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest quality willow charcoal powdered to extreme fineness, then compressed in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being sweetened to be smooth and palatable.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

Many physicians advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. They are also believed to greatly benefit the liver. These lozenges cost but thirty cents a box at drug stores, and you get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets.

RHEUMATIC PAINS GO SWOLLEN JOINTS VANISH

Thousands of sufferers have freed themselves from the bondage of rheumatism; rid themselves of the torturing pain; reduced the swollen joints; thrown away canes and crutches, and from helpless beings became able to work and be of use to themselves and their families.

Don't be skeptical about Rheuma. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that the poisonous uric acid is leaving your system through the natural channels. You will feel better in a day; you will know you are going to be helped in less than a week.

There is no guess work about Rheuma bringing you back to health. That's why The Lee & Osgood Co. and good druggists everywhere sell it with guarantee of money back if it does not give quick and blessed relief almost at once.

STATE AUTOMOBILE TOUR FOR POULTRYMEN

The annual automobile tour of the state poultry association has come to be one of the milestones in poultry events. The practice of alternating between state and out-of-state tours is also established, this being the year for the All-Connecticut trip.

The farms to be visited are many, and various in type. This trip does not include any farm visited two years ago. The trip is confined to Tolland, Hartford and New Haven counties. The mileage is short; ample time will be allowed on each farm, and a good time is assured.

All Connecticut cars can leave home Tuesday morning and return home on Friday night. All eastern Connecticut cars will line up at Mr. Anthony's at Mansfield Hollow—located four miles north of Willimantic—reached either from the North Windham or Mansfield Center roads.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

News of the reduction of the price of gasoline will be agreeable to all those who use any great quantity of the fluid. The Standard Oil company lowered the price of gas one cent a gallon Wednesday. Although this is not as big a reduction as many would like to have, it will mean a considerable saving to those who are owners of big cars and trucks, and consumers of large amounts of the liquid. The territory affected by this drop includes the New England division of the Standard Oil Co. of New York.

Fred Lacross, of Elmville, was fined $1 and costs, at Wednesday morning's session of the town court. Lacross' truck was not properly marked and so he was arrested and fined.

Special masses on the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary were celebrated Wednesday morning in St. James' church.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland R. James, Mrs. A. F. Wood and Henry Babson were in Norwich Wednesday attending the reunion of the 18th Connecticut Volunteers.

As the result of the electrical storm Wednesday morning many of the local telephones were out of commission. Some of the lines were struck by lightning and about 40 others were rendered useless when a cable became wet and short-circuited. The electric power on Mechanics street was shut off for about an hour, to enable the gas and electric company to replace a transformer that had burnt out when the line was struck by lightning. This was the only damage resulting to the electric company and the telephone company. The rain did a great deal of good, however, and was very welcome by farmers and truck gardeners.

Rumors of further changes at the plant of the Manhasset Manufacturing Company are in circulation. Negotiations are under way it is claimed for the sale of the company's plants in Putnam and in Taunton, Mass. Boston interests it is said, are seeking to purchase the mill property. The contemplated sale of the company's property and the liquidation of the business comes as the culmination of a number of changes in the company's operations. Several months ago it was stated that the company intended closing its Taunton plant and moving it to Putnam, it was intimated that the only reason this plan was not carried through was that housing conditions were inadequate. The company's business in Warren has already been closed out as the lease on the mill occupied there expired. In a recent issue of a manufacturers' trade journal it was predicted that the Putnam plant would change hands within two weeks. The mill during its war time prosperity was a big asset to the business interests of the city. Citizens are anxious over the outcome of the change in the factory. As the business is in the hands of parties foreign to Putnam, little definite information can be ascertained but for some time there has been a feeling that a drastic change in this important industry industry was taking place. Rumors of a sale of a mill in the north end of the city are also current but no transfer is said to be in sight.

REAL "SMOKE" SATISFACTION

A cigar to be satisfactory to the veteran smoker should be cooling and soothing; it should neither burn the throat or feel heavy to the lungs or digestive organs; it should, in fact, be a pleasure and not an effort to smoke it. LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

King Grasshopper

After thirteen miles or more, the prince with Little Jack Rabbit and the little White Snake came to a great haystack in which lived the king of all the grasshoppers. There he sat by his front door with his fiddle, making much sweeter music than an old Roman Emperor named Nero ever did although perhaps this grasshopper would have done worse if his haystack had been burning.

"Tell me where you come from?"

"We are very tired, King Grasshopper," said the little White Snake, "and need rest in your haystack castle."

"Make yourself at home," answered the royal insect kindly, hanging up his fiddle on a wisp of hay before he led them inside the big stack of hay.

You'll be surprised to learn how beautiful it was inside. Jack-o-lanterns hung from the ceiling and fireflies flitted here and there with their tiny lamps ablaze. All around the edge of the room grew lovely blue cornflowers and poppies and at one end was a big garden seat on which the prince made himself comfortable.

"Tell me where you come from?" asked the grasshopper king as he poured honey water into little tulip cups.

"Gracious me!" he exclaimed when he learned what a time they had had. "you certainly had a narrow escape," and he hopped over and looked out of his front door to see if the hounds were in sight, but I guess they lost their way or something worse for no one was in sight except an old beetle.

"You had all better stay here until the moon comes out," said the grasshopper king kindly, "and I'll sing you a song to while away the time."

"I'm king of the fields and the waving wheat,
And the music I play on my fiddle is sweet,
And the beetles and gnats and the butterflies
And the darning needles as blue as the skies
Pause on their wings to listen to me,
As I fiddledy, diddledy, diddle dum dee."

Well, by and by, the big round moon shone in through a little window in the rear of Castle Haystack, so the bunny, the prince and the little snake gave the hand of the grasshopper king a shake, and taking the rabbit and snake on his back, the prince took leave of the big haystack.

All of a sudden, a big enormous bat flew out of a tree and whispered: "Have a care. Not far from here lives a Wild Man of the Wood. Don't go near him for he robs traveler of their money."

Just then the moon went behind a dark cloud; the stars blew out like candles in a high wind and from the wood came a voice:

"Fee, fie, funny, funny,

NEW LONDON'S NEXT CITY MANAGER WILL HAVE $2,500 SALARY CUT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Aug. 15.—Stephen Sullivan, a young and fresh sport, was fined $10 in the police court this morning for gambling in the public highway. He was one of a party engaged in playing crap at Hamilton and Tenth street Sunday. The state police put the municipal officers wise as to what was going on and Policeman Babcock was sent to break up the game. When he arrived he found $1 on the sidewalk and the gamblers disputing as to the one who should roll the dice to establish the ownership of the money. Sullivan pleaded not guilty when presented in court and then he went on and disclosed that while he was not playing he was awaiting his turn to "roll the bones." The court construed the statement of Sullivan to mean that he was a party to the gaming and that he would have been rolling the dice when his turn came to participate in the game. Sullivan admitted that the court sized up the situation accurately. Sullivan was warned that no leniency would be shown him if he was a second time presented and was adjudged guilty.

Mrs. Ethel Nell of Niantic, Miss Ann Moses of Thames street, Mrs. Anthony Corradori and infant of Shaw street and Theodore and Victoria Logacano of Connecticut avenue, were patients discharged at Lawrence hospital today.

John Hibrook, 30 Winthrop street, employed as freight handler at the New London (Norwich) line pier of the New England Steamship company, reported to the police late last night that an attempt had been made upon his life, three shots being fired at him from the darkness. Hibrock had been to lunch and was on his way back to the pier when the shooting occurred. When a short distance from his home and without any warning, he declared, three bullets were fired from the direction of a yard and one of the bullets passed so close to his head that he could hear the whizzing of the leaden missile. Hibrock failed to observe anyone either before or after the shooting and knew of no reason why anyone should seek his destruction. Several patrolmen were dispatched to the site of the alleged shooting, but no trace of the fellow could be obtained, neither could any clue be discovered this morning when Motorcycle Officer William Babcock interrogated residents of the Winthrop street section.

John F. Sullivan, a truckman, and his helper, Arnold Meyers, ran into a holdup gang in Westbrook yesterday morning. Sullivan and Meyers left New London to go to Pelham Manor, N. Y., for a load of goods, about 5 o'clock. When passing through Westbrook three men held them up for the purpose of robbery. Sullivan, who was driving the truck, stepped on the gas and the truck sped away. Sullivan operated the car into the first driveway that was encountered and then telephoned the state police barracks at Centerbrook. While Sullivan was communicating with the state police the automobile containing the trio of holdup men passed in a westerly direction. Two state officers arrived a short time later and gave chase to the crooks and finally came upon them robbing a gasoline station. The men were arrested and gave their names as John Conroy of Bridgeport, who declared that he was a coal and wood merchant; William H. Stebbins of Waterbury and Nicholas D. Archangel of Milford. In the town court at Westbrook this morning, probable cause was found on the charge of attempted highway robbery and the trio was held for the next term of the superior court. In default of bonds the accused were taken to jail.

Senter was released in bonds of $300 for his appearance in the police court tomorrow morning. Mayer Boyer, owner of the building, became surety on the bond. Senter was arrested as the result of evidence furnished the police by Joseph Murphy and John Foley, two vagrants who were arrested when found drunk on the street. After the pair had been in a cell about three hours, they were questioned as to where they procured their drinks. They stated that they had purchased two half pints there during the afternoon and told the amount of money they paid for the "liquor." The season at Ocean Beach will be the most unsuccessful one that the merchants there have ever experienced. It is reported that only two or three of the business places have enjoyed a patronage that will permit their proprietors clearing operating expenses. The lack of business is attributed to the unseasonable weather and rain on days when a large patronage was to be expected.

The city council having received the resignation of City Manager James E. Barlow that body is now endeavoring to select his successor. It has developed that the members of the council are practically unanimous in the belief that the future salary for the office shall be $6,000, or $2,500 less than that which has been paid the present city manager, for when City Manager Barlow was engaged he was assured an annual salary of $7,500. The salary for the first year of Mr. Barlow's service was increased $1,000, which amount defrayed his expenses moving his household effects and his family to New London from Dayton, Ohio. Twenty industrials averaged, 90.23, net gain .43. High, 1923, 105.38; low, 85.91.

MARKET BASICLY STRONG

New York, Aug. 15.—Prices in today's stock market displayed a strong undertone despite the heavy selling of al shares based on the extension of the gasoline price-cutting war to eastern territory. The volume of sales was the largest in the last two weeks. While short covering operations were responsible for most of the buying power, commission houses reported an increase in outside participation particularly on the part of small investors.

Buying for both accounts was influenced somewhat by official assurance that no extra session of congress was contemplated this fall, reopening of the coal conference and the probability of the early recognition of Mexico.

The recessions in oil shares ran from 1 to 3 points with Producers & Refiners and the Mexican Seaboard issues the heaviest loser, selling of the latter being based on the passing of the dividend at yesterday's meeting of the board of directors. New low records for the year were established during the day by Sinclair common and preferred, Cosden Marland, Middle States, Skelly, White Eagle, Pierce Oil preferred, Transcontinental and Invincible.

U. S. Steel closed ⅛ higher at 90¾ after having sold as low as 88⅝; Baldwin fluctuated between 115⅝ and 118⅝, closing 1¼ higher at 117⅞. Pressed Steel Car was pushed up 4¼, DuPont, American Car & Foundry, General Electric, Foundation Co., National Biscuit, Loose Wiles Biscuit, Montana Power and Vanadium Steel advanced 2 to 3½ points while American Locomotive, Bethlehem and Republic Steels and American Can were among the score or more stocks to rise a point or more on the day.

Rails also displayed moderate strength, Delaware & Hudson leading the advance in that group with a gain of 2%. Great Northern preferred climbed 1¾ and New York Central, Union Pacific and New Orleans, Texas & Mexico 1 each.

Call money held at 4½ per cent. all day. The time money market was extremely dull with a few 90 day loans arranged at 5¼ per cent. Commercial paper rates were unchanged with the bulk of prime names commanding 5¼ per cent.

With the Paris Bourse and some of the other continental exchanges closed for a holiday, trading in the foreign change in rates. Demand sterling held fairly steady around $4.56¾ but French francs sold at 5.43½ cents a new low record. German marks dropped 5 points to 35 cents a million.

BOND MARKET

New York, Aug. 15.—Price movements were highly irregular with losses slightly outnumbering the gains in today's bond trading.

French and Belgian issues sold lower in the early trading but generally recovered to about the same levels as yesterday's final figures. Norway 6's declined 2 1-8 to a new low for the year, probably in reflection of the new $20,000,000 loan to that government. Denmark 6's and Swiss 8's each dropped a point, while Copenhagen 5½'s and Mexican 5's moved up a point.

United States government bonds improved slightly with the exception of the second Liberty 4¼'s and the treasury 4½'s which eased fractionally.

"Katy" adjustment 5's gained 1 on the strong probability that the road will authorize semi-annual interest of 2½ per cent. At the directors' meeting next week. Losses of a point each were recorded by several other railroad mortgages including Union Pacific first 4's, Atchison General 4's and St. Paul 4's of 1925. A drop of 2 points by Wilson & Co., convertible 6's was the only outstanding change among the industrial lists.

S. W. Straus & Company announced a public offering of an issue of $5,000,000 first mortgage 6% per cent. 5 to 19 year serial gold bonds of the 277 Park Avenue, Inc., recently formed to erect a 12 story apartment building.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 15.—General and correct assumption beforehand that the government report this afternoon as to prospective winter wheat acreage would prove bullish led to a decided upturn today in price of wheat. The market closed firm, 1 to 1½c net higher, September $1.00⅝ to $1.01 and December $1.04½ to $1.04⅝. Corn finished ¼ to ⅝c up, and oats at ⅛ a ⅜ a ½c gain, with provisions showing 2 to 22c advance.

Although a majority of wheat traders considered an accurate forecast of the amount of winter wheat planting was practically impossible, it was regarded as certain that the data available would indicate a reduction in acreage compared with last fall. Absence of selling, rather than an increase of buying, appeared as the first result of this view, but with prices showing an upward tendency the number of purchasers enlarged, and toward the close took in many who previously had been on the selling side.

A material falling-off in the wheat movement from first hands in this country and in Canada tended further to lift prices. Domestic primary receipts were of much less volume than either last week or a year ago. In addition, bulls contended that too little attention is being given to the fact that the present price of wheat discounts much that has been bearish and that according to the latest official estimates North America will have much less wheat than last year.

Corn and oats rallied with wheat, despite favorable reports as to the corn crop in the surplus producing states.

Improved export demand together with an advance in the hog market gave a lift to provisions.

CURB MARKET

New York, Aug. 15—Intermittent selling of the oil shares took place in today's curb market as a result of further reductions in gasoline prices but the list displayed a firm tone and closing prices were generally higher.

In the oil group, Prairie Oil & Gas advanced 4 points on a small turnover and gains of a point or so were recorded by Southern Indiana and Eureka Pipe Lines and Ohio Oil. Standard Oil shares showed moderate gains.

Publication of a favorable semi-annual earnings statement by the Armour Co. revived interest in the preferred stock, which advanced more than 2 points. Brooklyn City Railroad came within a small fraction of the year's high in reflection of the stock being placed on a $1 annual dividend basis. Other active industrials showed only fractional changes.

Women—Don't Let Your Youth And Beauty Slip Away

Doctor Tells Why Some Women Are Old At Thirty —Others Young At Fifty. The Difference May All Be Due To Lack Of One Vital Element In Your Daily Meals.

A woman's happiness in life depends almost entirely upon two things—her good looks and good health. Health is the more important because when health goes, beauty is quickly lost. How often have you heard it said of some girl or woman, "How terribly she has aged!" or heard men remark of some fragilly beautiful girl, "She is the kind that loses her good looks very quickly."

"I have often been asked by my women patients," says Dr. Emile Sauer, well-known New England Physician, "why it is that some women look old, haggard, pale and worn-out at thirty, while a few at fifty and even sixty years retain abounding health and the good looks and color of youth. The answer in an enormous number of cases is very simple. The pale, nervous, run-down woman lacks iron in her blood—the beautiful, healthy, youthful looking woman has rich, red blood filled with health-giving, strength-giving iron. Thousands vainly seek health and youth in changes of climate, temporarily stimulating medicines, and go from one doctor to another always ailing, complaining, and old looking, when the real trouble is only lack of iron in their blood.

"The reason why iron is so vital to abundant health and physical beauty, and why lack of iron in the blood so surely makes a woman old before her time, is understandable to the simplest mind. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the good out of your food. Without iron, nothing you eat does you any good—your food merely passes through you, and you do not get the nourishment out of it. Nature provided iron for your body in the husks of grains and the skins and peels of vegetables and fruits, but modern methods of cooking throw these things away, until today three people out of every four you meet lack iron in their blood. With such cases in my practice, I always prescribe the newer form of iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and the iron in fresh vegetables. In my own practise I have seen amazing changes in even a few weeks time; thin, pale, run-down women begin almost at once to round out with good firm flesh; the roses come back into their lips and cheeks, and they look years younger."

Make This Amazing Test

If you feel that your youth and beauty are slipping away, try mixing a little Nuxated Iron with your meals according to directions contained in every package. If in two weeks time your mirror does not show new color in your lips and cheeks, a new light in your eyes taking the place of the dull, tired look, and if you do not feel new strength and energy, your own druggist will gladly refund the small purchase price. This guarantee has been made for many years to over 4,000,000 purchasers annually, so that today Nuxated Iron is recognized everywhere as the world's standard, tonic, strength and body builder.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE STRAND THEATRE

The four acts of Keith Vaudeville scheduled for the Strand theatre the last half of this week is as follows:—

Gray and Conway offer a variety act and opens the bill.

A. O. Duncan in second place appears in a comedy ventriloquial offering.

Al Raymond and Tommy Schran in "Syncopated Cocktail" are in the third spot.

Stafford and Louise Co. close the bill with a dancing variety act.

Mabel Julienne Scott, Maude George, June Elvidge, Earl Metcalfe, David Torrance, Phillips Smalley, Ruby LaFayette, Winston Miller and Stanton Heck are the notable artists who handle the principal roles in the Universal all star production that will be shown at the Strand theatre today. The story is "The Power of a Lie," originally a novel and play by Johann Bojer, a brilliant Norwegian thinker, who expressed his convictions on the subject of deceit dramatically and frankly.

It is seldom that the motion picture art lends itself to so simple a phenomenon of life as deceit, in picturing faults and foibles of the human race. But the Universal City executives felt confident that in the dramatic and strange story there was material which would lend itself to pictorial effect beautifully and convincingly.

The cast is assurance of the quality of interpretation. George Archainbaud, a gifted young French director who is conversant with the Continental viewpoint on stories, handled the filming of Bojer's plot. The scenario was prepared by Charles Kenyon, whose forms as a screen writer was preceded by the authorship of such successful plays as "Kindling," which the Drama League judged one of America's five greatest stage pieces.

The Neil O'Brien Super Minstrels With Bert Swor

The big street parade of the Neil O'Brien Minstrels which will take place at high noon today, August 16, the date when the organization appears at the Broadway, is going to be something worth witnessing this year, so it is promised. When Neil O'Brien and Bert Swor, the present owners of the organization combined forces, they determined to leave no stone unturned to make it the biggest thing of the kind in every respect that has ever been attempted.

When the minstrel boys step out on Main street, they will be outfitted in the "dandiest" of uniforms and the band under the leadership of W. E. Nickerson will be found to have been equipped with shining triple plated gold horns. Truly this is to be the "golden year of minstrelsy" if Messrs. O'Brien and Swor, can make it so.

Breed Theatre

John Gilbert heads the double feature bill at the Breed theatre today in a California Romance. This film tells the story of the time when California was ceded to the United States. The picture is excellently directed, has an interesting story, and fine photography. Gilbert's acting is said to be equal to his usual sterling performances. Estelle Taylor plays the leading feminine role.

The story includes many thrills that carry the audience along with the action of the picture. Gilbert has an opportunity to show his skill with the sword and makes the most of it. Judging from the previous photoplays of this star, a pleasant evening's amusement can be expected.

For the second feature Wanda Hawley will be seen in "Too Much Wife." It is a breezy comedy of married life a bride's noble resolutions, and how living up to what she considered her duty nearly wrecked her husband's happiness.

To Present Play.

A play will be presented at the entrance to Mohegan Park at Rockwell street on Thursday evening, at 7.15 by the children of the Falls playground, under the direction of Instructor Eleanor Byrne. The play is entitled The Red Shoes. A synopsis of the different scenes and the cast of the play follow:

Scenes: One morning at the shoemaker's shop; the next Sunday, at the grandmother's house; the following Sunday, in the churchyard; three days later, evening in the dark woods.

Sale of Land in Uncasville

Real Estate Broker John A. Moran has sold for the estate of Charles H. Roy 14 building lots in Uncasville. J. H. Maloney, the purchaser, is to develop the property.

Sale of Guillotte Block at Jewett City

One of the largest real estate sales made in Jewett City in some time was consummated last week when Burdick & McNicol, realtors, sold for Louis Guillotte of Peacedale, R. I., his 3 family apartment house with several building lots located on Palmer avenue. The sale was made to Charles J. Boldue of Taftville, who purchases the property as an investment. Mr. Guillotte was formerly a resident of the Borough and built this block when the Aspinook Bleachery was started thirty years ago.

Has Only Imagination.

The imagination is the only power I have that is creative. It is the only artist within me that is not a slave to its clay. My will power is weak, my memory is largely automatic, and my desires work right along without asking my permission.—Frank Crane.

Silver Map.

A silver map of the world, exhibited at the Royal Geographical society, England, is said to be the best of four such maps in existence. It is a thin circular plate of silver about three inches in diameter and commemorates Drake's voyage around the world.

Immense Irrigation Reservoirs.

Reservoirs for irrigation to be built in South America will have a capacity of 120,000,000,000 cubic feet of water, enough to cover Connecticut and one-third of Rhode Island.

POETRY

THE MOON.

When the moon in long journey, seems to pass by the sun,
Pretty certain a spell of fine weather's begun
When low down in the west the crescent doth shine,
Paint your boat, set your hen, but prune not your vine.
When to her first quarter the young moon doth go,
Still fine, but somewhat cooler 'twill grow.
When she shows her full face, hard, icy and bold,
In summer 'twill be cooler, in winter, dead cold.
From full moon to last quarter great change there will be,
Warm, muggy, rain, snow, as the season may be.
From last quarter to new, to her twenty-ninth day,
"Look our for a storm," the almanacs say,
And seamen who are wise in safe port will stay.
Wise farmers cut not their grain nor their hay.
In the dark of the moon Indians went on the fray,
Owls, catamounts and 'possums hunt for their prey,
Mice, chickens and toads in their nests better stay.
To foretell rain or shine would be offtimes a boon,
Ask the clerk of the weather, he's the man in the moon.
From the old salt's prognostics we landlubbers gather
That the sun makes the climate and the moon makes the weather.
—P. T. Chamberlain, in the Cape Cod Magazine.

TRUE BLUE.

Everything was blue that day—a sapphire symphony.
The skies were blue, her eyes were blue, and, as I said before,
Her gown was blue; all tunics and things and fluffy frills galore.
I added just a farring note, the "fifi within the lute,"
For I was blue as indigo and quarrelsome to boot.

Upon a bank we sat us down—a green bank by the way;
The sly old sun beamed down on us, it was a lovely day;
The blue that permeated me somehow all filtered through;
The world began to look again quite cheerful to my view.
For who could sit upon a bank with Betty's hand in his
And not be saccharine with joy and brimming o'er with bliss?

And when, at sunset, slowly we sauntered back to town,
If you'll believe me, all the blue was gone from Betty's gown!
And every little cloud aloft turned out a silver lining.
Old Sol had done his level best to put the blues to rout.
But Betty's eyes were just as blue as when we started out.
—Grace Stone Field.

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bethel, Wis.—My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief, and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it did not help me as much as it should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 98 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. W. G. Monson, 1516 Park Ave., Beloit, Wis.

Mrs. Monson is willing to write to any women suffering from such troubles.

ITALIANS CELEBRATE WITH PARADE, BAND CONCERT AND FIREWORKS

The Italian residents of Norwich celebrated Wednesday with parades, band concerts and a fireworks display, the Feast of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary. The celebration was held in accordance with one of the customs of their native country. A volley of salutes fired from Hinckley hill at 6.30 o'clock Wednesday morning, ushered in the celebration. Two hours later the Italian Columbus band, Pasquale Puca, director, headed a parade which started from Steiner hall.

The line of march was along Main street and North Main street to the junction of North Main street and Central avenue, countermarch through North Main street, Main and West Main streets to Thames square where the parade again countermarched back to Main street as far as Broadway and up Broadway to Union square where a brief halt was made while the band rendered a selection. Taking up the line again the parade moved on to St. Patrick's church, arriving there in time for the 10 o'clock mass. After the mass the parade again formed and proceeded down Otis street to McKinley avenue and on through Franklin street to Steiner's hall where the marchers disbanded.

At noon another volley of salutes was fired from Hinckley hill. At 5 o'clock the band appeared on the streets again for a parade to Burnham square, Thames square, Union square, Bath street to Franklin street and Boswell avenue. At 7 o'clock in the evening a third volley of salutes was fired.

Starting at about 7 o'clock in the evening the band gave an excellently rendered concert at the little park which was gaily decorated with streamers and colored lights, the Italian colors predominating. The concert programme comprised classic and popular numbers and concluded about 9.30 o'clock. At the close of the concert the band formed in line and followed by a score of more of automobiles paraded down Franklin street to the square and on to Burnham square where a halt was made during the display of fireworks on Hinckley hill.

The display, which was one of the most elaborate ever seen in Norwich, was touched off about 10 o'clock. There were a large number of very beautiful set pieces. One of the set pieces showed a fine likeness of George Washington and another elaborate piece was that showing a miniature Niagara Falls. Rockets and bombs brought the display to a close shortly before 11 o'clock.

Those in charge of the day's celebration comprised:

RUTHERFORD C. PLAUT'S CRAFT VISITED BY THIEVES

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Aug. 15.—The Plaut-Cadden company complained to the police this morning that a boat owned by Rutherford C. Plaut, the Caroline, which is moored off the Pequot, had been entered and robbed of a part of the furnishings last night. Entrance to the craft was gained by smashing the door of the cabin and was probably done by the river thieves who have operated successfully of late in the harbor. The plunder obtained was not of great value.

The delegates had their annual banquet Wednesday evening in Wesleyan Hall. The convention will close today (Thursday).

At the morning of the Fire Chiefs club at noon 36 chiefs and former heard an address by Major James Howland of the National board of underwriters and standardization of fire hose couplings. By vote it was decided to name a committee of five men to aid in interesting communities of the state in the standardization offire hose. A banquet followed the business session.

The report of William D. Harford, the association secretary, showed a total membership of 576 made up as follows: company membership 304, department membership 250, and life members 222. Six companies joined during the year and seven dropped out. The department loss was 23. The financial reports showed receipts of $8,738.47 and expenses of $2,582.98, leaving a balance of $6,755.49.

The treasurer's report showed a total on hand of $10,935.70, or an increase of $4,000. The treasurer, Samuel C. Snagg, of Waterbury, died during the year, and a resolution was offered to the convention of his death which was adopted by the executive committee meeting in Waterbury on June 25.

Those who attended the convention from Norwich were Deputy Chief Henry R. Taft, Captain John R. Blackburn of Engine No. 2, Peter O'Neil of Engine No. 5 and Arthur Porter of Engine No. 5.

SMALL CHILD KILLED BY AUTO AT YANTIC

Sophia Jozovic, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jozovic, was almost instantly killed Tuesday evening at 6.30 o'clock in front of her home opposite Fishbone's store at Yantic when she was hit by a Ford sedan owned and driven by Wilmer Yetman of Yantic.

Mr. Yetman was on his way to the city and as he approached a group of children in front of the Jozovic home Sophia ran directly in front of the machine. She was knocked down and run over by the automobile.

Medical Examiner C. C. Gildersleeve was notified and conducted an investigation. Wednesday Coroner J. J. Desmond questioned witnesses of the accident. The coroner said Wednesday evening that he was not ready to announce his finding in the case. From the facts in the case he said he was inclined to the opinion that the accident was unavoidable on the part of the auto driver. Yetman is employed in the Yantic mill.

HUSBAND HAD WIFE WHEN SHE MARRIED HIM

Agnes Rebecca Quinn of Griswold has asked the superior court issue an order declaring her marriage with Frank B. Quinn, formerly of Norwich, now of parts unknown, on the ground that he already had a wife when she married him. According to the complaint which was filed Wednesday with the clerk of the superior court she married the defendant August 12, 1922, and claims that at that time the defendant was and still is the husband of one Ethel Quinn. She claims that his previous marriage was unknown to her at the time she married Quinn.

NORWICH WOMAN OBSERVES HER 91st BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Priscilla G. Adams celebrated her 91st birthday in a quiet manner Wednesday at her home at 174 Broadway, a number of her friends calling on her during the day to extend their congratulations. Many beautiful flowers and numerous gifts were received during the day.

Mrs. Adams entertained at dinner Miss Matilda Randall of Pleasant View and the tables were prettily decorated with cut flowers and ferns. In the center of the table was a large birthday cake, the gift of Mrs. Annie Drury. It was lighted with 91 candles.

In the afternoon Edwin S. Hunt of Essex, Conn., a nephew of Mrs. Adams, motored to this city, bringing a party of her old friends. After an enjoyable automobile ride the party returned to the Adams home where a large birthdaycake given by Dr. and Mrs. Albert C. Freeman was cut. This cake was also lighted by 91 candles. After several toasts the party broke up all wishing Mrs. Adams happy returns of the day.

Mrs. Adams is the only woman survivor of the old Steamer New London, which was burned in the Thames about 50 years ago. She was among the few Norwich people who were on that ill fated trip up the river.

JAMES M'KEE HEADS 18TH CONN. VOLUNTEERS

The 18th Connecticut Volunteer Regiment Association, at its 55th annual reunion Wednesday morning in Buckingham Memorial, elected James McKee of this city president for the ensuing year. The business meeting was called to order about 10.30 o'clock by Secretary Arthur L. Peale. On account of the death of President Henry Hovey the association has been without a chief executive.

James McKee was chosen to preside over the meeting. Albert C. Green of Danielson who is nearing his 94th birthday, offered a fervent prayer. He requested all present to join in a silent prayer in memory of President Hovey.

Secretary Peale, whose father was colonel of the regiment, submitted his annual report and he also gave the financial report which showed a balance of $320.83 in the bank.

Election of Officers.

When the election of officers came before the meeting James McKee of this city was unanimously chosen as president. On motion of Capt. John E. Woodward of Brockton, the office of secretary and treasurer were merged and Arthur L. Peale was named to fill them. Mr. Peale expressed his appreciation of the confidence placed in him. These vice presidents were elected:

Company B, Daniel D. Danielson of Danielson; Company 4, A. A. Buchanan of Putnam; Company F, William F. Davies of New London; Company H, James Haggerty of Willimantic; Company K, Henry W. Babson of Danielson.

Secretary Peale announced that ex-Mayor Herbert M. Lerou had sent to the veterans a box of cigars through Captain Woodward. The secretary also read a letter from the daughters of President Hovey, Mrs. Grace H. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Mabel H. Vaughn, in which they sent $5 in memory of their father. The meeting expressed its appreciation of both gifts.

Mr. Peale briefly told of other letters he had received. A collection taken by President Haggerty amounted to $7.47. President Haggerty responded to an invitation to address the gathering. He paid a glowing tribute to Harding as the model man and nation leader and said if he had been allowed to complete his great work he would have ranked among the leaders of the presidents.

Coolidge was also commended as a person worthy to complete the work begun by Harding. Then Comrade Haggerty continued in his usual breezy and witty way and pleased and impressed his hearers and was accorded applause.

Henry Tyler Speaks.

Henry Tyler of New London, a member of the 26th Conn. Vol. Asso., also addressed the veterans. He spoke as follows:

I am pleased to meet with you today as an honorary member. There is a nearness of comradeship and fraternity between your regiment of the 18th Connecticut and my own regiment, the 26th Connecticut, because many of you enlisted in these regiments from my own town, Griswold. Over thirty from Griswold were in Capt. Hakes', Capt. Peale's, Capt. Knapp's and Capt. Bromley's companies. Some were my near neighbors and schoolmates.

Fifteen with whom I was well acquainted have now passed on to their reward. Three are still among the living: Albert M. Lathrop of Inlam, Neb., George W. Kegwin of Mystic and Abel Burdick of Hampton. In my company, Company F, of the old 26th, were fifteen who enlisted from the town of Griswold.

The field service of our two regiments was far apart. Yours was mostly in western Virginia. Your regiment helped delay Lee's army on its march into Pennsylvania and no doubt saved the day at Gettysburg. The 26th served in Louisiana and helped take Port Hudson, a rebel stronghold commanding the Mississippi.

After adjournment of the meeting a dinner was served by the members of Sedgwick Woman's Relief Corps, No. 16.

List of Those Present.

Those present at the reunion were as follows:

Company C—Henry T. Clark, Norwich; George W. Keeler, New York.

Company H—James Haggerty, Willimantic.

Citizens of Danbury are making the arrangements to entertain the annual reunion of the 56th regiment which served overseas with many boys from Norwich and vicinity in the several batters of the regiment. The plans announced for the reunion on Sunday, August 26, include the regimental meeting at noon, followed by a clambake at 1 o'clock and an afternoon of sports and entertainment.

Norwich members of the regiment are counting upon getting quite a party to attend the reunion and expect to discuss arrangements and details at a meeting at the state armory next Monday night. It is expected that a good proportion of the 50 to 60 regimental members around here will attend the meeting to indicate their intention of attending the reunion.

WOMAN PATIENT AT STATE HOSPITAL MISSING

The local police were notified Wednesday evening by the Norwich State hospital authorities that Nellie Haher a patient, is missing from the institution, having made her escape during the late afternoon or early evening. She is described to be 5 feet, 9½ inches in height, and when last seen wore a black skirt, black hat and plaid waist.

The reaction of the earth cause a drill to describe a curve in what appears to be a straight shaft.

GREATER BERLIN NORMAL; OCCUPIED ZONE DISTURBED

Gradual Improvement in the Food Situation in Berlin is Contributing to the Calming of the People—Frozen Beef is Being Imported From Argentina—Stinnes Publication in Berlin Has Been Forbidden to Publish for Three Days.

Berlin, Aug. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Greater Berlin is normal again, police headquarters reports, work at all the big plants having been resumed with full shifts. There have been no further disorders within the city limits or at suburban points since the communists called off their strikes.

Serious food rioting, however, is continuing throughout that occupied zone, where the looting of shops and pillaging of adjacent farms have become daily occurrences. Ruhr points are the worst sufferers, as the shutting down of the city shops have brought about a rush of men and women to the rural sections where potatoes are dug out and hauled away despite the protests of the farmers.

In Berlin, according to the police, the gradual improvement in the food situation is contributing to the calming of the people.

Meat market operators are importing large quantities of frozen beef from Argentina. This beef, although considerably cheaper than the French product, is not finding ready buyers, owing to the consumers' prejudice against the iced commodity.

WILL ATTEMPT TO CORRECT THE SITUATION IN THE RUHR

Berlin, Aug. 16 (By the A. P.)—If Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the new chancellor, actually is seeking to get in touch with the French premier, M. Poincare, he very likely will find an "encouraging atmosphere" for informar pourparlers awaiting him, is the opinion of the political leaders here.

These leaders assert that the push to the French premier already has been made tolerably passable for Dr. Stresemann through the "signaling back and forth" between groups of French and German unofficial personages who, nevertheless, are not wholly without authority or prestige.

It is taken from granted in reinstating ideas that the German industrialists, far from discouraging the new chancellor from embarking on such an enterprise, would not hesitate to make use of their influence with the French industrialists and financial leaders with the purpose of actively furthering any German attempt which aims to seek a dignified way out of the Ruhr impasse for Germany.

There has been a marked change for the better in the character of the news brought in from Paris by the Berlin newspapers during the past forty-eight hours, and the instantaneous psychological effect of this on the popular mind has been to stimulate belief in an early rift in the black Ruhr clouds.

Just how Dr. Stresemann purposes to assume the initiative in the present deadlocked situation is not being revealed, although there is an impression he may attempt to approach it through the medium of private emissaries selected from among the Ruhr industrialists, who are viewed as being the best situated persons to inaugurate overtures which later might be given a more formal character.

That the new government is eminently better situated to effect a solution of the Ruhr imbroglio which would not carry humiliation and political defeat with it than was Chancellor Cuno's ministry is now commonly taken for granted, if only for the reason that Cuno, by making an outspoken patriotic issue of the Ruhr situation, gradually became ensnared in a hopelessly deadlocked position from which he was unable to disentangle himself without prejudicing Germany's case.

By studiously avoiding superfluous acerbities in his inaugural speech in the reichstag, Dr. Stresemann is considered to have secured for himself a strategic advantage which the reichstag leaders believe will enable him to effect a revival of the Ruhr debate without surrendering in advance German interests or the cumulative moral benefits of passive resistance.

STINNES PUBLICATION ORDERED SUSPENDED

Berlin, Aug. 16.—The police have forbidden the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung to publish for three days. The order was issued presumably in consequence of attacks made by the newspaper on Chancellor Stresemna.

The Deutsche Allegemeine Zeitung is owned by Hugo Stinnes, the great German industrialist. It was purchased by Stinnes in 1920. The newspaper was suppressed in 1923 for attacks on the government.

INCREASE IN INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS IN STATE

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 16.—Receipts of the United States internal revenue bureau in Connecticut last month aggregated $1,950,000, an increase of $760,000 over the total of receipts for July, 1922, it was announced today by Chief Deputy Collector Appleton.

A sharp gain in the production of firearms in the state and the fact that income tax collections nearly doubled those of the corresponding period a years ago were chiefly responsible for the increase. The figures also reflect an unusually good season in Connecticut in the sale of automobile tubes and accessories, the taxes collected in July on account of such sales amounting to $24,000 as against $10,000 collected in July, 1922.

Last month's receipts of the revenue office came from the following sources: Income tax, $800,000; estates $171,000; cigars, cigarettes and tobacco tax, $29,000; documentary stamps, $23,000; telephone and telegraph tax $36,000; manufacturers' excise tax $625,000; dealers' tax $35,000; special taxes, $285,000; tax on admissions and dues $120,000.

Theatre-going in the past month was nearly double that of July, 1922. The receipts from admissions and dues in July, 1923, aggregated, $62,000. Of the $625,000 received in manufacturers' excise taxes, $507,000 was on account of the sale of firearms and shells, whereas the taxes on such sales for July a year ago reached only $148,000.

PRESENT GASOLINE PRICES CAN ONLY BE TEMPORARY

New York, Aug. 16.—Present prices for gasoline can only be temporary, although further cuts may reasonably be expected if crude oil prices are again reduced, W. C. Teagle, President of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, declared today in a formal statement.

He expressed the opinion that the oil industry as a whole would weather the present downward trend which would not be of long duration.

"The present disrupted market," he said, "resulted from the pressing for sale of a relatively small amount of 'distress' gasoline. The large overproduction of crude oil in recent months, together with the factor of the higher naptha content and increased refinery efficiency, has resulted in piling up abnormally heavy stocks of gasoline for this season of the year and forced liquidation by some holders regardless of cost."

Mr. Teagle said the cuts initiated in South Dakota and afterward made effective throughout mid-Western and southern states represented the only change made there in a number of months, while four successive cuts had been made in the eastern market, since February of this year, because of lower costs of crude oil available for seaboard refineries.

COOLIDGE FOND OF HORSEBACK RIDING

Washington, Aug. 16.—President Coolidge will find his recreation in horseback riding rather than in golf and motoring—the means of rest utilized by most presidents of the last decade.

Since taking over the duties of the presidency, Mr. Coolidge has been taking a walk each morning, leaving his hotel about 6 o'clock and returning before the downtown district becomes crowded. Today his walk took him to the White House stables where he looked over the horses that are there and selected from them a big chestnut bay, named "General," for his own use.

QUIET ELECTION CAMPAIGN IN SOUTHERN IRELAND

Dublin, Aug. 16.—(By the A. P.)—The election campaign in southern Ireland, is proceeding quietly. There is a prodigious amount of speechmaking. President Cosgrave and all the ministers are dashing about on speech-making tours. Everywhere they are being subjected to plentiful hockling, but no disorders have been reported.

Mr. Cosgrave in his speeches insists that the Anglo-Irish treaty must be maintained inviolate. "If there are any people who think we intend to allow any cause in the treaty to become inoperative, they are making a grave mistake," he says in all his speeches. The boundary and other clauses, he declares, all are vital and must be compelled with in spirit and letter.

The arrest of Eamon De Valera, leader of the republicans, has infused intensity in the electioneering in county Clare, where orators are manifesting their talents in abusive language. In the Ennis district, the posters are vigorous in tone. One carries the statement, "Birkenhead laughs at the gullible Irish, who destroy their country's independence to save England the trouble."

HUNTING FOR ATTORNEYS OF E. M. FULLER & CO.

New York, Aug. 16.—Detectives hunted in vain today for William J. Fallon and Eugene F. McGee, attorneys for E. M. Fuller & Company, bankrupt bucketeers, to serve them with an order to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt of court and punished for withholding the firm's records. The order signed by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard.

The only person known to have communicated with them was Keyes Winter, trustee in the bankruptcy case of Dilland & Company, who had subpoenaed Fallon to appear before Peter B. Olney, referee in bankruptcy in the Dillon & Company case. Fallon failed to answer the subpoena. As a result of this, Mr. Olney said, the lawyer also will be cited for contempt in the Dillon case. The referee will appear before Judge Goddard tomorrow to ask to have Fallon cited.

CLOUDBURST FLOOD WATERS SWEEPING TOWARDS DENVER

Denver, Aug. 16.—Flood water are sweeping down the Platte canyon towards Denver, following a terrific cloudburst tonight, according to information received at the Denver police department, shortly after 8 o'clock.

Every available policeman has been rushed to the lowlands bordering the Platte river outside of Denver, and residents are being warned. The flood waters are expected to reach here in a half hour.

Water is spreading over the lowlands at Littleton, ten miles from here, and near Englewood, a suburb. Telephone operators at summer resorts in the Platte canyon, where the water is rising, notified the Denver police department.

No loss of life has been reported thus far.

FOUND FOUR MEN AND A WOMAN CLINGING TO WRECK

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 16.—When coast guards of Little Egg Harbor inlet responded to a gun distress signal fifteen miles above this city today, they found four men, a woman and a child clinging to the wreckage of the cruiser "Nymphia" a half mile off the coast. They also discovered twenty-six cases of Scotch whiskey aboard a section of the wreckage.

The rescued were brought to this city, where the men were taken before the United States Commissioner Izzard, who remanded them to prison in default of $1,000 bail on charges of smuggling and transporting liquor.

Tanker in Collision With Submarine

Washington, Aug. 16.—The submarine N-3 was badly damaged today in a collision with the tanker Monroe, of the Great Fleet Company, off New London, Conn., according to a telegram to the navy department. The submarine's periscope was carried away and her conning tower considerably damaged. No member of the crew suffered injury, however, and the naval boat was able to make port.

SUBMARINE STRUCK THE TANKER A GLANCING BLOW

New London, Aug. 16.—While performing tests off the mouth of the harbor late this afternoon the submarine N-3, in command of Lieutenant Riley, was in collision with the tanker Monroe, owned by the Greenleaf Towing company of New York. The tanker was not damaged, but the undersea craft had her periscope and a section of her rail carried away. The N-3 had been indulging in diving tests and it was while coming to the water's surface that the collision occurred. As the submarine arose the Monroe was headed into the harbor and when the N-3 was appearing above the water she struck the tanker a glancing blow. Following the collision the tanker continued to anchorage in the upper harbor and the submarine went to the submarine base.

CAPTAIN THOUGHT THAT SHIP HAD STRUCK A ROCK

Newport, R. I., Aug. 16.—Captain Lewis King, of the freighter Munroe, bound from Buffalo to Providence with a cargo of pig iron, reported on reaching here tonight that his ship had rammed the submarine N-3 in Long Island sound during the forenoon. The submarine, with its superstructure carried away, was towed to the base at New London by a tug that arrived immediately after the accident.

The submarine was submerged when the Munroe struck it, Captain King said. He was in the pilot house and saw no sign of the N-3. When the jar came he thought the freighter had struck a rock. The Munroe searched the vicinity for the obstruction and a few seconds later the N-3 came to the surface, with conning tower and other parts of her superstructure carried away.

The submarine was not leaking, her officers said, but the collision had damaged her control gear. The Munroe stood by until the tug picked the N-3 up.

CHARGES PROPAGANDA AGAINST ELLIS ISLAND

New York, Aug. 16.—Commissioner of Immigration Henry H. Curran tonight answered the suggestions of Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador, for improvement of conditions on Ellis Island, by saying that "they are just kicking Uncle Sam's dog around again."

"Whenever someone wants something to kick at," he said, "Ellis Island seems to be the target."

He charged that due to propaganda carried on in Great Britain against Ellis Island, the majority of Englishmen seeking admission to the United States arrive panic-stricken at the mere thought of going through the examination, and at the so-called horrors, which, according to the British press, they must face.

"The most bitter complaint we ever received from an Englishman," Commissioner Curran said, "was from an embezzler who was recently deported, and who, upon his arrival in England, gave out ridiculous stories to the English newspapers of conditions on the island. Among his complaints was his horror at having to use sanitary paper towels."

Mr. Curran stated, that in spite of the unfortunate propaganda issued in Great Britain, 31,000 British subjects had been admitted, since July 1, almost half the British allotment, for the entire year. Admitting that there was great tragedy at times at the station, Mr. Curran said 99 percent of the immigrants were admitted, and seemed quite happy.

The trouble and hardship caused by deportation, the commissioner said, was a direct result of the "regretable" attitude of foreign countries in not exercising closer control over their emmigrants.

LITTLE CHANGE IN THE GASOLINE SITUATION

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Little change occurred today in the gasoline situation throughout the country, as the price of the Continental Oil Company and independents in Montana was reduced two cents while Governor W. H. Master, of South Dakota, and independent oil men agreed on 20 cents as the retail price in that state, effective Saturday.

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana at a meeting of directors today took no action on prices but sent a telegram to Governor McMaster, offering his assistance in his promised investigation of the cost of distribution. The Standard early this week reduced its price to 16 cents throughout its territory to meet competition.

Other developments today included announcement by Governor Morrow, of Kentucky, that he would ask President Coolidge and Attorney General Daugherty to investigate gasoline prices. The Kentucky executive also said he would ask the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky why gasoline was being sold in that state several cents higher than Indiana.

Bootleg Ring Leaders Taken Into Custody

Largest and Most Powerful in the United States—Arrests Made in Savannah.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Department of justice officials declared today that the leaders in the largest and most powerful "bootleg" ring in the United States had been taken into custody in the automobile arrests made at Savannah, Ga., under direction of federal agents. Additional arrests are anticipated and it was stated that the case might lead to some state and federal officers.

William Hear, a one-time grocery clerk, is described as the principal leader of a ring, which, officials assert, operated a flotilla of craft, had its own cement lined storehouses in the swamps along the Georgia and Florida coasts and supplied enormous quantities of liquor on the Atlantic seaboard as far north as New Jersey, over the south and as far west and St. Louis, Chicago and Cleveland.

Heading forces of less wealth and strength, according to justice officers, were C. Graham Baugha, Richmond Bailey and Sam Goldberg. Those three, with Hear, are referred to as the "big four" and it was said that they were so known in "bootleg" circles over the country.

Hear is alleged to own a number of craft of British registry, which were used to import intoxicants from Cuba, the Bahamas and other points in the West Indies. But the ring, the story goes, reached out even to Great Britain, France and Canada for its supplies. The craft bringing stocks from nearby anchored outside the three-mile limit, the claim is, and fast motorboats made the transfers to storehouses ashore. Distribution then was made by automobiles and trains.

It was a few years ago that information came to the department of justice that Savannah was the port for the receipt and distribution of much of the liquor reaching the southern and eastern markets. Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, an assistant to attorney general, who is charged with the enforcement of the prohibition law, ordered prohibition enforcement agents to that city in an effort to break up the illicit trade.

By this time, however, the ring from a beginning on a small scale, had become, according to officials, a large and powerful organization with an efficient "intelligence" department. The result was that the agents sent in quickly were "uncovered," making it necessary to replace them several times.

Task of collecting evidence upon which to undertake prosecutions proved so difficult that an investigation of federal tax returns of a number of suspected "bootleggers" was undertaken in the hope of developing leads that might lead to arrests under the prohibition law. As a result the "big four" and four or five others were indicted for violation of the revenue act through a failure to make proper returns. It was charged that Hear had failed to make a return on income in excess of $1,000,000.

A week ago those in charge of the "bootleg" investigation decided there was sufficient evidence upon which to base action. Accordingly indictments for the "big four" and others were drawn in the department of justice and forty additional agents of the bureau of investigation were dispatched to Savannah to assist in the final round-up.

DISCOURAGING OUTLOOK IN ANTHRACITE CONTROVERSY

John Hays Hammond, Chairman of the United States Coal Commission, Announced That No progress Was Made at the Conference Yesterday—Miners' Union Officers Are Completely Dissatisfied With the Response of the Operators on Proposition to Abandon the "Check Off"—Operators Charge Miners With "Determination to Avoid Settlement Except Upon Their Own Terms."

New York, Aug. 16 (By the A. P.)—Hopes for prevention of a stoppage in anthracite coal production after September 1 were near the vanishing point tonight. The second day of the United States coal commission's attempts to aid settlement of labor disputes in the industry ended with miners' union officers completely dissatisfied with the response of the operators' contingent to the union's proposition to abandon the "check-off"; with the operators charging the union with "determination to avoid settlement except upon its own terms, and with John Hays Hammond, the commission chairman, declaring that "frankly the outlook is discouraging."

Moreover, the commission itself behind closed doors and with each party group separately present, sought to explore new avenues for settlement and faced a complete block. Sweeping aside the "check-off" and all other technicalities of wage contracts and negotiations which have been in such stubborn dispute, the commission asked each group to say just how far it would go to join an arbitration arrangement which would let the mines keep on running after September 1 while all the disputes were left up to adjudication with the decision retroactive to September 1.

John L. Lewis, as president and chief spokesman for the United Mine Workers, gave to the commission what was interpreted as a flat refusal of arbitration in any form. The operators' policy committee, headed by S. D. Warriner, was prepared, however, to go considerable distance with any arbitration proposal. His associates, Mr. Warriner said, would leave every point unsettled by such arbitration in the hands of any group of persons found mutually satisfactory. The operators also said they would agree to ask from arbitrators no reduction in the present wage scale in the mines; and thus leave the union assured of at least some gains.

Faced with the blockade the federal agency asked both sides to put their responses in writing and to bring them back tomorrow for further conference. It was generally expected, however, that the commission would be obliged to conclude its intervention, leave the operators and miners as it found them—far apart—and report findings back to President Coolidge.

"The operators' letter is confusing and misleading in every paragraph," Mr. Lewis said of the response, in a written statement to the commission. "The mine workers cannot accept it as an interpretation of their previous proposition. We made a fair proposal and requested therein a categorical reply, such reply has not been forthcoming."

Mr. Warriner later published a rejoinder, saying the operators proposed to "ask the commission to state definitely to the public the issues involved in this controversy."

"The efforts of the operators to reach a peaceful adjustment by what they believed to be an acceptance of the miners' proposition of yesterday seem to have failed," the Warriner statement said. "The operators have earnestly sought to settle differences by peaceful negotiations or arbitration. They have offered, and now offer again either or both of these courses. The miners reject these peaceful courses, and insist upon their demands under threat of a strike. The fundamental issue is whether or not force or reason is to be the accepted basis of adjusting disputes in this basic industry.

"Mr. Lewis' criticism of our acceptance of his proposal of yesterday is without a constructive or conciliatory note and indicates a determination to avoid a settlement except upon his own terms."

Altogether, the commission held four separate meetings in its second day of negotiations, two with each group involved. As before, Mr. Lewis was accompanied by Rinaldo Cappellini, Thomas Kennedy and C. J. Golden, the three district presidents of the union in the anthracite region.

W. J. Richards, A. B. Jessup and W. W. Inglis, all members of the anthracite operators' policy committee accompanied Mr. Warriner. The union also had present a score or more of the members of its scale committee in readiness. Mr. Lewis explained, to pass upon proposals the officers might see fit to present.

The coal commission members, Dr. George Otis Smith, Charles P. Neill, former Vice President Marshall, and Clark Howell, still held to the attitude of seeking information in all their dealings." Failing to achieve some sort of a settlement, or at least a resumption of wage contract negotiations, it was understood, the commission would consider its duty to issue an immediate report to President Coolidge upon its findings.

Anthracite mines now are working under terms of a contract between the union and the mine operators, fixing wages and conditions, which expires September 1. Mr. Lewis repeatedly made it clear in the day's discussion that unless something was done the mines would "suspend operations" on that date.

WADED TO THE BRINK OF NIAGARA FALLS

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 16.—By removing his shoes and wading into Niagara river above the falls at Prospect Point this afternoon, William Sullivan, a sailor on one of the boats of the Bethlehem Steel Company, caused women to scream and men to run to the rescue. Sullivan waded out ten feet from shore and then down stream until he could overlook the brink of the American falls. There he halted. He was in momentary danger of toppling over and a reservation officer blew his emergency whistle for help.

Officer William Rhodes coaxed Sullivan to walk back upstream and toward shore. As he neared the bushes along the bank Rhodes and another officer grabbed him by the neck and shoulders. Sullivan objected and a sailor pal, Charles Freisch, also interposed. Both were arrested, Sullivan charged with being drunk.

They explained that Sullivan's stunt was the result of an argument as to the possibility of a man wading to the brink of the falls in low water. Freisch had the negative side and Sullivan stepped out to prove that he was right.

KEPNER ACQUITTED OF THE MURDER OF HIS WIFE

Frederick, Md., Aug. 16.—B. Evard Kepner, local architect and business man, was acquitted this afternoon of the murder of his wife, Grace Simmons Kepner, member of a prominent family.

The verdict of not guilty came after Chief Judge Urner, Judge Worthington and Judge Peter of the circuit court had heard testimony for eight court days. The judges deliberated an hour and ten minutes. Judge Urner, inannouncing the decision, said that "in the opinion of the court the evidence does not prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the accused committed the crime of which he stands charged."

The verdict seemed to please the crowd in the court room, many persons surrounding Kepner to offer congratulations.

The body of Mrs. Kepner, with a bullet wound through the head, and a pistol lying nearby, was found June 18 on a bed at the home of her father, Ezra Houck, Sr., where the Kepners lived.

"If there is one subject, the chairman of the democratic committee should let alone," he said, "it is that, for there is not a district in the South where the republican party has enough strength to be dangerous where there is not a systematic and habitual practice of fraud and oppression which has tainted their whole code of political morality."

Gasoline dropped again this week, the price now being 19 1-2 cents, plus the one cent tax, and over two thousand automobile owners in this city, who are affected by the drop, have expressed their full endorsement of the charge. The above drop is on the wholesale price and private owners now pay 24 cents to the service station proprietors. The local wholesale dealers, state that this part of the country will not be affected by the war on prices being waged in the western states between the Standard Oil and the independent companies. The three dealers in this city are supplying more than one hundred and sixty filling stations and garages which deal in gasoline at retail. It was learned that the prices in the eastern states have been reduced so as to bring them on a closer basis with those in the midwestern and the southern states where some reductions have been for as much as 6.6 cents a gallon. Taking into consideration, the cost of transportation and distribution, the eastern prices are already lower in proportion than those in the states situated nearer the oil fields.

A special writer in a Worcester Sunday paper says:

Take all the lovely warm russets of autumn, and the reds and golden yellows of midsummer and it gives you a futurist impression of the garden and grounds of the home of David Hale Fanning at Downing and Woodland streets, any fine day last week.

While other gardens may be shorn of their roses, and not yet brilliant with asters, dahlias and chrysanthemums, the problem here is settled by the fuchsias, those colorful crimson and royal purple bells that are rare enough to attract attention anywhere. They are quite at home in an early fall garden.

There must be literally thousands of bells in that one patch of plants. Everyone who has seen them in the old-fashioned gardens of an older generation stops to admire the flower show.

ONLY BRITISH WOMAN REMAINS IN NATIONAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 16—(By the A. P.)—American women tennis stars scored another signal victory over their British rivals today when they eliminated two of the three remaining invaders in the round before the semi-finals of the national singles championship at the West Side Tennis club.

Miss Helen Wills, sensational Berkeley, Calif., schoolgirl, and Miss Eleanor Goss of New York, were the triumphant Americans in two extra set matches that developed the most scintillating play of the tournament. The sturdy coast girl rallied after an uncertain start and, for the second time within a week, vanquishing Miss Kathleen McKane, ranking British player, 2-6, 6-2, 7-5, while Miss Goss gained the verdict over Mrs. Nancy Covell in a tensely-fought duel, 6-2, 2-6, 8-6.

Mrs. R. C. Clayton, the only British survivor in the singles, and Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, who is seeking her eighth national title, had an easier time reaching the semi-final round. The former disposed of Miss Leslie Bancroft, of Boston, No. 2 in the American ranking, 6-2, 6-1, while the titleholder quickly eliminated her youthful rival, Miss Helen Hooker, of Greenwich, Conn., by a similar margin.

The semi-final matches tomorrow afternoon will bring together Mrs. Mallory and Mrs. Clayton in the upper half of the draw while Miss Goss will oppose Miss Wills in the lower half.

One British and three American pairs were left in the running for the National doubles championship, play in which also reached the semi-finals. All came through decisively today in their third round matches and barring an upset the British combination of Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. Covell was expected to contest for the title on Saturday with Miss Goss and Mrs. George W. Wightman, of Boston. The English women will play Mrs. Helen G. Lockhorn of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Mrs. Natalie Morris, of New York, in the upper half of the draw tomorrow, while the American favorites will oppose the youthful team of Miss Ceras Baker of Orange, N. J., and Miss Lillian Scharman of New York.

2.30 p. m.—Mrs. Helen G. Lockhorn, Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Mrs. Natalie Norris, New York, vs. Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. Nancy Covell, England.

4.30 p. m.—Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, New York, vs. Mrs. R. C. Clayton, England.

5.30 p. m.—Mrs. George W. Wightman, Boston and Miss Goss, vs. Miss Ceres Baker, Orange, N. J., and Miss Lillian Scharman, New York.

AUSTRALIAN DAVIS CUP PLAYERS SHOW NO MERCY FOR FRENCH STAR

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 16—(By the A. P.)—The tennis team of Australia today trod roughshod over the representatives of France in the first two matches of the final competition for the right to meet the United States stars in the challenge round for the Davis cup. The two singles matches played today went in straight sets to the Antipodeans and the best the Frenchmen offered did not press the victors to the limit.

James O. Anderson, the tall and slender veteran who leads the Australian team, at first found Rene Lacoste, the French school boy champion, a puzzle, but he solved the riddle by taking a strong aggressive stand and won 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.

John B. Hawkes, graceful and full of energy on the courts, found the veteran French internationalist, Jacques Brugnon, off form and no match for his puzzling shots. The Frenchman fell an easy victim in the first two sets but threatened in the third with a remarkable but belated burst of speed and accuracy with his shots, only to fall away again. The scores were 6-2, 6-1, 7-5.

The superior playing strength of the Australians was demonstrated throughout and tonight followers of the play conceded France little chance of overcoming the two match lead, as the first nation to win three matches will qualify to mete the United States next month. Tomorrow the same players will figure in a doubles encounter of which the outcome is regarded as uncertain and on Saturday the same players will play two singles matches with their opponents of today reversed.

In the Anderson-Lacoste duel the French boy player repeatedly to his opponent's backhand, but without finding much weakness there. The tall Australian faltered in the first set when the first ball of his serve refused to obey him and the French school boy ran the game score to 5-3. Anderson then settled down to business and thereafter was seldom at a disadvantage.

As the match progressed the tall Australian's game improved and in a game in the second set he scored four service aces. His confidence seemed to grow and he thereafter was able to stroke his ball with deadly effect. The boy's weakness appeared to be his service which was not strong enough to bother his rival. His volleying, however, was a match for Anderson's but he was unable to maintain the steadiness and balance which marked that of the Australian in the last two sets. It appeared that Lacoste's fastest shots were not fast enough to annoy the Australian veteran.

The service of Brugnon, too, appeared weak by comparison with that of his rival. Hawkes, who, serving from a peculiarly twisted posture, shot over balls which the Frenchman found hard to handle effectively. At times notably in the final set, Brugnon placed his shots with remarkable precision, but a fatal erratic tendency developed at critical moments and many balls were netted which should have been easy placements.

Even the presence of general Henri Gouraud, the "Lion of the Argonne" as a spectator, failed to stimulate the Frenchmen to victorious effort. The picturesque general greeted Lacoste and congratulated him on his showing after his match and was tendered a hearty reception when he appeared on the courts.

COUNTRY'S BEST GOLFERS AT SHENECOSSETT SUNDAY

Eastern Point, Aug. 15—The Shenecossett Country Club is making arrangements to handle a large crowd of followers next Sunday when Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood, the famous golf exhibition team, meet Alex Smith of Shenecossett and Jack Stait of Hartford, in a thirty-six hole match.

As the local professionals have a good chance to win there will be a larger crowd than usual on hand to see the match. Plans have been made to handle any number of automobiles as many are expected from Norwich, Hartford, Westerly, Watch Hill, and Providence.

The gallery on Sunday will see the only two men living who have won the United States Open Championship twice—Walter Hagen and Alex Smith. They will play on opposite sides and comparison of their play will be one of the features.

Joe Kirkwood who is famed for his remarkable exhibition of trick shots has added several new features to the series of unusual golf shots and will demonstrate his ability to do anything in the world to a golf ball before the afternoon round. Kirkwood has added new laurels to his fame since last year by his remarkable play in the British and American Open Championships. Walter Hagen, who lost his British Open Champion title this year by one stroke is known the world over as the greatest golfer living and always remains the hero of the golf gallery.

Alex Smith of Shenecossett, along with Hagen, has won the American Open twice and holds an enviable record in American golf. He holds many course records and is known as the Dean of Pros for his great ability to teach golf, his most recent prodigy being Miss Glenna Collett, women's champion.

KEEN INTEREST IN COMING BOUT IN BUENOS AIRES

Buenos Aires, Aug. 16—(By the A. P.)—Only the expense and length of a journey to New York are preventing large numbers of South Americans from attending the Firpo-Dempsey fight next month. There is the keenest public interest in the fight in all South American countries, where hopes are high that Firpo will bring a world's pugilistic championship for the first time to Latin America.

The match is virtually the one topic of conversation in Buenos Aires, the newspapers being filled with columns of discussions over Firpo's prospects, cartoons showing the American and Argentine in the ring, and all kinds of data on their respective physical characteristics. Fight enthusiasts talk glibly about Dempsey's and their own champion's abilities, using the English words "hooks," "uppercuts," "swings", and "punches" as though they belong to the native tongue.

Several newspapers are offering prizes to those who most nearly predict the winning round and winning blow. Firpo's North American nickname "Wild Bull of the Pampa" has tickled the popular fancy and is quoted frequently.

The steamer Pan-America, which left for New York today with a party of Argentine boxing enthusiasts who want to see the fight, expect to pick up a few Uruguayans and Brazilians who have the same object in view, at Montevideo and Rio Janeiro.

It is reported that West Coast boats for the United States also are taking a few Chileans while a number of Argentines traveling in Europe are proceeding to New York.

GOLF, SWIMMING AND ROAD WORK DEMPSEY'S ROUTINE

White Sulphur Springs, Saratoga Lake, N. Y., Aug. 16—Long hard days of training stretched before Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, in training here for his September 14 bout with Luis Angel Firpo, of the Argentine, as the champion settled down to real work-outs today.

Dempsey put a few miles of mountain road behind him this morning, took a swim in the lake and then went to the MacGregor links, just north of Saratoga Springs, for a round of golf. In the afternoon he had a light workout and sparring practice with George Godfrey and Ebezar Rioux, French-Canadian giant. Rioux, built on a generous plan much like that of Firpo, is expected to give the champ

GIVES REASSURANCE.

Those who took with a measure of reserve the early declaration of President Coolidge that he proposed to adhere to the general programme inaugurated by the Harding administration had their doubts ironed out by the first meeting of the president with the cabinet. In giving a definite and official reassertion of the Harding programme, domestic and foreign, President Coolidge showed that he meant exactly what he said the morning Harding died and that he will have a united and harmonious cabinet behind him, without those unsettling changes that so often attend so momentous an event as the installation of a new directing head of the federal government.

But the cabinet went further than merely to deal in general promises as to all unfinished issues and problems. It gave reassurance to the New England and Middle Atlantic states in the statement that no measures would be omitted to protect their interests in the matter of a coal supply and in case of a coal strike that it would be the purpose of the federal authorities to see that substitute fuels were forthcoming.

Concerning our foreign relations, the definite announcement was made that the policies formulated in Secretary Hughes' New Haven speech last December would be adhered to by the Coolidge administration. Secretary Hughes made it plain then that while the United States was by no means indifferent to the problems and troubles of Europe and stood ready to contribute its share to their adjustment, our government looked upon the question as essentially a European one, the crux of which was reparations. The march of events has not materially changed that position but has strengthened the nation in its determination not to be drawn into the disputes of the allies, as arbiter or otherwise, unless and until invited by all the parties in interest.

With the president and cabinet beginning their official relations, united and harmonious, the country may rest content that the government's prudent course is not to be altered, and that while avoiding the maelstrom of European politics we still hold ourselves in readiness to fulfill our obligation to civilization and humanity to help keep the peace and to contribute to the limit of our ability to the restoration of a disorganized and demoralized world.

WHITE LINES AND SAFETY.

In New York city a street-safety campaign has been started by painting broad white crossing lines at the intersection of streets with arrows to indicate the direction of the traffic. Extraordinary efforts are being made to educate the public and the drivers and attention is called to the heavy casualty list in 1922 when 964 persons were killed and over 25,000 injured by vehicles in New York streets.

The head of the public safety bureau says: Often a machine will approach a crossing at high speed, tooting the horn for people to get out of the way. A loudly screeching horn is often evidence that someone is driving recklessly.

It is to be wondered whether this official might not well have omitted the word "often." A loudly screeching horn at a crossing is almost sure evidence of reckless driving. On the other hand almost every motor vehicle operator can testify that a loudly screeching horn has often saved many a "jay walker" from catastrophe. And varieties of "jay walkers" are found at the crossings just as they are at points between. Certain machines, like fire engines, ambulances and police patrols, have, as it were, a right of way at high speed through the streets, and their horns speak with a voice of authority, but no private car has a right to such speed that a screeching horn is essential. The private driver has no right to demand passage in a voice that says, "Stop, or jump, or be hit."

Painting of white lines in the streets is a safety measure that all cities can well adopt, but it will not prevent accidents if drivers will not respect the rights of pedestrians at crossings. Concentration of pedestrians within the lines imposes an obligation on the vehicle driver to give all a fair chance to cross. Combined with the guidance of a traffic officer, the white lines are an added safety factor. Where there is no traffic control, the crossing lines at least give some sense of security against the reckless driver.

ILLINOIS "DIRT FARMERS" SPEAK

Certain impassioned statesmen never weary of demanding a hearing for "the dirt farmers," the impression they seek to convey being that they alone voice the sentiments of the mute and long-suffering tiller of the soil. As a matter of fact the dirt farmer, when he speaks for himself, is apt to repudiate his voluble political champions and their quack remedies for his various ills.

The executive committee of the Illinois Agricultural association at a meeting held the other day in Chicago categorically rejected practically all the proposals that have been made by farmer-labor and other radicals on behalf of agriculture. Government price fixing, government purchase of wheat, withholding of grain from the market, storing of wheat on farms and issuance of warehouse receipts against it—these and other prescriptions were severally pronounced likely to aggravate the farmer's troubles.

The committee of the Illinois Agricultural association takes the rational view that the permanent solution of the farmer's problems will be businesslike and evolutionary, and will have for its elements self-help, co-operative marketing, crop diversification, economy in production, wise use of available credit facilities and in some states reduction of wheat acreage.

The dirt farmers of the country do well thus to take counsel of one another and then deliberately to express their own opinions of the agricultural situation. Those opinions will not necessarily please the politicians who aspire to do the farmers' thinking—and particularly the farmers' talking—for them, but they will prove truly enlightening to the American people and to congress.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

It all came about when Harry nd Myrtle Kabotchnik petitioned a Philadelphia court for permission to change their family name to Cabot. "Inconceivable sacrilege," declared members of the Cabot family, whose ancestral tree is rooted in those two sturdy pioneer navigators, John and Sebastian Cabot, and they appeared before the court to voice their objection and obtain an injunction through counsel representing the Pennsylvania Society of the Order of Founders and Patriots of America, besides several individual objectors including Dr. Hugh Cabot, dean of the Medical School of the University of Michigan; Philip Cabot, head of the St. George School, Newport, R. I.; Judge Cabot of Boston, and George E. and Frederick, P. Cabot, members of the Massachusetts bar.

The name Cabot, it was explained, had been associated with English and American history from the time of the discovery of the American continent, and to allow petitioners of foreign birth to assume and use well known and, in many instances, historical proper names would mislead persons as to the origin and ancestry of those assuming the name. It would also constitute an unjust interference with the right of the persons now using the historical name.

However, the learned court decided that it could do nothing to prevent the trespass under the Cabot family tree and declared, in effect, that while there might be a "divinity that doth hedge about a king," there was none to protect the name of the family of whom an irreverent rhyme has said "the Cabots speak only to Lowells and the Lowells speak only to God."

NUMBERING THE PRESIDENTS

A discussion that raged during the second Cleveland administration has been started again, as to whether Coolidge is the twenty-ninth or thirtieth president. He is the twenty-ninth man to become president, but he has generally been called the thirtieth because Cleveland is listed as both the twenty-second and twenty-fourth president. The dispute arises from the fact that Harrison served a term between the Cleveland terms. Up to the time Cleveland was elected no president had been re-elected after having been out of office. The presidents are counted consecutively up to the time when Cleveland was elected again and he is counted in most lists as the twenty-fourth. Wilson, who served two full terms, was known as the twenty-eighth president. If Cleveland is to be counted as one, then he was the twenty-second president and not the twenty-second and twenty-fourth. This would move all of the subsequent presidents back one position in the line, making Harding the twenty-eighth and Coolidge the twenty-ninth. Since Washington was inaugurated in 1789 there have been thirty-three four-year periods, up to 1921, the last inauguration date.

FROM LUCILLES DIARY

In the spring the country calls to me. That is why one day last week I happened to think of the farm and my Uncle John and Aunt Annie. I felt I must not further neglect them, and I went out on the early train the next morning.

"Well, well, Lucille!" said Uncle John when I alighted from the ramshackle car which brought me from the station. "Have you come to help with the spring housecleaning? Your aunt is giving the house fits this spring! Carpets are up, beds are down, and everything is topsy-turvy. There isn't a comfortable sleeping or sitting place in the whole shebang."

"Your poor darling, Uncle John!" I told him. "I'm glad I landed here in time to help get things to rights again. Where's aunty?"

Somehow I fancied that Aunt Annie appeared more surprised than pleased when I found her scrubbing the storeroom window sills.

"Good gracious Lucille, what will you do in all this mess?" she exclaimed after I had kissed her.

"Oh, I shall not mind it," said I. "I just told Uncle John that I am going to help you. Where shall I put my things?"

"Well, I guess we'll have to stop this," she remarked, "and get at the guest room. You have to have some place to sleep. You can run, Lucille, and tell your uncle to come in, or send a man in to help put up the bed."

"All right, dearie, I answered gaily, and I ran out to the barn where Uncle John was looking over some harness.

"You don't use the horses much nowadays with your tractor and truck and everything, do you?" I asked.

"Well, no; not so much; but we still use them some for plowing and cultivating. The fact is, though, they have done so little work lately that both Jerry and Jasper are high spirited."

When we were setting the guest room to rights Aunt Annie remarked that the curtains were badly faded. I offered to dye them.

"They would be lovely in soft green or a wood brown. Have you any dyes in the house?"

"There might be a package or two on the pantry shelf left from the carpet rags I dyed in the winter. But, Lucile, you don't want to bother with a messy job like that."

"I should love to do it for you," I protested, for I was delighted at the opportunity to show Auntie. On some of my visits she has acted as if she thought I couldn't do anything.

I knew she wished to have a good strong color that would withstand the sun, so I made up my mind to let the curtains boil in the dye a long while. However, I soon got hot fussing about the stove that I stepped outdoors for a breath of lovely air.

"Oh, Tim" I called to the man who was leading a horse by the halter, "what are you going to do with Jasper?"

"I'd just love to try riding him bareback."

"Well, he's pretty skitty. I don't believe that—"

"I'm not afraid! You can lead him for me."

I climbed on Jasper from the fence and I hadn't been on him a second hardly when he broke away from Tim and galloped madly all over the yard. I hung on frantically, clinging to his mane as long as I could and then he shook me off, I fell on to a clump of irises.

"Good gracious, Lucile, I hope you aren't hurt," cried Aunt Annie, who came running from the kitchen door.

I thought that she looked at me queerly. Then it occurred to me that I had forgotten the curtains.

"Oh, those curtains," I cried, and struggled bravely to my feet.

"Don't worry about them," said Aunt Annie laughing in a peculiar way. "I took care of them myself. You let them boil dry. It was the smell brought me downstairs and then I heard this circus out here. You see we have known you a long time, my child. Oh, Lucile, those Japanese irises are ruined, and Jasper's trampled all over my lilies of the valley and the pansy plants and everything.—Chicago News.

Stories That Recall Others

Never Can Tell

"That was a pretty girl—you'll notice she wasn't the bobbed hair kind," commented a certain official after examining an applicant for a clerical position. He employed the girl, for she had made a splendid showing in tests, he said.

When the girl came to work a few days later her hair was the shortest-bobbed of them all. Her fellow-workers said her hair was bobbed the first time, but that it was tucked in cleverly. Three weeks' of employment have made her a valued member of the staff. The official who fell for the trick, declared later.

"She passed the best examination of any applicant for a long time, and she's doing the work now, too. You never can tell."

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Major James F. Coupal of the Army Medical Corps, whose selection as personal physician to President Coolidge is forecasted, is a New Englander who was educated in the Everett (Mass.) public schools and later attended the Tufts Medical School, receiving his medical degree in 1913. He began his professional career as a practicing physician in Boston and his military career as a captain and assistant surgeon in a Massachusetts militia regiment. Dr. Coupal went overseas with the Twenty-sixth Division, and served on the western front for two years. He was promoted to major and retained that rank when he returned. On his return he was made head curator of the Army and Medical Museum in Washington and has since continued to reside in the national capital.

A Little Talk on Thrift

Span of Human Life is Growing

Gradually the span of life in the United States is lengthening, and among the interesting possibilities of the future is the question of how far these processes will go. But this is a problem that only the future can decide. Medical science, hygiene, right living and right thinking are combining to give a constantly greater expectancy to one's term of life, and it may be said that this prolongation of the period between birth and death constitutes the finest possible example of thrift.

The longer we live the more we can accomplish for ourselves and for others; the more deeply we can delve into the springs of wisdom and experience; the more useful we can grow as guides and teachers for others.

In the last 130 years there has been an increase, according to the most reliable statistics, of 23 years in the average length of life in this country. In 1789, statistics compiled in Massachusetts revealed the average span of life as 35.5 years; in 1855 it was 40 years, and there has since been a gradual increase. In 1910 it had risen throughout the nation to 52 years; in 1921, when the latest available figures were compiled, it had been extended to 58 years.

What this increase has meant in human accomplishment is beyond calculation.

Much is said about this being the golden age of youth, and all such statements are true, for, with out efficiently organized business life, our educational advantages and our broad modern vision, opportunities for the young man were never so splendid.

But as a result of these same fundamental conditions, the socalled old man of a generation or so ago is but the matured youth of today.

Back of all these changes is the restless spirit of progress. They express the human impulse both to live longer and to live more usefully.

We pass this way but once. It is well that we not only make the most of our time but that we add to our period of usefulness and service the greatest possible number of years. To do so is one of the most exalted exemplifications of true thrift.—American Society for Thrift.

SAYS NO TROUBLE AT NIANTIC STATE CAMP

Denial of friction between members of the One Hundred and Seventieth Infantry and the disabled veterans of Camp Hines was made in a statement given out by Colonel James Haggerty, commanding officer of the One Hundred and Seventieth who testified to cordial relations between the two camps at the state military reservation, Niantic, and the proper conduct of the men of Camp Hines.

Colonel Haggerty's statement follows:

"There has been no trouble between the disabled veterans in Camp Hines and the members of my command, the One Hundred and Seventieth Infantry. Our guards have reported no breaches of camp rules or regulations by the Disabled Veterans in our section of the field. I am not concerned with their conduct in Camp Hines, but as far as I know, there has been no boisterous conduct from that section of the field.

"Officials of Camp Hines and myself have been co-operating in matters affecting our interests and we have been working along smoothly. Members of my command have been the guests of the disabled veterans at entertainments and movies practically every night since we have been here. I am sure that the guardsmen appreciate this. It is unfortunate that recent newspapers' references made it appear that there was friction between my command and the disabled veterans when such is not the case.

SIC VITA

Like to the falling of a star,
Or as the flights of eagles are,
Or like the fresh spring's gaudy hue,
Or silver drops of morning dew,
Or like a wind that chafes the flood,
Or bubbles which on water stood—
E'en such is man, whose borrowed light
Is straight called in, and paid tonight.
The wind blows out, the bubble dies,
The spring entombed in autumn lies,
The dew dries up, the star is shot,
The flight is past—and man forgot!

GERALD BRASSILL AGAIN CLINCHES ROQUE TOURNEY CHAMPIONSHIP

Gerald Brassill of this city, 1922 champion, clinched his fourth consecutive championship in the Eastern Division of the American Roque League, Thursday, when he defeated Harold Bosworth of New London a strong contender for first place.

The game was exciting and it was not until Brassill got the balls together for the final run that the game was one sided. Two upsets figured in the play of Thursday. When George Huot of Chicopee Falls, Mass., another contender for the championship met Harold Bosworth an important game in the championship race was reached, and Huot who had lost one game to Brassill defeated Bosworth, 32 to 24 in a hard and close fought contest. This defeat placed Bosworth in third position.

At that time Huot had won six and lost but one game and had a chance to tie for first if Brassill lost his remaining game, but here the second upset took place. Playing against E. W. Robinson, another fast player Huot ran into trouble when he lost 32 to 17 and went into second place.

This ended the chances of either Huot or Bosworth for the championship as each had lost 2 games while Brassill lost none and has but one to play.

In the evening the audience was given an exhibition of the best roque ever seen in Norwich when Huot and Brassill entered the third and fourth games for the first Van Wickle medal. Starting out strong in the first game of the evening Brassill made one home run and then ran into trouble and played for a lay. Huot made a difficult carom and taking the balls held the interest of the spectators for some time. The game went to Brassill by a score of 32 to 17. The second game Huot made a home run and then both players put up a strong game, Brassill missing a long carom by less than half an inch, after which Huot took the balls and ran out winning 32 to 28.

This (Friday) evening there will be a battle between these two wizards of the mallet. Four out of seven games are needed to win the medal and as both have won two games the playoff will take place tonight. Brassill is determined to bring the medal back to Norwich, regaining it from the man who sent him down to defeat in 1922, taking the medal out of Norwich for the first time in three years. Local people look to see Brassill win out tonight, but are reminded that in Huot, a steady, capable player, he has strong opposition.

James Brassill, the 15 years old roque player of this city, and brother of the champion is slated for winner in the second division and goes into the ranks of the first division men next year. Playing without a break during the tournament he met his first defeat Thursday, but maintains a lead that cannot be cut down.

Besides winning the championship in his division this youthful star carried off more honors Thursday night when he met S. E. Prentice of Providence holder of the second Van Wickle medal and won the series and medal in four straight games. "Jimmy," as he is known among the players took the first three games handily, but in the fourth and last met opposition that nearly cost him the game. Playing in bad luck throughout the greater part of the game, Mr. Prentice finally struck his stride and only ended his dash for the stake when within two wickets, by missing an easy shot for position. Brassill then shot the full length of the court, hit his ball and massing them ran out the game, winning the medal.

Today's games will be played to decide second and third positions in both divisions, but all eyes are turned towards the big medal play scheduled between Huot and Brassill in the evening, the games to start shortly after 7.30 o'clock.

COURT PLACES HOUSE VALUE AT $50,000

The valuation of $50,000 on the house at the summer estate of William Gillette, actor-playwright, at Lyme, placed on it by the board of relief of the town of Lyme is confirmed in a decision handed down by Judge George E. Hinman of the superior court in the appeal of Mr. Gillette from the board of relief and assessors. Judge Hinman does, however, reduce the assessment on boat and dock and basin $4,000.

The appeal was tried before Judge Hinman in the superior court at Norwich several weeks ago.

The board of assessors placed a valuation on Mr. Gillette's house at $62,000; the boats and the dock and basin at $3,000 and the board of relief placed the valuations respectively at $50,000; $4,000 and $3,000; from which he took an appeal.

In his decision Judge Hinman leaves the valuation on the house at $50,000, but he reduced the valuations on the boats and dock and basin, $2,000 each. Attorneys Abel P. Tanner and George C. Morgan of New London represented the town at the trial and Attorney Rollin U. Tyler of Haddam was counsel for Mr. Gillette.

Judge Hinman's memorandums of decision follows:

Upon the trial of this appeal the valuations placed by the board of relief of the town of Lyme upon the appellant's dwelling house, dock basin and piling and houseboat, only, were in controversy; the other items mentioned in the appeal were not questioned.

The valuation of the dwelling house, as of Oct. 1, 1921, was fixed by the assessors at $62,000, and was subsequently reduced by the board of relief to $50,000. The dwelling house, from its unique design and finish, is property as to which it is impossible to ascertain a fair market value by the usual and natural method of comparison with sales of other property of a similar character. It is not within the conception of a market (essential to the determination of market value) i. e. "conditions in which may be found a willing seller and a willing and able purchaser."

Hence this property could not, and did not have a value which was a fair market value within the proper and approved meaning of the term, and the rule of valuation provided by 1197 general statutes cannot be applied.

Therefore the "present true and actual valuation" of the property in question must be ascertained by other legitimate means, in compliance with No. 1183, construed in the light of Underwood Typewriter Co. vs Hartford, 99 Conn. From the evidence presented, and an inspection by the court made by agreement of the parties, the conclusion is reached that the valuation appealed from ($50,000) is not in excess of such true and actual valuation.

The value of the houseboat is found to be $2,000 and that of the dock-basin and piling $1,000.

Judgment may enter vacating and setting aside the action of the board of relief as to the items of houseboat and dock-basin and piling, reducing the assessment thereon, and setting the same in the assessment list at valuations of $2,000 and $1,000 respectively, but confirming the action of the board of relief as to the dwelling house and as to the other items included in the appeal but not contested upon the trial.

by thousands are known to exist in this country because they have been relieved from pain and suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Science in surgery and electricity have advanced greatly during the past fifty years, but treatment of disease by old-fashioned root and herb medicines has never been improved upon. The leader of them all is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which after fifty years of success is today recognized as the standard remedy for female ills, and sold everywhere for that purpose. Replies to a questionnaire recently sent out to 50,000 women by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., proved that it benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it. Isn't this a marvelous record for any medicine to hold?

learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription is HEM-ROID, a tablet medicine, taken internally, that is now sold by druggists generally. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 3,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 95 per cent. and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

DANIELSON

Adelard Mondor of Attawaugan was fined $15 and costs to $12.94 by Judge Fenner Woodward for refusing to obey the orders of a state policeman. Early Wednesday morning Mondor was hailed by Officer Stremans and ordered to stop. When the man refused the policeman jumped on the running board, but since the car was a sedan he could not hold on, so he was forced to jump. Officer Stremans then pulled out his revolver and fired three shots at the fleeing machine. Soon after Mondor reappeared and then he was arrested by Officer Stremans and Officer Stephens, who had been sent to help the former. In the town court Mondor claimed that he thought the policemen were highwaymen, because they were in plain clothes. When the officer told his part in the affair he said he waved his flashlight and showed his badge and shouted to the accused to "stop in the name of the law." He also said that Mondor told him to wait a minute when he jumped on the running board. It was not possible for the policemen to pursue the accused because they had a small car that was not capable of overtaking Mondor's. So they waited for his return and then placed him under arrest.

Next Sunday Rev. Fletcher D. Parker of Boston is to preach in the Westfield Congregational church. Mr. and Mrs. George Danielson are entertaining Rev. and Mrs. Parker over the week end.

The meeting of those interested in organizing a tennis club is to be held tonight in the directors' room of the Danielson Trust company. Although the court is now in daily use, the players think that it will be necessary to have new wire netting at each end. The new club is being started by Rev. J. W. Houck and it is his desire to have a permanent organization formed at tonight's meeting. The meeting is public.

PUTNAM

Over fifty automobiles carrying nearly 300 members of Windham County Farmers' Association and the Windham County Branch of the New England Milk Producers' Association, left Woodstock Hill, shortly after 9.30 o'clock Thursday morning. The weather was ideal and the vacation day and field trip was a success in every detail. All the automobiles in line carried banners denoting what the long procession signified. At 10 o'clock the cars drew up at Valley Side Farm operated by William C. Child, South Woodstock, where for nearly two hours the assemblage inspected the various departments of this farm, which for 100 years, has been in the Child family. A fine herd of Guernseys was inspected and the results of a properly kept record were told. The orchard was inspected and the proper manner of raising the best marketable fruit was discussed. The poultry took up the remainder of the time, which was all too short to go into details of this well balanced and systematically conducted farm.

Arriving at East Woodstock shortly before noon the large orchard of Chester E. May was the subject of consideration. Some fifteen years ago Mr. May extended his orchard with the idea of making it his most important source of revenue. During the past three years he has been disappointed in the orchard's yield due to apple scab on his McIntosh trees. This year the orchard has been taken over as an orchard management demonstration by the Windham County Farmers' Association and the College Extension Service. The results obtained were of interest and the orchard is a beautiful sight at present. A five or six hundred barrel yield is in prospect this fall. Two check rows left unfertilized clearly demonstrated the difference in size and color of fruit from trees not properly cared for.

At 1 o'clock the procession entered the drive leading to Roseland Park where a picnic luncheon was eaten. After lunch ten minute talks on different lines of effort among farmers and the progress made in the county were given by the following: Dr. G. P. Perley, president of the Farmers' Association; F. M. Davis, county agricultural agent; Whitman Danielson, secretary-treasurer of the Farmers' association; B. W. Ellis, extension service director of the Connecticut Agricultural College, Storrs; Henry Buell, president of Quinebaug Valley Fruit Growers' Association; E. N. Searls, president Eastern Connecticut Poultry Producers, Inc., Albert Williams, secretary East Woodstock Local, N. E. M. P. A., Richard Pattee, managing director, N. E. M. P. A. It was after four o'clock when the meeting adjourned and members of the gathering began returning to their homes.

Enjoying good health, surrounded by children and grandchildren, receiving relatives and friends during the day, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lamondy, for nearly half a century residents of Putnam, observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home on Walnut street Thursday. They received many gifts off flowers and tokens of a more substantial nature.

Mr. Lamondy was born in Champlain, N. Y., July 1, 1849, the son of Louis and Lucy Lamondy. While a young man he was employed on the Northern and Erie canal in New York state and relates many interesting incidents that happened along the waterway during the early seventies. In 1873 he moved to Jewett City and was employed by Maxey Seymour of that place, later working on the mill being constructed in Ballouville.

Mrs. Lamondy was born in Charlton, Mass., November 28, 1855, daughter of Frank and Elmyra Knight. She was married to Mr. Lamondy at Danielson, Aug. 16, 1873 and in 1875 the couple moved to Putnam. Mr. Lamondy was employed by what is now the Nightingale-Morse Mills Inc., for many years.

Ten children were born to them, eight living: Mrs. Dora J. Shippee, Byron W., Clarence A., Frank H., Alfreda Y. and Mrs. May Dyer, all of Putnam, George L. of Hyannis, Mass., and Thomas E. of Chicago. There are eight grandchildren. During their long life together in Putnam they have raised their large family of children, taken interest in public and social affairs of the city and have been active workers in the First Baptist church, both having been members for the past 35 years. Mr. Lamondy is still actively engaged in work.

The second band concert of the summer was held on the square Wednesday evening. The music was by the Wauregan band. Spotlights were used and the square was as bright as day. The area was completely walled in with automobiles in which people sat and watched the large number of dancers until the good-night waltz was played at 10 o'clock.

Thomas Griffin of Boston is the guest of his mother and sisters on Pomfret street. Mr. Griffin, a Putnam boy, is engaged in a wholesale business in the Massachusetts city.

Edward W. Mullan, past grand knight of Cargill Council, has returned from attending the convention of the order in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Holmes returned Wednesday night from an automobile trip to Sydney, N. S.

The strikers of the Manhasset Manufacturing company held their third outdoor meeting Thursday night in the north end of the city and it attracted a large gathering. The principal speaker was National President James Tansey of Fall River. John P. O'Connell, general secretary, and others also spoke. The tone of the remarks was to the effect that after 14 weeks the strikers are fully as strong and as confident of victory as on the day they came out. It was hinted that the company has not, in spite of its attempts to do so, been able to produce successfully since the strike began, nor to operate profitably with its reduced forces and unskilled help. The strikers believe that what they allude to as the disorganized condition here as to administration forces and operative forces is due in some measure to the strike. They allude to the resignation of the superintendent and later the treasurer, the latter, they say, quoted as stating that he would destroy organized labor in Putnam and as being responsible for evictions of strikers from their homes. This, they pointed out, is conclusive proof that the company has failed to defeat the workers in their strike.

ONECO MAN PAYS FINE FOR ASSAULT

Oneco, Aug. 16.—One of the most interesting cases ever tried in the local court was that before Justice of Peace, C. B. Montgomery Wednesday, when grand juror Frank W. Hazard presented Earl Barr charged with assault on Joseph Duguonim. He was also charged with breach of the peace. Frank W. Hazard was assisted by Attorney Howard Bradford of Putnam and the defense was by Judge Harry E. Back, of Danielson.

Both men are well known world war veterans. Each bit of evidence was hotly contested. Justice Montgomery noted the fact that the assault charge was Saturday, August 11 and the breaching of the peace charge Sunday August 12th. He discharged Barr on the second count which was not proven and fined him $10 and $44.54 costs on the first charge. Barr settled.

With an astonishing display of enthusiasm and community spirit, the workers, captains and committee members in the $250,000 hospital campaign launched their undertaking last night at an opening dinner in the state armory, Westerly.

The principal speaker and guest of honor was George W. Gardiner, who was the chairman of the $1,999,000 Homeopathic Hospital campaign conducted last year in Providence with an oversubscription of $232,000. He is vice president of the Union Trust Co., of Providence, and was formerly collector of the port of Providence. He is a noted speaker, and his address was received with great enthusiasm.

Speeches were also made by George B. Utter, chairman of the campaign; Charles Perry, president of the hospital association; Arthur M. Cottrell and Mrs. Samuel H. Davis, two of the division commanders.

There were several surprises on the program. One was a parody on Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean," entitled "Mr. Utter and Mr. Perry," and the other was a small one-sheet newspaper issued for circulation exclusively among the workers and to be repeated, it was stated, at every succeeding meeting.

The work of raising the $350,000 building fund is to begin today, and is to be continued until a week from Monday, when the final Victory dinner is to be held in the armory. Daily rally lunches are to be held next week, at which the workers will gather to report results and watch the progress of the campaign.

New London, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Joseph Perkins and infant daughter of Niantic, Howard Koerb of Stonington, Mrs. Joel Sherman of Ashaway, R. I., and Joseph Epstein of Holyoke, Mass., the last named having suffered several fractured ribs three weeks ago when the automobile he was operating from Holyoke to New London with his wife and son as passengers overturned in Colchester, were patients discharged at Lawrence hospital today.

The funeral of Michael Walsh, fireman of the tugboat Guardsman, was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at No. 19 Jefferson avenue. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral services for John F. Holloway were held this afternoon at his home, 15 Smith street. The services were conducted by Rev. Frederick Haist, rector of Seabury Memorial church, Groton. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Another complaint was made to the police today because of mischievous youths destroying and stealing building material at the new schoolhouse in course of construction at the corner of Riverview avenue and Alger street.

Harold H. Hull has sold to Laura C. Ledoux of Swarthmore, Pa., a house and lot on Montauk avenue.

The nominating petition of Philip S. Douglass, instructor at Bulkeley High school, and circulated by himself, for the office of member of the council, was filed at the office of City Clerk Julian D. Moran today. The petition nominating Dr. Joseph M. Geney for school visitor has also been accepted.

Chief Inspector William J. Lahey of the New York police department this morning requested the New London police to notify Hazel Patterson 32 Summit avenue, that Metta Hanley had been received for treatment at Reception hospital. The latter is suffering from infirmities attending age.

Albin J. Thayer of 56 Lewis street reported to the police this forenoon that he had recovered his bicycle, stolen from the yard earlier in the week. The thief had attempted to change the appearance of the cycle by painting it in places. Another bicycle stolen at the same time as Mr. Thayer's has not been recovered.

A trolley car of the Connecticut company was derailed late last night on Montauk avenue at the corner of Sherman street when the wheels split a switch point. The derailed car interrupted traffic between State street and Ocean Beach about half an hour and caused the last car for Norwich at midnight to be late in getting off.

Michael O'Connell, a contractor, was about the streets this morning seeking laborers to do work that he sought to have done. He could not find them and became exasperated so that he besought the police to insist that the loafers about the city go to work or go to jail.

This morning a loiterer was offered 50 cents an hour to work, but he declined unless the price was made 75 cents. He was not hired. When the police and courts work to send those who will not keep in a condition of sobriety that will induce them to work to jail, they will be doing the community a good service. There were three drunks in court this morning, two of them being told to get out of town before 6 o'clock this afternoon or go to jail, while another was fined $10.

Michael Santer has been ostensibly maintaining a grocery store, corner of North Bank and John streets, but all the groceries he sold were not in dry packages, and the profit on the wet groceries he sold were many times more than they were on the flour, provisions, etc. Mike was selling booze on the quiet, or he supposed he sold that way, till last evening, when half a dozen policemen in plain clothes nabbed him in the act of selling and had the proof that would have convicted him as soon as it was laid before the court had not Mike demurred to the complaint, but that was formal only. The demurrer was overruled and Mike was taxed $200 with costs. He paid and was released.

John Rokstead, taker of the schooner yacht in port owned by Carter Phillips, complained to the police this afternoon that the yacht was boarded some time last night and a quantity of the craft's furnishings stolen. The yacht is moored off No. 416 Pequot avenue.

Lieutenant of Police Benjamin Beebe started on his vacation tonight. Sergeant James D. Gaffney will be in charge of the night force.

Motorcycle Officer William Babcock late this afternoon took into custody three youths who have been destroying property of the city and used in construction work. The boys were delivered into the custody of Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield for presentation in the juvenile court.

The police believe that they have discovered the perpetrator of the murderous attack on John Hibrok, 30 Winthrop street, freight handler in the employ of the New England Steamship company Tuesday night. Felix Kalinsky, another resident of Winthrop street, has been ordered to appear in the police court tomorrow morning for a hearing. Hibrok alleges he was shot at three times while returning to his work. Sergeant Nelson Smith has been on the case. The officer's investigation today resulted in a Polish resident and an acquaintance of both Hibrok and Kalinsky stating that Kalinsky had recently made a threat that he, (Kalinsky) would "get Hibrok".

Daniel R., the 10 days old son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Neenan, died last night at the residence of his parents, No. 104 Connecticut avenue. Burial was this morning in St. Mary's cemetery.

Six bids were opened this noon by Purchasing Agent John W. Sheedy, at the municipal building, for the work of lowering the coping of the Harbor school. All of the bidders were New London contractors and the lowest bid was that of Benvenutti & Son, $260.

Miss Helen Smith of Providence is being entertained by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Potter.

Dr. John M. Dimes, who recently sold his residence on Montauk avenue to David Solts, of the Solts Co., has taken up his abode in Waterford. Mr. Solts, who was recently married, will take possession of the Montauk avenue house the latter part of the month.

Dr. W. A. Harrison, Jr., of Washington is visiting his father, William A. Harrison of Harrison's Landing.

P. Allan McInnis has returned to Boston, having spent several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McInnis.

Mrs. Mary C Shea is entertaining Miss Catherine Shea of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Herbert Toby, colored, about 9 years of age and residing with his parents on Main street, is hovering between life and death at Home Memorial hospital tonight as a result of injuries received about 6.30 o'clock when run over by a touring car on Main street following his having spent the day at a picnic of the A. M. E. Zion church at Riverside park. The lad sustained a fractured skull and his recovery is considered doubtful. The youth in company with about twenty-five others, members of the church and Sunday school, were returning to their homes in an automobile bus. When the bus arrived at the corner of Shapley street the bus stopped to permit the boy and others to alight. As soon as the youth stepped to the sidewalk he ran around the front of the bus and directly in the path of an automobile, owned and operated by Edgar N. Sederquist of No. 21 Gorton street, who had as passengers Mrs. Sederquist and Mr. Sederquist's mother. Before Sederquist could apply his brakes the boy was struck by the fender.

Katie Lynch, who states that she is 32 and a resident of No. 10 Thompson court, was taken into custody at midnight by Patrolman Braxton Hill when he found the woman hiding behind a tree on Huntington street, near Federal street and following complaints being made by residents of that vicinity of the woman's queer actions. The police took charge of the woman two weeks ago when she went to the home of a resident of Broad street and made a nuisance of herself.

Michael Scalgula, a cripple, was arrested a 2 o'clock this morning when he drove his automobile from Pleasure Beach to this city at a rattling pace. Police Sergeant Hick and Federal Agent Avery with Officer Philopena were in the rural district in Waterford expecting to pick up some bootleggers. Finally Scalgula passed them and kept on to New London. The officers pursued and declared that Mike travelled so rapidly that they had to run their car at about 40 miles an hour to overtake him. Agent Avery demanded that he show the contents of his car. Avery searched the car, but found nothing. Then the New London policemen charged Scalgula with operating a car recklessly and he was presented in the New London police court where he was fined $25. He appealed.

Even with the understanding that the position of the city manager is to pay a much less salary than before the number of candidates for the place is increasing daily. There are four known aspirants for the place now—William A. Holt, son of a former alderman of the same name, and one of the best democratic alderman the city had is a candidate, it is understood. Former Alderman Harry C. Chappell is a receptive candidate.

Like Mr. Holt he has had a good business training and he could fill the bill well. William A. Murray, a former assessor, is after the place, openly. He has been a democratic war horse for many years. An out of town candidate showed up today in the person of Ermon M. Peck, a civil engineer of Hartford. Two years ago Mr. Peck was a candidate for the place when it was given to James E. Barlow, the present incumbent. Mr. Barlow has made friends here. He has been a fair fighter, and that is the sort of fellow who wins friends. He likes New London and says he intends to remain here and engage in some business enterprise. The resignation of Manager Barlow will come before the city council here next Monday evening for action.

Thomas Keefe, a resident here for many years, and a former sailor out of this port, is in town for a brief visit. He is now 80 and is located at the Snug harbor. He was a sailor with Lieut. Beebe when a youth.

SKIMMING THE FARMERS' CREAM

(Written Especially for the Bulletin)

Even the dumbest kind of a "dumb Dora" knows that she can't keep on skimming cream indefinitely and eternally off the same milk.

There's a limit to the cream-content of the milk. When that is exhausted, no more cream will rise.

There is another limit to the keeping quality of the milk. Sooner or later, it turns sour, "loppers", and ends its cream delivery then and there.

But "the wise men of Gotham," evidently direct descendants of those far-sighted mariners who once went to sea in a bowl, appear to think they can do the un-do-able and skim the same milk forever and ever, amen. At least, that's what they are trying to do.

You and I, slow-witted old farmers on back-road farms, might not feel any call to get excited over their dumbness or to do more than smile at their over-sharpened cunning, if it wasn't that their monkey-shines interfere disastrously with our own butter-making.

If they would or could keep their folly to themselves, enjoying its fleeting amusement and bearing its ensuing penalties, all by themselves, we would not need to worry.

But that is exactly what they won't do. Being very much impressed with their own vastly superior wisdom, business ability, etc., they assume to take charge of us all. They not only are skimming their own milk with the finest meshed skimmer attainable, they are also skimming ours, whether we want them to or not.

This brings the matter home to us and gives us the right at least to consider the ways and the actions of our supercilliously self-conceited exploiters of the business and labor worlds.

As the situation stands, it is about like this: The profiteers of both commerce and labor have discovered that there is considerable cream to be had. They are, both of them, out to get it.

"Get money," said the ancient usurer to his son. "Get money, honestly, if you can but—get money."

That seems to be the motive underlying recent price demands and recent wage demands. There is cream to be skimmed: there is money to be got. Let's skim and gobble while the opportunity is open. Never mind the future. Never mind the risks. Never mind the danger. Never mind the eventual slump into loss and bankruptcy and starvation which we are preparing. Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die. And let's stuff ourselves to the bursting point, right now, before some other fellow can get a chance at the milk pan or the cream pitcher.

As I have said, if this conduct involved only those who engage in it, if they alone were to be the partners of the surfeit and the bearers of the resulting belly-ache, we outsiders of the farms could afford to look on without over-keen solicitude. But it doesn't stop with its practitioners. It involves us.

[illegible] are not only skimming their own milk and wasting their own cream, they are spoiling ours, as well. They se— determined that, when the cataclysm comes and they go skallyhooting down into the pit, we hayseeds of the hill farms shall also be dragged down with them.

That enforced association, I maintain, gives us the right to have some sort of an opinion and some sort of a say about the ruction.

Even so conservative a business organ as "Financial America" recently admitted that "We have been building more factories, automobiles, railroad trains and ships than there are workers to operate continuously." Yet continuous operation is a sine qua non of profitable manufacturing. "Textile mills are drawing upon the women of the farms for help," goes on this paper. "While steel plants railroads, and building 'draft the men.' What's going to happen to the farms?

Well, it doesn't take a prophet, nor even the seventh son of a seventh son, to foresee what's going to happen to the farms. For the excellent reason that it's already happening. A mere reporter is just as good as a certified A No. 1 prophet to tell what is actually going on.

The farms are getting, now, what profiteers of commerce and labor are preparing for themselves, a little later. That is, a series of slams and knocks and punches under which the heads of most farmers are not only bloody but badly bowed.

Instead of tailing along with or behind the procession toward disaster which the profiteers aforesaid are enthusiastically forming, the farmers have been forced to take the right of the doleful column and lead its march toward the precipice.

We must take the stories which came to us from [illegible] with such faith as we may. But every eastern farmer knows that [illegible] in New England is practically restricted to such work as the old farmer and his old wife can do. Their boys have been lured by high wages to city shops and offices; their girls to city factories and counters. The workmen who formerly made quantity production possible for the farmer have gone, too. His broad acres call for cultivation which he can neither give himself nor hire others to give. As a result, New England farms which used to yield surpluses are now scarcely returning a scanty living to a reduced population.

Acres which once produced profitable crops to feed humanity are now growing up to weeds and bushes and feeding a few woodchucks and rabbits. Fences which used to protect grain-bearing fields are disappearing in tangles of "hedge-rows" because the farmer can no longer maintain them or even buy the materials with which to renew them. Pastures over which herds of sheep or dairy cattle used to graze have reverted to young forest. On practically every farm within my knowledge the cultivated area is vastly less, now, than ten or twenty or fifty years go. Many have been partially abandoned; some wholly.

Yet, in the midst of this, the shops and stores and offices and factories are still casting their drag-nets to scrape together the pitiful remnants of flotsam and jetsam which still drift about the country.

The inrush of population to the cities creates a need for additional housing. New buildings are demanded. The dealers in building material see their chance to gouge the contractors. So they gouge. The contractors see a chance to gouge the owners. So they gouge. The building--trade labor unions see a chance to gouge the contractors and owners both. So they gouge. The result is that, in every big city, scores and hundreds of buildings are being erected at such absurdly and intolerably inflated cost as compels the owners to demand absurdly and intolerably inflated rents.

Don't they know that this overblown bubble is certain to burst, sooner or later? It is to be assumed that they do know—but don't care. They are going to skim the cream while it is rising, today—this minute—and devil take tomorrow! The future may gaz down sour milk, if it can, or drink ditch-water if it can't. What do the profiteers and gougers care? They are filling out their own waistbands to the bursting limit. Beyond that circumference they cannot or will not see.

Once it used to be said that it took most of most men's time to earn their living. But the gougers and profiteers are not after a mere living. They are out to swipe the earth. Each individual or little group is so burglariously intent on gathering in the biggest possible slice that none pays heed to the devastation being caused on either side.

I don't believe that the great captains of finance, when they are adding cent. per cent. to their millions, actually want to take them out of the farmers' pockets. I don't believe that the "labor" leaders, when they force up city and shop wages to outrageous heights, are deliberately planning to prevent the farmers from getting any help. No more than that the old Assyrian kings, when they flayed alive their prisoners of war, did so because they wanted the pelts for pocket-handkerchiefs. But the process, in either case, is a durned unpleasant one, no matter what the intent.

It is a queer and not wholly understandable fact that, in this world, the innocent so often suffer with the guilty. Because the fathers ate sour grapes, why should the children's teeth be set on edge? It doesn't seem quite just. Yet it is the rule. And, just or not understandable or not, we must accept the unfortunate result.

It seems too bad that the greed of a building contractor or a walking delegate in New York city should doom a fertile farm in Connecticut to desertion, and its once prosperous occupants to a semi-pauperised old age. But that happens, nevertheless. Because it happens the farmer is given the right to take an interest, even in the workings of that contractor's or delegate's mind. If those workings are going to affect the farmer's interests so disastrously he ought to show some concern regarding them.

He ought not to make the mistake which too many western farmers seem to be making of jumping from the frying-pan into the fire.

He ought not to chase will-o'-the-wisps. Nor should he take the first pill the first quack offers him. Nor should he waste time or money on side-shows, no matter how vociferous the "barker" outside the tent may be.

He may not be able, probably he is not able to set the world right. But he should be seduously careful not to help push it wrong.

It is most emphatically a time for him to go slow. Not only to go slow—which he can't well help doing—but to keep in the middle of the road.

It is no time to let passion or prejudice or personal feeling rule his judgment. Snap judgments are apt to be wrong judgments. Commerce and labor have apparently united to act for their own temporary interests, regardless of the effect on the farmer's welfare. Apparently, too, they outvote us and can outbuy us. Their occasional assumptions of helpfulness are not usually either intelligent—or more's the pity—sincere.

We have got to win our battle, if we can, without them, say, in most cases against them. We might as well understand this, first as last. Any alliance they may offer we may be reasonably sure is one they consider as being to their own advantage—not ours.

Our present and immediate need is to protect our own pans from their rapacious skimmers as far as we can. We will do fairly well under difficult conditions if we keep our eyes open, our mouths shut, and our shotguns handy.

Also, if we bluntly decline any and all blandishments from outside, and take counsel of our own consciences, guided by our own experience.

THE FARMER.

MARKET WAS STRONG

New York, Aug. 16.—Speculative sentiment underwent a decided change for the better in today's stock market with the result that quoted values were pushed up in all sections of the list and the buying embraced a wider variety of shares. Short interests continued to furnish most of the buying power but commission houses again reported increased public participation, particularly in high grade investment stocks.

Buying for both accounts was influenced by the signing of the minutes of the Mexican conference with its prospect of an early recognition of that country, over night indications of an early resumption of the negotiations for the anthracite miners' wage agreement, announcement of a favorable trade balance in July and further signs of improvement in the outlook for domestic trade and industry while little attention was paid to the foreign situation by the scok market. Some comfort was derived from the cable dispatches indicating that the danger of a German revolution had passed and the improvement in French exchange.

Oil shares displayed a steadier tone despite the further liquidation of some of the low priced issues. The gasoline price cutting war is generally regarded as a temporary situation brought about by the forced selling of gasoline by some of the small mid-western refiners and brokers who were pressed for funds. The Pan-American issues each closed about 1 1-2 points higher and some of the other active shares improved fractionally.

Shorts, who were plainly worried by the recent favorable domestic developments, found a rather thin market for a number of stocks when they attempted to cover their commitments. American Can was one of the strongest and most active of the standard industrials, selling between 93½ and 94¾ and closing slightly below the top price for a net gain of 1¾ on the day. Baldwin, Studebaker and U. S. Steel showed small fractional gains.

Woolworth spurted more than 8 points to 249, a new high for all time, on reports of the early declaration of an early stock dividend. Kresge advanced 4 points above yesterday's final quotation.

The advance in rails was less extensive although a few issues, notably Lackawanna which climbed 2½ points, made good progress.

Call money opened at 4¾ per cent but advanced to 5 just before the close. There was no chance in time money and commercial paper rates, the bulk of the business in each being done at 5¼ per cent.

A sharp recovery in French francs which was not maintained was the feature of the foreign exchange market. Francs rose from 4.43 to 4.55 cents. Other exchanges held steady. Demand sterling being quoted around $4.56⅝ and German marks around 30 cents a million.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Higher prices in the wheat market today followed the government report pointing to 15.5 per cent. probable reduction of winter wheat seeding this fall, but profit-taking sales wiped out most of the advance. Closing quotations were unsettled, varying from ⅛c net decline to ⅛c. Gain, with September 1.00⅝ to 1.00⅞ and December 1.04⅝ to 1.04⅞. Corn finished ⅛c to ⅜c up, oats showed ⅛c a ⅜c to ⅝c. rise and provisions unchanged to 20c higher.

Bullish effects of the government figures in regard to domestic fall seeding of wheat were emphasized today by announcement that the wheat yield of India this season was ex-The changed outlook as to India was pected to be 32,000,000 bushels less than estimates heretofore current, credited with being largely responsible for a material advance in quotations at Liverpool. Rain in Illinois and Iowa likely to delay threshing and to curtail receipts at Chicago tended to lift values. On the upturns in price, offerings increased and setbacks ensued, but the market displayed good rallying power until near the end of the day.

Increasing arrivals of new wheat at Winnipeg together with a bearish estimate of the Canadian crop had more or less to do with the late downturn of the wheat market here. Another factor which appeared to be related to the decline at the last was gossip that many domestic mills had obtained all the wheat they need at present, and that demand for flour making purposes was likely to fall off.

Corn and oats were governed chiefly by the action of wheat.

Higher quotations on hogs lifted the provision market.

BOND MARKET

New York, Aug. 16.—Price movements pointed upward in the trading in bonds today, with the foreign issues, which have been heavy recently, leading the upturn. United States government bonds, however, declined from 1-32 to 2-32 of a point.

Advances of a point or more in the foreign group included Bordeaux 6's, Lyons 6's, Marseilles 6's, French 7½'s and 8's, Belgian 8's and Mexican 4's. The Belgian 7½'s moved up 3 points.

Gains in the railroad group generally were confined to fractions. St. Paul 4's of 1925, up 3, being the outstanding strong spot in this division. United Railway 4½'s and Third Avenue adjustment 5's, each advancing 1, while Milwaukee Electric Railway 5's dropped 2.

Industrial liens were rather dull, advances of a point each by Cerro De Pasco 8's and Cuba Cane 8's, and a drop of one point by Brooklyn Edison 7's, Series D, being the only outstanding changes.

CURB MARKET

New York, Aug. 16.—Short covering operations provided the impetus for a brisk recovery in prices in today's market with activity again centering on the oil shares.

More than 30,000 shares of Standard Oil of Indiana changed hands, the closing and top price of 52 representing a net gain of 1 1-2 points on the day. Buying of this issue was influenced by the increase of 4 cents a gallon in the price of gasoline in South Dakota, where the price cutting war originated. Net gains of 1 to 2 points also were registered by Standard Oils of Kansas, Kentucky and New York, Prairie, Ohio, Gulf of Pennsylvania and Buck-Eye Pipe.

Overnight developments in the coal situation indicating an early settlement of the wage dispute resulted in a squeezing of the short interest in Glen Alden Coal, which closed 1¾ points higher at 71⅝. Gillette Safety Razor rose 6 points. McCrory Stores touched a new high at 62, or 12½ points above the subscription price of the stock floated a few months ago.

METAL MARKET

New York, Aug. 16.—Copper easy. Electrolytic, spot and futures 14 a 14⅛. Tin firm; spot 39.37; futures 39.25. Iron steady; prices unchanged Lead steady; spot 6.50 a 6.75. Zinc firm; East St. Louis spot and nearby delivery 6.40. Antimony, spot 7.87.

MONEY

VAUDEVILLE AT THE STRAND

A fine program of Keith vaudeville was presented at the Strand theatre yesterday and will continue the remainder of the week.

Gray and Conway opened the bill with a singing, dancing and piano offering that made an instant hit.

A. O. Duncan, the ventriloquist entertained greatly with his good line of jokes.

Raymond and Schram filled third spot with their offering "Syncopated Cocktail" which consisted of some good harmony singing and a little comedy.

Stafford and Louise Co., closed the bill with a very novel dancing offering that was well taken.

"The Power of a Lie" is truly a tremendous force. A lie so little as to escape entirely unnoticed may start a chain of lies, that like a growth of some deadly fungus hits at the heart of man with insidious cruelty. "The Power of a Lie" is the title of the strange Universal picture showing at the Strand theatre which is an all star production of a queer novel and play by Johann Bojer, brilliant Norwegian thinker.

"The Power of a Lie," the Universal all star screen story at the Strand theatre, was written as a novel and a play by Johann Bojer, brilliant Norwegian thinker. Mabel Julienne Scott, June Elvidge, Maude George, David Torrance, Earl Metcalfe, Phillips Smalley and others handle the principal roles under George Archainbaud's direction. Charles Kenyon of "Kindling" fame wrote the scenario.

Breed Theatre

Big musical program tonight—13-piece orchestra.

Life in a metropolis, with its bright lights and sinister shadows, successes and reverses, heart aches and triumphs, are vividly portrayed in the Fox production, "Lights of New York," which comes to the Breed theatre today and Saturday.

Notable in the cast is Mark MacDermott, who enacts the role of a stock broker who becomes a derelict after his sweetheart marries a rival. The dramatic power that Mr. MacDermott gives this part brings to the highest level of screen acting. The toast that his friends drink to his faithless fiancee strikes the keynote of the story. "It's sorry I am to leave you, but glad I am to go." Then comes the note telling the prospective groom of his love's departure with another man. The tenseness, the tale is brought out when Mare, in the character of the broker, tells his friends, "There will be no wedding tomorrow."

But there are high lights, too. Moments that relieve the dramatic trend of the photoplay. The photography, particular at the beginning, where scenes of New York are shown in color, cannot be passed over without individual mention. The details of the story are not set forth here because it would spoil the reader's interest when viewing the picture. "Lights of New York" blazes forth a story that is convincing because it tells the incidents of life as they happen every day.

Other pictures on the bill include Chaplin in "Dough and Dynamite" and the Pathe news. Big musical program tonight by enlarged orchestra composed of 13 local union musicians.

TOMATOES

A century ago, tomatoes were considered very unwholesome, if not actually poisonous, and were grown only for ornamental purposes. Public opinion has changed and the value of the tomato crop for the United States runs into large figures.

Probably no vegetable or fruit has a greater variety of uses: plain sliced or stewed, in salads, in soups and chowders, in catsup, mixed pickles, puree, etc., the ways of using this fruit are many.

Tomatoes are healthful, fairly rich in iron and lime and very rich in vitamins—the juice is now being used to replace orange juice as a fruit acid for small children.

While we do not advise the canning of tomatoes until the late crop is ready, we do urge their liberal daily use as a vegetable; and in the meantime, plan to can a plentiful supply for winter.

MINSTREL ORCHESTRA REFUSES TO PLAY AT BROADWAY THEATRE

Learning on their arrival in this city Thursday morning that there is what the local Musicians' union terms labor trouble at the Broadway theatre, the Neil O'Brien minstrel orchestra refused to play at the theatre, and as a consequence the minstrel show booked for a performance in the evening was, of necessity, called off.

The stage hands, electricians and carpenters with the minstrel show also refused to work. The minstrel troupe left Norwich by train about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

There had been a heavy demand for tickets and the theatre was practically sold out early Thursday afternoon. Most of the people who had purchased tickets for the minstrel show were unaware of the fact that there would be no performance until they appeared at the theatre during the evening. All holders of tickets were informed upon their arrival at the theatre that there would be no show and their money was promptly refunded at the box office.

A. Davidson, proprietor and manager of the theatre, has taken the stand ever since the long drawn out controversy between the theatre management and the local Musicians' union developed some weeks ago that there is no "labor" trouble at the theatre. However, the Neil O'Brien minstrel orchestra evidently thought otherwise, for when they learned the facts in the local situation, they refused to play, this action, it is claimed, being in accordance with the rules and regulations of their union forbidding them to play in any theatre where there is labor trouble. Minus its orchestra, the minstrel troupe was sadly handicapped, and there was nothing to do but call off the show.

Pressed for a statement Thursday evening, Mr. Davidson said: "I have absolutely nothing to say in regard to the trouble tonight. I have no statement to make now." All Mr. Davidson would say was that he had booked the show, that they would not appear, and that he was refunding the ticket money at the box office to the ticket holders. Further than that he would make no statement.

LIONS CLUB HOLDS REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING

The regular weekly meeting of the Lions club was held Thursday noon in the Wauregan dining room with a small attendance. Owing to the absence of Organization President George A. Finn, Organization Secretary Edward Carpenter presided over the meeting. For the benefit of new members present, Secretary Carpenter gave a very interesting and instructive informal talk on the principles of Lionism. Rudolph Henschel acted as song leader, with several rousing numbers, and the meeting closed in the usual manner by the singing of The Star Spangled Banner after the partaking of lunch. Lin Jacques of the New London Lions club was a visitor at the meeting. Tail Twister Rinella added a goodly sum to the treasury by imposing several fines.

CONGREGATIONAL COUNCIL FOR PROHIBITION AND LAW

Among the questions that will be discussed at the next meeting of the National Council of Congregational churches, which convenes at Springfield in October, none will be of more interest than those presented by the commission on temperance.

This commission has its office in Washington, where Rev. W. A. Morgan, chairman and Wayne B. Wheeler, an active member, seeks to express the will of the churches concerning temperance legislation and law enforcement. In addition to seeking to promote helpful legislation at Washington, this commission also leads the churches in their efforts to train young people in total abstinence and law observance.

"To train a generation to respect the law and to obey it is the task confronting the Christian church today," says Dr. Morgan. "To build up sentiment for law enforcement is a difficult task. Prohibition as a theory brings deprivation to no one; but prohibition as a fact takes champagne from many who desire it. Constant pressure from rich and poor is brought to bear on lawmakers and the officers of the law. It is not easy for these men to stand in the face of strong influence and unpopular criticism. Those who are thirsty shout louder than those who desire no wine. The dry forces may not be called upon to outshout the wet, but they are challenged to make firmness out-influence noise. It is the duty of every Christian to expect law enforcement and to back all officials to the limit in their efforts to bring to justice those who break the law. There are enough Christian people to bring about and to maintain good conditions. But the danger is that good men and women will not speak and act while thirsty men and women both shout and work. The conviction is challenged. The churches must stand as a unit for law and order."

The Congregational churches have always been strong for prohibition. The Anti-Saloon league was formed by a group of Congregationalists in one of the buildings of a Congregational college (Oberlin, in Ohio). Rev. Howard Russell, general secretary, and Wayne B. Wheeler are both loyal sons of the Congregational church. In this day of testing this council will take a strong stand in favor of strict law enforcement and for the strengthening of every temperance law.

NEAR EAST WORKER TO SPEAK IN NORWICH

J. P. Xenides, secretary of the Greek committee for the Near East relief, who recently returned from Asia Minor, where he was an eyewitness of the Armenian and Greek deportations by the Turks, arrived in Norwich Thursday and made arrangements to hold an open meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. for the people in the city of Greek nationality and other citizens.

Mr. Xenides in speaking of the meeting said that pictures would be shown depicting the actual conditions in the Near East and the work being done by the Near East relief among the orphans and refugees. For 20 years he has been one of the instructors in the American college, Marsivan, in Asia Minor, but had seen this college closed and all Armenian and Greek instructors killed or deported from the country by the Turks, also many Americans forced to abandon their homes and close all institutions.

F. R. Gicah, assistant director of the Near East relief work in Connecticut, is also to be present and speak, the addresses to be in English and Greek if a sufficient number of Greek residents attend who cannot understand English.

These meetings are being held throughout the state and this (Friday) evening there is to be a meeting for Greek residents of New London and next week at the Mohical hotel, New London, another meeting for the public will be held. Mr. Xenides has been speaking for the Near East relief for many years and is thoroughly versed in the subject.

Native Peach Crop Good

In spite of short crops of native fruit this season the state department of agriculture reports that native early peach and apple supplies are generally liberal and prices remain unchanged. The demand for native plums is slow and prices range from $1.00 to $1.50 per 14-quart basket. While some native red astrachan apples are sold as high as $8.50 per bushel, the market for ordinary stock ranged $1.75 to $2.25 per bushel. Native Greensboro peaches brought $1.00 to $1.50 per 14-quart basket. Sweet potatoes from Virginia brought $8.00 to $10.00 per barrel.

GROTON WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE BY SHOOTING

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Annie Johnson, 35, wife of Irving B. Johnson of Groton park, Groton, attempted self-destruction about 2 o'clock this morning by sending a bullet into her body. Mrs. Johnson is now a patient at Lawrence Memorial hospital, where tonight it was stated that her condition was critical. Why Mrs. Johnson attempted her life is not known except that she had been despondent of late and for several days she appeared more morose than at any time since displaying a mood of despondency. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson retired as usual Wednesday night. About 2 o'clock she arose and going to a bureau drawer where a 38-calibre revolver was kept for emergency purposes, Mrs. Johnson removed the weapon and placing the muzzle to her left breast, pulled the trigger.

The bullet entered the body close to the left breast and took a course towards the heart, barely missing the vital organ. The sound of the explosion aroused Johnson who found his wife on the floor and in a semi-conscious condition. A hurry call was sent for a physician and Dr. Charles Barnum responded. With the arrival of the physician emergency treatment was administered, after which she was hurried to the hospital, where today her condition has gradually declined and her recovery is practically despaired of.

By DAVID CORY

The Terrible Wild Man

I guess you would be frightened if, on a dark night in the woods you heard a gruff voice say:

"Fee, fie, fo, funny.

as I mentioned in the last story, but Little Jack Rabbit wasn't. Turning to the prince, he said: "Fear not, comrade, I have magic charms with me." But the little white snake was so frightened that she crawled into his pocket and maybe she would have turned pale if she hadn't already been as white as milk.

All of a sudden there was a great crashing of bushes.

"Here comes the dreadful wild man," whispered the timid bat which is just like a mouse, you know, only with wings as well as feet.

The next minute the moon came out from behind the clouds and shone on the wild man. And wasn't he a terrifying looking person? Well, I just guess he was. Long hair fell down his back and whiskers down to his waist. In his right hand he carried a great club covered with iron knobs and on his right shoulders a black bear's skin.

"Have a care, you churl," cried the prince, drawing his sword.

"Fee, fie, fo, fum!" shouted the dreadful wild man, swinging his great club but it never hit the prince who jumped nimbly to one side, but broke a tree right in the middle with a dreadful crash.

At this, the wild man grew terribly angry and rushed at Little Jack Rabbit who hopped behind a stump. The wild man stumbled and fell to the ground and before he could get up the bunny boy turned his magic gold feather around three times and a half and at once the little Black Man appeared.

And this time he brought with him seven little black men, who in less time than I can tell it, bound the wild man fast and led him away to the Fairy King's prison where they cut his hair and shaved his beard and made him work for a year and a day and at the end of that time he became a good man and taught school in a little country town for the rest of his days. All the people called him Professor Woodman for he knew all about trees and plants and the stars and moon.

Well, by this time it was morning and as the castle of the prince's stood nearby, he said farewell to Little Jack Rabbit and the little White Snake, who set out once more on their journey of adventure and if you'll wait for the next story you'll hear what happened to them when they came to a river that was broad and deep.

PUBLIC HELD IN SUSPENSE AS COAL PARTIES HAGGLE

'Miners' Union Officials and Representatives of the Operators Agree to Go Back Into Joint Conference to Seek Terms for New Wage Contract to Become Effective Before September 1—Action Was Taken at Direct Demand by the U. S. Coal Commission—Commission is to Return to Washington and Report to President Coolidge.

New York, Aug. 17.—(By the A. P.)—At the direct demand of the United States coal commission, miners' union officials and representatives of mine operators in the anthracite region today agreed to go back into joint conference to seek terms for a new wage contract that may become effective September 1.

The whole complicated fabric of the controversy which has separated the mine operators and the spokesmen for their employes was temporarily set aside by the decision. Notwithstanding, coal commission members held themselves from expressing any over-optimism as to the prospects of keeping the anthracite mines running after September 1. John Hays Hammond, its chairman, and his associates, it was said, would return to Washington and report the results attained to President Coolidge.

The commission early today called in Samuel D. Warriner, chariman of the operators' policy committee, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. The two leaders were presented with a letter [illegible] out that the public mind "is beginning to be seriously alarmed over the question of whether there is to be another suspension of anthracite mining Sep[illegible]mber 1."

Three questions were asked in the letter, the first as to whether the operators and miners could reach an agreement fixing terms of a new wage contract before September 1, while the last two were directed to bringing out the attitude of each party on the general proposition of keeping the mines running after that date even if the terms of the projected new contract were still unsettled.

Mr. Lewis and Mr. Warriner, summoning their associates, agreed quickly on the terms of a terse letter of reply. Jointly, the miners and operators said they would resume conference at Atlantic City Monday and "earnestly endeavor to reach [illegible] an agreement by September 1."

Failing in such an agreement, the operators said, they would seek an understanding that the mines should keep on running, while the wage conference proceeded, with the terms of its final form to be retroactive to September 1. The miners asked that this matter be left to the joint conference. The operators further urged, the reply lette said, that the parties to the wage contract negotiation "agree to arbitrate any part of the eleven union demands not otherwise disposed of," but the miners contented themselves by stating this subject to be "superseded by the joint action in agreeing to confer."

The agreement, for the time being, swept clear all of the issues in conflict between the operators and the union, but at the same time deferred all these conflicts without adjusting them. Demand No. 9, one of the eleven put forward by the United Mine Workers is for "full recognition of the union" and a two year contract. Recognition of the union has been construed to require the operators, among other things, to collect the union dues from their employes by "checking off" the amounts invoived from payrolls and turning it over to unions.

When this demand was flatly refused last July, the wage negotiations ended, Mr. Lewis, inbehalf of the union, presented a proposal to the coal commission when it began its inquiry here Wednesday by which the union would abandon the "check-off" demand, in case the operators would cease "checking off" from the payrolls sums owed the mining companies by their employes for supplies and other items usually furnished miners. A qualified agreement from the mine operators to this proposition precipitated further controversy, which continued until cut short by today's action.

TREATIES SIGNED IN WASHINGTON YESTERDAY

Washington, Aug. 17.—Seated about a table in the state department today, five men recorded the final approval of the powers for the treaties drafted by the Arms Conference to end naval competition, terminate the Anglo-Japanese alliance, and sweep away the war clouds that have hovered for decades over the Pacific.

It was an epilogue to the Washington negotiations at which it had been planned to give the place of honor to President Harding, whose call the conference assembled; but instead the formal deposit of ratifications was performed almost without ceremony. Secretary Hughes and his colleagues met in the diplomatic reception room, in the presence of only a handful of spectators, including officials of the department, messengers, and representatives of the press. Ambassador Hanihara acted for Japan and the other powers were represented by the charges of their embassies here, H. G. Chilton for Great Britain, Captain Andre De La Boulaye, for France, and Augusto Rosso, for Italy.

Mr. Hughes sat at the head of the table, with the foreign diplomats facing each other at the sides. Without preliminary, the secretary stated the purpose of the gathering, and added that at a preliminary meeting in his office the ratifications had been examined and found complete. He then held up a paper embodying the American ratification, and placed it in the center of the table.

"I herewith deposit the ratifications of the United States," he said.

The others followed suit, each pronouncing the same formula. Then documents constituting a record of the day and the hour which the treaties became effective were passed from hand to hand for signature.

LOST HER LIFE TRYING TO SAVE HER HUSBAND'S

Fairhaven, Vt., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Fredwick Buehler of Richmond Hill, L. I., one of the three persons drowned yesterday when the gasoline tank on a motor launch on Lake Bomoseen exploded, gave her life in an unsuccessful attempt to save her husband, it became known today when the two bodies were recovered from the waters of the lake.

Mrs. Buehler was a strong swimmer but her husband was unable to swim. When the bodies were found they were locked arm in arm in a position indicating, the medical examiner said, that the wife had been drowned while endeavoring to keep her husband afloat.

SMILINGLY CHANGED HER PLEA TO NOT GUILTY

New York, Aug. 17.—Mrs. Veronica M. Schultz, bride of less than a year, after tearfully pleading guilty in police court today to a charge of embezzling more than $25,000 from the firm by whom she was employed, smilingly changed her plea to not guilty after a conference with her attorney. She smiled confidently as her husband left the court room to arrange bail of $5,000.

Before her arraignment, Mrs. Schultz, according to the police, confessed to tampering with the books of the Hanscom Bakeries, Inc., over a period of three years while in their employ.

PRIESTS HAVE ESCAPED FROM CHINESE BANDITS

Hankow, China, Aug. 18.—(By the A. P.)—The Rev. Michael McHugh and the Rev. Daniel Ward, Catholic priests who were kidnapped Thursday at Tsaoshih by Chinese bandits who looted the town, have escaped, according to advices received here early today. It was said the priests disguised themselves in Chinese clothes and eluded their captors.

MRS HARDING LEFT THE WHITE HOUSE LAST NIGHT

None of the crowds, none of the cheers, none of the excitement and none of the pleasurable anticipation that marked her arrival at the executive mansion on March 4, 1921, attended the departure in the gloom of a rainy night. The contrast was so noticeable that those who accompanied her away were plainly moved, but Mrs. Harding, herself, whatever may have been her inner emotions, walked out of the door, across the portico, and into the waiting automobile as calmly as she has passed through all the succession in trying hours that have been her lot in the last fifteen days.

Mrs. Harding went to "friendship," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McClean, on the edge of Washington. There she expects to stay probably ten days or two weeks before going to Marion to attend to the settlement of the late President's estate.

Although the White House is in readiness for them, President and Mrs. Coolidge do not expect to take up their residence there before the middle of next week.

EAMON DE VALERA REMOVED FROM LIMERICK TO DUBLIN

Dublin, Aug. 17.—Eamon De Valera was removed from Limerick to Dublin under a strong escort today, says the Central News.

Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, replied that the vatican lacked power to intervene officially. The cardinal added that the pope was anxious for a speedy reestablishment of peace in Ireland and hoped that Mr. De Valera would receive an impartial trial.

Y., for Rhode Island authorities in connection with the notorious "wiretapping" swindle at Narragansett Pier last winter, will not be pressed, according to Assistant Attorney Luigi De Pasquale, Dr. Edwin A. Carman, victim of the swindle, informed Mr. De Pasquale by telephone from Mineola, N. Y., today that he will make no formal complaint against Camp.

MYSTERIOUS "DEVIL'S GRIPPE" IN RICHMOND, VA.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 17.—State health officials are centering attention on the mysterious "devil's grippe" epidemic prevailing here and which it is feared will spread to other sections. The assignment of the special squad follows a request sent to Superintendent of State Police Hurley by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Stoeckel.

CONTEST FOR GRAND JURY MINUTES IN THE WARD CASE

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Baffled in their efforts to obtain a copy of the minutes of the grand jury which indicted their client, counsel for Walter S. Ward, confessed slayer of Clarence Peters, ex-sailor of Haverhill, Mass., today sought punishment of Benjamin Simon, special investigator for Attorney General Sherman, and Michael Gilligan, stenographer to the grand jury.

Supreme Court Justice Taylor, before whom application for judgments of contempt of court were brought because of their alleged failure to yield up the minutes, reserved decision. He indicated, however, that Simon and Gilligan could not be punished, since the law gave the attorney general right to the possession of a grand jury's minutes. The attorney general is absent on vacation, and attaches of his office claim to have no knowledge of the whereabouts of the minutes.

Justice Taylor criticized the attorney general's office for its attitude toward the Ward case minutes when he was told that not only Attorney General Sherman, but his chief assistant, Deputy Attorney General Chambers, was away on vacation, and that they might not return before the end of the month.

"One or the other of them should come back," the court said. "The state should keep active. I am satisfied that no undue haste has been displayed on the part of the attorney general's office to comply with the order of the court to permit inspection of the grand jury's minutes."

Allan R. Campbell, of counsel for Ward, was caustic in his attacks on the attorney general's office, declaring that his client, although innocent of any crime, remained in jail unable to press his fight for liberty, while the state ocials were "off vacationing."

He declared Ward already had lost 20 of the 40 days allowed him, from the time of his indictment for first degree murder, until the date set for his trial. No satisfactory reason for withholding the minutes, inspection of which was sought as a first step toward moving for dismissal of the indictment, had been given, he said.

Deputy Attorney General O'Neill retorted that in jail was where Ward belonged, and declared that to permit him to inspect the minutes would seriously prejudice the state's case. The attorney general's office has an application pending for a stay of the order directing disclosure of the minutes to the defense.

500,000 Barrels of Crude Oil Blazing

Has Overflowed Tank and is Spreading Flames on Farm Hillsides Near San Pedro, Cal.

San Pedro, California, Aug. 17.—The half million barrel oil tank of the General Petroleum company here, which caught fire this morning from an explosion believed by company officials to have been caused by static ignition, boiled over tonight and transformed the emergency dykes, hurriedly constructed, into lakes of liquid fire. Unofficial estimates placed the damage to $200,000 to $1,000,000.

The dykes were all that held the blazing fluid from hundreds of homes on the hillside on which it is located, as well as from a 55,000 barrel fuel oil storage tank and a tank of distillate.

Three fire companies from Los Angeles and the San Pedro department were standing by for any emergency. A detachment of soldiers from Fort McArthur are assisting the civil authorities in establishing danger lines.

Despite the suddenness of the explosion and the magnitude of the fire, only one serious injury was reported.

Henry Hendley, 68, watchman, was hemmed in by a wall of flame and barely escaped death when he dashed to safety with his clothes ablaze. He is in the hospital with serious burns.

It is estimated that the fire will continue to burn three days.

DOLLAR DAY IN NORWICH

Norwich merchants will offer today to their local and county-wide patronage the Annual Mid-summer Dollar Day, a day of opportunity for those who visit the Norwich stores. All the advantage that good judgment and care in selection and wise discrimination in buying can afford will be placed at the disposal of the patrons of Norwich merchants. Service is the slogan of the day, expressed in terms of dollar values applied to an unparalleled assortment of bargains for every need and every member of the household.

In their advertisements in The Bulletin, the dollar day merchants pass out the message, "Come and see; and seeing you will be satisfied."

Seven hundred men, working within a stone's throw of the distillate tank, endangered by the sweep of flames as the boiling oil boiled over a second time, kept stolidly at their task of throwing up dykes to stop the blazing stream while on the streets below guards looked at one another and wondered if the dreaded explosion was at hand.

The flames, towering more than 1,500 feet above the tank and reaching out to sea under the lash of a strong southwest wind, soon subsided, however.

MUST FACE CHARGE OF TRANSPORTING ALCOHOL

New Haven, Aug. 1.—Federal Judge E. S. Thomas has declined to interpose in the case of Daniel Lawlor, Henry Coblo or Coppola and Louis Torrella, of this city, now in Hartford county jail under $10,000 bonds on a charge of attempting to transport alcohol by having writs of habeas corpus served on State's Attorney Hugh Alcorn and High Sheriff Gabb to give reason why the men are detained in excessive bail.

In Hartford today counsel argued the matter before Judge Marvin who reserved decision. State's Attorney Alcorn opposed reduction of bail, claiming the men were members of a gang of rum runners. The men with three others from Springfield, Mass., were arrested when a truck with a load of alcohol was seized in Suffield a few days ago. The driver of the truck asserted that he was to deliver part of the load when men called for it and the officers waited until six men showed up. The New Haven men were of the party, and in the town court there they were ordered to furnish $10,000 bail or go to jail.

ONLY VENEER OF THE WALL STREET SCANDAL THUS FAR

Startling Disclosures Made in the Confession of Brokers Fuller and McGee May Become Public Next Week—Prosecutors Assert the Names and Deals Will Send a Shudder Through Wall Street—Records of the Business Were Thrown Into a Sewer by Attorney.

New York, Aug. 17—Penetrating the ever-deepening maze of evidence concerning the $6,000,000,000 failure of E. M. Fuller & Co., federal officials today made the first of a series of startling disclosures culled from the confessions of Edward M. Fuller and W. Frank McGee, partners in the bucket shop brokerage through with 4,000 customers lost their investments.

Developments of the day included publication of the bankrupts' sworn statements that records of the business had been thrown into a sewer by their attorneys, William J. Fallon and Eugene F. McGee.

Fuller told his whole story before the federal grand jury which has already indicted him, his partner and their two lawyers. Their attorneys, Fallon and Eugene F. McGee, were served by Carl Austrian, attorney for the referee in bankruptcy, with summons to appear before Federal Judge Goddard next Tuesday to show cause why they should not be imprisoned indefinitely for contempt of court, as their broker clients have been.

Fallon, also indicted for attempted bribery in another bucketshop trial, failed to answer summons to appear before Referee Olney in the Dillon & Co. brokerage bankruptcy case, and steps were taken to have him brought before Judge Goddard to defend himself in another contempt proceeding.

W. F. McGee, twice a witness before the grand jury, was summoned by U. S. Attorney Hayward last night from the secret prison where he and Fuller have been imprisoned since they were removed from Ludlow street jail and then from Governor's Island, and grilled from 8 o'clock until after midnight.

The contempt of action started by Mr. Austrian was based on affidavits signed by Fuller, his partner McGee, and Ernest Eidlets, once a chauffeur for King George of Great Britain and more recently an investigator for Fallon and McGee, the attorneys.

Only a slice of the Fuller-McGee confession was contained in the affadavits, however. Their complete confession, which prosecutors assert lays bare names and deals that will send a shudder through Wall street is expected to become public early next week, when additional indictments will be handed down by the grand jury.

Fuller clears up some of the mystery surrounding the missing books, records and checks of the bankrupt business in an affidavit dated August 14. All were in the offices of Fallon and McGee from April 17 to May 5, it was set forth, including the noted "Link folder" record of transactions of Frederick Link of Westmoreland, Tenn., principal witness against the brokers in a case tried three times in state courts before the brokers pleaded guilty to bucketshopping.

On May 5, says Fuller's testimony, all the documents but the Link folder were removed at Fallon's direction from the attorney's office to the adjoining office of Joseph M. Shalleck. Fuller averred that on the same day Fallon, with McGee's consent, saw that parts of the Link folder were torn up and thrown into a lavatory near the offices. The remainder of the folder was destroyed by Fallon said Fuller's affadavit.

Fuller's statement was corroborated in the affadavit of his partner, McGee adding the information that he had destroyed the first part of the Link folder on advice of his counsel, Fallon & McGee.

Eidlets signed an affidavit bearing out the testimony of the brokers and placing responsibility for disappearance of the records upon the shoulders of his former employers.

It was learned that the records transported from the office of Fallon & McGee to that of Joseph Shalleck were placed in a safe there. Whether these were included in the documents surreptitiously returned to Judge Goddard has not been disclosed. It was considered significant, however, that Benjamin Salleck, brother of Joseph and the commissioner of deeds before whom Fallon swore on April 24 that all the bankrupts' records were in the hands of the broker partners, was a witness before the grand jury today as was Fuller.

FIGHTING "CLEARING HOUSE LOTTERIES"

Boston, Aug. 17.—In an avowed attempt to crush out the "clearing house lotteries" in New England, police and federal and express company agents today raided an office on Causeway street in the North End, arrested Max Lubets of Salem, and seized 50,000 lottery tickets. Lists with the names of 3,000 subscribers and the names of 61 sub-stations in Greater Boston and 238 in other New England centers were confiscated.

Lubets was charged with setting up and promoting a lottery. Agents said that many other arrests here and throughout New England were expected.

According to the police the alleged lottery is based on the daily balances of the New York Clearing House. Each subscriber pays in sixty cents a week and the prizes run from $100 to $500 daily, with a "double bonus." This bonus means that once a month the major prize is doubled.

Today's raid was declared to be the result of more than a month of investigating by federal authorities.

HAVE BEEN FLEECING ILLITERATE FOREIGNERS

Hartford, Aug. 17.—Extensive operations among the more illiterate foreigners, particularly Italians, in the larger cities of Connecticut, of a group representing themselves as the officers of an alleged national beneficiary, fraternal organization, were bared by the state insurance department, working in co-operation with the state police, when a conviction under Section 4229 of the insurance laws of Connecticut, was secured in Waterbury today against John M. Magitti, vice president of the National Order of America.

The organization, incorporated in New Jersey under the law of 1898, works in Connecticut through nationalistic societies, among foreigners of the non-English-speaking kind; collections being made through solicitors. In September 1922, an application for a charter to do business in Connecticut was refused by the state department until such time as radical changes should be made in its charter.

Berlin, Aug. 17.—(By the A. Reviewing the situation the national Zeitung says, in view of the fact that astronomers calculate the number of visible stars at only 1,500,000,000.

FORMER IMMIGRATION COMMISSIONER ARRAIGNED

New York, Aug. 17.—Immigration Commissioner Curran today turned on Frederick A. Wallis, one of his predecessors in the post, who has joined with British Ambassador Geddes in criticising conditions at the immigration gateway to America and accused him for responsibility for many of the conditions against which Ambassador Geddes complained in a report to his government.

Toward the end of Mr. Tod's tenure of office, he declared, most of the things against which Ambassador Geddes complained had been corrected, and the work of improving conditions has been carried forward under his own administration, Commissioner Curran said.

Mr. Wallis, now Commissioner of the City Department of Correction was said at his offices today to be out of the city.

Too busy to blow it, the foreman tossed it to Miss Cerrello, who was promptly knocked down with a chair wielded by one of the callers. Terranelli was stabbed when he ran to her assistance.

The intruders fled before police arrived, but three men later were arrested and charged with felonious assault. They said they were Joseph Amasous, Abraham Cohen, and Salvatore Jessoress.

New London, Aug. 17.—Walter O'Neill, alias Thomas Brady, under arrest in Boston on charges of forgery, uttering and larceny and who is wanted by the New London authorities for passing a worthless check on Leader Miller, a Bank street tailor, several months ago, will spend many months in jail. When O'Neill has concluded the sentence imposed by the superior court at Boston, he will be brought back to New London and tried for forgery. If he is convicted, as he undoubtedly will be, O'Neill will receive another sentence and upon its termination he will be held for the police of New Haven, where he is also wanted on the charge of forgery. With conviction staring O'Neill in the face on the three charges against him it is probable that he will serve anywhere from three to five years in prison. O'Neill will be tried in Boston the latter part of this month or early in September.

A very serious form of treatment is hinted at. Mrs. Gammons was in bed this morning when an officer went after her to insure her appearance in court. She was in a state bordering on hysteria this morning and wept and expostulated at intervals. The court could not go on with the case in the absence of the child, so the prosecutor asked that the case go over for a few days, and it was continued to Monday. The man is Clarence Drury, and he says he came here on a barge from which he was discharged, but without his wages. He claims to have served in the navy and to have honorable discharge papers from that branch of the service. POETRY

Out in the wide, wide spaces,
Out where the men are men,
Out where they shave their faces,
Not daily, but now and then,
They talk with a touch of pity
Concerning the luckless guys
Who live in the crowded city,
And have hopeless and hollow eyes.

Out where they wear no lacquer,
And are proud to be rough and strong,
Out where they "chaw tubbacker,"
Where the weeks and the months are long,
They speak of the city dweller
As a crab and a weakling, too,
And they pity the "poor, soft feller,"
Or, at least, they pretend they do.

Out where no wheels are humming,
Where the wild buck leaps the crag,
Out where they have no plumbing,
Out where men's trousers sag,
They boast of their carefree habits,
And they pity the city dudes
Who tremble like frightened rabbits
When a regular man intrudes.

Out where they brag so loudly
And claim to be satisfied,
Out where they strut so proudly,
Where the spaces are open, wide,
They are hoping, in secret, daily,
As their lean dads hoped before,
To flock to the cities gayly,
And return from the same no more.

LOVE CAME BACK AT FALL O' DEW

Love came back at fall o' dew,
Playing his old part;
But I had a word or two
That would break his heart.

"He who comes at candlelight,
That should come before,
Must betake him to the night
From a barred door."

This the word that made us part
In the fall o' dew;
This the word that broke his heart—
Yet it broke mine, too.

—Lizette Woodworth Reese.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Second Child—That's nothing, my mamma is a kleptomaniac. She has such a beautiful collection that they wanted it at the police station.—New Haven Register.

"Can I be of any assistance?" asked the sympathetic motorist of a man who was looking unutterable thoughts at a disabled car.

"How is your vocabulary?"

"I'm a minister, sir."

"Drive on"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"But do you think I'm solid with her?"

"Well, er—that is, I believe she thinks that you are very solid."

Tom—Harry ate something that poisoned him.

Dick—Croquette?

"Not yet, but he's very ill."—Texas Scalper.

Pauline—Why do you object to Harold? He gets a good salary as a salesman and is a poet to boot.

Pauline's Pop—Very well. I'll see that it's done.—St. Louis Star.

"John, John!" whispered a congressman's wife. "Wake up! I'm sure there are robbers in the house."

"Robbers in the house?" he muttered sleepily. "Absolutely preposterous. There may be robbers in the senate, Mary, but not in the house. Absurd!"—National Republican.

The road to the Diamond mountains of Korea is a hard one. Yet thousands of pilgrims each year climb to their summits. In deep depressions in the granite peaks are pools of water—sacred water, with magic virtues. He who drinks it is protected is protected against sickness and evil. He who washes in it is cleansed of moral impurities as well as stains of travel. In some of the pools still linger the terrible dragons of olden times. So the Buddhist monks say: for in Korea the austere faith of Gautama is embroidered with the imaginings of the people.—Detroit News.

PLENTY OF ACTION EXPECTED IN GAMES ON LOCAL FIELDS THIS WEEK

There will be plenty of action for the most rabid baseball fan in this locality during the week end if reports from the various teams can be depended upon. The fast games are scheduled for the week-end, two today and one on Sunday. The games for today are the J. B. Martin team vs. the Pioneers of Groton at the J. B. Martin diamond and the Riverview Team against the fast Besse-Leland team of New Britain at the State Hospital. The game for Sunday will be Taftville vs. The New London Independents at the J. B. Martin diamond. All three of these games will furnish plenty of excitement for the followers of the national pastime.

At the State Hospital

The attraction at the State Hospital is bound to be a real battle as the Besse-Leland team is on a par with the Corbin Red Sox, and in fact, is slated for a series with the Corbin team for the baseball industrial title of New Britain. The Corbin Red Sox fell victims to the Riverview club twice this season and it is expected that the Besse-Leland team will be another New Britain team to be conquered. The battery for the visitors will be Hein and Noonan. Hein is a smoke ball artist with plenty of stuff and is rated along with Berg and other leading semi-pros of the state. Noonan was formerly with the Hartford Eastern league team and is a peppy backstop with a good head and throwing arm.

The New Britain team is said to be one of the hardest hitting aggregations on the road today and West must have his old left soup bone in perfect condition to keep the hits scattered.

The Hospital team will use the same lineup that has beaten the Red Sox in the series and also Taftville.

At the J. B. Martin Diamond

When the Pioneers of Groton step on the field this afternoon at the J. B. Martin diamond the fans will see one of the fastest teams in this section of the state. The Pioneers, with Henry or Lee in the box, have made an excellent record during the season having won 12 out of 15 games. The Martin team is pinning its hopes on Lemieux to turn in another victory.

The Martin team has been playing good ball and will put up a good exhibition this afternoon against a fast team. The J. B. Martin ground is one of the best of the local fields and is ideally located with plenty of shade and a good grandstand.

The Game For Sunday

Taftville clashes with the New London Independents on Sunday at the J. B. Martin diamond in the third game of the series. Both teams have one game to its credit and the game Sunday will be the deciding conflict. Mike Corbin will oppose Joe Cranka in this game and it is expected to be another battle between youth and age with the advantage with youth. The lineups for the two teams will be as follows:

Taftville—Belair c; Morin p; Cardia 1b; Jack Murphy 2b; Liberty ss; S. Murphy 3b; Gaudette lf; Jarvis cf; Jim Murphy rf.

The game will be called at three o'clock.

AUSTRALIANS WIN RIGHT TO MEET AMERICANS

Longwood Cricket Club, Brookline, Mass., Aug. 17—(By the A. P.)—Australia will meet the United States this year as last in the challenge round of competition for the Davis cup, the emblem of supremacy in lawn tennis, as the result of the feat of two of the stars from the "land down under" in vanquishing the representatives of France in two singles and one doubles match yesterday and today.

Struggling gamely to keep the tricolor flying in the international series, the French schoolboy champion, Rene Lascoste, and the veteran Jacques Brugnon forced the strong and steady Australian combination of J. O. Anderson and J. B. Hawkes to five sets before they were subdued by the score of 6-8, 6-2, 6-3, 6-8, 9-7.

Although the Australians have now won the series the two singles matches will be played, when it is expected Anderson will meet Brugnon and Hawkes will play Lacoste.

New York, Aug. 17—Cincinnati waged an uphill fight here today and defeated New York in eleven innings 5 to 4. Burns, formerly of the Giants, clinched the game when he hit a home run with two out in the eleventh. Donohue was stung for four runs in the first two innings, but pitched brilliantly after that. His hitting also was responsible for the game going into extra innings, as he hit a home run in the fifth with Caveney on base. Ryan, who succeeded Bentley, did well until the eleventh, when Burns hit for the circuit. It was only Ryan's second defeat of the year. Score:

FIFTY-EIGHT BASEBALLS THROWN OUT OF GAME

St. Louis, Aug. 17—It cost the St. Louis Americans $116 in baseballs to allow Dave Danforth to pitch against New York yesterday, as the umpires threw 58 balls out of the game, it was stated today. Danforth tossed a number of balls to the umpires himself, so as to avoid any suspicion that he might be "doctoring" the ball.

Danforth recently was suspended for alleged tampering with a ball in a game at Philadelphia.

MRS. MALLORY AND MISS WILLS MEET FINALS FOR NATIONAL TENNIS TITLE

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 17—(By the A. P.)—For the second successive year, Miss Helen Wills, 17 year old tennis marvel of Berkeley, Cal., will attempt to wrest the national singles championship from Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, of New York, but where a year ago the coast "wonder girl" proved no match for the veteran Norse rival, the brilliancy her game has reached this season prompted critics tonight to the belief that she will give the titleholder one of the hardest struggles of her career, with at least an even chance of triumph.

Today Miss Wills and Mrs. Mallory won decisively in their semi-final matches on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis club, proving conclusively their superiority over an international field of 81 players, the pick of American and British stars, who started play in the tournament last Monday. Miss Wills flashed the most spectacular game she has shown all week to crush Miss Eleanor Goss, of New York, 6-4, 6-0. While Mrs. Mallory brushed aside Britain's last hope in the singles when she swept to victory over Mrs. R. C. Clayton, 6-4, 6-2.

The national doubles championship will witness an international contest, for the survivors of today's semi-final play were Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. Nancy Covell of England, and the veteran American combination, Miss Goss and Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, of Boston, a former holder of both the national singles and doubles titles.

Both teams gained their final round brackets easily and promise a pretty struggle for honors tomorrow. The British pair disposed of Mrs. Helen G. Lockhorn, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Mrs. Natalie Morris of New York, 6-0, 6-2, while Miss Goss and Mrs. Wightman gave a remarkable exhibition of court strategy in eliminating the youthful combination of Miss Ceres Baker of Orange, N. J., and Miss Lillian Scharman of New York, 6-1, 6-1.

There was little to choose today between the effectiveness of the rival games of Miss Wills and Mrs. Mallory. The sturdy western girl, whose play has been a dazzling feature of the tournament all week, reached even greater heights against Miss Goss than she did yesterday in defeating Miss McKane, the ranking British star.

Miss Wills was faultless in her maneuvering and unerring in her powerful driving game, chasing Miss Goss from side to side as she bombarded the New Yorker's court relentlessly. Frequently the coast girl passed her rival cleanly with smashing drives while on the few occasions when she sought the net her volleys were deadly. Miss Goss was at her best but it was not good enough to check the spectacular attack of her opponent today.

They battled on close to even terms in the first set, Miss Wills gaining an early lead, only to have Miss Goss rally and square the set at four-all on games. But four outs in the ninth game enabled Miss Wills to break through service and she clinched the set on her own service with two placement shots in the next game.

The final set was a walkaway for Miss Wills. Outside of the third game, in which Miss Goss forced the points to deuce three times before yielding on her own service, Miss Wills allowed her rival but five points and always held the upper hand.

The victory for Miss Wills evened her score with Miss Goss, who administered one of the two defeats the western miss has sustained this season when she was victorious in a recent invitation tournament at Seabright, N. J.

Mrs. Mallory also demonstrated that she is at the top of her game in defeating Mrs. Clayton. The champion drove with all her customary power and accuracy and won by the sheer aggressive force of her attack. Mrs. Clayton made a gallant defense, sustaining lengthy rallies with many marvelous returns, but invariably she left an opening for the champion to drive home the winning points or was forced into errors.

After trailing at 1-3 on games in the first set, the British woman rallied, passing Mrs. Mallory with a number of brilliant cross-court shots and squaring the set at four-all. But here Mrs. Mallory called on her reserves to run out the set, acing Mrs. Clayton three times in the ninth game to break through service.

Mrs. Clayton held her own for four games of the last set but then weakened and Mrs. Mallory raced through four straight games to victory.

CALIFORNIANS PERFORM WELL IN NEWPORT TOURNEY

Newport, R. I., Aug. 17—It was a day for California at the Casino Today. Two sons of the west coast, Harvey Snodgrass, of Los Angeles, and Howard Kinsey, of San Francisco, battled their way into the final round of the invitation singles tennis tournament. In the doubles California was also represented in both halves of the doubles by reason of the victory of the Kinsey brothers in one semi-final and the win of C. J. Griffin of San Francisco and S. Howard Voshell in the other.

Vincent Richards, ranked third among the tennis luminaries of the United States, was added to the list of ranking American players eclipsed by Snodgrass, the rising young star from the far west. Richards was out-generalled and beaten by Snodgrass 6-3, 6-2, 1-6, 4-6, 9-7, in a match that lasted two hours.

In the other semi-final match Howard Kinsey defeated Brian I. C. Norton, hard hitting young South African star, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Eight youngsters will face the starter in the first named event. The champion colt of this age so far is St. James. He will carry topheavy weight along with Peter King, 130 pounds, and his most worthy opponents will be H. P. Whitney pair, Klondyke and Swingalong, each carrying 118 pounds.

In the Travers stakes five are named to start. The three leaders are Greentree Stable's brilliant performer Rialto who will be coupled with H. P. Whitney's flagstaff and B. T. Wilson's Wilderness.

ST. ROBERTS WINS FEATURE OF GETAWAY PROGRAM

Toledo, O., Aug. 17. (By the A. P.)—The 2.07 trot, fastest event of the closing day's program of the second and final Grand Circuit racing meet at Fort Miami track was won by St. Roberts, driven by A. B. Willis, which took the second and third miles after losing the first to Walter Sterling and finishing last in the heat. The winner's best time, 2.05 3-4.

My Rosebud, Pop Geer's heavily backed entry, placed in the first heat but was fifth in the next two heats.

The 2.20 trot went to Tom Murphy with Count Bugle, by winning the first and third heats, losing the second to Fred Egan's Lady Sondsman, which was the pacemaker in each attempt. Egan pulled wide in his effort to head County Bugle in the finish of the third.

Cigarette, heavily played favorite, was drawn from the third heat of the 2.14 pace after losing only to Little George in the first mile and trailing ninth in the second. Egan declaring himself afraid to drive her and after juggling the seat with Seppalin, the judges finally put Palin in the sulky. There was some dispute when Egan first resigned his seat without permission.

The Wayne, 2.02 pace, was cancelled when horsemen failed to enter enough starters to make a race.

HERRERA'S HOMER WINS FOR PONIES IN EIGHTH

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 17—Springfield won over Waterbury here today, 7 to 6, in a hotly contested game. A home run by Herrera in the eighth inning was the deciding run. Simpson put Springfield a run ahead in the seventh with his 39th home run of the season, but the visitors got one tally back in the ninth. Damrau hit his 27th homer of the year and Fortune made his first, the latter tying the count in the fifth. King also hit for the circuit. Anderson collected three hits, one a triple. The score by innings:

Only thirty men faced Hyman and the Hartford side was retired in order in all but three innings. Score by innings:

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 17—After winning ten straight games, Bridgeport showed a reversal of form today and lost to Worcester, 9 to 0. WEEK ENDING AUG. 11th, 1923

THE NEXT BUDGET.

Brigadier General Herbert M. Lord, as director of the budget, proposes to make a tidy little saving of $300,000,000 over the department estimates in the budget figures which he has drawn up as the "tentative maximum amount" that is to be allocated to each department with the approval of the president. His budget total is $1,700,000,000 which does not include either the expenses of the postal service or the sum required for the interest and retirement of the public debt.

As long ago as June 15 this figure was approved by President Harding and it has been accepted by President Coolidge. It is to be expected that some, and perhaps all, of the department heads will protest that they cannot do business on the sums proposed in the budget. General Lord has anticipated this by advising in his circular letter that they "indicate the consequences which would result from the failure to secure the additional amount that you recommend." Department heads will certainly be obliged to make out a good case before the budget authorities and the president will agree to changes in the figures already arrived at.

Congress will also have to be reckoned with by the administration and will possibly furnish more of a problem than the department heads in accomplishing the economy that is imperative. It is regarded as certain that a soldiers' bonus bill will be introduced at the next session. President Harding showed his courage by vetoing the soldiers' bonus bill, but it is the judgment of those familiar with the makeup of the next congress that a bonus will have a better chance of passage over a possible veto in the sixty-eighth congress than in the sixty-seventh. The cutting down of department expenses would be more than nullified by bonus legislation making no provision for raising the required revenue through the equable sales tax which President Harding favored, but of which senators and representatives stood in such deadly fear.

AGREEMENT WITH MEXICO.

Long and difficult negotiations to restore friendly relations between the United States and Mexico have been successfully concluded so that representatives of the two governments have put their signatures to what is practically a complete agreement upon the disputed questions. Recognition for Mexico would seem to be at no great distance away, although President Coolidge must approve what has been done before such recognition can take place.

The two American representatives, Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne, appointees of President Harding, had the task of insistence upon the protection of the capital rights of American investors, without irritating the sensibilities of the Mexicans. In this they seem to have succeeded admirably.

In effect Mexico retires absolutely from the contention that there was to be retroactive application of the Queretaro constitution that went into effect on May 1, 1917, prohibiting alienation of "subsoil rights," oil and mineral. All concessions made before that date are to be respected by the present Mexican government, provided the working under such concessions has begun. The issue as to expropriation of agricultural lands is met by a compromise. Immediate cash payment to American owners will not be insisted upon by the United States, but further expropriation plans will be delayed and eventual settlement of old claims provided for. Adjustment of what Mexico owes us and of what we owe Mexico because of the Vera Cruz occupation and the Pershing invasion of Mexico will be placed in the hands of a mixed claims commission.

Any reasonable ending of the friction with Mexico is to be welcomed. Uncle Sam does not want a neighbor nation with which we cannot have neighborly relations.

EXTRA SESSIONS.

There are always people who seem unable to be quite happy unless congress, or the state legislature, or preferably both, are in session. These will be disappointed by the announcement that President Coolidge as yet sees no need for an extraordinary session of congress. Of course he cannot say that the need may not later arise, for emergencies are always possible. But it is something to have the assurance that there will be no extra session except to deal with an emergency, should there be one. The president evidently feels that the executive department will be able to deal with the threatened strike in the anthracite field. It will probably deal with it more wisely than congress would, if we may judge by experience. With congress in session there would be many foolish demands, to some of which congress, with a presidential election dawning on the horizon, would in all probability yield. Legislation enacted under such conditions would probably be more silly than wise.

There is a feeling, and it seems to prevail rather widely, that the agricultural situation is such as to make an extra session advisable, if not necessary. But the president does not feel that there is here such an emergency as would justify him in calling congress together in advance of the regular session in December. The farmers' woes are due to lack of foreign markets, and to the high prices they pay rather than the low ones they receive.

Many important subjects will have to be dealt with—perhaps even the European situaiton—but not one of them has as yet taken on any of the emergency quality. The people as a whole will be glad to be spared an extra session of congress. President Harding, it will be recalled, had decided that none was needed. This Harding policy President Coolidge seems disposed to make his own.

DE VALERA ARRESTED.

Eamonn De Valera, leader of the irreconcilable republicans in Ireland, could hardly have expected anything else than that the Free State authorities would accept his challenge that "nothing but bullets" would stop him from urging the election of dyed-in-the-wool republicans to parliament. It would have been a sign of weakness in the Dublin government to allow him to shelter himself behind a political campaign, when all his previous efforts had been to embarrass and ruin the Free State government through a campaign of destruction and violence.

For some time past De Valera had ceased to be anything but the leader of a desperate minority which sought to terrorize the majority by deeds of lawlessness and violence. They sought to fasten their will upon the majority of their countrymen in every way but by normal political action. And now that De Valera has signified his intention of confining his intentions to political action, what reason is there to believe that bullets would not soon again be flying between the republicans and the Free Staters?

De Valera's arrest may for the moment embarrass the government. It may be expected to gain for him additional strength in County Clare, now the stronghold of republicanism in the south, and it is as likely as not that he will be elected to parliament from Clare. The government's action, however, will do much to win for it a much-needed reputation for firmness, and in the long run it cannot fail to profit thereby. It is probable that De Valera will remain in arrest until he can no longer be a source of public danger. With his arrest the Free State authorities may reasonably look for the cessation of the irregular resistance that has for so long made an armed camp out of a large part of Ireland.

POOR BUSINESS METHODS.

The former foreign minister of the Argentine Republic has told us some bitter truths about American trade relations with South America.

Speaking at the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, he declared that we had failed in the test during the war emergency, when his country, which had been accustomed to doing business with Europe, turned to the United States.

The merchants of the Platte complained of "deficient packing, non-delivery in the season or dates agreed on, differences in color, quality or weights, lack of tonnage, nonauthorized expenses and many other circumstances." In a month, he said, 600 claims were started against American firms in Argentine courts or handled by attorneys, and some are still pending.

Senor Zeballos has done us a service in talking frankly. His charges are the evident answer of the perennial question, Why don't we trade with South America? We don't because they won't, and small blame to them.

Unfortunately, this country has not England's born belief in the gospel of world commerce. If we had, we would seek to adapt ourselves more plainly and intelligently to the world's commercial demands. It seems strange that American exporters cannot learn the lesson that a satisfied customer is the only assurance of continued trade relations. South America is a logical market for North America's surplus, teeming, rich, eager for the latest and best in everything, from dancing slippers to printing presses. But we will inevitably lose it unless we mend the ways about which the speaker justly complained.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Day by day, in every way, hope deferred helps to make a sick coal bin.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

Isn't there too much interference with the business and social life of the people by government authority? I quite agree with what the democratic state chairman of New York has recently said, who does not accept the views of the governor in the matter; "There is too much attempting to regulate private matters by the two parties. We are suffering from over-regulation. One million men are now being used to regulate other people, who could be more profitably employed at other work." Thousands of them, he goes on to say, are being used to interfere with the business of others. Think of a man who has been trained in a certain business until he knows it from a to z, having to submit to some government official who, possibly, holds his position through the payment of a political debt. As an illustration of this we have only to see the muddle the government control got our railroads into. Let us have less official butting in.

Let us not be too readily influenced by published statements to the effect that the whole British people are back of this rum-truning business. What we want to get at is the truth of the matter, and not this or that parties view. Reputable English speakers in this country, whose word can be relied upon, brand this sort of propoganda as absolutely false. As a matter of fact the British government is chagrined that irresponsible parties should prove to be an annoyance to the organic law of America. Of course prohibition has its pros and cons in England as in America, but the righteousness of the movement has already become quite a ground swell in English life. The fact that Lady Astor's bill prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors to minors passed the House of Commons by a overwhelming majority is a straw indicating the way the wind is blowing. The Nonconformist churches sympathize with the movement, and all Christian Endeavor Societies have pledged themselves to fight the whole rum business.

One of the strongest arguments that I have yet seen for retaining the Volstead Act is given by the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of Illinois at its recent annual convention held in Chicago. The following is a quotation from a resolution adopted at the convention: "let there be no letting down of the bars put up against the liquor traffic. We again indorse the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act. Because the Volstead Act is violated is no reason for its repeal. As a matter of fact, there is not a single principle of liberty in the construction of society which has not had a history extending over centuries of broken charters and violated laws." Now this writer contends— and the facts bear out the contention— that there is no law striking human vices in the face that is not bitterly opposed. Shall we repeal the laws against bribery, murder, theft adultery, the social evil, and all other crimes against human society because they are repeatedly broken? Give the Volstead act a chance.

It is well for us to bear in mind that while the United States as a whole in the decade betwween 1910 and 1920 gained considerably in population there were some arid spots that showed a decline. It is precisely the same with a tree. While its general appearance is one of vigor, and while its trunk and main branches are strong and have grown vigorously you will always see some little twigs that are stunted and some leaves that are worm eaten. The same thing is true with the growth of the United States in the last ten years. You need not travel many miles in any direction to see some little hamlet that was once flourishing, now as dead as a door nail; a little village where there is the ruin of a n old mill; around it a number of tenement houses that were once human inhabitations, but now are dead as Babylon and Ninevah. For instance take Goldfields once a community of 25,000, and recently reduced to a squalid village of 500, entirely destroyed by bootleggers. It was a canker worm that killed it.

Good bye, painted lillies, you are doomed to go because your sisters, who are topnotchers in the social scale have so decreed it. You will miss that artificial bloom for awhile, and so shall we, but both of us will get used to it. What you lose in angelic beauty will be no more than made up in legal tender, for powder and paint even at wholesale prices are expensive luxuries. I think your sisters who stand very high on the social ladder have been a little hard on you, but as long as they have taken a vote on the subject at a properly-called meeting, and desired by a big majority to dispense with powder and paint not only as a beverage but along total abstinence lines. You are expected to obey the law. Of course if society taboos the use of such things you can't afford to use them. For a woman to be out of date is almost as bad as to be dad. But ther is always some compensation for every great loss, and in this case it will be the reappearance of soap and wash rag.

The continent of North America is now so well-known that its resources are at last out of the realms of fiction. Explorers as a rule are not correct historians, and they are still worse as prophets. As a good illustration of this I have in mind British Columbia, a little empire in itself. The adventurers who approached it from the inland side, starting from the great lakes, have described it as one vast, unbroken prairie. While those voyagers who came to it from the sea suposed it to be one wilderness of mountains. In fact neither is true. How little did these pioneers realize what lay just beneath the surface! Last year a single gold producer was paying 50 per cent. dividend on a capital of $5,000,000. This province has only a population of 500,000, but with an area equal to Texas, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio what will it be when it has a combined population equal to their?

Is not our federal congress "between the devil and the deep sea" whatever be its attitude toward any conceivable piece of legislation? There are the "wets" who bitterly criticize even a mild enforcement of the eighteenth amendment as a serious infringment of individual rights. There are the "drys" who are equally divided against congress because prohibition is not more vigorously pushed. Some people are spoiling fine tenor voices in screeching against any proposed legislation in the interest of the farmers. They are robbers anyway. This is said by their brothers who are getting anywhere from $7.00 a day to $15.00 for other kinds of labor. There are bass voices from the country who form the "farm bloc" who insist that the farmer must go under unless aid is given by the government. If our poor congressmen are not between "the devil and the deep sea" pray, tell me who are!

"From sudden death, good Lord, defend us!" may be ancient liturgy but it is a sensible prayer that all of us might reasonably use outside, as well as inside, of church walls. Why is it that it takes some spectacular form of tragedy to arouse in us a feeling of horror. If a Titanic sinks we are simply stunned at the magnitude of the calamity. Then a Lusitania is deliberately torpedoed, and the nation gets tearing mad, shakes its fists and shouts, "let us smash the enemy into smithereens!" Theatres burn and we insist on investigation and fire proof buildings. Galveston is struck by an awful tidal wave and millions are spent on a great sea wall. We are only moved when great numbers are snuffed out of existence at a single stroke. Do we realize that one by one, here, there and yonder, 16,000 lives were taken by the deadly automobile in the United States last year! Only greater caution on the part of those who walk and drive, and better attention to the laws of traffic can lessen this.

GOOD POINTS

"One nice thing about this house," explained the young man from the agent's office, who was showing off the premises, "is that you never have to walk into an unlighted room—note the numerous push buttons on the walls which enable you to light up ahead, as it were, when you go through the house at night!"

"Dear me!" said the prospective tenant shaking her his head, "how unfortunate! There wwere arrays of pushbuttons and switchboards like these in the house wwe are vacating and we have lied in it for four years and even when I press a button I am not quite sure whether it is lighting up the wine cellar in the basement or the little light to the left of the sideboard in the dining room!

"You cannot imagine the disturbance those buttons have caused us, my dear sir! Why, it is only our superb luck which has prevented a total smash of the affair between my daughter Miranda and the young man who began paving the attention a couplecf years ago Nathaniel Winterbloom, who is the sort of young man every parent prays for and rarely gets.

"Miranda would take Nathaniel into the wicker sun parlor, which is tolerably secluded and has a nice, dim light conducive to romance, and just as she would be gazing with trusting girlish innocense directly into Nathaniel's eyes and he was beginning to feel queer my wife said "I would decide to leave the living room and go upstairs for something, first pressing the button which lights the upstairs hall.

"Invariably instead of the upstairs hall my wife would hit the button illuminating the sun parlor with a Roentgen ray glare and there would be a shriek from Miranda and a curse from Nahtaniel.

"But I did press the second!" my wife would retort, trying to put out the sun parlor light and only succeeding in turning on another glare in the dining room, further illuminating the seclusio of the song birds. By the time she got the buttons straightened out Nathaniel would be all upset for the evening and how on earth Miranda ever got him finally to propose I don't know You've got to hand it to that girl!

"Miranda had some trouble herself with those lights. When she would be out at a party she always got home several hours later than she should and took particular pains to creep upstairs quietly. There is not a particle of doubt that she would have made the grade too, had it not been for that (illegible) upper hall light, which she would turn on from the switch by the front door. Reaching the upper hall she would be confronted by the implacable push-button board. She would push one without waking us but usually it merely turned on the light in the guest room and when she shot the button to turn it out I would begin to hear the clicks.

"She would press another and from her repressed mutterings I would judge she had turned on the living room light downstairs. Next would come light way off in the the sun parlor and finally with the sudden glare of a tropic dawn the ceiling light in our bedroom would burst into flame and my wife with a shriek would start up demanding to be saved and asking if our fire insurance papers were safe So it became our duty the next morning to argue with her over her reprehensive hours whereas if we hadn't heard her we could have let it slide and saved our face.

"If we had guests their sufferings were intense. Usually when they retired for the night, after wrestling with the many buttons, they had turned on all the lights downstairs and in the basement and the night watchman would ring us up inquiring if a band of busy burglars were burgling busily and ostentatiously and we'd better get our gun and let him in. It was nearly as bad about the bells and I have just about learned that when a bell like a decrepit sleighbell jangles it is the side door where the ashes go out and who-the-dickens-anyhow is ringing it; if it is a bell that sounds like all the tinware jangling suddenly it is the back delivery door and when a regular fire alarm peals out it is the front door—"

"Well, all the bells in this house sound alike," said the agent soothingly, tactfully sidling away from the subject of push buttons. "So you won't have any trouble whatever, because you'll never know which door it is—that is, I mean—say, come on and let me show you what a dandy basement this house has! Say!"—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Mrs. Edith Wharton, one of the Americans whom France has honored with promotion to the rank of officer in the Legion of Honor, is one of the most successful of contemporary women novelists. Born in New York City, of affluent parentage, Mrs. Wharton enjoyed every advantage of education and travel in her youth. Early familiarity with several foreign languages gave her the basis for wide reading. Her first attempt at authorship was a collection of short stories which appeared in 1899. In 1902 her first long novel, "The Valley of Decision," was published. Since then her pen has produced numerous widely read and much discussed books. During the late war Mrs. Wharton was one of the leading spirits of the American relief work in Paris and it is in recognition of her efforts in this direction that her most recent honor has been bestowed upon her.

Stories That Recall Others

Grandmother as an Example

Nell's grandmother was "fair, fat and more than forty." When little Nell came to her grandmother's home she was pale and thin from illness. She began to gain rapidly and her cheeks were soon round and plump. Every one was much interested and a great deal of teasing resulted.

One day at the table Nell was encouraged to drink her second glass of milk. Looking slyly over the glass she said to her aunt:

"If I get fat—very fat, will I burst?"

"You might," said her aunt.

"Well, look at grandma," said Nell. "Look how fat she is and she hasn't burst yet."

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

HAVE FAITH IN GOD

Dean Farrar tells how an English clergyman visited two fine ships about to sail on their voyage of Arctic discovery into the land of snow and darkness. He found the brave captain full of confidence, and raising his eyes in the cabin he saw there as almost its only ornament an illuminated text, which read, "Have faith in God." "Ah, there," he said, pointing to the text, "there is the true pole."

We like to think of those gallant men carrying with them into the cold and midnight that faith, that hope. It is a faith which will lighten their darkness more than the stars that glitter over the ice. It is a hope which will make the heavens glow with a more vivid splendor than the aurora which flushes the fields of snow.

Take with you that faith, that hope. You, too, may sail hereafter in your little boat of life, into the cold, into the hunger, into the darkness, into the exploration of unknown hopes. Be sober, be vigilant. Have faith in God and in His Son, our Lord, Jesus Christ, and He will give you the victory. We cannot see what is beyond time and earth, but faith gives us confidence in the unseen.

Longfellow with great insight and beauty, compares our earth life to a tarrying in the crypts of some vast cathedral. We can hear the organ above us and the chanting of the choir. As some friend goes up before us we can catch a gleam of light streaming through the door, shall we be afraid when our turn comes to mount the dark, narrow staircase that leads us out of the crypts into the cathedral glory above?

A dying sailor was near his end. A mate said, "Well, how is it with you now?" The dying man replied, with a smile, "The anchor holds! The anchor holds!" God grant that everyone of us may be able to say this!

Faith is the soul's anchor. But the anchor must have something solid on which to hold. Christ is the rock of this anchor Faith cannot itself save us. The anchor cannot hold the ship unless it is flung out. So faith must venture on Christ. We must be fixed in His strength.

FRIGHTFUL MISMANAGEMENT OF MOROSCO HOLDING CO., INC.

New York, Aug. 17.—Evidences of "frightful mismanagement, grave fraud, and the commission of crime," in connection with the affairs of the Morosco Holding Co., Inc., theatrical producers, was reported at a creditors meeting today by John M. Riehle, receiver in equity appointed recently by Federal Judge Winslow.

"Upon taking over the duties devolving upon him, the receiver found a state of chaos existing with respect to the general affairs of the defendant corporation including its financial condition, such as would be really hard to imagine," Receiver Riehle's report said.

"There is conclusive evidence of frightful management, grave fraud, and the commission of crime involved in the company's affairs."

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS SHOW BIG INCREASE

Receipts of the United States internal revenue bureau in Connecticut last month aggregated $1,950,000, an increase of $760,000 over the total of receipts for July, 1922, it was announced yesterday by Chief Deputy Collector Appleton.

A sharp gain in production of firearms in the state and the fact that income tax collections nearly doubled those of the corresponding period a year ago were chiefly responsible for the increase. The figures also reflect an unusually good season in Connecticut in the sale of automobile tubes and accessories, the taxes collected in July on account of such sales amounting to $34,000 as against $40,000 collected in July 1922.

Last month's receipts of the revenue office came from the following souces: Income tax, $600,000; estates, $171,000; cigar, cigarette and tobacco tax, $29,000; documentary stamps, $23,000; telephone and telegraph tax, $825,000; dealers' tax, $25,000; special taxes, manufacturers' excise tax, $36,600; dealers' tax, $25,000; special taxes, $285,000; tax on admissions and dues, $120,000.

Theatre-going in the past month was nearly double that of July 1922. The receipts from admissions and dues in July, 1922, aggregated, $62,000. Of the $825,000 received in manufacturers' excise taxes, $570,000 was on account of the sale of firearms and shells, whereas the taxes on such sales for July a year ago reached only $148,000.

Guests of Artist Hubbell.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Gardner of Central Village were in Norwich Thursday and called on the doctor's old friend on Franklin street, Artist Alfernon S. Hubbell. The old gentleman (86) employs his time in painting in oil as in former years, and he needs no glasses to aid his vision,a very singular thing for one so old. Thursday he was painting from nature a vase of flowers. Another floral sketch was finished, an order from a Massachusetts party. Asked if he got tired or nervous at work he replied: "Oh, no. I never get tired."

Fifty years ago and more Hubbell and Leander Gardner, a brother of the doctor, were students of Emmons, the portrait artist in Norwich whose works are now seen in banks and private residences in town and in other states. Mr. Hubbell is the last one left of the trio mentioned.

FIVE YOUTHS HELD FOR SUPERIOR COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Aug. 17.—In the police court this morning the gang of youths arrested last night in connection with the attempted break at the shoe store of Michael Chojnowski, 338 Main street and the burglary of the Lyon & Ewald hardware store on State street on the night of August 2nd were presented before Judge Victor Prince. Three of the youths, Alexander Olbreys, 161 Main street, Alexander Buscha, 365 Main street and Charles Lawski, 125 North Bank street, were charged with attempt to break and enter, while Gimend Smolensky, of 49 Adelaide street and Robert H. Powers, of 153 Crystal avenue, were charged with burglary. All five were held for trial before the September term of the superior court. Following the arrest of the gang about 1 o'clock this morning when Olbreys, Buscha and Lawski were detected in the act of attempting to force entrance to the Chojnowski store, the trio implicated Smolensky and Powers in the hardware store break. When the other two were arrested at their homes they confessed to the burglary and then related where the plunder, consisting entirely of firearms, was stored. The revolvers, shotguns and rifles were all recovered at the homes of the gang, excepting Buscha, and the revolver found, one of those stolen and which was dropped by Buscha when arrested, is a part of the plunder. At the home of Smolensky an automatic revolver was recovered; at the home of Olbreys a shot gun and two revolvers were found; at Powers' home was recovered a Mauser and Colt revolver, while at the home of Lawski the greater amount of the stolen firearms were recovered, for a shot gun, three rifles and four revolvers were found hidden in various places. Earlier in the night the shoe repairing shop of Joseph Parins, 199 Main street, was entered and $5 was stolen from the cash drawer. When this break was discovered this morning the boys were accused of committing it, and confessed. About the same time that the Parisa burglary was discovered, Constance Ferlelli, proprietor of a barber shop on Hallam street, near the location of the other breaks, discovered that an attempt had been made to enter the place, but the youths denied all connection with the attempted entrance there. Powers and Smolensky in telling of the Lyon & Ewald burglary, stated that they entered the rear of the store after they had observed Patrolman Patrick Sheehan make his rounds. Gaining entrance through a rear window they quickly found the section where the firearms were stored and selecting the greater part of the rifles, they left the store in the same manner that they entered. Then the mysterious part of their operations was revealed. The lads declared that with their heavy and bulky plunder they passed through Golden street to Bank street and then to the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad to go to their homes to secrete their loot without encountering a policeman or anyone that observed the boys carrying their weighty load.

BRASSILL WINS TITLE TO FIRST VAN WICKLE MEDAL

Gerald and James Brassill carried off all honors in the 1923 roque tournament which came to a close Friday night at the local roque courts, Gerald Brassill winning the championship in the first division and James Brassill, the 15 year old brother of the champion winning out in the second division.

To make the honors more complete for the Brassill family and for Norwich in this, the last annual tournament of the eastern division of the American Roque league to be held in this city, Gerald Brassill Friday night defeated George Huot of Chicopee Falls, Mass., thereby winning the coveted first Van Wickle medal. His younger brother, "Jim" as he is known around the courts, won the second Van Wickle medal Thursday night by defeating S. B. Prentice of Providence, holder of the medal for several years.

Brassill clinched the championship Thursday when he defeated Harold Bosworth of New London, one of the most dangerous players in the tournament. Bosworth and Huot had been tied for second place and it semec likely that they would remain so, but an upset came Thursday afternoon when Loue Stockwell of Norwich upset the dope by defeating George Huot by a score of 32 to 30, forcing Huot to third place, Bosworth by defeating both Stockwell and E. L. Robinson of Mansfield, former champion, saving second place.

The play for the championship this year was close until Thursday and both Bosworth and Huot lost their chances for first place by dropping two games. Brassill finished with a perfect score for the tournament and won his third straight championship, an honor held only by one man before him in the national play. Brassill is out for the championship again next year when the annual tournament is played at Philadelphia for by gaining one more first he will have attained honors that will live in roquedom for many years to come. Next year if both Brassill boys go to Philadelphia they must play against each other as both are first division players.

The final games for the first Van-Wickle medal were played Friday night before a large crowd. Huot taking the lead won the first game after a two hour fight. Things looked dark for Brassill at this time as Huot always a dangerous man, needed but one more victory to retain the medal. Getting the balls together early in the second game with the score 2 to 2 against him the champion played a strong game and won easily by a score of 32 to 5.

At this time everything depended on the seventh game, each man having won three. Huot started out strong and had things rolling nicely until nearly half way home when he made a bad shot and allowed Brassill to start.

Things were about even when Brassill missed and Huot mistaking the blue clip for his black one played for the cage when he needed tenth arch chance in the series for a win. Brassill was quick to seize his opportunity and advanced over half way home when he picked up the wrong ball by mistake and it was Huot's play. With six arches to go Huot missed the cage and Brassil facing either a long carom shot or a try for the ninth wicket chose the latter and made it. Gathering the balls he quickly ran his blue ball through the fifteenth arch. Both his blue and red balls were for that arch and playing perfect roque he massed them before the fifteenth wicket and rolled them through. Again playing for a perfect line he sent the red ball in front of the last arch and rolled both through then hit the stack, winning the game and medal with an exhibition of roque not often seen.

Rodman defeated Hiscox, 32-18.

AUDIENCE OF 500 SEES CHILDREN IN PLAYS

Friday evening at the Elizabeth street play center the Elizabeth street and Falls girls' departments, coached by Instructors Byrne and Shershevsky, gave the seventh of the playground dramatics in the form of three plays before an audience of over 500 people.

The Elizabeth street plays were The Little Vegetable Children, which was followed by the entire story of Through the Looking Glass from Alice in Wonderland. Following the Elizabeth street play came the Falls production, called The Red Shoes, which wound up a very interesting program.

Supt. Harold Anson Bruce explained the purpose of the girls' dramatics in the playground department, and introduced Miss Shershevsky and Miss Byrne, who in turn gave a short synopsis of each of the plays that followed.

The first play, a one-act affair, was called The Little Vegetable Children, by the Elizabeth street girls, and represented the various vegetables by children being appropriately costumed. The story was partly pantomime but with speaking parts and made a pretty picture on the school lawn.

The feature play of Elizabeth street was Through the Looking Glass, from Alice in Wonderland, which was well acted, giving the entire book word for word.

Little Miss Lillian Blinderman as Alice took the leading role and was by far the star of the production. She carried something like 30 minutes of straight lines and remembered her part exceptionally well. Others in the cast worthy of special mention were Dorothy Alquist and Ella Buonono. The play was staged in six scenes, which lasted almost an hour.

The third play of the evening was given by the Falls play center when Instructor Eleanor Byrne presented The Red Shoes, a fairy play in four scenes.

The play was admirably acted and Antonette Proteau carried the leading role with much credit as Karen, the piece, with Theresa Petroski as the fairy taking second honors.

The little play lasted something over 25 minutes and was much appreciated by the enthusiastic audience.

In all of the plays given the children were prettily costumed in paper dresses. The following are the casts for the three plays:

The Little Vegetable Children.

EXCEPTIONAL YIELD IN STORRS EGG CONTEST

From the contest statistics of previous years, the production of an average of 170 eggs in the first nine and one-half months marks an exceptional pen of birds. At the present time two pens of White Leghorns, two pens of White Wyandottes and one pen of Rhode Island Reds have already passed this mark. The Barred Rocks are the only breed which have not produced a pen with a record as great as this to date. Last year at this time two pens of White Wyandottes, one pen of Rocks and one pen of White Leghorns had all attained the high average of 170 eggs, leaving the Reds as the only breed which had not put up such a record. It is evident then that this year several pens of Leghorns, Wyandottes and at least one pen of Rhode Island Reds will probably go well over the 200 egg mark for the year. During the present week the pen of White Leghorns from Hollywood Farm, Hollywood, Wash., has doubled its lead over its nearest competitor and with a total of 1,781 eggs to its credit is now 25 eggs ahead of the Pussy Willow White Leghorns from East Moriches, L. I.

Egg production during the 41st week was somewhat lower than at the same time last year. The total yield for the week was 3,413 eggs, making a total to date of 187,021 eggs. From a production of nearly 50 per cent. last week there has been a drop to 45.1 per cent. during the present week. This is a normal drop at this time of year and is probably due principally to a drop in the production of the heavy breeds, since so many of these birds are undergoing a period of broodiness. Only one pen of the heavy breeds appears in the four leading pens for the week. The other three high places were captured by Leghorns. In order the best pens for the week were as follows: D. B. Walls, Petaluma, Cal., White Leghorns, 54 eggs; F. M. Johnson, Waldoboro, Me., and Hollywood Farm, Hollywood, Wash., White Leghorns, 50 eggs each; Forest H. Chickner, New Brunswick, N. J., Rhode Island Reds, 49 eggs; Andrew L. Ohr, Wallingford, Conn., and Meadowedge Farm, Cedarhurst, L. I., White Leghorns, 48 eggs each.

An interesting bulletin has been sent to all owners of big orchards in this territory by the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station at New Haven. The purpose of the bulletin is to instruct orchard owners how to check the spread of the apple and horn skeletonizer that is doing great damage to fruit trees in the state. Because of the injury inflicted by the pest the trees are commencing to turn brown and the wood is scaly. Two broods of this caterpillar have already fed on the trees this year and have done great damage. There are three broods hatched every year, so if the third brood is not wiped out of existence still further harm will be done. The brood does not affect properly sprayed trees, but trees that have not been sprayed at all or not thoroughly sprayed, will not bear good fruit this season. The pest is a European insect that first appeared in this state in 1920. Since that time it has rapidly spread all over this state and as far north as Amherst, Mass. In a chart of recommendations contained in the bulletin it says that if the trees are entirely brown, no treatment will help them; if they still contain some of the green foliage they should be immediately sprayed with arsenate of lead, to prevent further injury. One and one-half pounds of the dry pwoder is sufficient for fifty gallons of spray mixture.

Judge and Mrs. Arthur G. Hill are to leave this morning for a trip to Dover, N. H. They will attend a celebration by the residents of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the place. The judge will return here Saturday next.

Two great improvements were made in the business section Friday. The railroad company has had men replace the old planks at the crossing with new ones. This has been an urgent necessity because drivers have been forced to pull over to the side of the crossing in order to avoid the shocks that they got when they went over the old planks. The other improvement was the leveling off of the hummocks between the Dexter block and the Danielson Trust Company. The hummocks were leveled and the holes filled with oil and dirt.

Joseph Norton, of Elmville, was at Narragansett pier Thursday.

Now that the Danielson and Plainfield Gas and Electric Company has made such a substantial reduction in the rates of electricity, it would be another belief to patrons of the company if the gas rates were also lowered.

With the erection of the new memorial chapel in Grove street cemetery, now under process of construction, comes a desire on the part of the trustees of the Putnam Cemetery association to lay out, construct and alter parts of the grounds to be in keeping with the fine buildihg that will soon adorn the plat. There are at present no available funds with which to carry out the plans of the trustees and it is intended soon to try and raise sufficient money to carry out the work by contributions from those interested in the cemetery.

Some time ago additional land was purchased adjoining the old cemetery on the north. This includes a pond, at present nothing more than a mud hole but with the necessary funds it may be walled in and made a beauty spot. The grounds about the building will need be made attractive to correspond to the beautiful chapel and there is need of winding roadways. If developed as planned 300 new burial lots will be available as well as locations in the side of sloping ground for six or eight mausoleums. The trustees are soon to set vigorously to work to raise a fund to carry out their plans.

Behind the wheel of the Packard Single-Eight —successor to the Twin-Six—you discover almost at once that new engineering principles have provided a degree of acceleration and deceleration, an effortless flow of power and an ease of control, never before realized in any car.

It is probable that the most remarkable feature of this Packard achievement is the combination of these extreme qualities with economy of maintenance only equalled by the Single-Six—companion car of the Single-Eight.

We invite you to a demonstration ride.

PACKARD

WESTERLY

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Senator from New York, is coming to Westerly Sunday evening at the invitation of the hospital campaign committee to speak in the big Chautauqua tent on the general subject of hospitalization and its connection with the movement for a community hospital in Westerly.

Dr. Copeland was formerly health commissioner of New York City, and his "Talks on Health" have been read in newspapers all over the country. He is nationally known as an authority on health matters. It is regarded as particularly fortunate that Westerly people will have an opportunity of hearing him at this time, when they are in the midst of a movement to provide hospital facilities for themselves.

The principal speaker at the opening dinner of the campaign, held Thursday evening in the State Armory at Westerly, was George Gardiner, leader of the million-dollar Homeopathic hospital campaign in Providence last year. He said in substance:

"If there is anything typically American, it is a hospital campaign carried on as this one is being accomplished among a high type of citizenry, accustomed to successful community effort and with a thorough understanding of the duties and obligations of citizenship.

"All over the country you will find a growing willingness to contribute to causes that are worthy, and the idea is growing that in this respect there is probably no cause so worthy as that of the hospital.

"A hospital is not like a school or water-works or the police department—it is not built or supported by taxation, but always by general popular subscription. This is the only way in which a general hospital for the service of all can be built. It is the right way and it is the American way.

'I think it would be well for everyone of you to realize and to impress upon those you will ask for subscriptions, that no man in any community gets more out of that community than he puts into it. The hospital service of your community will be exactly what your fellow-citizens will make it.

"You are starting on a campaign of humanity—and I want to point out to you particulary that it is for your own fellow-citizens. America has poured forth millions in its generosity to all other nations of the earth, and I think it is only proper now that we begin to think of our own, and to provide for the sick and the suffering and the unfortunate who happen to be in our own country. A hospital is a thing that is near home: it provides for the safety, protection and care of ourselves, our friends and our fellow-citizens."

The following docket was read by Clerk Walter M. Flynn, at the regular session of the Third District court Friday morning in the Westerly court rooms. Civil docket, active list:

Infractions of automobile laws were taken up by Judge Michael J. Turano as follows:

Case of the State, Thomas E. Brown, complainant, vs Salvatore P. Taconnett, 45, in which the operation of a motor vehicle on Beach street was charged and a trolley car was passed on the side open to the receipt and discharge of passengers. Plead, not guilty. In the absence of Town Solicitor John Ferguson, Jr., who is away on a honeymoon trip, Samuel H. Davis, appearing for the defendant asked for the time to file a special plea, granted. Case was continued to Sept. 7th and S. H. Davis became surety in the sum of $100.

In the remaining automobile law violations Special Officer George Madison appeared as acting prosecuting attorney, "giving the facts in the cases."

Karnaghan Siberling, 23, of Middletown, was charged with the operation of a motor vehicle July 29th on Beach street going more than 50 miles per hour. "Passing seven cars in same direction and one in the opposite, cutting in and cutting out." He pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs.

Percival Fraser telephoned he would appear this (Saturday) morning in court.

The company plans to leave the armory soon after 10 o'clock to entrain at the Westerly station of the New Haven road.

A special session of the Stoningten town court, held in the court room in Stonington this (Saturday) morning before Judge William Wilcox, will probably conside the case of an automobile accident which occurred at Hillside avenue, Pawcatuck, Thursday evening.

A special meeting of Westerly town council was held in the council chambers Friday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock. Present were President of the Council Clifford W. Campbell and George B. Utter, Louis Rossi, Charles S. Fowler, Farquhar Smith and Council Clerk Everett E. Whipple. Also given seats about the table was the committee named in the meeting held in the town hall last Tuesday evening to ask of the council that a special town meeting be called to consider highway matters. They were Henry L. Burdick, William Segar and Angelo Cappuccio. Henry L. Burdick for this committee read a petition to the council to call a special financial financial town meeting at once to consider and discuss the best method to be adopted for the formulating of a progressive and otherwise workable plan of highway up-keep and improvement, and to take such action thereon as may be deemed necessary or advisable, to the end that such plan shall be submitted at the next regular financial town meeting in February for the consideration of the taxpayers. Such plan as may be formulated to take into consideration the fact that the town has reached its debt limit and therefore will carry a plan of financing as well as of maintenance and construction of highways.

To make an appropriation of a sum not to exceed five hundred dollars for the defraying of the necessary expense involved in obtaining the data necessary to the formulation of progressive plan of highway upkeep and improvement, such expenditure to be subject to the approval of the town council.

Following the reading, Mr. Burdick said he believed Mr. Leon, the highway engineer, if given the proper authority and leave, would be qualified to make the highway survey, having been so credited by Rhode Island Commissioner Patterson. Mr. Burdick thought under such a plan Westerly would begin to make some showing in five years' time, as it had so taken the state of Rhode Island eight years.

After some consideration as to wording and dates by the councilmen it was:

"Voted that the town clerk of this town be requested to issue his warrant to the town sergeant or one of the constables of this town, directing him to notify and warn all the electors of the town of Westerly to assemble in the town hall of Westerly on the 30th day of August A. D. 1923, at 7.30 p. m., for the purpose of holding a meeting to consider and act upon the propositions as above. Also to decide if the town will make an additional appropriation for the town hall.

It was also voted that Thomas E. Brown have an order on the town for $255.06 for the enforcement of the national prohibition laws.

The use of the town hall was voted for the state convention of the American Legion, without charge, Sept. 7th and 8th.

Before the council adjourned it was voted to hold the September meeting of the council Tuesday, Sept. 4th, instead of the regular Monday, Labor day.

About 6 o'clock Thursday evening a Packard touring car, 332,340 Conn., driven by Matthew Conway and owned by a summer guest at the Hotel Griswold, Eastern Point, collided with a Stevens-Duryea touring car owned and driven by Vincent Faillace of 54 Mechanic street. The collision occurred when the Stevens car came out of Lincoln avenue and the Packard automobile was proceeding toward New London. Although able to proceed under their own power, the left side of the Stevens car was badly smashed and the Packard suffered dents and damaged front fender.

GAMBLING

Is a dangerous and expensive pastime. Did you ever indulge in a game of cards—bet on the races or play the stock market?

If you have done any of these—and many people have, at one time or other,—you probably lost more times than you won.

Don't gamble—particularly on tires. Use the best to be had. If you ride on cheap tires, you take a Chance on being killed, on spoiling a holiday, missing an important engagement, ruining a suit of clothes or your temper.

Grandson.

My Grandser was a fearsome man!
He died before I came;
But I have watched my Granny's face
That withered at his name.

And I have spied the scared gase
And lips as white as chalk
Of slender aunts whose dreams he haunts
With his terrible sailor-talk.

Only my Mother always said
With wistful looks at me—
"His eyes were blue like the eyes of you—
And he ran away to sea!"

Oh, the wild sea-thirst in the blood.
Her rhythm in the heart!
The mighty urge of the tide's surge.
The salty sting and smart!

Of course he fled the dull town
When the magic grew too strong.
A lad will go (but a lassie, no!
She has to bide and long).

He sailed thrice over the round world,
To ports as strange as hell;
A thousand curious things he saw,
A thousand hops befell.

Till he docked at last in the home port.
And married a gentle maid
With a land grace and a flower face,
Whom the sea-wind blew afraid.

Oh, squalls are rough, the combers rough,
And sailors rough as the sea.
But Grandser was as soft as silk
To the daughter on his knee;

Growling he talked of serpents, whales
And mermaids green as waves;
Of tropical girls festooned with pearls;
Of palms and coraline caves;

She did not fear the strange oaths,
Nor the blue fire of his glance,
Nor his callous hand. She could understand,
And so can I, by chance!

My Grandser was a fearsome man,
But a hero to her and me.
If I had a son I know he'd run
Like a brook away to sea!

The Water Mill.

Listen to the water mill
All the livelong day.
How the clicking of the wheel
Wears the hours away.
Languidly the autumn wind
Stirs the greenwood leaves.
From the field the reapers sing
Binding up the sheaves.
And a memory o'er my mind.
As a spell is cast.
Says the mill will never grind
With the water that is past.
Work while yet the daylight shines
Man of thought and will—
Never does the streamlet glide
Unless by the mill.
Truly speaks the proverb old.
With a meaning vast—
The mill will never grind
With the water that is past.

SOCIAL CORNER PICNIC.

Wednesday, Aug. 22.—At Leffingwell Church by the Leffingwell Sisters of the Corner.

These attending are asked to bring something for the dinner.

HER BIT FOR THE CORNER.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I feel I must do my bit to help fill up our page even if it is not as interesting as some of the others' letters.

Romella and Philura had a cottage at the shore for a week and they invited us down one day. Well, we got up real early and packed our bathing suits and an extra dress for the child and away we went. We got off the road once but saw just a little more of the country than we otherwise would. Oh, it was lovely there! We sat on the shady veranda and watched the child play in the water and finally tried it ourselves. Say, it was fine. Philura made a chowder for dinner that certainly hit the right spot. After dinner the men went for clams and after we got home we had steamed clams for supper. Next morning we had steamed clams for breakfast and chowder for dinner. Were they good? I'll say they were.

It was the pleasantest day we have had for a long time.

On that trip I learned what it means to travel too fast for I saw a man just ahead of us turn his car over, injure himself, wife and son. All because he wanted to pass everyone on the road and he had not driven enough to know how to control his machine in an emergency. It may take a little more time to get to our destination, but let us all go at a reasonable rate of speed.

I pity the poor editor who must read all our letters and decide what to print and what to put in the waste basket.

CHEF'S SISTER.

A DAY OF MOURNING.

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: The day was one of sunshine, even though a day of mourning, when the people of this country stopped their activities and sadly offered their last earthly respects to the memory of their dead president, Warren G. Harding, 29th president of these United States.

Through the financial district, the business center of the world, it was as if the silence of midnight prevailed. A few pedestrians wandered through the empty streets. The entrances to the massive buildings were draped in purple and black. From the ends of the bending flagstaffs bands of mourning streamed, while from the tops, sides and entrances of the lofty buildings floated the half-masted Stars and Stripes; and conspicuous on the banks and shipping buildings were the flags of foreign countries alongside those of our own country on the day of the burial of its chief. The Bank of Montreal on Wall Street floated a mammoth English flag side by side with our own.

Along the humbler thoroughfares fluttered the half-masted flags, banked line upon line. At the entrance to the Pennsylvania station on Seventh avenue, swung two huge flags, and on its top another in silent testimony of the nation's grief.

The great cathedrals were filled at an early hour. At 11 o'clock, as the writer entered Old Trinity, there was scarcely a vacant seat. At 11.30 the chimes, which have played on every sad or joyous occasion in the nation's history, played My Faith Looks Up to Thee, Jesus, Lover of My Soul, continuing for half an hour, their silvery tones being the only sound that echoed through the deserted streets, save for the tireless footsteps of those who sought entrance to the cathedral.

At 12 o'clock the choristers and clergy slowly entered the church to the deep organ chords of Chopin's Funeral March, which hushed the melody of the chimes which pealed on their music to the silent multitude, who stood before the closed iron gates and filled Broadway even to the opening of Wall street.

During the service Handel' "Dead March in Saul" was played with the great congregation kneeling, and the closing voluntary was Beethoven's "Funeral March."

Looking out to sea from the edge of the Battery wall, the ocean tinted waves showed no semblance of mourning, but the boats which swung their way outward carried the trailing half-masted symbols of grief, and the outgoing liners bore the silent token across the seas.

Across the bay on Governor's Island, the headquarters of the Eastern war department, could be seen the curling flags. To the right on Ellis Island the flags waved on, and on the distant Jersey shore, through the sunshiny mist, the fluttering flags were dimly seen. The huge statue of Liberty alone stood defiant without an outward touch of mourning.

A glimpse backward over the city, over the shipping district, revealed the tops of buildings grouped with the half-masted flags of many countries mourning alongside our own.

And so the day wore on, even at nightfall, through the gathering dusk Over the starlit sea—the fluttering flags still waved, in silent proof—the greatest proof—of the people's sorrow; then the evening bells took up the burden and mournfully tolled their story of the people's grief over their dead leader and loving friend.

THE LITTLE SPINSTER.

GIVES THREE RECIPES.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters and Brothers: Don't faint, will you, but I have been thinking strongly of late about writing. You know I have spells of being lazy.

Have just been reading of Ethelyn's home-made fireless cooker. Do you know I have one of those old fashioned yellow commodes, one that the cover lifts up, and where the wash bowl and pitcher used to set. I believe I can make two compartments out of it and have the lower part to keep things in, and the drawer also. When I get it finished I'll show it to all who wish to see it.

I wonder how many are canning berries my way. I have plenty of boiling water, sterilize jars, etc., fill up with berries, then put either your can filler or funnel in the jar after having set them in a dish deep enough to cover the tops of jars. Now put your covers in a dish of hot water, then proceed to fill the jars with boiling water through the filler. This is done so no possible water can hit the jars to break them. After you fill the jars with the boiling water seal them up tight; now fill the containers where your jars are, with boiling water; cover this all with old rugs, newspapers, or anything to keep the steam in. Let them set until the next day. Then put them away. I never put sugar to them until I open them in the winter. I never lose any, either. Just try it and report.

Here is a nice green recipe that we like real well: Take equal parts of green peppers, green tomatoes and onions, peel, slice and fry in butter slowly until done. Do not brown them, only cook them until they are tender and gradually add butter (and salt) to keep them from sticking, as they will when the water gets out of the tomatoes. This is a nice dish to eat with meats.

To can summer squash, I cook it nearly done, mash, put in sterilized jars, half clamp the lid, put in steamer and boil one or two hours. Seal and put away. Very nice in the winter.

Well, I guess I've talked long enough. Perhaps this will awaken some other writers.

WANTS CORNER KEPT UP

Dear Members of The Corner: I didn't know as I would have a chance to write again, for you know that I looked The Bulletin over two or three times in a hurry to find what the sisters had to say, and at last I saw a very few letters. I was beginning to feel somewhat disappointed in not finding any more letters. I didn't know but the page had gone, that is why I took the time in the midst of my household duties to write a line. I should feel very bad if I didn't see the page any more. Am in hopes to see more letters this week and I will promise I will try to do my share, so sisters let's go and work with a will and find time to write a little.

Well, the summer is passing most too quickly, soon it will be cooler weather. I spent a very pleasant day last week Thursday with my son and family at Oakland Beach. Took our lunch and ate it in the shade in the park. It tasted very nice. After we ate our lunch we walked around and saw the sights. It does anyone a lot of good to get away for a day and forget the cares at home, for we should remember that there will be lots of work to do after we are gone.

I am canning green beans and I can them just about the same as I do berries, only I boil the beans three hours, so you see it is a busy time, but don't forget to keep the heart singing all the while.

As my letter is getting somewhat long, will close with good luck to the dear old Corner.

RURAL AUNTY.

SUGGESTS VACATION LETTERS.

Dear Editor and Sisters: I think by the looks of The Corner page last Saturday that all the sisters were having a vacation. If so, they might send in their letters giving a description of the place and tell about the good times they are having. It would be interesting for the ones that stay at home to read about. I think it would be very interesting reading. More so than a lot of advertisements.

A few weeks ago one of the sisters wrote about taking out iodine stains. I found out a very simple way of taking it out of any cotton material that will wash. Spread the material over a bowl or dish and pour boiling water over the stain and it will disappear as if by magic. Then wash in the usual way.

If it is not too late I want to thank the sisters that remembered me with such kind birthday thoughts. Neela, Joan, Beatrix, Red Clover, Scottie and last, but not least, Student. Of course I will forgive you! Who wouldn't, with such an offering? I began to think you were sick after the picnic at Versailles. Some warm but everybody had such a nice time.

Felix: Where art thou? I don't think you are doing your duty, as one of the sisters said, "Your name must appear once a month on the Social Corner page." I hope to see your name soon with others that would look nice in print.

I have got that suit made and am waiting for a chance to wear it.

Best wishes to The Corner.

THANKS FOR CARD SHOWER.

Dear Social Corner Friends: First I want to thank all who sent me cards from Ocean Beach. I surely had a shower all right, and again I thank you.

Huldy: I was so glad to have a chance to see you, and also your brother, at your nice little cottage at Pleasure Beach.

Harlith: Was glad I had a minute to see you all. I got lost coming away. I was in a hurry and took the wrong road. Got over to Crescent Beach and saw some of your folks there.

Maine Lover: Was sorry indeed to hear from Huldy such dreadful news; trust all is coming nicely.

I had a nice visit from Mr. and Mrs. Clio, also Jennie and Lavender. Come again, and all others who can come. Olga and Lonesome Pine and a host of others, can't you come this way and hunt me up. Easy to find. Bond street runs from Maple avenue to Wethersfield avenue.

Roxanna W.: Saw you Sunday reading on the veranda. How I did want to stop but it was late and Hartford a good way off.

Get busy, sisters, and have more letters. Tell us about your trips.

Sincerely,

OLIVE.

A TALK ON PROGRESS.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: In the march of progress we often hear the remarks nowadays that the good old social life in the rural communities has passed away, that the days of our grandparents there was a neighborly feeling, a spirit to help one another in times of sickness and need and that friendly visits were more frequent than they are today. That the old time husking parties, apple paring bees, quilting and barn raising brought all together on a common level and that personal liberties were greater then than they are now.

We see things from different viewpoints as the years pass. What appears to be right at the present time may seem all wrong in the future. The cider mug which was regarded as essential in those old days at their social functions is relegated to the past now because we have learned by experience of its dangerous effects. In those days there was a great deal of hard physical labor to perform and it engrossed so much of their time that there was but little left for the education and improvement of one's self and no doubt they did greatly enjoy the getting together at their social events and it has been passed down as a race thought, and some still think, the old days best. That they were good old days is true. Contentment and happiness were found in many homes. They did the best they knew. God bless the dear fathers and mothers who toiled early and late, verily they had their reward, according to what their hearts cherished. They were the building blocks in our evolutionary life the same as we are today. But do we want to step into their shoes, so to speak, and do as they did? Do we want to live their lives? Should we enjoy it as much as they did? Could we fill their places in the same spirit? I, for one, answer No. In progress we must never look back longingly to the good old days gone by. We must wake up and in our own lives aim for the goal ahead. The two greatest evils we have to overcome are ignorance and selfishness. There never has been a time when the opportunities for education in the rural places have been as good as they are today for all ages.

Beginning with the boys' and girls' clubs a foundation is laid, the effect of which will be far reaching in building up a prosperous farming business for the future. The farm bureau work, the home economic meetings, the farmers' institutes, etc., bring us together in an order of social life with its uplifting educational benefits and to remain ignorant in these days and look backward to better times points to laziness or stagnation and not to progress.

But in gaining an education from the objective side of life we must not forget the subjective or inner life. We must not let selfishness rule our lives. Let our dealings with our fellowmen be honest and just. We should keep in the line of progress and not be a dead weight in the onward march.

But above all, let each one of us do our own thinking, for by our thoughts and words we shall be known and our influences for good or evil will be exerted on those with whom we come in contact.

IDEAL DAY FOR PICNIC.

Dear Corner Friends: We had an ideal day for the picnic. It could not have been better if made to order. I am staying at Pleasure Beach for awhile. I had the opportunity of meeting the Corner Sisters at Ocean Beach. There was a big bus load from Willimantic and vicinity and a few came by auto and trolley.

It seemed good to see Trottie and Spring Chicken as they, like myself, live too far away to attend the socials very often.

I arrived with a big appetite and intended to join the little girl in buying a dinner, but Dom Pedro very kindly invited us to share her delicious lunch and I fear that we did not leave enough for her supper.

A few of the sisters went in bathing and two of the children kept the bus waiting while they took off the shoes and stockings and waded, but they forgot to go onto the kiddie beach where the small children go.

I think the hot dog man would be glad to see them every day.

Well, the day ended all too soon, but we can all store away a very pleasant memory of a perfect day.

Wandering Jew: Where did you all disappear to so quickly.

Today I received a short call from Olive, who said she was delighted with the shower of cards.

Greetings to all.

HULDY.

WANTS SISTERS TO WRITE.

Dear Cornerites: First, I want to think the editor for the yellow slip. I was greatly surprised to receive it. When I picked up The Bulletin Saturday as usual to read the Corner page, I looked twice before I could see it and exclaimed, "That is too bad."

No doubt many are busy canning vegetables, berries, etc., others away on their vacation, others, like myself, putting off until another week. Let's wake up before we are crowded off the page altogether. It really made me rather homesick to read only six letters. Lucy Acorn, why so silent? U. C. B.: Enjoyed what little I had of your picnic. "Better late than never." Everyone seemed to have a pleasant time. You surely did your part. Must say Wurdy-Belle rather "shocked" me. Hope she will be more on her dignity before she goes to camp at Willimantic.

To those that are touring the country in their autos. Those at beaches, mountains, etc., why not write and tell the rest all about it. It is almost as good to others as the reality. So far have been kept rather close at home.

Betsy Trotwood: If you take that trip you expect to, please write us about it. It will be just fine.

FINDS COURTESY IN NEW YORK

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: In last week's issue the sentiment provided over the Corner letters, "Courtesy oils the wheels of life," appeals to me in duplicate form of other words, namely, All this old world needs is the art of being kind. There seems no place where we appreciate courtesy and kindness any greater than when we are a stranger and alone in a strange city. In my last week's letter, I mentioned some of the observances which came to my attention while on my recent trip to New York city. In this chapter I will refer to some experiences that will coincide with the subject of "courtesy." I was visiting a lady friend in Brooklyn, but unavoidably I had to go alone four different times into greater New York. Each trip was by subway. For a stranger, it is very difficult to understand the "guards" or "conductors" as they call out the names of the stations and the stops are so shore and on goes the train. For fear I should go by the station where I wanted to get off, which was 34 street, I quietly asked a young lady, who sat near me, if she could let me know when we reached there. "Certainly, I am going to get off there myself," she replied. When we arrived at 34 street I came out the car with her, and thanked her for her kindness. She smiled very pleasantly and said, "It is a pleasure for me to help you, and I feel sorry for strangers who are trying to find their way around in a big city." As I parted from her, I felt a gratitude for her assistance, thought it did not cost her anything, but a little attention, it meant much to me. If everybody was as willing to help some one else, as she was it would promote a relief from anxiety. On another occasion I entered the subway at Brooklyn and had been instructed to get off at Canal street. I kept my ears open with strictest attention, but I failed to hear this station called, so I staid on the train to the terminal which was Times square. As I alighted from the car I politely asked the guard, "Where is Canal street?" "O, you went by it long ago," he snapped at me. I enquired of another public service man, who was stationed there, for a train to Canal street. He was courteous, and told me to get off at Broadway which was a junction of Canal street. I saw the point at once for my failure which was, that my adviser in the beginning had neglected to tell me that Broadway and Canal street was one station. Another day I ventured to find my way to the Hudson tube trains. By subway I reached Courtland street, New York. At this station I went down another stairs to find a train for Hoboken. I saw three uniformed railroad men standing together idly talking, not busy, I asked one of them. "Where do I take the train for Hoboken?" With an indifferent gesture of the hand he barely answered "over there." There were two cars, unlighted and locked up and had no appearance of starting very soon. In a few minutes in came a train, all lighted and many passengers inside, also a sign on one of the cars, "Hoboken Local," but I dared not step within. Three ladies in blue uniform, had evidently been watching me and one of them came to me and kindly asked, "Lady, what train are you looking for?" "Hoboken," I said. "This is your train." I thanked her, and noticed a blue ribbon across her bonnet, "Travelers' Aid" in white letters. She was courteous and helpful. In the the Grand Central station in New York I saw a lady enquire at the information desk, and the reply was "I'm busy." This same lady approached a well dressed gentlemanly looking man's the same question, but he neither looked at her or spoke to her. And so it goes—it is all in the makeup of the individual. There are none of us, but sometimes need a helping hand, and if it's given to us cheerfully how much more it counts. If on the contrary, ignored or snubbed, how it hurts our feelings. If people would consider when asked a simple favor, "put yourself in their place," it might exchange the frown for a smile, for all this old world needs is the art of being kind.

Best wishes to all,

JENNIE.

ATTENDED MEETING

Dear Cornerites: This is a season when one's time and mind is taxed to the utmost as is apparent by the lack of letters on our page. I, too, have been lax in putting on my thinking cap and contributing to the support of this page, but continuous pressing duties have prevented. But today I have run away from it all and even thus I am improving my time writing as I am sailing on the deep blue sea to Block Island. I am sure the readers were grateful to Neighbor Everready for her account of some of the social times she had attended. Isn't there some one that will report about the picnic at U. C. E.'s? We would like to know about it. A jolly party from Club No. 1 attended the picnic at Wildwood. It was a typical picnic day dinner was exceedingly enjoyed and served amid such pleasant surroundings, the fragrance from the pine trees and cooling breeze from the lake gave zest to our appetites. Even on that day so filled with pleasure in meeting friends of other days as well as new ones our thoughts were of writers some of whose faces were familiar at our gatherings who had passed on to a better land. We greatly enjoyed the fine program, especially the part the talented elocutionist gave us.

Our outing at Ocean Beach was all that could be desired. Over 30 were from Club No. 1, some coming on the train and some coming in from nearby beaches, where they were staying. A good sized party from Club No. 2 and some local sister, Dom Pedro, Breeze, Brownie, and Lucy Acorn were there. Each one enjoyed the day as suited them best, some went in and enjoyed the bathing, some basked in the sand, some quietly sat and rested and visited, but everybody watched the cute monkey and hand organ man, at hot dogs, buttered popcorn, ice cream cones, etc., etc for themselves and those that were not there. The day was too short as all Social Corner days seem to be, and at night fall we were journeying near home, some wishing we might go again.

We missed Olive so much.

I thank those that sent birthday cards.

Best wishes to all.

THE BEACH PICNIC

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I wonder how you all were after your trip to the beach. I was tired the next day but the good weather and the good time we had made up for all that It was quite a treat to me to meet so many of the club and a pleasure to make the acquaintances of so many new writers. Of the 25 who came in the Willimantic bus, there were a good many strangers to me but that does not count in the Social Corner, for we are all one family and always greet each other like old friends, even if we have never met before. There was no way of making an estimate of the number who responded to the call to the beach, for some came in their own cars, others by trolley, and were scattered all over the place, and as it was a basket picnic they ate their dinners wherever they happened to be. Myself and a few others had ours down on that lovely new dock. I certainly hope there will be another call to the beach when another year has rolled around and all my be able to answer the call.

The Salvation Army had a picnic at the beach that day. There were about 150 children and they did have a good time. It was their second outing there this season and they had everything free, transportation, dinner and ice cream. The Army captain and his wife had plenty of business to look after so many but the children behaved nicely and made no disturbance.

Friday last I attended the Congregational church, and at half past four at the First Baptist. Rev. Mr. Atha from Groton was the speaker. He gave a very interesting sketch of our lamented President's life from boyhood up, and when he referred to the last hour of the President I don't think there were many dry eyes in that large congregation. All business here was suspended and it seemed like Sunday on the streets. It gave everybody such a shock, coming so suddenly, when he was supposed to be out of the danger zone. I don't think there was ever a President so universally mourned as President Harding. My sympathy goes out to the brave widow who is left a-lone in the White House, the new president to the brave widow who is left a-dent's wife having refused to intrude upon her grief. But such is life, we know not when we will go out, what will be our home-coming.

Best wishes for all.

Dom Pedro.

A DELIGHTFUL DAY IN THE COUNTRY

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Primrose and I started on our drive Friday morning, July 8th. I did not dare wait until Saturday, the 28th R. R. birthday. For fear the weather man would give us some bad weather. And he did as it poured in torrents Saturday and we were glad we had gone on Friday in spite of the old saying that Friday is an unlucky day.

Our drive was over the elm shaded road that passes by the largest estates and inns in the town of P.

One inn has an Indian name that sounds good to those that cannot pronounce it.

After a slow and rather a long ride for Primrose; as she seldom travels by "the old one horse shay" as we did that day. We came to the little village of S. W., with tea room and ice cream and half a mile farther we came to another tea room, "Stone Bridge Tea room" and there being Camp Mopia, which means no where, occupied by girls from New York and other cities. We then come to some pine woods that were god for the eyes to dwell on. We had then reached our destination which is a beautiful place in the heart of these same pine wood, owned by a New York lawyer, but not occupied since 1914. A large house of more than 24 rooms and two cottages on the shores of R. L.

The vistas of the lake and the shadows on the grounds are wonderful at Rignet. One would need to see them to realize how beautiful they are.

In intended to look for blueberries, but we were too hot and tired, and the place was too enchanting to leave for a hot berry pt. I plan to go back for them soon.

They were just finishing their lovely new house and getting ready for a wedding Aug. 4.

We had the pleasure of eating our lunch on the very spot where the wedding nuptials are to take place.

I hope it is as fine and fair a day as the day we were there.

The boys of the family are camping there. I quite envy them, as I always want to stay a few days when I am there. I have been for many picnics and hope to go for more.

Although the man of the house said I better look out, I might get shot, the land was posted. I just know he was joking.

Our friend showed us her new house, with porches, both upper and lower, just ideal for resting and sleeping, they are so broad and wide. I told her we would love to come for a week in the near future.

As the clouds were gathering we had to go by two o'clock and on our way passed the boys' camp and drove around the lake to B. P. and watched the bathers.

After a delightful day we came to "Kozy Korner" tea room where we had tea cream in time for Primrose to get her train to home.

LAST ROSE OF SUMMER.

SPENT DAY AT SHORE

Dear Social Corner Friends: The Social Corner has been framed in all kinds of ads but when there are only eight letters and those are used to finish the sporting page it's time I did my bit.

I have wanted so much to attend some of the picnics this summer, most especially did I want to go to Versailles, but the best of reasons prevented.

On a recent fine day I enjoyed a trip to Groton Long Point, Quonchontaug, R. I., Pleasant View, R. I., having nice calls with friends at all these places.

Stopping at a cottage to inquire for an invalid friends at Groton Long Point, imagine my surprise to have the door opened by "Rosa Lee." We were urged to take dinner and finally accepted and a good one it was. Nice fish.

I read in The Bulletin that Bumble Bee has moved to the Tibbitts farm. I am going to try to get some one started to come and see you B. B.

Same as ever that horrid name of BUG.

ASKS FOR OLD SONG

Dear Social Corner Friends. I think it about time some of us got busy on the Corner page will be a thing of the past. If we would only write a letter once in a while it will help.

We miss Blanche and Mandy very much—they were prompt. Some of our writers are very busy, some are at the seashore—some entertaining company. When I see the past two weeks so few letters and we number hundreds seems as though we ought to write. Would like to know if any of the sisters have the words of an old song which begins: "Silently the shades of evening gather 'round my lonely door, silently they bring before me faces I shall see no more." I do not remember the title of the song, but would appreciate it if some one would send it in.

With good wishes to all.

JOAN.

MET SISTERS AT VERSAILLES.

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: I have recently returned from the country to my city home and after all the good things which the country provides at this season and you will understand how much I did enjoy them. also met in Versailles with many Social Corner sisters, at the church, where we met with a fine reception and all the good things to tempt the appetite on the tables, which were very nicely trimmed with our Corner color. We hope at some future time to meet the ladies of Versailles at the Buckingham Memorial. SALOME.

GOSHEN

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Kenyon and Mrs. Ralph Kenyon were visitors in Rhode Island Tuesday.

A very pleasing tableau was given at the meeting of Goshen Community club Wednesday evening. Games were also enjoyed, as was the old Virginia reel.

People from Goshen who have returned from a 600 mile trip to Niagara Falls report dusty roads and a severe drouth through New York state.

Rev. Charles W. Hanna of Bozrah in exchange gave a very interesting sermon here Sunday. Rev. Mr. Hanna, all regret to learn, is soon to conclude his pastorate in Bozrah and is to move to Litchfield.

George Chappell is ill at St. Joseph's hospital, Willimantic.

NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Prostenites stepped out to take the lead in street lighting and elected committees to see that proper lighting of streets took place, thus getting the jump on Norwich back in 1873.

Plans were also being talked over to provide "dunsmules" for the street railroads.

Items for the week taken in part from the Bulletin of that year are as follows:

Monday, August 11, 1873—A walking match was held last evening when a pedestrian was covered a bet of $5 that he could not walk from the corner of the Wauregan House to the Hyde Tavern in one hour. The pedestrian won his bet by making the distance in the fast time of 55minutes.

About 5000 tons of coal are at the wharves in this city awaiting distribution and house owners are pleased that a winters supply is at hand.

Word has been received from New Bedford that the Norwich Sailing club has arrived there from Oak Bluff. The local boys enjoyed a meal at the Parker House, and today leave for Rocky Point.

Norwich people read with interest the news that Norwalk, with 12,000 inhabitants has neither a fire department nor a fire engine.

At the school meeting of the Falls District held last night, William H. Armstrong was re-elected clerk by a unanimous vote.

Tuesday, August 12, 1873—At the meeting of the court of common council last evening it was voted to provide better fire protection for Jail Hill. Other important fire matters were taken up and it was voted to buy 1,000 feet of hose and several fire fighting utensils to be distributed among the various companies.

A barrel of ale which had just been put in the wagon of a Water street dealer, remonstrated against the treatment it had received, by blowing its own head off and up into the air some fifty feet, throwing the contents in all directions. Many "drys" in the city had their first taste of liquor as it was sprayed in all directions and soaked them down.

It is getting to be a custom with certain women in the city to do their own shopping and in order to hide the fact carry the bundles home under their shawls in such a fashion that people would believe they were carrying a baby in their arms. The plan works fine every day but Fridays and on this day the tail of a fish is sometimes seen sticking out from the bundle making it look as though they were carrying Mermaids.

Wednesday, August 13, 1873—Boston papers which are following the croquet contests at Vineyard this week state that the Norwich players are giving the Vineyard players an unmerciful beating and seem likely to carry off all honors.

The Ella grounded near Thamesville yesterday and a large crowd watched the crew work in an endeavor to get the boat off in time to make the usual run.

Yesterday the better-halves of the O. L. F. club started but to find out the joys of camping. They took possession of everything the club owned and started down the river cheered by a large crowd which had gathered to watch their sail down the river.

Many local people travelled to Palmertown last evening when a store, a barn, dwelling house and sheds owned by Albert Morley were burned to the ground. The fire lighted the sky and was plainly visible from this city. The loss was over $5,000 after insurance had been paid.

Thirteen hundred crates of peaches was a part of the cargo of the City of Norwich that arrived in port yesterday.

Thursday, August 14, 1873—At a meeting of the citizens of Preston held last evening, to consult as to the expediency of lighting the streets of that suburb, it was resolved: That Messrs. H. C. Kloppenberg, J. L. Cooper and Edwin Oldfield be a committee to erect the posts, supply the gas and maintain the same for one year.

Several Norwich people were in Willimantic yesterday when the first passenger train from New Haven to Willimantic via the Air Line went through last night at 5.50 p. m., accomplishing the distance in about three hours. The railroad commissioners have allowed a speed of 30 miles an hour on this road from Willimantic to East Hampton in Chatham.

The Arctic club of this city met and defeated the Star club of New London at the Great Plain the score being 22 to 6. Batteries were, Arctics Delaney p, Miner c; Stars, McDonald p, Gaitley c.

Friday, August 15, 1873—The two town clocks are competing against time with the advantage decidedly with the clock on the Central Baptist side. It's no uncommon thing for the revelers and editors to hear twenty-four consecutive strokes tolled off by the united efforts of these two chronometers.

For the first time since last May the ground in Norwich has received its fill and then more of the water that makes crops grow. Since the northeast storm set in Monday night it has kept up almost continually and bids fair to last another twenty-four hours.

One of the managers of the Norwich Horse railroad spent Monday in Worcester examining the workings of the dummy street railroad engine in that city. It is expected that Norwich will have a dummy on the railroads within a short time.

People on Main and Union street yesterday were interested in a fifteen pound snapping turtle that had wandered there for a visit.

Senator Buckingham, Prof. Northrop and other notables will be at Woodstock next Thursday when the new $25,000 academy is to be dedicated.

Saturday, August 16, 1873—The wagon and blacksmith shop of George E. Williams of Norwich Town were completely destroyed by fire about 11 o'clock last night the cause being unknown. All local apparatus was at the fire and the old Torrent hand engine of Norwich Town was working hard. Nothing could be done to save the buildings and the loss is about $5,000 partially covered by insurance.

The larg edisplay of gladioli in the store windows of H. H. Osgood have attracted the attention of nature lovers. The varieties are rare and the many colors show them to be of proper culture.

We are informed that Boston papers call Hartford a country town because the street lights are not lighted when the corporation almanac says there will be a moon. What would the Boston paper call Norwich where the no light rule prevails without the exception?

The Killingly Transcript says that Col. Allen Tenny of Norwich is leading in the Norwich contest to see who is the handsomest man. Three others are entering the contest, says this paper, but neglects to name them.

Rattlesnake tallow is worth $44.00 a barrel and the boys around Norwich are out on the warpath, and woe betide the rattler that comes near them.

MARKET CONTINUED STRONG.

New York, Aug. 17.—Good buying power was again in evidence in today's stock market with the result that prices moved to higher ground for the fourth consecutive day. There was a slight lessening of activity, but the ability of the market to continue its upward course in the face of unfavorable news developments, including the over-night disclosure of a new deadlock in the coal negotiations, was regarded as a constructive feature.

Resumption of pool operations in some of the leading industrials after a long period of inactivity brought about some sharp gains in that group. Outside speculators and investors, apparently convinced that the recent reactionary trend had been definitely checked, also exhibited more interest although this buying is still of relatively small proportions.

The usual week-end profit taking took place during the afternoon but these offerings were well absorbed and prices generally closed around their best levels of the day.

Corn products was one of the outstanding features, closing 4 1-4 points higher at 127. Gains of 2 to 4 points also were recorded by Federal Mining & Smelting Preferred, Fisher Body, Nash Motors, Dupont and Woolworth, the last named closing at 251 after touching a new top for all time at 253.

Transactions in Baldwin, Studebaker and American Can comprised more than one-tenth of the total volume of business, each closing more one point above yesterday's final quotation. General Motors and U. S. Steel also were quite active, each gaining 5-8 on the day. Oil shares also made good recovery from recent heaviness, California Petroleum rising 2 points, Phillips Petroleum 2 3-8 and the Pan-American issues about a point each. Middle States and Transcontinental Oils made new lows. Pacific Oil receded fractionally, the semi-annual income statement showing surplus income of $4,595,189, a decrease of $2,871,261 below the same period last year, and earnings of approximately $1.30 a share as against $1.95 in the first six months of 1922.

Rails displayed a firm tone but the gains, as a rule, were limited to fractions. A few issues, including Chicago Northwestern, Great Northern Preferred and Rock Island 7 per cent. preferred closed a point or more higher.

Foreign exchanges were heavy with trading light. Demand sterling eased one cent to $4.55 3-4 and French francs dropped 3 points to 5.51 1-2 cents. German marks dropped from 30 to 28 cents a million, the Reichsbank statement showing an increase or more than 18 trillion marks in note circulation.

Call money held at 4 3-4 per cent. all day. Commercial Paper and time money rates were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Assertions that some grades of Canadian wheat are to close to an import basis into the United States had a bearish effect today on the wheat market here. Liquidating sales became of greater volume than could be readily absorbed, and final quotations were heavy, 5-8 to 1 1-8c net lower, with Sept. 99 3-4 to 98 7-8; and Dec. $1.03 7-8 to $1.04.

Corn closed 1-8c off to 1 5-8c advance, oats 1-4 to 3-8c down, and provisions varying from 7c decline to 10c gain.

Although the wheat market showed an upward tendency during the first half of the board of trade session, the apparent strength was due more to lack of offerings than to any special demand. Elevator interests here were buyers of the September delivery, but they also were sellers of December. Under such circumstances the attention of the general trade gradually focussed on reports which were current that the poor quality wheat of Canada, debarred from any adequate European outlet, was likely to seek entrance by rail into the United States, despite 35c a bushel duty.

Word that small lots of domestic wheat bought for shipment to Europe were being sold back tended to emphasize the bearish sentiment which developed during the last part of the day, and also tended to stress the likelihood of imports from Canada. In this connection, it was estimated that owing to United States vessels withdrawing from Canadian traffic Canada would be unable to move more than 50,000,000 bushels this season down the lakes, for trans-Atlantic use.

Shorts anxious to even up accounts brought about a decided bulge in the price of September corn. Other deliveries of corn and all deliveries of oats were easy in line with wheat.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Aug. 17.—An accumulation of over-night realizing sales imparted a slightly reactionary trend to the early dealings in today's curb market but prices stiffened later and closing prices were generally higher.

Major activity again centered in the oil shares, Prairie Oil & Gas rising 3 points on a small turn-over and Standard Oils of Indiana and Kentucky, Southern Pipe, South Pennsylvania Oil and Imperial of Canada each closed about a point or so higher. There were a few recessions in this group, but they were mostly fractional.

Glen Alden Coal, which jumped 4 1-2 points yesterday on a squeezing of the short interest, dropped back 1 3-4 to 70. Local traclions were in good demand. Swift International came within a point of the year's high, adding 1 point to its gain of yesterday.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Aug. 17.—Closing prices in today's bond market showed a decided firmness in practically all classes of securities. The majority activity was in the railroad group.

Active United States government bonds, with the exception of the Third Liberty 4 1-4s, which eased slightly, improved. Foreign bonds also continued their move upward, Serbian 8s gaining 1 1-8, and Chile 8s of 1946 and Mexican 5s each advancing 1.

Advances of a point each were recorded by St. Paul, Kansas City Short Line 4 1-2s, New Haven Convertible 6s and Rock Island refunding 4s, while numerous other issues moved up fractionally. Industrial liens moved irregularly within narrow limits. None of the net changes in this group was important.

METAL MARKET.

New York, Aug. 17.—Copper easy; electrolytic, spot and nearby 14; futures 14@14 1-8. Tin steady; spot and nearby 39.25; futures 39.12. Iron steady; prices unchanged. Lead steady; spot 6.50@6.75. Zinc firm; East St. Louis spot and nearby delivery 6.45@6.50. Antimony, spot 7.75.

MONEY.

New York, Aug. 17.—Call money easier; high 4 3-4; low 4 3-4; ruling rate 4 3-4; closing bid 4 3-4; offered at 5; last loan 4 3-4; call loans against acceptances 4 1-4.

COTTON.

Bread Theatre

Forty stars, including some of the biggest personalities in pictures; an intimate closeup of Hollywood and its studio activities; an amusing and interesting story; excellent acting and direction, and humor that is irresistible are a few of the high lights that make "Mary of the Movies," which is the feature at the Breed theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Revealing the innermost secret of Hollywood, the film capital of the world, in all its fascination, this is —and that will do much to make a production that film fans will love ardent fans of those who are not already devotees of the silent drama. How and where the film players live, how they spend their leisure time, how pictures are made, all the numberless details that are so intriguing are shown in a fascinating series of situations that are bound together by an amusing and absorbing story. Famous people move in and out—such famous ones as Bessie Love, Carmel Myers, Miss Dupont, Zaru Pitts, Eva Novak, Estelle Taylor, Bryant Washburn, Johnnie Walker, Creighton Hale, George O'Hara, Malcolmn MacGregor, Stuart Holmes, Jack Perrin, Douglas MacLean, Alec Francis, David Butler, Louise Fazenda, Richard Travers, and many others. It is almost like being present in Hollywood and making a personally conducted tour through the studios.

Mary is a real girl, as played by Marion Mack. Her adventures are the adventures that would befall any girl in her circumstances. In fact, we are told that much of the material in the story was recruited from the life story of Miss Mack herself. One can readily credit the assertion —for Miss Mack does not act—she lives the situations that flash upon the screen. The story of her brave fight for screen success, interspersed with amusing bits of her home town, Barston, Arizona, and its home town folks, holds unflagging interest. John McDermott directed it excellently, while Louis Lewyn played double role of writer of the story and supervisor of production with his customary thoroughness.

Other pictures on the bill include a single real entitled "Our New President," showing a series of striking episodes from the life of Calvin Coolidge and Movie-Chats. Two shows Sunday evening at 7 and 8.45, standard time.

Today's bill consists of "Lights of Ney York"—Pearl White in "Plunder"—Charlie Chaplin in "Dough and Dynamite" and the Pathe news. Continuous show today, 1.30 to 10.15.

Coming to the Strand

Which is the strongest force, heredity or environment?

Physicians, psychologists and sociologists have waged this argument many years but no conclusive proof one way or another ever has been offered.

Thomas H. Ince believes that heredity is the biggest force of the two and has backed up his conviction with a powerful screen drama as original as it is interesting.

The forest fire which carries the big punch of the story is one of the most spectacular ever filmed while the producer has screened something new in the novel escape effected by the "Cajan" and his sweetheart from the fire when they get out of a fire trap by means of a timber flume.

Lloyd Hughes as the mountain youth has put over a powerful characterization while Frank Keenan has a role equally appealing in the part of the old colonel. Margaret de la Motte plays the southern beauty with whom both boys are in love. Lambert Hillyer directed.

NEW OVERLAND SEDAN SCORES BIG SUCCESS

Another Overland model is scoring a tremendous success. This time it is the new Overland Sedan announced recently which is swamping Overland dealers with orders. It is a new sedan in every sense of the word with a more powerful engine, roomier body and several other features added for the convenience of those who drive and drive.

The dependable Overland motor has been enlarged to give the new sedan a power unit whose excellency is in keeping with the other new refinements. Sturdy, speedy and quick to respond to every touch of the accelerator, this motor will reel off 20 miles or more for every gallon of gasoline.

Everyone is loud in their praise of the new refinements. Perhaps one of the most noticeable is the large, roomy Wilson built body which provides a rear seat larger than in any other car which also sells under one thousand dollars. The upholstery, deep and soft, is a beautiful rich grey, a color which matches the most elaborate winter wrap or gown.

Plate glass windows, operated with the Dura regulators, have come in for their share for admiration. The cowl ventilator, sun visor, dome light and real Fisk cord tires give the new sedan more attractions for the discriminating owner. Orders for the new sedan have been flowing to the factory, thereby proving that buyers are eager to get this new and handsome family car.

Y. M. C. A. Service

An especially interesting feature of the service at the Young Men's Christian association building Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock will be the moving picture "The Island of the Mist" which will include pictures of the city and the people of Victoria, Hong Kong. Viewsof the superb harbor with its great variety of ships; life in the English quarter; life and customs in the native Chinese quarter, the Bund, showing the Chinese coolie in his various activities. In addition there will be given by Rev. D. Dadario, who is doing work among the Italians in Norwich. Earle Sparke will officiate at the piano.

Sale of Plainfield Farm.

Burdick & McNicol, real estate brokers, have sold for Mary A. Gallup, her 105-acre farm located at Bishop's Crossing, on the highway leading from Jewett City to Plainfield formerly known as the Caleb Bishop Farm. The sale was made to Philip J. Melady of Jewett City, who will occupy the property about Nov. 1. This farm is noted for the quantity of wood which has been estimated at two thousand cords.

COMPLIMENTARY REFERENCE TO NORWICH MEN

In the last issue of the Southern Underwriter, one of the leading insurance journals of the country, published in Atlanta, Ga., complimentary reference to the work of a Norwich man was expressed in the following editorial:

"It is doubtful if any other man could have guided the affairs of the National Association during the past two years so well as has been done by President James L. Case, who lays down the cares of that office on August 24. One thing is certain, none could have done better. President Case has worked indefatigably for the success of the organization's plans. He may not have agreed with the manner in which the rank and file occasionally muddled the water, but the record shows that he never flinched in an attempt to clarify every complex situation. And he did clarify a great many of them. Innumerable instances might be referred to where he took valuable time from his personal affairs, traveled long distances where trouble was imminent, and by exerting no other force than strictly impartial argument, placated the belligerents. His services have been invaluable to both the agents' organization and the companies.

"Most of the work he so generously performed found no place in the public prints, nor was it spoken of outside the immediate circle effected. It has been a strenuous two years for Mr. Case and on his retirement from the presidency he deserves the strongest resolution of thanks that the committee is able to indite. Regardless of the fact that the Southern Underwriter has felt compelled to oppose certain radical elements in the organization, we never lost faith in the ability of President Case to keep the craft in a safe channel. As his term of office draws to a close we cannot refrain from thus reiterating our frequently expressed sentiments regarding him. According to precedent a new leader is to be elected this year. However, if Mr. Case will accept a re-election, we say frankly: "Keep him on the job."

Mr. Case left Norwich Wednesday night to attend the 28th annual meeting of the National Association of Insurance Agents, which is held at Buffalo, where he will preside at the sessions of the convention.

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS D. GRADY CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Grady of 75 Oneco street celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Friday at their home, several hundred neighbors and friends calling on them during the day to extend their congratulations and to wish them many more years of happy married life.

On account of the frail health of Mrs. Grady there was no elaborate programme arranged for the day but early in the morning several neighbors went to their home and presented them a purse containing $50 in gold, symbolic of a half century of married life. Many beautiful flowers were received from people in various sections of the city and each mail brought a shower of beautiful golden wedding anniversary cards from relatives and friends, many from New York, Boston, Bridgeport, Hartford and other cities.

Francis DeCourcy Grady was born in Hanover, Conn., March 16, 1850, the son of Francis D. and Clarissa Barrows Grady. He has lived in the Falls section of Norwich since he was four years of age, his father building his first house on Oneco street in 1856, later, in 1873 building the four-tenement house at 75 Oneco street, which remains the Grady home at the present time.

By occupation Mr. Grady is a carpenter and worked on the interior work of Park Congregational church when it was erected in 1873. Thirty-five years ago he entered the employ of the Richmond stove foundry. Health failing him he retired from active work about four years ago.

He is a quiet home-loving man. Mr. Grady takes pride in his long membership of 33 years in Shetucket lodge No. 27, I. O. O. F., of this city.

On August 17, 1873, he was united in marriage with Frances Ellen Watson in Bozrah, the ceremony being conducted by the Rev E. P. Ordmann. Mrs. Grady was born in Willimantic, Dec. 27, 1853, the daughter of Johnathan and Lucy Filat Watson. Her childhood was spent in Norwich Town where her father had a wagon shop at Harland's Corner.

The couple have one daughter, Mrs Irene G. Holmes of Norwich, a well known nurse; one grandson, Howard W. Holmes of Boston, Mass., and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady enjoyed the day very much and welcomed their many friends maintaining an open house during the entire day and evening. In the evening they were given a surprise when relatives from out of town dropped in for a brief visit to extend their best wishes.

Among the flowers presented Mr and Mrs. Francis D. Grady in recognition of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage was a magnificent display of dahlias numbering fifty choice blooms of golden hue, from the Fanning Park Dahlia Gardens, the gift of Mrs. Roswell J. P. Brown.

NEW LONDON COUNTY POMONA HOLDS OUTING

The August outing of New London County Pomona Grange, No. 6, P. of H., was held Thursday at the drawbridge over 220 members and friends being present. Granges attending were Norwich grange, Preston City grange, Groton grange, Lebanon grange, Waterford grange, Ledyard grange, North Stonington grange, Konomoc grange, Franklin grange, Pachaug grange and Niantic.

The members made the trip by automobiles arriving at Happyland shortly before noon and enjoying a social time until lunch time. Women of the granges provided an old fashioned clam chowder which was greatly enjoyed and a basket lunch was served.

In the afternoon an entertainment programme was provided, G. Warren Davis serving as lecturer pro tem in the absence of the lecturer, Mrs. Richard J. Whitman of Groton grange. There was a piano duet by Mrs. Ida Richardson and son Dwight after which Mrs. John O. Peckham, worthy patron of Norwich grange gave a talk on education. Several speakers were heard, among them Mr. Chapman of Preston, who spoke on the game laws of Connecticut. The programme concluded with a vocal solo by Mrs. Richardson and musical selections by various members.

Later there were baseball games for the men and athletic events for men, women and children. Those not caring for the athletic events enjoyed boating, fishing, crabbing, bathing and other water sports.

In the evening another basket lunch was enjoyed and the members departed for home voting the August outing a success.

Unclaimed letters in the Norwich, Conn., post office for the week ending August 18, 1923, are as follows: Mrs. Tess. Calder, Mr. Charles Dennis, Mr. Daniel R. Dennis, Miss Milly Kaplan, Mr. Gue Tobin.

BERT LUCAS WRITES OF WESTERN SCENES

Bert Lucas, of this city, who is touring the western states, has written The Bulletin as follows:

As I am leaving the state of Washington I want to write of how I find the climate, folks and conditions after spending four months in the state. The summers are not hot or the winters extremely cold. They have wonderful crops of strawberries, cherries and loganberries and there are no rose bugs, potato bugs nor crickets, no thunder showers or humidity. The thermometer never gets up to 100 degrees. One needs blankets at night and a little fire on the hearth is very acceptable almost any day of the year.

Situated 500 miles north of New York in a line with Quebec and Nova Scotia, it has a mild, even climate that you might expect to find in a southern latitude without the heat or thunder storms. No one has ever been killed in Seattle by lightning as lightning is caused by extremes of temperature and this country has a very even temperature.

You look for summer but it never comes. If you lived here you would know why, for summer comes but you don't recognize it, if you are from the east. It is rainless, fairly warm in the sun but seldom quite warm enough for a straw hat (still you see a few) or low shoes or an electric fan. You keep looking for hot weather, wilted collars and dangerous humidity, for hammocks and palm leaf fans, for open street cars and insects and before you know it fall has come and the rainy season begins.

The season that is termed the rainy season here, is called the "bugaboo" that keeps the cautious people away from the locality. They fear damp cellars, rheumatism and damp bedding. It doesn't really rain here like it does in the east, a blowing, soaking back east rain as the easterner knows it. It's more like a Scotch mist. When I first arrived here in the state I carried an umbrella and a raincoat. Then I gradually left them at home as I noticed the old settlers scorned them.

One of the clerks of a big department store told me that Seattle is a very poor market for raincoats and umbrellas—except to tourists. Statistics show that Seattle is the most healthful city in the United States despite the long season of moisture. Occasionally a little snow falls and the thermometer gets down to freezing for a day or two. The grass and the holly here stay green all winter and roses in sheltered spots bloom well into the holidays. The street cars are entirely open at the back. I suppose that the proximity of the warm Japan current accounts for the holly trees, the winter roses and the climatic wildness of a locality that should be as cold and bleak as Nova Scotia.

Many tender plants and trees grow in the Puget sound country that cannot be raised out doors in Ohio or New York state, hundreds of miles south. I have seen fig trees 15 feet high growing here without protection. White and red ferned holly trees, twenty feet in height are not uncommon.

Iron or steel tools seldom rust here, which proves that there isn't much humidity here. Some claim that the Puget sound rain is much dryer than any other brand of rain. I really believe myself that one never comes in after a rain and feels as wet or damp as in Connecticut. I have noticed that myself. This is a great place for potatoes here that are so large that they finally push the soil on another man's land. They expand so that something has to give somewhere. I have seen them weigh four pounds. Everyone out here in the Puget sound country is raising logan berries. One man out here cleaned up $1200 on three acres of land.

As I have said before there are no potato or rose bugs but the country has its pests and disadvantages. They have to spray and watch out for the following pests: Aphis, codding-moth, squash bug, pea slug, cut-worm, etc.

Strange as it may seem, wood for fuel is expensive. It is a wood country, but you have to pay ten dollars a cord for fire wood, cut stove length and delivered. I heard a man say while here that he would trade five cords of it for one of the splendid beech he used to get back in Michigan.

The people here are friendly but not especially neighborly.

Two of America's best known veterans will head the 24th annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the 4th annual reunion of the Blue Ridge Division, when they assemble 20,000 strong at Norfolk, August 26th to Sept. 1st.

Colonel Tillinghast L. Huston, internationally known as a soldier, sportsman and engineer, completes the year as commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Twenty-five years ago, "Cap" Huston, as he is known to the sport writers, organized a company in Cincinnati, was elected captain and soon was in active service in Cuba. Following the close of the Spanish-American war for fourteen years he remained in Cuba engaged in many engineering projects which gained him universal fame. On America's last declaration of war, Colonel Huston crossed the waters with the 16th Engineers and was present in all the action in which his outfit was engaged, earning a citation from General Pershing for distinguished service.

GROTTO CONVENTION

One of the greatest street carnivals ever held in New England and one in which thousands of people will take part is to be the closing event of the fifth annual convention and field day of the New England Inter-Grotto association, Bridgeport, Friday and Saturday, August 24 and 25.

This gigantic mardi-gras will begin at 8 o'clock, Saturday night, at Bridgeport's beautiful Seaside park on Long Island Sound, where the old fashioned beef barbecue and other events will have been held during the day. The merry-andrews will be equipped with every noise-making instrument manufactured and some that will be created especially for this hilarious occasion. Costumes of every color, style and description will be worn. The heterogeneity of attire may be gleaned from the fact that costumers will have available for use some 3,000 fancy uniforms, dresses and what not.

Headed by bands, playing popular airs, the jovial merry-makers will proceed along the gaily decorated and illuminated streets "taking their fun where they find it" and drawing the population of Bridgeport into the festivities until every principal thoroughfare in the city will be a surging mass of happy humanity overflowing with good humor and good spirits.

"This is to be a great ending to one of the greatest conventions ever held," declared General Chairman Arthur G. Leake, of the committee of Obeh Grotto.

170 PERSONS LINED UP BY SEVEN GUNMEN IN DETROIT

Four Persons, One a Woman, Were Shot and Seriously Wounded—Scene Was a Roadhouse—The Bandits Stripped Jewelry From the Women and Money From the Pockets of the Men—A Policeman Was Shot and Killed in Monroe Forty Minutes After the Hold Up by the Fleeing Robbers—Two Women Guests at the Inn Are Suspected of Complicity.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19.—Seven gunmen early today held up the Allendale inn, at Warren and Snyder streets, lined up about 170 persons at the inn, and obtained money and jewelry valued at several thousand dollars. Four persons, including one woman, were shot and seriously injured. One of the injured persons was said to be George D. Wilson, vice president of the Wilson Body Company.

A short time later an automobile containing seven men, believed to be the same ones who held up the inn, was seen in Monroe, about forty miles southwest of here. The night policeman in Monroe approached the automobile and one of the persons in the machine shot and killed him.

Two of the gunmen stayed outside the roadhouse while three entered rom the front door and two from the back. As soon as the men were inside the door they all began firing through the crowded dance hall. Women screamed and fainted. The bandits lined the waiters up first. One man guarded the waiters, two went from table to table through the crowds.

Another bandit guarded the front door while the fifth guarded the rear. All of the men inside the roadhouse were heavily armed and those on guard showed two guns. They stripped jewelry from the women and money from the pockets of the men. In their haste the gunmen searching the guests tore diamonds from rings and stickpins with their teeth.

The identified injured guests at the roadhouse are:

Two other men suffered injuries but were removed before police officers arrived.

The policeman killed at Monroe was Oscar Reinhardt, 30, a World war veteran. He died at a hospital two hours later, without regaining consciousness.

Whether an argument at the roadhouse between two women diners that preceded the entrance of the gunmen was a part of the holdup plan, is being investigated by the police. Just before the bandits appeared a woman diner rushed onto the dance floor and began a heated argument with a woman dancer, whom she accused of paying too much attention to her escort.

At the height of the argument, when the attention of the patrons was centered on the two women, the bandits entered. A volley of shots were fired into the ceiling announcing the presence of the robbers. Then, under cover of pistols, one man went to the cash register and emptied it.

All of the men were heavily armed and a boy, said to have been not more than 19 years, brandished two revolvers over the crowd while his companions worked. "Keep 'em up," he called over and over in a sing song tone, firing occasionally when any of the guests spoke or moved.

At one table a bandit attempted to wrest a ring from a woman's finger. The ring struck and he pulled the diamond from its setting with his teeth. The woman fainted.

One guest offered to release the clasp holding a diamond pin. "Haven't got time," snapped the gunman, as he jerked the pin loose with his teeth and brandished a pistol in his right hand. After the bandits departed more than a dozen men guests had torn shirt fronts showing where diamond pins had been jerked from them.

All of the thugs carried a pistol in each hand when they entered, according to those in the roadhouse, and one particularly deft man carried two pistols in his right hand while he searched the guests. Small change, keys and others valueless articles found in the pockets of the men were thrown on the table, the bandits taking only jewelry and bills.

As the bandits withdrew one man began telling what he would have done had he a gun. One of the bandits turned and fired two shots toward the crowd. One of these hit Miss Leroy in the arm.

When the gunmen left tables were overturned, glasses, china and various liquids were strewn over the floor.

When Chief Deputy Sheriff William McLeod and nine deputies arrived fifteen minutes after the hold up, the injured had been removed and employes and guests would give little information to the officers. McLeod was not even able to find out definitely who owned the Allendale inn, which was formerly known as the Aviation inn.

About five hours after the holdup, which occurred about 3 o'clock this morning, a large automobile, reported to have been stolen from in front of a downtown hotel in Detroit late last night came through Monroe at an excessive rate of speed. Patrolman Heinhardt, on a motorcycle, ran alongside the machine.

One of the occupants flashed a gun and the patrolman drew his weapon. The policeman fired five times into the machine before he fell from his motorcycle with four wounds in the automobile was found in a corn field near Monroe and state police, who had been ordered to Monroe began a search in the belief that some of the men in the machine had been wounded and were secreted in the corn field.

Police also arrested a man giving the name of Herman Sakoloss of Brooklyn, N. Y. He was found near the abandoned machine. He admitted, according to the officers, that he was one of the automobile party which shot Reinhardt, but asserted he knew none of the men in the machine. He accepted their offer of a ride from Detroit, according to his alleged statement.

MORE THAN 1,000 PERSONS SEARCHING FOR BANDITS

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 19.—More than 1,000 persons are searching fields and swamps south of here for trace of the automobile bandits who shot and killed Oscar Reinhardt, motorcycle policeman, here early today. State police and deputy sheriffs from Jackson and Detroit and Toledo, Ohio, are aiding local officers, townspeople and farmers who make up the posse.

At the request of the local police department, the 125th Howitzer company of the Michigan National Guard, which returned from camp Saturday, are aiding in the search. The members of the company volunteered their services.

All roads leading into Monroe are being guarded.

Officers refused to say who identified the man but Manager Chappell, of the inn, spent some time with the police just prior to the announcement of the identification.

MORE THAN 100 PERSONS DROWNED IN HONG KONG

Hong Kong, Aug. 19.—(By the A. P.)—More than 100 persons were drowned and about 100 persons killed and injured ashore, and about fifty junks and sampans capsized during the typhoon at Macao on Saturday.

Many persons were entombed when houses collapsed.

Soldiers and fishermen worked energetically to rescue the persons buried under the debris of fallen houses. The floating plant of the Netherlands Harbor works company was not damaged but the company's dredger rotterdam dragged anchor and grounded on a mud bank undamaged. Trees in the public squares were uprooted and the roof was blown off the Catholic cemetery chapel.

Many ships have gone down, some have been driven ashore while others are floating in a crippled condition at sea. Besides large steamers which succumbed to the typhoon, numerous Chinese junks foundered. Natives today are salvaging the wreckage.

While communications from the mainland are few as the result of the wires being down, it is known there was considerable loss of life on shore. The casualties there, it is believed were mostly confined to natives. Two river steamers were grounded near the Kowloon docks.

The storm did not wreak its vengeance all at sea, but along all the shore much damage was done by the gale and high waters. Several European houses at Kowloon, just accross the channel from Hong Kong on the mainland were unroofed while many others did not escape damage of some sort.

The capture of the trio is said to be due to the daring work of a negroe, Emory Roberts, whom the gang tried to pull from an automobile for the purpose of whipping.

Another negroe was whipped by the same gang a few minutes before, it was stated.

BOILER OF LOCOMOTIVE BLEW UP IN WALPOLE

Walpole, Mass., Aug. 19.—The engineer and fireman of a New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad train bound from Providence to Boston today were probably injured when the boiler of the locomotive blew up at a bridge south of Walpole station. Two passengers on the three-car train were injured slightly. The train ran about a quarter of a mile after the accident before it could be stopped.

The accident occurred about a quarter of a mile south of here, when the train was crossing a bridge over a small creek, a tributary of the Neponset river. The boiler was blown completely off the gear and went about 300 feet before landing. It dug a hole some 15 feet in diameter and 10 feet deep, rebounded, and came to rest on an eight foot embankment.

Engineer James Henry, of Franklin was picked out of the creek. Fireman W. E. Hanley, of Dorchester, was found in a field nearby. At a hospital here it was said both probably will die. The only two passengers injured were Miss Anita Wholley, of Hyde Park, and Mrs. Fred Griffin, of Boston, both of whom were bruised and shaken. A number of children were bathing in the creek when the explosion occurred and some of them were slightly injured.

RECOMMENDED REMOVAL OF MRS. HELEN W. ROGERS

Hartford, Aug. 19.—Removal of Mrs. Helen W. Rogers, of Hamden as a director of the Connecticut state farm for women or removal of the other six members of the board of directors was recommended to Governor Templeton Saturday by the Russell Sage foundation at New York at the completion of a three week's "study" of the institution and the circumstances which led to the sudden resignation of Superintendent Anna M. Peterson in April.

"Lack of harmony among the board of directors," was cited by Rev. Dr. Hastings Hornell Hart, director of the investigation made by the Sage Foundation, as "the chief obstacle" to the progress of the institution. It was found that Mrs. Rogers "has carried on an active propaganda outside the board, has criticised the superintendent freely and has maintained a close personal oversight bordering sometimes closely upon espionage." Her persistent opposition and criticism was found to have been responsible for Miss Peterson's resignation.

17 German Firemen Arrested by French

Gelsenkirchen, Germany, Aug. 19.—(By The A. P.)—Seventeen members of the fire department and rescue squad attached to the Rhine-Elbe mine were arrested today by the French authorities, loaded on motor trucks and conducted to Recklinghausen. The Rhine-Ebbe mine workers retaliated by going upon a protest strike.

The arrest of the Germans caused great indignation throughout the vicinity, not only because the men constitute the best known rescue crews in the Ruhr, but also because it was the same squad which responded to the distress calls from the Frenchmen at Courrieres, in Alsace, in 1906, when a mine fire threatened the lives of hundreds of French miners.

The Ruhr resque squad at that time hurried to the relief of the Frenchmen in a special train and succeeded in saving not less than four hundred French miners after a mine had collapsed and was filled with gases.

DE VALERA'S SON ADDRESSED GATHERING OF REPUBLICANS

Dublin, Aug. 19 (By the A. P.)—At a big republican gathering in Sackville street today, the chief speakers were the twelve-year-old sons of Eamon De Valera and Erskins Childers. "Friends of Ireland," said young De Valera, "my father promised to speak to you today, but he cannot, for servants of a foreigner arrested him in Clare and imprisoned him. They may give him the same fate as Dick McKee, Erskine Childers and Liam Mellowes; they can put us and others to death, but they cannot kill the spirit of freedom in Ireland; that spirit will live and Ireland will be free from sea to sea in spite of foreigners and the servants of foreigners."

Erskine Childers' son declared: "Republican Comrades—In the name of my beloved father I stand here to protest against the arrest of our president and great leader. I ask you to pray night and day for his safety and that Ireland may never again be stained by the blood of her faithful sons."

EIGHT PERSONS PERISHED IN HOTEL FIRE; MANY INJURED

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Eight persons were burned to death in the Wawa hotel, on Lake of Bays, Muskoka, Ont., when flames swept the building at 1 o'clock this morning, according to information received by officials of the Canadian National railway, owners of the property.

The fire destroyed telegraphic and telephonic communication so that the names of the victims will not be known until the relief train reaches here about midnight.

The information here is that the hotel, which contained 153 rooms, was fairly well filled with summer guests from the United Sattes and Canada, most of whom lost all their baggage and clothing. Clothing was rushed in from Huntsville, Ontoria, by steamer and narrow gauge railway and the fire sufferers were then brought out to the railway station, where the relief train awaited them.

Muskoka is situated on Muskoka lake, one of the most fashionable Canadian summer resorts. It is visited each season by many Americans.

STATISTICS OF INTEREST ON THE COST OF LIVING

New York, Aug. 19.—The cost of living in the United States on July 15, 1923, was 61.9 per cent. higher than in July, 1914, according to an investigation by the national industrial conference board. Between June 15 and July 15, 1923, there was an increase of 1.8 points or 1.1 per cent. This was brought about by continued advances in the cost of food and clothing and further increases in rents a statement said.

Fuel prices were a little lower, while average sundries and light charges remained unchanged. Between July, 1920, when the peak of the rise in the cost of living since 1914 was reached, and July, 1923, the cost of living dropped 42.6 points or 20.3 per cent. Within this three-year period a number of shifts in costs occurred. Food and clothing prices and the average cost of all sundries combined were lower in 1923 than in 1920.

Rents, on the other hand, in 1923 were at the highest average yet reached for the country as a whole. Coal prices, after mounting much higher during the winter of 1922-19823, in July, 1923, were at the same level as in July, 1920.

RAILROADS ARE CARRYING VAST AMOUNT OF FREIGHT

Washington, Aug. 19.—Railroads of the United States during the first six months of this year carried a greater amount of freight than during any corresponding period in their history, according to tabulations made by the bureau of railway economics based on reports filed by the carriers.

The traffic amounted to 228,435,608,000 net tons miles, an increase of 7 per cent over the corresponding period of 1920, which had marked the previous record. The average movement of freight cars during June was 25.3 miles per day, the highest average for any June since 1917. Every increase of one mile in the average car movement, it was explained, is equivalent to the addition of 100,000 freight cars.

Compared with the first half of 1922, when freight traffic was affected by the shopmen's and miners' strikes which prevailed during part of that period, the total of net ton miles for the six months of this year represented an increase of 32 per cent. for June, freight traffic amounted to more than 38 billion net ton miles, an increase of more than 31 per cent over that of June, 1922.

SLACKENING OF INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY IN NEW ENGLAND

Boston, Aug. 19.—A slight slackening in some branches of industrial activity during the past month is noted in a report made public tonight at the New England district headquarters of the industrial survey of the federal department of labor. The shortage of farm labor continued and housing conditions are generally inadequate. The report by states follows:

Maine: Textiles and shoe industries show seasonal slackening, with part time operations prevalent in nearly all plants. Marked shortage of farm help still prevails. Paper and worsted mills working overtime. Building trades active, employing the majority of these tradesmen.

New Hampshire: Slight slackening of industrial activity noted throughout the state during the past month. Textile mills are running on reduced working schedule, although the cotton mills are on overtime basis in certain departments. Seasonal let-up in the shoe industry, with slight surplus of workers. Serious shortage of farm labor prevalent all over the state. Hosiery mills running overtime. Building operations employ many hands. Inadequate housing conditions exist throughout the state.

Vermont: Nearly all plants are operating but with reduced forces and working hours. Shortage of mechanics in the metal trades. Reported scarcity of farm help continues. Some cotton and woolen mills are on part time basis, thus causing a surplus of workers in these lines. Increased employment in the shoe industry noted during the past few weeks in certain sections. Large building operations under way keep all available tradesmen employed. General shortage of houses throughout the state, especially in the larger cities.

Rhode Island: Very little unemployment evident in this state, though the cotton and silk industries curtailed operations slightly during the past month. While all mills are operating, most of them are on a reduced hour per week schedule. Surplus of machinists in some sections. Building operations active, employing all available local tradesmen. Housing conditions in some sections inadequate.

Connecticut: All plants are running operating full time, with textiles and in this state but some show decreased employment. Certain departments of the metal and rubber plants are working overtime. Brass industry on overtime schedule. Scarcity of farm help continues. Shortage of skilled workers in shoe and metal industries noted in some sections of the state. Building trades active, affording work for large numbers.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK IN BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL CIRCLES

New York, Aug. 19 (By the A. P.)—An appreciably more optimistic view of the business outlook was apparent in financial and commercial circles during the past week.

This growth to confidence was due partly to reassurance in the matter of the new administration, partly to firmness in wheat and cotton prices, and partly to suggestions that a turn may be at hand in the froward buying of the more important industrial products. Under these circumstances the security markets were firm, short covering disclosing a meager supply of stocks, and some new commission house buying being attracted. The effect was to lift the stock market out of the extreme dullness into which it had fallen and to produce a more convincing rally than had been seen during the summer.

BERGDOLL ALWAYS ALERT, BUT HE NEVER COMPLAINS

Eberach, Germany, Aug. 19 (By the A. P.)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the American draft evader, who put this little town on the map, lives the life of a hunted man. He never complains, however, even to intimate friends, of his plight.

Since his arrival here Bergdoll always has gone armed; and when he makes automobile trips, as he does frequently, he always is accompanied by one or two friends. Bergdoll has two high-powered automobiles which he keeps in the hotel garage. His headquarters is the Hotel Kronz. He has been there since his arrival in Eberbach two and a half years ago. His friends advised that he should stay in the hotel, because it was safer for him than making his domicile in a private house.

Carl Bohrmann, who owns the hotel, is an old friend of the Bergdoll family, having known the elder Bergdolls before they went to the United States. Mrs. Bergdoll, who came here to visit Grover just before the alleged attempt to kidnap him August 16, is spending much of her time with relatives in the vicinity of Eberbach. This is said to be her first visit here in twenty-two years.

Since the recent attempt to kidnap Bergdoll all strangers, particularly foreigners, are being requested by the police to show their credentials within a few hours after their arrival in Eberbach. Foreigners are given only four days to remain in the town. Afterwards they must make application to the authorities for an extension of the time of their stay.

FIVE PERSONS MET INSTANT DEATH IN AIRPLANE ACCIDENT

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 19.—Four men and one woman were killed instantly at 10.30 o'clock this morning when a commercial seaplane piloted by Albert J. Whitted of St. Petersburg, Fla., crashed into Santa Rosa sound, near Camp Walton, 40 miles from Pensacola.

W. E. King of St. Petersburg, mechanician for Whitted, who did not go up in the plane, first reached the wreckage in a speed-boat. The woman's body was the only one one afloat. It was necessary for the mechanician to dive beneath the debris to disentangle the bodies of the four men.

All five bodies were brought to Pensacola late this afternoon by boat.

FOUR PERSONS DROWNED NEAR KINGSTON, ONT.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 19.—Three girls and a man, Evelyn Gallogy, Rosie Melts, Isabel Turnbull, and Joseph Sakell, all of Kingston, were drowned in Collins lake near here today when a row boat in which they were crossing the lake was capsized by a gust of wind.

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN
Willimantic Office
11 Church Street Telephone 1062

John Jennings, 62, died shortly before midnight Saturday in the Hartford hospital. Death followed a lingering illness. He was born in Ireland and came to this country at an early age. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. John Farrell of Pleasant street and Lillian Jennings, also of this city, two sons, William of Hartford and Raymond of Willimantic; two brothers, Thomas of Providence and Martin Jennings of Ierland; also four sisters, Mrs. Anne McNamara and Mrs. Mary McNamara, Mrs. Roger Brock and Mrs. Patrick Kelly, all of Providence.

Mr. Jennings had been a section boss on the New Haven railroad for the past 37 years, beginning work in the Providence yards and coming to this city about 31 years ago, when he was placed in charge of the section gang between this city and Baltic. He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employes and the local council of the Knights of Columbus. He was also a member of St. Joseph's parish.

The municipal ice plant in Mansfield was totally destroyed by fire of unknown origin, early Saturday afternoon, the loss aggregating $30,000. Two of the five houses were empty at the time and the remainder contained about 3,500 tons of ice, much of which can be salvaged. Superintendent of the Pumping Station, Willard N. Bowen saw smoke issuing from the buildings about 12.20 o'clock rushed to the telephone and notified the Bank street fire engine house in this city arriving at the place in about fifteen minutes. About the time that Mr. Bowen saw the smoke from the station, L. Lafleur, an employe at the plant had finished eating his lunch nad was just resumed his work. He was suddenly met by a dense cloud of smoke and dropping his tools he barely saved himself from being caught in the blaze. When Mr. Bowen turned away from the telephone, the south side of the buildings had caught from both ends and was burning toward the center. There was little that the firemen could do and in less than half an hour the structure had been burned to the ground. While the fire was at its height a black column of smoke arose for a hundred feet and attracted a large numbers of spectators from all sections. The runway and ice cutting and storing equipment were destroyed. The plant and its contents were covered by insurance for about half of the actual value.

Willimantic was given the privilege of cutting ice to sell to the people of the city, by an act amending the city charter, passed by the general assembly of 1907. For three years the privilege was not taken advantage of until one house with a capacity of 3,101 tons was erected. In 1913 a large shed with four compartments was built, facing the pumping station pond and has been filled each year at harvest time.

The city cut and harvested the ice and sold the product to local dealers. The ice was then sold at retail price to the people of the city at a cost not exceeding 45 cents a hundred pounds. During the past ten years, the residents of the city have been saved thousands of dollars by this low figure, as compared with those in other cities.

The late Daniel P. Dunn, for 12 years mayor of Willimantic, was the father of the amendment, the slogan at that time being, "Willimantic, the only city in the state t ocut ice." The sheds aknow cost $8.893.19 at the time of their erection, back in 1913.

Louis Pollack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Pollack, of Gurleyville,fi and Elsie Reubin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max. Reubin of Wormwood Hill were married at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, by Rabbi Max Levine of this city. Edward Halber of New York city, was best man and Miss Anna Pollack, of New York, was maid of honor. The flower girls were Leonore Hellner and Sylvia Reubin. The ceremony was attended by about 250 guests, guests coming from New York, Hartford, New Britain, Bristol, Boston and Baltimore. The Tuxedo orchestra from Hartford played for the ceremony and the festivities which followed, and a Hartford caterer served. The groom is engaged in the poultry business and the bride has been employed by her father as a bookekkeeper. They are spendnig their honeymoon in New York.

Plenty of verbal fireworks are expected at the public hearing on the business section of Willimantic, automobile parking situation in the schedulaed to be held at the common council chamber in the town building this Monday evening. The purpose of the meeting is to take action of the thirteen suggestions of the special committee appointed some timie ago to investigate the traffic and parking methods. Several of the "thirteen" suggestions are meeting with bitter opposition by interested automobilists.

The Hartford-Willimantic Blue Line jitneys are going to fight the suggestion for bidding them to park under the railroad foot bride, giving the privilege to all the local jitneys. Other suggestions are made that a time limit for parking be set for Main street between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m., except Saturday nights, to 10 p. m., the parking area to be from High street to Lincoln square; that parking be allowed on one side only, with no time limit for parking on Church, North Walnut, High and Temple streets on the west side; Valley and Union streets on the south side and Center street on the east side.

Another "auto-suggestion" made by the special committees which is meeting with disfavor of the trucking concerns of the city, is that no trucks be allowed to unload backed up to the curbing on Church, North, Walnut and High streets. In general, the committee agreed on the parking of automobiles on both sides of Main street, the front wheel of each car not to protrude further than six feet from the curb, a parallel line to be drawn size feet from the curb. The city officials will take up the matter of backing in or driving in to a parking space on Main street.

Fred P. Eaton, 50 died Saturday morning at his home in Mansfield Center. Death followed a long illness. Mr. Eaton was always actively interested in the community affairs of the town in which he, resided and for some years was lecturer of Echo Grange. He served as a representative in the state legislature for several years. He had many friends in this city through being proprietor of an ice harvesting and distributing business for about 30 years. He retired from active business about six years ago, becoming rural mail carrier. He retired last spring. Mr. Eaton was a member of Natchaug Lodge, No. 22, Knights of Pythias and of Willimantic Lodge, Ancient Order of United Workmen. He was born in Mansfield Center, March 29, 1873, a son of Lucius Eugene and Annie Bradley Eaton. He is survived by his wife, who was Minnie Hovey; three sons, Allan, James and Howard and a daughter, Annie. His aunt is Mrs. Teresa Eaton of Mansfield.

It was claimed that Terrisa made his home with a New London man for about a day and half last week, and suddenly disappeared, when his hose was found dead in his bed from some form of alcohol poisoning. When the police called at the Pagano home, Terrisa had gone back to New London.

Complaints were registered at headquarters Sunday morning that an industrious homesteader was engaged in blasting a cellar on Windham road, at the foot of the Willimantic Camp Ground entrance. The blasting disturbed the peace of the Sabbath, besides being dangerous to passing automobilists, the cellar not being over ten feet from the highway. Chief MacArthur went to the place and gave the man a reprimand and a warning that a repetition of the action would mean prosecution.

Alfred Meikle of this city was before Columbia town court Saturday charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. State Policeman Kelsey testified for the state. Justice of the Peace Hurbert P. Collins thought that the evidence introduced was not sufficient to warrant a conviction. The case was nolled on the payment of costs, plus damages to the fence through which Meikle's car plunged.

The continued cases of John Haran of this city and Abraham Lerner of Village Hill, both charged with reckless driving, were heard in police court Saturday morning. POETRY FOR WIDEAWAKES.

How to Catch a Bird.

Don't hunt him with a sling or gun
For that would surely spoil the fun;
For when all life has left his breast
You then can pick up all the rest—
A crumpled body, red and small,
A bit of plumage, that is all.
You haven't got his song or call;
Don't kill him!

I'll tell a secret that I heard—
The perfect way to catch a bird.
Just get a bird book, called a guide,
And with field glasses at your side
Go out into the woods and see
The bird perched up in some tall tree;
Stop, too, and hear his melody—
You've got him!

—Leland B. Jacobs.

The Pan Pirate.

They wonder what he's going to be
When manhood crowns his infancy;
His jesting uncles like to say
He'll be a movie sheik some day.

His father, less inclined to jest,
Thinks Law will fit his talents best;
His mother—sweet, ambitious soul—
Selects the White House as his goal

But—in the kitchen—ask the cook
To scan his years with forward look.
She'll prophesy, with winking glee,
A bold, bad pirate he will be!

"He knows mo' tricks," you'll hear her say,
"Dan ole Cap Kidd could evah play.
Dat young-un sho'ly can't be beat
A-findin' stuff he lak to eat.

"He know come Satuhday Ah plan
To leave some sweet stuff in de pan
When Ah's pie-bakin'—er Ah make
Some fancy fillin' fo' de cake.

"Dat's when Ah makes believe dat he
Mus' leave dem leavin's whah dey be.
Fus' thing Ah know Pan Pirate slips

"Ah ketch ole Pirate on de run;
Fuss at him, too—but all in fun.
Dat young-un he des lick an' lick
Till all de pans am shiny slick!

"Soon's when Ah know he's thoo Ah shout:
'Dey's been a pirate heahabout!'
Den Pirate he des laugh an' say:
'Ain' Satuhday de goodes' day?"

—William Herschell.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDEAWAKES.

Last week you will remember our talk was about President Harding, the man with the kindly heart whom people love to remember for that reason. He has been succeeded in his high office, as you all know, by Calvin Coolidge, who grew up as a boy on a farm in Vermont, and later lived in Massachusetts where he was twice elected governor of that state.

When somebody asked the father of President Coolidge what the secret of his son's success was, he answered: "I told Calvin always to do his job well and he always did. That's what my father taught me and that's what his father taught him." The advice that Calvin Coolidge received from his father is something that every boy and girl can understand and can follow. Beginning as a boy on his father's farm to do things well, he found it was a habit that he didn't want to break when he became a man. It was a good habit that grew on him, and early in his public career it began to be noticed that whatever Calvin Coolidge did he not only did well but a little better than almost anybody else would do it.

It is never too early for any Wide-Awake to begin to form this habit that has been so valuable to President Coolidge. At home and in school, where the Wide-Awakes are learning those things and forming those habits which will be useful to them, they can practice this habit of doing the best they know how in all they have to do and they can be sure it will be one thing that will help them to the success they all hope to reach some day.

Our Picnic.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written, but I am sure you will be interested in one of the events of my young life.

I had been anxious to go to a picnic and had been wishing for pleasant weather all week. At last the day came, bright and sunny. At 9 o'clock my sisters and I walked a mile to my cousin's, where the picnic took place. On my arrival I was cordially greeted and found 20 of my companions already there. We played games, some of them being drop the handkerchief, farmer in the dell, hide and seek, blind man's buff, and ball. About noon we had our lunch, told stories, had an entertainment, went bathing, had another lunch, and departed for home at 5.30, tired but happy.

My Dog Topsy.

Dear Uncle Jed: I have a dog and her name is Topsy. One day I heard Topsy barking, so I went to see what she had, and I saw her barking up a tree, and up in the tree was a woodchuck. So I tried climbing but could not. So then I sent Topsy up after him. She got up the tree but could not get him, so I threw a stone at him and knocked him down. Then she jumped down and grabbed him and then we went home.

How We Spent Monday.

Dear Uncle Jed: Monday my friend and I went to my uncle's farm with the intention of picking huckleberries. We planned to pick three quarts at least, but didn't succeed. We ate more than we picked and were soon tired of picking, so went to my uncle's and ate dinner.

After dinner we devoted ourselves to the animals around the farm, especially the dog, whose name is Speaker, and the cat, whose name is Judy.

The dog is a large yellow and white shepherd, and the cat is a small white kitten with one blue eye and one brown eye. Speaker and Judy are always together, but they are very jealous of each other. I petted Judy and Speaker barked and put his two front paws on my lap. He looked as though he could eat Judy up.

Speaker doesn't eat much but if you want him to eat anything put it on the floor beside him. Then if he doesn't eat it, call Judy, the cat, and Speaker will gobble up what you gave him, even if he doesn't like it, so fast you can hardly see his mouth go.

Speaker does many tricks and drives the cows home from the pasture every day. Speaker did some of his tricks for us and then we went home with half a quart of huckleberries we had picked.

A Marshmallow Roast.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you of the Girl Scouts' marshmallow roast. We have our meetings every Monday night. After the regular opening exercises we held a business meeting. We were very much pleased to hear that we were going down to the shore to have a marshmallow roast. The girls assembled in groups at the captain's call and we started for the shore. It was a nice moonlight night. When we got there we played around the shore awhile jumping from one rock to another.

When we were running around our captain blew her whistle and we all assembled quickly. Our lieutenant gave us signaling. It was now dark and we had built a fire. Each of us had a fork and some of them had sticks. We all sat around the fire toasting marshmallows. There were two men with us and they told us about the stars. A very interesting fact about the milky way was that it was made up of millions of stars which could faintly be seen with a telescope Jupiter, the star now found in the southwest is larger than the earth in bulk. It revolves around the sun once in twelve years.

Many other interesting facts about the stars were told which I do not remember. We saw several shooting stars and we were very much excited. We all left for home about half past nine and all of us enjoyed the evening very much.

Only In Fun

Dear Uncle Jed: One day in early September the twins of the Delveny family started to go to their gymnasium games. Their names were Kat and Kit. They had blue eyes, light hair and light complexions. When they reached the grounds the other girls were nearly all there. They began to practice jumping.

When the other girls came the teacher gave the signal for them to go and they started. Kit cried, "I won, I got to the tree when you were jumping Kat."

"No you never, I won," broke in Kat. "Didn't I win, Dotty Dimp?"

"No, you never won at all, Kat, Kitty won," said the teacher.

"I know it," said Kate, but I was only saying that in fun."

Then the teacher said "It is better to say what you mean in a case like this than something that is only play."

Then next the running came. In this the children were very much interested. They were but children from ten to fourteen. The one who won this time was Dotty Dimp. They did no more because a shower came and they went home.

My Trip to Ocean Beach.

Dear Uncle Jed: One day my Uncle Herbert took my grandmother, my Aunt Winnie, Aunt Fannie, Mrs. Briggs and myself to Ocean Beach. We made an early start. It was a beautiful day. We watched the people in bathing a while, then my aunt got me a bathing suit and I went in bathing. I had a fine time playing in the water. Then we ate our lunch. We had beef loaf sandwiches, chocolate cake, pie, bananas and coffee. Then we walked around and bought ice cream, lollypops, popcorn and peanuts. We saw the merry-go-round and the little ponies. We got home before dark after having had a fine outing.

I am visiting my grandmother and grandpa. I live in East Hartford.

My Clamming Trip.

Dear Uncle Jed: I have never written to you before but have been reading the letters written by other children since February and have found them very interesting.

I am going to tell you about my clamming trip.

Ten people went in a Chevrolet and an Overland.

We left early in the morning and arrived at the beach about 9 o'clock. We put on our old clothes and the six men went in to dig the clams while the two women and two girls went along the beach picking up various shells.

The tide began to come in so the men had to. Each had quite a few clams.

We changed our clothes and started for the cars. When we reached the cars we ate dinners in back of them on two blankets. The dinner consisted of potato salad, tea, milk, cake, sandwiches, pickles and baked beans.

My uncle who drove the Chevrolet suggested going to Rocky Point but we were too tired. We came home by Narragansett Pier, through Wakefield, Westerly and Norwich.

A Startling Experience.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first story. Last summer Jim and I camped in a lumberman's deserted shack on the edge of a pine forest. One evening after a hard day's work we sat in our cabin enjoying a quiet smoke. Suddenly we were startled by seeing a bear's head thrust through the window. Jim threw his pipe in the creature's face while I snatched up a steel rod and attacked her. She backed away from the window only to make a rush for the open doorway. We sprang to close the door, but before we could do so the beast's huge foot was planted firmly in it again struck at her with my steel rod.

Fortunately the blow landed on the bear's nose, a sensitive spot, and she retreated, howling with pain. A few moments later we had the satisfaction of seeing the beast's form disappear in the shadows of the forest.

A Party.

Dear Once Jed: A little boy from Philadelphia was spending a few weeks at a house not far from mine. A violinist was teaching him lessons during his vacation. So a few days before he went home he gave a party. He invited four girls because he boys were living near him. They were Dorothy Moffitt, Mildred Moffitt, Jane Whipple and I. We all met at 1 o'clock.

We then had lunch which consisted of tomato soup with crackers and pond lily salad. We also had ice cream with cake and cocoa. It was pineapple cake. We then played jacks and tennis. We all enjoyed our nice afternoon and I forgot to tell you we received presents. They were wrist watches and for our babies there were rattle boxes.

President Harding's Pictures

Dear Uncle Jed: I live in East Hartford. One night after Harding died, my father, my mother and I went over to Hartford to see the pictures of the President. The first store we came to was Sage, Allen & Co. In their window they had a large American flag, with steps of red, white and blue on which the picture of the president stood, with two large white candles, one on each side. The next place was Brown, Thompson & Co. They had a large picture of President Harding draped with dark blue, with a background of the American flag, with groups of candles on each side. Then we drove up Albany avenue and the windows in the stores were all decorated in honor of Harding, and everyone that had a flag had them out at half mast.

About Cranberries.

Dear Uncle Jed: Cape Cod is famous for delicious cranberries. We learned in school that the Pilgrims didn't have cranberry sauce with their turkey dinners. No one knew that cranberries were good to eat then. About seventy years ago a sea captain whose name was Captain Cahoon, tasted of some pretty wild cranberries he found growing on Cape Cod. They didn't kill him, or they didn't make him sick. So he planted a clump of the cranberries near his own home and told the neighbors how good they were. The neighbors liked the cranberries too, and the people of Cape Cod immediately began raising cranberries. Cranberries grow on little slender trailing plants.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. I like to read the stories in the paper. I am going to tell you about my vacation. I went to Baltic to see a little girl, Lillie Carlson. We had nice fun together. One day we went to the store and bought ice cream and popcorn. It was good, because we were warm. After two weeks I went home. I told my mother I had a good time.

NOANK

The people of Groton Long Point had a delightful day Saturday. The events of the afternoon included an automobile parade of about 50 machines, all handsomely decorated. A band concert was enjoyed in the evening on the boardwalk, and boats were all dressed for the affair and gathered around the float that was placed out in the water. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening. All the cottages were decorated.

Mrs. Alvin Ecclestone and daughter Norma are visiting in Norwich.

The many friends of Lyle Chesebro, who has been confined to his home by illness, are pleased to see him out.

THE LITTLE JACK RABBIT PICTURE FOR COLORING

"Now, I've got you," shouted the voice in last week's story, so loudly that it echoed in today's, making Little Jack Rabbit tremble with fright.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" he thought. "What shall I do?" not daring to hop one way or the other for fear he might choose the wrong way.

Just then, out of a bush jumped Danny Fox but before he could catch the little rabbit Old Man Wicked Wolf leaped out from behind a big tree.

"Oh, dear, oh, dear!" cried the poor little trembling bunny boy rabbit.

"Oh, dear, oh, dear!" cried the little trembling rabbit looking first at one and then at the other.

"I saw him first," snarled Danny Fox.

"Let's talk it over," whined Danny Fox.

"You big boaster!" snarled Danny Fox, but that's all he had time to say for the next minute Old Man Wolf was at him, snapping and growling in a dreadful way.

With a hop and a skip and then a long jump, Little Jack Rabbit dodged behind the bushes and around the big tree.

"Hurry, hurry!" shouted Bibbie Redvest.

"I will!" panted the little bunny boy.

"Tarnation!" exclaimed Danny Fox, picking himself up and dusting off his fur coat. "I'll get even with Mr. Wicked Wolf, he robbed me of my dinner!"

Then he limped off home to his den under the rocks. He didn't even turn around to see how near Old Man Wolf was to the little frightened rabbit—but the poor little bunny did. He just couldn't help it although Bobbie Redvest kept calling out to him:

"Don't look around or you'll be caught!
Hop faster than you have been taught,
Or else Old Man Wolf is going to catch
You ere you reach the Brambie Patch!"

"I won't—I will!" said the little bunny boy, meaning of course that he'd do exactly what this little friendly bird advised.

TAFTVILLE HUMBLES NEW LONDON TEAM POUNDING CRANKER VICIOUSLY

Taftville A. A. broke its losing streak Sunday when the New London Independents were beaten, 9 to 1, in a free hitting game on the part of the Taftville team. Mike Morin, who pitched for Taftville was in fine form and had the New London team completely at his mercy through out the game. Only five hits were secured off his delivery and he fanned five of the Whalers.

Joe Cranker, the grand old man from the Whaling town, suffered badly at the hands of the hard-hitting Taftville crew was knocked fro 16 hits for a total of 23 bases. Cranker's support was not of the best and although it can be seen that Joe is losing some of his old time snap he deserved a better fate.

Taftville was not slow in getting started and in the first frame pounded Cranker for four tallies. Not satisfied with this lead the Taftville team launched another attack in the fifth inning which resulted in four more runs to which they added another counter in the 7th inning.

The New London team's run came in the sixth inning when New London made its only stand, bunching a couple of hits and aided by two fumbles. The game was not spectacular in any way but was an exhibition of good team work on the part of the Taftville boys who have been in a batting and fielding slump during the past few games. The score:

SCOTT HAS BETTER OF COOPER IN PITCHING DUEL

New York, Aug. 19.—In one of the greatest pitching duels seen on the Polo grounds in years, Jack Scott of the Giants defeated Wilbur Cooper of the Pirates after 12 innings of battling. The final score was 2 to 1 in favor of New York. Scott held the Pirates to three scattered hits while the Giants found Cooper's delivery for eleven.

After two were out in the twelfth and the score tied, Ross Young, Giant right fielder, rapped the ball to deep right center and by good base running made a home run. Score:

The teams made 32 hits, the Dodgers getting 17 of them. Fribers, Bert Griffith and Johnston drove out home runs. Dickerman, who pitched the ninth inning for Brooklyn, issued five passes, four in a row. ROOKIE WINS GAME FOR WHITE SOX IN 8TH

Chicago, Aug. 19th.—Bill Barrett, rookie outfielder from Reading, Pa., making his major league debut today injected a punch into the White Sox which enabled them to even up the series with the Yankees, by winning a close game, 4 to 3.

The contest was a pitching duel between Charles Robertson and Waite Hoyt, the former having the better of the argument.

Chicago played an uphill battle and won out in the eighth inning when Hoyt weakened, the White Sox bunching three hits, which coupled with great base running by Kamm and Barrett gave them three runs. Barrett drove in the tying run in this frame and scored the winning marker himself a minute later. Hoyt was banished from the game for protesting a decision and Shawkey finished. The score:

WILD THROW BY PIERCY GIVES DETROIT GAME

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19.—After Boston had tied the score in the eighth inning, Detroit took advantage of errors in the ninth to bring in the winning run and won 5 to 4. Cobb was purposely passed and was forced by Veach but Shanks' bad throw allowed Cobb to reach third. TIMELY HITTING HELPS SENATORS TO TRIM BROWNS

St. Louis, Aug. 19.—Opportune hitting enabled Washington to defeat St. Louis for the second straight time, 4 to 2, here this afternoon. Although outbatted by the Browns, the Senators bunched half of the count hits in the sixth inning for all of their runs, including a home run by Judge with Rice on base. The visitors completed four double plays to cut short local rallies. Score:

OSBORN'S HOMER HELPS PROFS BEAT HILLIES

New Haven, Aug. 19.—Bunching two singles, a double, home run and a sacrifice fly to score four runs in the seventh inning after the visitors had a two-run lead, New Haven this afternoon defeated Pittsfield 7 to 4. Osborn's circuit clout with Fisher on base settled the issue.

WEST HOLDS NEW BRITAIN, WHILE RIVERVIEW WINS

The Riverview club of the Norwich State hospital added another victim to their list on Saturday when they defeated the strong Besse-Leland club of New Britain 5-0.

Both clubs battled through seven scoreless innings. Tony West opened the Riverview half of the eighth with a lusty triple to right field. This blow seemed to break up the New Britain defense, as Peterson next walked Schaffrick, Massey hit to the infield and all hands were safe. Couillard then blasted a hit through Gregory and two scores tallied. Before the inning was completed five runs crossed the plate. These proved to be plenty, as West was in great form, holding the New Britain club to four hits and striking out 13 men. The hitting of Jack Clabby featured the Riverview attack and the fielding of Landry in left field for New Britain was also an outstanding feature. This game was one of the most interesting that has been played on the hospital field this season. The score:

Manchester, Conn., Aug. 19.—The Norwich baseball club took an eleven-inning pitchers battle from the South Manchester team here this afternoon, 5 to 1. The duel was between Thompson of South Manchester and Lefty Boyce of Fitchburg who was in the box for the Norwich team. It. it was a close battle up to the 11th when Thompson weakened under a bombardment of hits and the visitors score four runs.

For three and a half innings there was no score although the locals threatened in the first inning snappy fielding cut off the run at the plate. In the last of the fourth inning South Manchester scored the first run on two hits a sacrifice and an error in the outfield by Mills. The visitors in their half of the next inning tied the score, when, with two down, Fay was safe on a fielder's choice, stole second and scored on Clabby's hit. This ended the scoring until the 11th inning.

In the eleventh inning Thompson got away to a bad start and hit Belair the first man up. Lee singled and Mills attempted a sacrifice and was safe when the play was made on Belair, filling the bases. This unnerved Thompson and he passed Moore, forcing Belair in with the winning run. Massey then hit through second and Lee and Mills scored Moore scored on Wilson's fumble of Fay's grass cutter.

The locals made a desperate attempt to score in their half of the 11th, but fast fielding cut off their chances. Boyce hit Kotsch, the first man up but the next batter hit into a double play and Sipiles flied out to Clabby. It was the best game seen on the local diamond this season. The score:

WESTERLY TEXTILE WINS TITLE IN SOUTHERN SECTION

Westerly, R. I., Aug. 19.—The championship of the Southern Section of the Interstate Amateur Baseball league was decided by Saturday's game when the Westerly Textile won the pennant from their nearest competitor, the Westerly Independent team, in which hits and errors were numerous. In anticipation of a close contest two umpires, Greenwood and Murphy, were arbiters of the game. Six satisfactory was their work that not a decision was questioned although the attendance at the game was the largest of the season and partisan spirit ran high which in a measure was responsible for some of the errors made. Brown, Schiller and Maine starred for the Textiles and Smith and Ryan for the Independents. The score:

VELVETMEN WIN EASY GAME FROM GROTON PIONEERS

In a weird game played at the J. B. Martin diamond on Saturday afternoon the Velvetmen overwhelmed the reputed fast Pioneers of Groton 20 to 3. Lemieux, who was on the mound for the J. B. Martin team, was never in danger and received exceptional support from his team, especially from E. Joubert, whose fielding was an outstanding feature. Henry, who did the pitching for hte visitors, pitched a good game, but his support was wretched. W. Gley clouted out a homer in the fourth with two men on bases. This is the sixth straight victory for the J. B. Martin team. The score:

PATROLLING THE HISGWAYS.

With the assigning of a special squad of state policeman to patrol the highways of Connecticut further effort is to be made for increased safety on our roads which should be productive of good results.

It isn't to be expected that this squad will be so numerous that there will be a state policeman in back of every automobile to see that the driver observes all the rules of the road, but it does mean that greater attention is to be given to the violations of the rights of drivers and pedestrians, that those who have been making a practice of disregarding the regulations can be expected to be called to account and that as a consequence all drivers will be on the alert to avoid arrest and provide greater protection for others as well as themselves.

It isn't necessary for such a squad to direct the attention of most drivers to the fact that they are violating the law. They know it without being told. They do it because others do it and it doesn't take long in the continuance of such practice before they are accustomed to taking the very chances which the laws aim to prevent.

What will the motorcycle squad accomplish? It remains to be seen. With such a squad patrolling the highways of the state, and with the calling to account of those who hold the law in contempt, there is bound to be an influence exerted upon the general user of the highways that will be salutary. There is going to be an effort to escape the eagle eye of the motorcycle cops who may be lurking behind the next curve for all any driver knows.

It is a move in behalf of enforcement and respect that should serve to impress the automobilist with the fact that the safety of the highway depends upon the way in which each and everyone contributes thereto. Those who are careful and drive in accord with the laws have nothing to fear from the new patrol. Others need just such a restraint as the effort to reduce the accidents is aimed to accomplish.

KEEP THE MINES GOING.

That the coal operators and miners have agreed to resume deliberations with a view to reaching a wage agreement that will become effective from the first of September indicates that they have felt the sentiment of the public and likewise sensed the attitude of the government. It should mean a sincere effort to get together and avoid a strike. Whether it will or not remains to be seen.

Early in the previous deliberations which came to nought an effort was made by the operators to secure an agreement from the miners to the effect that if an understanding was not reached by the first of September there would be no cessation of activities in the mines. The aim was to avoid the disastrous effects of no production similar to what prevailed a year ago and which forced real hardship upon the coal consuming public.

The first of September is less than two weeks away. That may be a sufficient time in which to reach an agreement if there is the right disposition on the part of those around the table and proper consideration is given to the consumer. It would be well, however, and it is believed that it is entirely appropriate, to bring up again that plan to avoid any stoppage of production. Whatever the agreement reached it would be retroactive to the first of September in case the deliberations should be prolonged after that date. Continuance of coal production would mean much to the consumer, but it would also be as advantageous to the miner as it would be to the operator. When coal mining stops the wages stop and millions have been lost to the mine workers for that very reason. Maintaining production until the points are settled in accord with the facts and on a basis of justice to all is highly desirable. The mines should be kept going in the interest of all concerned, including the long suffering public, which always foots the bill in the long run.

SIGNING UP MEXICO.

Though the commission which has succeeded in reaching an understanding concerning an agreement between the United States ad Mexico accomplished its object on its first trial, it does not mean that the task has been an easy one or that success required no greater effort than might be measured by the time actually occupied by the deliberations.

Mexico has fully appreciated that it needed American recognition. President Obregon has endeavored to obtain it during a long period. He could not get the desired results in the upbuilding of his own country in any other way, and yet he has been loath, knowing the sentiment of certain Mexicans, to let the idea get abroad that Mexico was yielding to this country.

The United States on the other hand has been quite as anxious to reestablish relations with Mexico as Mexico has been to have us. It has insisted nevertheless that the rights of Americans must be respected and that, if Mexico had only been willing to recognize it before, was as much for the welfare of that country as it was for the protection of our subjects. Mexico has too long clung to the idea that this country was not sincere in its neighborliness when the only basis for it was to be found in the conduct of Mexico itself.

What the attitude of Mexico is going to be to the agreement that has been signed by the commission rests with the future to disclose. Possibly President Obregon is taking time by the forelock in his statement complimenting the work of the commission and assuring the people of his country that there is nothing derogatory in the agreement to Mexican rights. That is preliminary to the disclosure of the text of the agreement but Obregon seems to feel that the situation calls for the setting forth of his attitude and he expresses himself in a manner which he hopes will have a good effect upon his people.

THE WILD CARROT LAW.

When Secretary Healey of the state board of agriculture declares that the law concerning the cutting of wild carrots is a dead letter there will be few to rise up and dispute him.

It is a law that has been in existance for several decades. It was passed for the benefit of the farmers that their fields might be protected against the encroachment of this weed which has a way of monopolising the mowing lands wherever it gets the opportunity. By its provisions it is possible to make a protest against the farmer who does not cut his crop of wild carrots before it goes to seed and thereby give the desired protection to his neighbor, and have it carried out in keeping with the intentions of the law or suffer the penalty.

There are those who are the constant enemy of the wild carrot quite the same as the wild carrot is the foe of the farmer. But how many are the instances where the wild carrot law is brought into use? How many of the farmers know that there is such a law and value it as such? It is a question just how many pay any real serious attention to the wild carrot.

Occasionally there are seen those fields which have been cut, the product including the wild carrots and such grass as was included being raked up into rows and burned. The number is small but it nevertheless discloses the determined effort to get rid of the pest. If all were of a similar mind there is no question but what the desired end would be reached. It is because there are those who have too little regard for their own property, and therefore no more for their neighbors, that any such legislation was made possible. But even the existence of the law hasn't changed the situation. Laws in themselves amount to little. It is the respect that they get and the enforcement that count. It is easy for them to become dead letters and their existence to become forgotten.

REMEDYING THE ILLS.

We have heard much in the past few months about the ills of Ellis Island. They have been pictured from all angles and come from at home as well as abroad. We have also received words of commendation from abroad and statements to the effect that foreign criticisms that have been made were not justified.

While these things are being said one of the most gratifying statements is to the effect that the ills are being remedied. Whether they have been exaggerated or not there is satisfaction in knowing that whatever they are they are being overcome.

The present immigration commissioner at the island attributes the situation to the gross negligence of one of his predecessors, and it is interesting to note that it is this predecessor who has joined with the British ambassador in criticising the conditions at this important immigration post.

Whatever any immigration commissioner can do there will always be problems and there will be critics. The fact that things are being straightened out means that there was work to be done in this direction and if such a requirement did not exist previous to the administration of the commissioner whose administration is attacked by the one now holding the office there seems to be justification for the charges set forth.

But whatever the conditions were they have long since been under treatment. Correcting influences have been at work and conditions at Ellis Island must be judged by what they are today and not by what they were a year or more ago.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Always dip the knife in boiling water if you wish to cut fresh bread without tearing it.

When the soup is too salty add a few slices of raw potatoes and remove after they have boiled a few minutes. They will absorb some of the salt.

Nickel can be cleaned by rubbing it with a paste made either of whiting or some powdered cleanser, and water.

If you wish to make your soup more nourishing serve grated cheese with it. Italian soup is always so accompanied.

After washing the dishes, don't neglect to wash the dishtowels and dishcloth, and wash and dry the dishpans and wipe the sink dry.

All table linen, most clothes, bed and house linen, should be mended before laundering if you wish them to last for a long time.

A shelf across a north window will sometimes brighten up the dark wall and shut out a mediocre view. Books or bricabrac may be placed on such a shelf.

Gas stoves require a great deal more cleaning and polishing than they often get. A dirty stove is the cause of a disagreeable smell in the house.

FOR THE HANDS

After doing mussy kitchen work, do not at once wash the hands in water. First rub a little grease well into the skin. This loosens the dirt. Mutton fat is best. Then wash them in the usual way. Hands treated this way will never become ingrained with dirt.

When the hands become blackened through handling pots and pans try rubbing them with boiled potato. This is even more effective than soap, and removes the stains immediately.

About half a teaspoon of ordinary moist sugar rubbed into the hands with a soapy lather will clean them and leave them beautiful and smooth.

A little ammonia in the bath will keep the skin healthy, firm and fresh-looking.

TABLEWARE OF GLASS

Many women like to change the appearance of their tables occasionally, and few things are more delightful than a set of glass tableware. One set is of etched crystal with bands of black and green and a similar one has bands of black and orange.

PRETTY CURTAINS

Stripes of mauve and blue or rose and gold appear in a lovely gauzy material for curtains.

BEAUTY CHAT.

The busiest woman can spare herself ten minutes at the end of the day to improve her appearance. It's worth a great deal, time so invested. It's worth skimping some duty during the day or even taking ten minutes from sleep; that is, if you spend the time properly.

Here's one way of spending it. This suggestion is for the woman under 30 with a not too good complexion and not too thick hair: Two minutes holding hot wet cloths over the face; three minutes massage with cleansing cream; one full minute, ice or astringent. Two minutes, rubbing vigorously over the scalp; two, cleaning and polishing the nails and pushing back the skin around the edges. While you rub cream on the face, spread some around the nails. It's easy, takes no extra time and keeps the nails young and the cuticle neat looking.

For the woman over 30, with wrinkles coming, the same treatment but with special flesh building cream, two or three minutes ice rub even if you must sacrifice the scalp massage.

For coarse grained skins, blackheads; two minutes steaming; one, cleansing cream; three, ice rub or astringent.

If the hair is thin, take time from the facial massage for a hard rub with a hair tonic. And, by the way it takes no longer to rub cream into the neck when you rub it over the face and it's a sure way of having a clear white skinned throat.

Of course, this ten minutes doesn't include washing face or hands or brushing the teeth — in themselves valuable beauty treatments! This is only a suggestion of what the very busy woman can accomplish in time she can certainly spare.

WHITE SILK MITTS.

White silk mitts edged with color are new and cool looking. They are in keeping with the quaint style of bouffant frocks of organdie.

OF PAINTED TIN.

For the cottage or camp are small candlesticks of painted tin in black with bright-colored motifs. The candle matches the dominant shade of the decoration.

FANCY BRIDGE TABLE.

A bridge table that is as ornamental as it is useful is of black and gold lacquer with a top of black moire.

TO KEEP CHEESE.

Cheese may be kept from moulding by rubbing the cut part with butter and covering with paper.

FOR SHARP KNIVES.

If you wish knives to keep sharp never put them into hot fat.

BROWNED BEEF.

Put a little sugar to the liquor in which you baste the roast beef if you want it to get rich and brown in color.

BOUFFANT.

The modified bustle and elaborate black draperies are featured on the formal frocks. The bouffant line is holding its own, particularly with the slender.

BROWN SHOES.

When brown shoes have become discolored, mix equal parts of ammonia, milk and water, and wash them in this, using a soft cloth. When quite dry, polish with a clean pad.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

Beach capes of striped toweling grow more gorgeous than the sunset. One bright thought exemplified today was in jade, peacock blue, orange and deep red. Fortunately it was worn with a plain, black bathing suit.

Ruffles of red lace are used on the bottom of the skirt and about the sleeves of a green crepe frock. Red satin slippers are the correct footwear.

Evening gowns of bright canary colored silk or crepe are style leaders at the fashionable resorts. Beading in self-tones is a popular trimming.

Black lace dresses are favored for semi-formal dinner wear and black lace wraps are worn effectively over white evening dresses.

Pointed sides or panels of different lengths are noticed on the new fur capes being made up for winter wear.

Trimming that gives the scalloped effect of rickrack braid, but is really made of cable cord, covered with the material, is one of the popular trimmings for summer frocks.

Black satin and black panne velvet hats are trimmed with lace flares across the back or with cocardes of fur or cordede ribbon.

Two flaring flounces make the skirt of a black seal coat that has fur bell sleeves and a wide rolling collar.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Mrs. E. B. Warren elected secretary of the town council of Covington, La., is the first woman in her state to hold such a position.

Miss Ingiborg H. Bjarnason, the first woman to sit in the parliament of Iceland, is the principal of the girls high school in Reykjavik.

Mrs. Carina C. Warrington, recently admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States, was the first woman attorney in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mrs. S. A. Barnett, who had a painting hung in the Royal Academy a few weeks after she had begun to paint in oils at the age of 72 has presented a painting to Queen Mary entitled "The Silent Heralds of the Sun."

Although several hundred women are actively engaged in the profession of architecture in the United States many of them with marked success, only four of the number have been admitted to membership in the American Institute of Architects.

WATERMELON MARMALADE.

Cut the seeded fruit into pieces, weigh it and to every pound allow a pound of sugar, and the grated rind of half a lemon. Bring to a boil and let simmer slowly, stirring the contents of the kettle to keep from scorching. Cook on the back of the range until the mixture is of the consistency of marmalade. Fill pint jars or tumblers while hot, and seal. This marmalade has the lovely pink tint of pomgranite. Dainty desserts may be made by slipping a mold from the tumbler, cutting it in half and placing on a glass dish with whipped cream on top.

WASH DAY HELP.

When you pub the clothes on the line hang all things of the same kind together. Hang them to swing smoothly and fold as taken from the line. Do not iron the sheets and ordinary towels. Sun dried sheets folded while the sun is on them are so sweet that ironing is no improvement.

RIBBON ROSE BAG.

Every woman wants a dainty and distinctive bag to carry with her pretty summer frocks. Here is one of the daintiest and easiest that can be made.

For the foundation cut two circles of buckram and cover with silk of the same color as the ribbon you intend using. Use four or six yards of ribbon according to the size of bag desired. Tack the end of the ribbon to the center of the circle, then twist it and swirl it around in circles until the entire foundation is covered. Pins will have to be used to hold the ribbon in place until the foundation is covered then the ribbon is tacked and the pins removed. When the two circles have been thus covered they are joined together with the same ribbon. This makes a rose bag similar to a double cockade, and should be swung on a ribbon strap and carried over the arm.

RECIPES

Deviled Tomatoes—Mix together one teaspoonful each of butter and vinegar the mashed yolk of a hard-boiled egg, a teaspoonful each of sugar and mustard, and salt and cayenne to season highly. Bring to the boil, add one egg well beaten, and cook until smooth and thick. Pour over fried or broiled tomatoes and serve.

Cocoa Cooler—Beat the white of an egg until it is stiff, and add gradually, as you beat, two teaspoonfuls of breakfast cocoa and a few grains of salt. Add to one-half the mixture, as you beat it, three-fourths of a cupful of cold milk. Turn it into a glass and pile the remaining egg mixture on top.

Philadelphia Ice Cream—Mix together five cups of cream, one cup of sugar and one tablespoon of vanilla. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. If desired the cream may be first scalded, then chilled before adding the flavoring. The unscalded cream gives the ice cream a fluffy texture, the scalded cream one of smooth, close grain. Freeze in the usual way.

Special Salad Dressing—Rub the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs smooth with half a cupful of olive oil, adding a level teaspoonful of curry powder, a little salt, cayenne, the juice of half an orange and two tablespoonsful of tarragon vinegar. Use this dressing over a date and cream cheese salad.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

M. Louis Loucheur, who probably would be asked to form the new government in France in the event of Premier Poincare's fall, is a celebrated engineer who has rendered distinguished service to his country. He is a native of Roubaix. After passing from the Ecole Polytechnique into an artillery regiment, in which he spent a year, he entered the service of the Campagnie du Nord, in which he remained in various capacities for six years. Not finding enough scope for his activities, he left the country and turned his attention to public works. For 13 years he was engaged in carrying out a succession of schemes of first-rate importance, both abroad and in France. He directed the construction of a number of railways in the Turkish Empire, in the Balkans and in Serbia, and built the railway from Petrograd to Kola to obviate the difficulties caused by the winter conditions at Archangel. During the war he rendered high services to the French Government in connection with the manufacture of explosives.

Stories That Recall Others

What Could Mother Say?

Jimmie was fond of killing insects in spite of his mother's admonitions that "God didn't like little boys that did such things."

"Well, look what you do," the little boy replied to this warning one day. "Just what do I do," the mother asked.

"You know what you do isn't very nice," persisted the child.

"What is it, then?"

"Look at all the roaches you kill," retorted Jimmie.

The Feet in a Reel.

Some moving pictures were made of an entertainment and later the people had an opportunity to see themselves on the screen. One of the men in the picture turned to his friend when it was all over and said: "That was a case where there were not feet enough in a reel to suit me."

"Yes," agreed the friend, "and I've also seen times when there was too much reel in your own feet for your own good."

A Little Talk on Thrift

Mother's Clothes.

"Why mother," cried the little boy, his eyes shining, "you look just like a schoolgirl in that white waist and blue tie. I like that, wear it again!"

Children do notice mother's clothes and are quite fine little critics. It is interesting and profitable to question the reasons for their approval or disapproval of various dresses, and a wise mother will talk over her clothes with the children. If she explains the reasons she chose a certain color, how she matched her hat to her gloves, why this cloth is stronger than something else, and all the little effects that combine thrift and good taste the children will not only be pleased at her confidence in their understanding, but will absorb much useful knowledge about clothes.

"I like to go out with you since you made that new skirt," said a little girl, "the other one didn't look so nice."

If a mother gets careless or discouraged and lets her clothes lose their charm, the children resent it even if they do not voice it. It is only fair to the children for mother to spend as much effort and thought on her own clothes as she does on their fascinating apparel, and then in later years they will not demand everything, but will want mother to have pretty things, too.

It pays to understand and weigh a child's remarks about clothes as that is one way of learning how the little brain is working. A mother came into the room where two boys were playing and showed them her new silvery gray stray hat.

"You look just like a hearse," answered the younger boy delightedly.

The remark was rather startling, but the mother smiled and said, "Do you like this hat?"

"Oh, yes, it's so shiny and pretty," replied the boy, "and I like the silver look."

"Did you see anything today about that same color?" asked the mother, still searching for the reason back of that first remark.

"Yes, I saw a carriage all silver and shiny like your hat," nodded the child, "and brother said it was a hearse."

The connection was explained, for childlike, he had connected the first gray hearse he had seen with the silvery gray hat. His mind was grasping the fact of a new color effect. If the mother had been irritated at his impulsive remark, or had laughed it away, she would have hurt the child and driven his new thoughts and confidences back into himself.

To dress tastefully, to bring the children into companionship with mother by sensible discussing clothes and the art of dressing, to make it a jolly, festive occasion when mother has something new, is to realize that in the development of the child life an important part is played even by mother's clothes.

THE PILL HOLD-UP

The drug clerk was just about to close up. It was getting late. The last policeman to rub his nose against the plate glass window, was far down the avenue when the clerk switched off the electric lights and turned the lock. Then it all happened.

A man rushed up to the door. "Say, mas, I want a box of Beecham's Pills. Simply must have them!" he exclaimed. "Store's closed for the day," remarked the clerk as he pocketed the key. "Like thunder it is!" shouted the late comer. "I've got to have a box of Beecham's Pills tonight." The altercation grew heated. There was an exchange of blows.

Then the clerk took off his broken glasses, unlocked the door and handed out a 50 cent box of Beecham's Pills.

Can you beat it?

Beecham's Pills are so pleasantly effective in making sick stomachs well, sluggish livers active, and lazy bowels to function as they should, that Beecham's steadfast friends and supporters sometimes overflow with strenuous enthusiasm.

INCREASE IN IMPORTS; DECREASE IN EXPORTS

Washington, Aug. 19.—The sharp increase in imports into this country from Europe reflects the improved business conditions in the United States rather than competitive production on the part of Europe, says an announcement made public today by the department of commerce. Similarly the decrease in American exports to Europe is interpreted as a sign of decreased productivity with a consequent decreased purchasing power in certain European areas due to disturbed economic conditions.

Despite the four per cent. reduction in exports from this country to Europe during the first six months of the current year, Europe remains America's largest customer. Shipments to the European countries during that period constituted 59 per cent. of the total export trade of the United States. The 40 per cent. increase in imports from Europe during the first half of the year is accounted for largely by increased purchases of raw materials, such as wool, tin and pig iron.

"Total exports of the United States to all European countries during the first half of 1923 amounted to $950,000,000," the statement says, "and imports into the United States from Europe to $613,000,000. Our balances of trade with the rest of the world during that period was unfavorable to the extent of $478,000,000; thus the favorable balance with Europe, amounting to $337,000,000, reduced our unfavorable world trade balance to $141,000,000 for the first half of 1923."

TWO AUTOS WRECKED IN NORWICH TOWN CRASH

The dangerous combination of a fast moving automobile, sudden application of brakes and a slippery highway caused the wrecking of two Chevrolet cars at Norwich Town about 9.15 o'clock Sunday night and put Pedro Defilippo of 22 Winter street, Willimantic, in the Backus hospital, suffering with slight abrasions on the chin.

According to the stories of witnesses of the accident the Chevrolet touring car driven by George Habeeb of 270 Main street was headed toward Norwich and was traveling at a speed of about 35 miles an hour. He was fast overtaking a car ahead driven by William O'Leary of Bretson street and after passing it figured he did not have room enough to clear another car which was coming toward him and slammed on his brakes, which caused the car to skid and whirl about, making four complete revolutions, striking a Chevrolet sedan owned and operated by Herman Siegel of 36 Bentley avenue.

As the Habeeb car spun around it crashed into the Siegel car, smashing in the rear left fender, then whirled around again and dented in the sides of the body, breaking the window glass on the left side of the car.

In the Siegel car as passengers were Mr. Defilippo of Willimantic and two boys. Flying glass struck him on the chin, inflicting a painful gash. He was rushed to the Backus hospital, where the gash was sewed up, and later in the evening he returned home to Willimantic.

The Habeeb car was badly wrecked, the right rear wheel was ripped off and the fender jammed up against the body, a large hole torn through the rear of the body, the gas tank punctured, auto top crushed in and left door and body above the left fender jammed out of shape. The car was later hauled to a local garage, where it was ordered held by the state police.

The Siegel car suffered a smashed left front fender, broken running board, dents along the left side of the body and broken windows, but was able to go to a local garage under its own power.

State Policemen Caron and Henry despatched from the barracks at Groton to investigate the accident served notice on Habeeb to appear in court at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning to answer to a charge of reckless driving. Habeeb having admitted traveling at a speed of about 35 miles an hour, the same speed other witnesses had credited him with making.

STATE BANKING LAWS CODIFIED BY COMMISSIONER J. S. BYRNE

John B. Byrne, of Hartford and Putnam, state bank commissioner, has just received from the printer copies of all Connecticut banking laws now in force. In compiling this new codification Commissioner Byrne has departed from custom and placed the negotiable instruments statutes in a separate pamphlet, as a convenience for bankers.

The laws relating to state banks and trust companies, savings banks, industrial banks, building and loan associations, private bankers, and small loan companies, were taken from the General Statutes, revision of 1918, and include all amendments by the legislatures of 1919, 1921 and 1923. References to decisions of the supreme court up to date have also been included.

Two complete and accurate indices are attached, one arranged alphabetically by subject, the other giving page location of all sections.

Attached to the negotiable instruments pamphlet is a thorough index so that any section or any subject may be found expeditiously. In this codification also the General Statutes revision of 1918 have been employed.

As new legislatures amend existing banking laws the amendments will be printed in leaflet form and distributed to all holders of the new codifications.

The work of indexing the two volumes, which was a very difficult and laborious task, has been done with the greatest possible accuracy and completeness.

That some of the larger insurance companies are going to cease issuing policies to Ford owners is discouraging news to the many owners of that popular car. The eleven cars were occupied by the coast artillery units as follows: 352nd Co., 350th Co., 345th Co., 346th, Coast Artillery corps band, combination car boys, 347th Co., 351st Co., 349th Co., 348th Co., 43rd Signal corps. A march was played by the band while the 349th company entrained. Arriving at New London the artillery corps were taken by government transports to Fishers Island for their tour of duty at Fort Wright.

Saturday night on the Potter Hill road, near Dewey park, a collision between two touring cars resulted in damage to both machines and injury to one passenger, Ernest L. Day of Bradford, R. I., was driving a Ford touring car 22951 R. I., when the touring car 319180 Mass., driven by John Forssi of 6 Johnson street, Fitchburg, Mass., was met, coming toward Westerly. It is claimed that the operators were blinded by strong headlights, both holding to the center of the road with the resultant interlocking of the wheels which forced the machines off the road. The Massachusetts car suffered the lesser damage but Carl Mrcesky, of 63 Mechanic street was thrown to the road. Dr. Scanlon was called to attend the man and found him suffering painful injuries to his hips and knees.

The Day automobile, as it left the road, just missing striking a telegraph pole, and struck the stone wall with such force as to level a breadthway, throwing the stones a dozen or fifteen feet into an adjacent field. The front running gear was completely wrecked. A local wrecking derrick towed both machines to Westerly.

Sunday, the Pawcatuck Congregational and Calvary Baptist churches held a union service at the Congregational church, in the morning Rev. William R. Oliver being the preacher.

Grace Methodist Episcopal church again united with the congregation at the Broad Street Christian church, when the preaching was by Rev. M. S. Stocking, at the morning service.

Rev. A. L. Davis preached at the morning service of the First Baptist church, which was followed by Bible school and the men's class.

At Christ Episcopal church Rev. Edgar Tobin, the rector, celebrated holy communion. This service was followed by church school and morning prayer and sermon.

The churches combined Sunday evening to attend a service at the Chautauqua tent. The Sunday evening service was addressed by United States Senator Dr. Royal S. Copeland of New York. Through the cooperation of the Chautauqua Association, Dr. Copeland, a former New York health commissioner, was enabled to speak on the subject of Hospitalization, in furtherance of the drive for the $250,000 Westerly Hospital Fund.

Before Judge William A. Wilcox in Stonington town court Saturday morning Vincent Faillace of 54 Mechanic street, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a Stevens-Duryea touring car Thursday evening without a car registration. He was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $3 and costs amounting to $15.60, which was paid.

In a special session of the Third district court Saturday morning, before Clerk M. Walter Flynn, Arthur G. Jarvis of Pittsburgh, Pa., was presented by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, charged with operating a motor vehicle on Franklin street in excess of the legal 15 miles per hour. Acting Special Officer George Madison stated the circumstances in the case, the defendant driving his automobile into Westerly at a speed greater than 45 miles per hour. When his attention was called by the traffic officer to his excessive speed, defendant stated that he did not see the warning sign and in Pennsylvania where he came from the law required such speed limit signs to be placed on both sides of the road a quarter of a mile apart. On his plea of guilty Clerk Flynn sentenced him to pay a fine of $15 and costs, amounting to $17.76, which was paid.

Sheriff John R. Wilcox of Washington county, accompanied by Deputy Sheriffs Fred Mitchell of Westerly and Phillips of Kingston, Chief of Police Brown of Westerly and Patrolman Billman of Wakefield, and Madison of Westerly, raided the Narragansett club and Elms cottage, at Narragansett Pier Friday night, at 11.30 o'clock. It was alleged that John C. Joyce was the proprietor of these places and he was placed under arrest on the charge of being a common gambler. When brought before Judge James O. Watts of the Second district court at noon Saturday the defendant pleaded not guilty and was released on $1,000 bail furnished by Harry Egan of Narragansett Pier for his appearance for trial this (Monday) morning. Six hundred poker chips and six packs of cards were the net results of Friday night's raid, although at the Elms cottage were found several men playing solitaire and only a colored attendant at the Narragansett club, as reported by Sheriff Wilcox. The searching party were armed with writs which gave them authority to seize roulette wheels or other gambling paraphernalia. Joyce is said to own the Clark block, Elms cottage and two other houses at the pier.

The annual outing of Westerly Masonic club was held Saturday at the Wequetequock casino. At noon a clam chowder was served and the bake was opened at 5.30 o'clock. In the afternoon a freak baseball game was played by two teams from Franklin lodge and one from Pawcatuck lodge. The odd innings were played by the first team from Franklin lodge and the even ones by the second Franklin lodge team. Pawcatuck lodge team defeated Franklin lodge, 17 to 8, Franklin lodge trimmed Pawcatuck in the tug of war in two straight 30-second pulls. Freeman and Phillips of Pawcatuck lodge won the potato race. Quoits, cards and other sports filled the remainder of the afternoon until bake time.

At an early hour Sunday morning Sergt. Donald Ferguson and Officer Michael Curtin of Westerly responded to a telephone call from Watch Hill where an attempted robbery was reported at Napatree, the summer cottage of Samuel G. Bettle. The officers found that Mr. Bettle was awakened at 2.15 o'clock by a noise on the veranda. Mr. Bettle went down from the second floor and upon opening the inside French doors was confronted by a colored man, who kicked him in the leg and struck him in the eye with his fist, knocking him to the floor. On the veranda beyond the man who was attempting to force the door appeared another negro. As Mr. Bettle fell to the floor both men fled. The police found where the attempted entrance was made but no clue which would lead to the identity of the would-be burglars. Three years ago this cottage was robbed of considerable valuable silverware.

A special session of the Third district court was held in the office of Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown on Sunday night at 8 o'clock. James King, who had been arrested, charged with intoxication, was found guilty by Judge Michael J. Turano, and it being his second offense, was fined $10 and costs amounting to $13.80 which was paid.

NEW LONDON COUNTY FAIR PROMISES PLENTY OF ACTION

Only a few short weeks and the sixty-ninth annual New London County Fair will open at the local fairgrounds, to continue for three days, September 3, 4 and 5.

Never before in the history of the local society have so many big attractions been secured. Speed Secretary A. J. Bailey has signed for nine fast racing events for a total purse of $4300 and has signed many new horses this year as a result in the change of entries, not charging all extrants the usual 5 per cent of the purse, the 5 per cent to be deducted from the winners in the nine events only.

Secretary Gilbert S. Raymond reports that the midway attractions are larger this year and more varied than ever, including several novelty features that will be sure to attract the public. Swahn's orchestra of 20 pieces and the Italian band of 18 pieces have been secured to give continuous music during the three days of the fair. Six big headline acts have also been secured and these will be seen each afternoon of the fair on the platform in front of the grandstands, all free with admittance to the gate. Another feature will be the balloon ascension every afternoon at 4 o'clock with the tripple parachute drop as a thriller.

Besides the large exhibits of farm products, prize poultry, blooded stock and womens and juvenile exhibits there is to be a big automobile show this year to be held in a tent 60 x 140 feet located just inside the main gate.

Action every minute has been the slogan of the fair committee for 1923 and all indications are that the slogan will be carried out.

Breed Theatre

A comparative newcomer to motion pictures, but one for whom big things can be predicted, is Marion Mack, who plays the part of "Mary in the Movies," the big Film Booking Office production which is now playing at the Breed Theatre.

Miss Mack has youth, beauty and a sincerity of interpretation that are refreshing—coupled with an obvious sense of humor and of values that is a rare asset.

As the little girl from Barstow, Arizona, who, urged by the necessity of making money to provide an operation for her lame brother, sets out alone for Hollywood to make her way in motion pictures, Miss Mack is a poignantly appealing figure. Never once does she permit her personality to be overshadowed by the surroundings into which she is thrown—surrounding in which a player of greater stellar attraction might easily have lost her way and been buried in detail that have been provided for this feature.

For here is a glitteringly complete background for any picture—a group of stars, forty or more of them, of such prominence as never before to have been grouped together into one single production. Here is the story of Hollywood itself—its people, its studios, its homes—told with a strength of touch that grips the interest and the imagination. The inside story of Hollywood as it is—not fiction, but exactly as it seemed to a real girl seeking to find a place among them. For the story of Mary is a true one, and its sincerity is apparent through every foot of action.

"SCARS OF JEALOUSY" AT THE STRAND TODAY

Lloyd Hughes, who is featured with Marguerite de la Motte in Thomas H. Ince's latest screen production, "Scars of Jealousy," says that he knows just how it feels to be a bandit captured by a sheriff's posse.

"If there's anything more exciting than being hunted down by a mob of shouting, yelling men trying to make a realistic scene for a motion picture, I don't know what it is unless it's being hunted down by a real sheriff's posse," says Hughes.

"During the 'hunt' scenes in 'Scars of Jealousy' I tried to imagine how a bandit really does feel when he knows the cops are after him. The more I thought of it the more excited I became. And by the time the mob was ready to drag me out from my hiding place I was actually scared stiff. I could feel the cold shivers and creeps running up and down my spine.

"In the scene where the gang was ready to retire me with pomp and ceremony on the end of a rope, the wacie thing became too realistic for me. Judging from my own experience in 'Scars of Jealousy,' I believe that the subject of a real lynching doesn't know what's going on. He's too far gone with fright, I imagine, to realize his predicament. Just while Marguerite de la Motte, as the heroine in the picture, was rescuing me from my captors, the time the camera men took to fix their camaras into position seemed an eternity.

"It's ridicrous to say so now, but I found myself thinking half-consciously: 'Suppose Marguerite doesn't get here in time and some of those chaps who are supposed to be lynchers actually do get me!'

"I could feel the perspiration standing out all over me. The whole proposition was to awful to contemplate. I think Dr. Coue is right in his theory of auto-suggestion. For the first couple of days after that scene I never passed a policeman on the street without jumping at the thought that perhaps he was going to arrest me."

"Scars of Jealousy" will be shown at the Strand theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A new Mermaid comedy featuring Lige Conley in "Three Strikes" and a News Weekly will be the short subjects.

Paint for this garage less than $6.00

DO you know that you can give a garage like this (12'x20') two good coats of paint with 1¾ gallons of Certain-teed, making the paint cost less than $6? Give your garage the same attention you give your car. You can keep both looking like new with a little paint.
Certain-teed paint keeps your property from running down and decreases the average yearly depreciation by about one-half. Certain-teed shows its quality in three ways: it lasts longer, holds its color better, and covers more surface than ordinary paint.
Certain-teed paints excel in covering capacity, hiding power, and color retaining value. We know of no other paints offering such good value.

JEWETT CITY

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Alley and daughter Lauretta left Sunday for two weeks' automobile trip to Canada and the White mountains.

Howard R. Campbell of Bayonne, N. J., is visiting his father, Fred S. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lee of Providence spent Saturday at T. E. Lee's.

An automobile smash occurred at Tadpole a few minutes before 4 o'clock Sunday morning, due to fog. The machines were a special six Buick owned and driven by Harry Levine of 14 Green avenue. He was getting an early start for Boston with his family, with Israel Rosen as a passenger. The other machine was a Studebaker touring car owned by Anna E. Clary of 26 Baker street, Hartford, being driven by her brother, Eugene Clary; and carrying two passengers bound from Providence to Niantic camp.

Word was sent to the borough by a passing machine. Night Policeman Henry Viegard was just going off duty when notified. He aroused Dr. J. H. McLaughlin. Hurrying to the wreck, they found plenty of need for both officer and physician. Mrs. Caroline Bakanowski, who lives near by, was awakened and the injured ones moved to her home. Dr. McLaughlin was obliged to take nine stitches in parts of Mr. Rosen's face to close the cuts made by flying glass from the windshield. Miss Clary was also bruised and wounded; a stitch was necessary to close a bad cut over one eye. Officer Viegard ordered the machines moved to the Rojeski garage. Later Officer Viegard secured an automobile and took the Clary party to their destination. Levine was on his side of the road, with Clary a little over the center. The officer, however, declared the fog so dense that the accident was practically unavoidable.

Along after midnight Saturday, as a result of the decided drop in temperature, a heavy white fog settled down over the borough. People who were obliged to be out report that objects only a few feet away could be made out with difficulty, while familiar landmarks and buildings seemed changed in shape. Shortly after sunrise the fog disappeared as if by magic.

The current number of the Literary Digest has an interesting story about the persistency of direction with which certain vines twine up their support. The pole bean and the common woodbine are among those that twist to the right in climbing a pole. A one-time resident of the borough maintained that woodbine, newly set out in front of his house, would climb the porch support in the way he first trained it. He carefully wound the new vine around the post, turning it to the left. Nothing doing. It straightened out where it was possible and in a space between the fastenings it looped back upon itself in an attempt to climb to the right. The man was convinced after all attempts failed. On the next post a honeysuckle vine, turning to the left, grew and thrived.

Saturday night was the coldest of the summer. At one time in the early morning hours Sunday the mercury dropped to 42. The colony of campers on the upper Aspinook passed a sorry night. Every available quilt was brought into requisition, with reports from reliable sources that several slept with their clothes on, and one young chap crawled under the mattress. Other reports state that chunks of the Quinebaug fog were cut out with camp hatchets and preserved for hours in the tent refrigerating boxes.

Shortly before 9 o'clock Sunday morning the Ponemah Wheel club of Taftville paraded up over the state road, with an escort of the state constabulary, bound for an outing down the Providence river. Headed by the president's car, the 30 automobiles were decorated in the most astonishing fashion. Hundreds of bobbing toy balloons and the long many-colored streamers furnished an attractive sight. The band wagon did its part, the musicians playing popular airs.

LAUREL GLEN

Mrs. Louise Skinner and daughter Evangeline, with three friends, motored from New York and were week end guests of Mrs. Skinner's mother, Mrs. William Puttiker.

Mr. and Mrs. Denis Cash and family of New York, who have been spending several weeks with Mrs. Margaret Schmidt, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Geer and Bourden Geer and Mr. and Mrs. William Puttiker attended the Pendleton Hill Sunday school picnic at Beach pond Wednesday.

POETRY

LIFE'S SUNSET HOURS.

Being such an one as Paul the Aged —Phil. iv.

Soft falls the deepening twilight o'er the land,
And flower and field and forest, cliff and town
Transmute their variant colors to dull brown
Against the saffron sky. I had not planned
For night so speedily to settle down
And close life's busy day with glooms frown
Upon its labors, incomplete to hand.

Ah, would I might with wave of Joshua's wand
But cause the setting sun of life to wait
Till all one's soulful task and purposes grand
For Christ's loved cause and human need might stand
In love accomplished—brought to perfect state
As rich, ripe grain from seed! Yet be it mine
If night must fall, to see God's Stars outshine!
—Rev. George G. Phipps, in Boston Transcript.

EXULTANT PRAISE.

My heart and soul, in holy contemplation
Of all the goodness God hath shown to me,
Would sing aloud, with grateful exultation,
A hymn of praise in notes of high degree;
But earthly songs can ne'er express the glory
That floods the world in goodness from above;
No human tongue can half recite the story
Of God's unfailing, providential love.

Divine Creator of my life and being!
With all my powers to see and feel and know,
With all creation's happy plan agreeing
To thee the deepest gratitude I owe;
In all the seasons as they come and go,
While in my heart the anthem swells profoundly:
"All praise to God, from whom all blessings flow."

I cannot reach the song my soul is singing,
But I would listen to the notes divine;
And in the world I hear the echo ringing
And telling God the song of praise is mine;
For in my heart the blessed Christ is dwelling
To brighten all of life as heaven above;
Goodness and Mercy unto man are telling,
God is our Father and his name is love.
—Edgar Cooper Mason, in The Continent.

The wedding ring of plain gold, which is a survival of Saxon times, has outlived several attempts at change of fashion. For instance, at the marriage of Queen Mary of England to Philip of Spain, the English statesmen debated the question of the ring and wished to have it jeweled, but Mary herself intervened by declaring that she would not have it set with gems, for she chose to be wedded with a plain hoop of gold like other maidens.

INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN THROWN FROM SPEEDING TOURING CAR

Charles Manning, 49, of High street, Willimantic, was almost instantly killed Saturday evening about 6 o'clock, when a Ford touring car, in which he was a passenger, crashed into a high bank by the roadside at the top of Franklin Hill, on the Norwich-Willimantic highway. The machine, owned and driven by John Maheu, of Bricktop road, Willimantic, was, it is claimed, traveling at a fast rate.

Striking the road bank the machine partly overturned, throwing Manning onto the macadam highway. Manning's skull was crushed by the impact. Maheu, who is about 29 years of age, escaped with scratches about the face and hands sustained from broken glass when the windshield was smashed. A bottle, which evidently contained liquor, was found in the machine after the accident.

Maheu was arrested by Deputy Sheriff George Hoxie of Lebanon and Constable Fenton of Norwich and brought to the Norwich police station on charges of reckless driving and driving while under the influence of liquor. He is locked up at the police station here and will probably be given a hearing this (Monday) morning before Coroner J. J. Desmond. It was said Sunday afternoon that a charge of manslaughter may be brought against him today.

Coroner Desmond and Medical Examiner C. C. Gildersleeve of this city visited the scene of the fatality and conducted an investigation. Permission was given for the removal of the body to this city Saturday evening. On Sunday the body was taken to Willimantic.

Maheu claims that Manning had asked him for a ride. A resident of Franklin who met the Ford car just before the fatality stated that it was traveling at a fast rate of speed while rounding a bend in the road about 250 yards west of Franklin hill. From what could be learned of the accident ons of the tires evidently blew out, causing the machine to sway back and forth for a distance of about 75 feet before it crashed into the side of the road.

The two right wheels and left front wheel of the Ford were demolished and the windshield was smashed. Marks in the road showed where the touring car swerved, the tireless wheel cutting deep grooves in the roadbed.

The dead man leaves his wife and a sister, Mrs. Lena Nichols, of Mansfield. Maheu has a wife and several children in Willimantic. Maheu, when arrested did not have his driver's license with him. The machine is registered under the name of Mrs. Lucille Maheu, R. F. D. No. 1, Windham.

TAKEN TO STATE HOSPITAL FOR OBSERVATION

New London, Aug. 19.—Augustus E. Littlefield, of No. 36 Rosemary street, and employed as assistant superintendent of the Central Vermont railroad in New London, displayed such unmistakable symptoms of insanity this afternoon that he was committed to the Norwich State Hospital for the Insane for observation.

Mr. Littlefield appeared at the Standard garage on Golden street this noon and demanded an automobile, which he declared he had purchased. As Mr. Littlefield was not known to the garage employes and because he had not been sold a car, the afflicted man and the garage employes had a war of words. Finally the police were communicated with and Motorcycle Officer William Babcock and Traffic Officer William Corcoran were dispatched to take charge of Mr. Littlefield.

At the police station Mr. Littlefield threatened to shoot the acting prosecuting attorney and became so violent that he was locked up. Later friends of Mr. Littlefield appeared at the police station and offered to maintain a watch over the victim if he was allowed to go in their custody. This was finally agreed to and Mr. Littlefield accompanied his friend to his home. Arriving at his residence, Mr. Littlefield started to abuse everyone within his reach and then went to the yard and destroyed a number of fruit trees.

When the police went to the Littlefield home about 5.30 o'clock accompanied by an examining physician, Mr. Littlefield made no trouble for the officers, getting into an automobile quietly and then being taken to the institution.

Mr. Littlefield's attack is attributed to overwork. Until about three years ago he was a locomotive engineer with a run between New London and Brattleboro. He was then made assistant to Superintendent Guthrie and the mental work was so great that Mr. Littlefield's mentality became effected, so much so that he has been under the care of a physician for a number of months.

FLAMES DESTROY BARN, HAY CROPS, SHED AND TRUCK

A large barn filled with hay and crops, a small shed and a milk room nearby owned by David A. Schwartz of Bozrah, with a Reo truck owned by the Mohegan Dairy of New London, were destroyed by fire Sunday morning about 9 o'clock, the loss running in several thousand dollars.

The fire started when something went wrong with the ignition on the truck causing a spark and fire. Before the fire could be checked it had reached the gasoline tank which exploded throwing flames in all directions, quickly setting fire to the barn.

Flames spread quickly and the truck could not be backed out of the barn in time to save it and was destroyed with the other buildings.

Word was sent to the Norwich department but as there was no water supply near the farm Chief H. L. Stanton told Mr. Schwartz to call the Yantic station. The Yantic pumper was immediately sent out to Bozrah and connecting up with a brook about a thousand feet away the firemen soon had water playing onto the house to save it from destruction. Nothing could be done to save the barn and sheds nearby but the work of the Yantic department held back the flames and saved the house.

Mr. Schwartz had filled the barn with hay this season and a good part of his crops were stored in the barn, all being lost along with some farm tools. Mr. Schwartz carried some insurance, but the insurance will not cover the loss by several thousands dollars.

NORWICH DOLLAR DAY AGAIN PROVES SUCCESS

Dollar Day has come and gone. Again Saturday the trading public of Eastern Connecticut enjoyed a day when bargains were many and everything advertised by the merchants was up to the mark. Early in the morning the crowd began to gather on the streets and busines swas heavy throughout the day and until the doors were closed in the evening.

People had evidently read the advertisements of the merchants for in practically all cases, specials were asked for and this aided greatly in the work of speeding up the sales and giving the customer what was wanted with the least possible delay.

The weather conditions were perfect for the day and people came from long distances to take advantage of the offerings of the ninety-nine merchants of the city who banded together for one day to give bargains to customers in Norwich and from all surrounding points.

The trolley company had a heavy day for nearly ever car to come into the city brought a capacity load."

WHAT TENTH LEPER GAINED FATHER MAY'S SUBJECT

"How many of us are like the ungrateful leper?" asked Rev. M. H. May, rector of St. Patrick's church, preaching at the 7.30 mass Sunday morning from the gospel for the Sunday, which was the thirteenth after Pentecost, Luke 17. 11-19. The ten afflicted men had been cleansed by the power of Almighty God and the gracious love of the Saviour, yet only one was found to return to give glory to God—and he was a stranger.

The preacher spoke of the indifference of so many among mankind in accepting the myriad gifts of God, even while they have faith in prayer, as had the nine. They are content with the material answer to their petitions; the tenth leper gained what the others missed—he came into spiritual touch with his Saviour and was told to arise and go his way, since his faith had made him whole. Those who have the true faith are not satisfied with its mere profession, but go further, manifest it in actualities performed, add to their faith works, deeds, acts. The brief sermon was a vigorous condemnation of the too common sin of ingratitude.

In giving holy communion to the large number receiving the Sacrament, who were led to the altar by the members of the Rosary society, Father May had the assistance of Rev. Rocco J. Guerriero.

HELD IN CONNECTION WITH WOOD ALCOHOL DEATH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Aug. 19.—The first appearance of wood alcohol among the distributors of booze in violation of the Volstead act was in New London Thursday and a result Frank Santora, aged about 32, of No. 12 Home street and employed as a tailor, is dead, having been found dead in bed by Mrs. Pietro Trafaganda, his aunt, Saturday morning after having been under treatment for the poison a day. Joseph Poretti of Belden street and Sebastino Teresi of Willimantic, are under arrest, charged with distributing the alcohol.

Coroner J. J. Desmond came to New London this afternoon and conducted an inquest, the examination of witnesses not being concluded untid 4.30 o'clock. At the conclusion of the inquest Coroner Desmond ordered Poretti and Turesi held on a charge of manslaughter. Bail was fixed at $2,500. Poretti obtained surety on his bond in Rocco and Josephine Mariano. Turesi was unable to procure a bondsman.

All of the witnesses answered the interrogatives of Coroner Desmond readily except Poretti and Turesi, both being apparently indifferent relative to supplying the desired information and apparently having been advised to refrain from answering incriminating questions until they take the stand in their own defense in court.

RAISE FUND OF $300 FOR NEAR EAST RELIEF

About 300 local Greeks attended the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, the talk being delivered by Professor J. P. Xenides of New York, formerly of Asia Minor, who told of the terrible conditions and treatment the refugees are undergoing. Mr. Xenides said that thousands of these refugees are either driven from their homes or deported by the Turks, and that thousands of them are killed. At the present time, he said, the Near East Relief is feeding and clothing all who can be reached and they are being assisted to escape the Turks. In addition to helping the thousands of refugees, the American relief organization is caring for more than 100,000 orphaned children, and teaching them a useful trade and also compelling the children to attend a regular school four hours a day.

Father Philotheos Kondylikas, pastor of the local Greek church, also spoke and said among other things that his people were desirous of continuing this work of the Near East Relief.

In the response to the appeal for funds about $300 in cash and pledges, was raised and George Belemezis was appointed chairman of a committee to canvass those who were not able to attend the meeting. A moving picture was shown which clearly defined the relief work.

ILLEGAL SALES AND USE OF HOOTCH KEEP NEW LONDON POLICE BUSY

New London, Aug. 19.—Following the death of Frank Santora from wood alcohol, and the arrest of the persons suspected of providing the wood alcohol, the police today caused raids to be made upon two places where liquor was alleged to be sold.

About 10 o'clock Sergeant Nelson Smith and Patrolman Thomas Cavanaugh, Augustus Ray, John Foley, James McKenna, Edward Daniels and Motorcycle Officer William Babcock, armed with a search warrant, visited the place of Thomas F. Callahan at No. 147 Main street, reputed to be a place where liquor had been obtainable for some time. The searchers were rewarded in obtaining a quantity of pints and quarts of whiskey, both rye and Scotch. Callahan was taken into custody and with him the seized liquors were brought to the police station. Callahan furnished a bond of $300.

Sergeant Smith and his patrolmen raided the house at No. 559 Main street, where Mrs. Victoria Coman, wife of William Coman, resides. The officers searched the house and found a small quantity of alcohol and several cases of home brewed beer. Also found in the place was a quantity of labels bearing the names of former standard brands of liquors, rum and gin, which, it is alleged, were forgeries and which were to be applied to bottles in an endeavor to make sales. Mrs. Coman was taken into custody, charged with keeping liquor with intent to sell and later was released upon furnishing a surety on her bond of $300 for appearance in the police court Monday morning.

Lillian Hazard was found in a helpless state of intoxication on Hempstead street Saturday night and was taken into custody by Patrolman George Laboue. Today she was released on bonds of $50.

Rosario Giordano, of Groton, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Patrolman Nelson Smith, charged with violation of the automobile law when Giordano's car was found parked away from the curb and in a position to block traffic.

Michael Scalzulo, 88 Main street, on whom the police have maintained a close watch for several weeks, Scalzulo being suspected of being a member of the gang of New London rum-runners and who has been arrested twice within a month, was taken into custody a third time Saturday morning, charged with perjury. He will be given a hearing in the police court on Monday morning and in the meantime is at liberty, having secured sureties in Frank May and Gaspero Ferrigno on his bond of $1,500. The specific charge against Scalzulo is that he made false statements to the motor vehicle department in obtaining automobile registration.

An automobile, owned and operated by Raymond Donovan, 260 Connecticut avenue and a delivery auto, owned by Schwaner Brothers and operated by Clarence E. Bennett, 63 Jefferson avenue, were in collision on State street, Saturday night. The damage was slight. Each placed responsibility for the accident upon the other.

Howard J. Steiner of the Hotel Embassy, New York, was taken into custody Saturday night by Motorcycle Officer John Cavanaugh at the request of the toll collector of the Saybrook bridge, charged with evading the payment of toll. Steiner paid the amount of the toll and was allowed to continue to his destination.

Peter Russo of New Britain went to the Y. M. C. A. about midnight Saturday and while he used the washroom a thief went through the pockets of his coat, suspended from a hanger on the wall, and stole Russo's automobile operator's license and registration. Patrolman Braxton Hill discovered the license and registration in the gutter on Meridian street where the thief had evidently thrown it.

Complaint was received by the police this morning that a motor meter had been stolen from a truck at the Carroll garage, Bank street.

Tony Bisconti, 819 Bank street, was arrested Saturday by State Policeman F. J. Henry, charged with operating an automobile bus while the public utility commission's permit of Bisconti was under suspension.

Erskin D. Garrett, a sailor, stationed at the submarine base, was arrested Saturday night by Motorcycle Officer John Cavanaugh and Patrolman Frank Philopena, charged with operating his automobile while under the influence of liquor and evading responsibility. He was released under bonds of $100.

Harry Mays, a stranger, but who claims to reside in New York, was arrested Saturday evening by Traffic Officer George McCaskey, charged with begging. Mays was complained against by George King of Bank street, who alleged that Mays annoyed him by the persistency with which he solicited alms.

Sebastian Muscarella, who has a little pool room in Shaw street, was bound over to the superior court by Judge Prince, Saturday, for having liquor in his possession with the alleged intention of selling it. His bail was fixed at $1000 and this Muscarella promptly furnished, declaring that he was not guilty. The officers testified that they saw Muscarella go from the store and that they saw a second man there, apparently in the act of passing money to Sebastian, ostensibly to pay for liquor that was served to him in a bottle. The officers hunted in the yard and there they found a quart of liquor that tested 45 per cent alcohol. This bottle, the police claim, was thrown in the yard by Sebastian when he saw that he was caught. Joe Spadaro went on the witness stand and claimed ownership of the liquor, saying that it did not belong to Muscarella, but to him, and that he was at Saybrook a few hours before and there purchased it.

The state could not present any testimony to contradict Spadaro's statement that he was the owner of the liquor, and he, claiming the booze, the testimony goes to the superior court uncontradicted.

Thomas Scanlan, found by State Policeman Stevens operating an automobile without a license, was fined $10 in the police court Saturday. Scanlan had a Rhode Island car and was operating it without a Connecticut license.

James F. Shreenan will have to answer a charge of reckless operating next Saturday. His case has twice been before the court, but Shreenan has not appeared to acknowledge his guilt or to defend his conduct.

Louis Flinchman, a youthful sailor on a United States ship in the harbor, has been held for trial in the superior court two weeks hence for enticing a girl of 13 away from her home and with taking her to Boston where he cohabited with her several days. The girl is Alice Curran. Flinchman is not yet 21, so Richard W. Mansfield was appointed guardian ad litem. The bail fixed to hold Flinchman was $2,000 which he could not secure so was sent to jail. The Curran girl is being held at the state farm for women.

Samuel Jaffee, 168 Howard street, was arrested by Traffic Officer William Corcoran yesterday afternoon, charged with violation of the automobile law in turning his car around on State street.

The deed transferring a house and lot on Pequot avenue from Byron A. Fones to Lottie E. Seaman of Groton, was received for record at the office of City Clerk Julian D. Moran Saturday. Mr. Fones, who is employed by the Merritt-Chapman-Scott Wrecking Company, was recently transferred from the New London office of the company to New York.

Mrs. Frank M. Henson, a summer resident at Eastern Point, reported to the police Friday night that while she left her automobile parked on Bank street, south of State street, a few minutes, it was stolen. Traffic Officer George McCaskey later located the automobile a short distance from where it was taken.

L. Beach Hungerford, 79, died Friday night at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Frank T. Cable of No. 696 Montauk avenue. Mr. Hungerford, who had been in ill health a long time is also survived by another daughter, Mrs. Robert S. Gardner of New London.

NO EFFORT TO HASTEN THE DEBT FUNDING AGREEMENTS

United States Not to Press Its Foreign War-Time Debtors—Decision Reached as a Result of Information Obtained in Europe by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon—Mr. Mellon to Continue as Head of the Treasury Department—Announcement Made After Conference With President Coolidge.

Washington, Aug. 20.—The American government probably will make no immediate effort to hasten negotiation of debt funding agreements with its foreign wartime debtors as a result of information brought back to the treasury today by Secretary Mellon.

Determination upon such a policy was practically assured when it became known that Mr. Mellon, who has just returned from a two months' vacation in Europe, would remain in the cabinet. He conferred with President Coolidge during the day, the announcement being made after that he would continue as head of the treasury department.

Mr. Mellon, who is chairman of the American debt commission, was declared to be pessimistic regarding completion in the near future of additional funding settlements. He was represented as believing, after his study of conditions abroad, that the present was not a good time to attempt inquiries as to what the foreign governments contemplated in the way of repaying the American loans.

He also was said to be of the opinion that legislation prolonging the life of the debt commission, due to expire in another year, would be necessary.

STUDYING PLAN TO HEAL THE BREACH WITH MEXICO

Washington, Aug. 20.—A plan designed as the groundwork of a new structure of friendship and amity between the United States and Mexico was laid formally before the American government today upon the return to Washington of the two commissioners appointed by President Harding to negotiate a reapproachment with the government of General Obregon.

Details of the plan as worked out by Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne with their Mexican colleagues on the international commission will not be revealed for the present nor will responsible officials make any prediction as to the future course of the Washington administration until there has been a careful study of the entire project. Nevertheless, the steps already taken have aroused in official circles an apparent feeling of confidence that the long continued breach between the two republics of the North American continent may be closed at last.

Mr. Warren and Mr. Payne called on Secretary Hughes immediately after their arrival from Mexico City and left on his desk their report of the negotiations and of the agreement reached between the American and Mexican commissioners for settlement of the international claims which have been accumulated since relations between the two capitals were broken. Later in the day the two commissioners were presented to Mr. Hughes to President Coolidge.

It is the general expectation that this study of the report will require at least two weeks.

CHAUFFEUR OF MAYOR OF BOSTON ARRESTED

Cambridge, Mass. Aug. 20.—Edward W. Shea, the chauffeur of Mayor Curley of Boston, was found guilty in the Cambridge court today of three traffic violations in driving the mayor's automobile, which was occupied at the time by Mayor Curley and Mayor Quinn of Cambridge, on their way to Camp Devens. The case was continued until tomorrow.

The specific violations charged against Shea was refusing to show his license to an office, over-speeding and driving to the left of a street car. A fourth charge, of refusing to stop at the officer's order, was dismissed. Both mayors were in the court house during the trial, but took no part in the proceedings.

ROTHSTEIN WAS CLOSETED WITH ATTORNEY HAYWARD

New York, Aug. 20.—Arnold Rothstein, millionaire racetrack man and alleged gambler, several times a witness in the bankruptcy hearings of E. M. Fuller & Co., bucketshop brokers, appeared today at the office of United States Attorney Hayward, and was closeted with that official for more than an hour.

At the end of the conference, Rothstein denied he had visited the prosecutor in connection with the present grand jury investigation of "silent partners" and possibly higher-ups in a bucketing ring, which was started after Fuller and his partner, W. Frank McGee, had given detailed confessions to Mr. Hayward.

"The matter I came to see Mr. Hayward on was a million miles away from the Fuller case," Rothstein declared. Mr. Hayward declined to discuss the meeting.

SILVER POISONING WAS CAUSE OF BLUE SKIN

New York, Aug. 20.—Fred Walters, whose bright blue skin had made him a good living for many years in sideshows died today in Bellevue hospital from heat disease.

Doctors at the institution, greatly interested, made a careful examination of Walters' body, and discovered to their amazement that not only his skin, but all his organs and tissues, including brain, heart and muscles, were of the same brilliant color.

"The coloring," the doctors announced, "was due to 'argyria,' or chronic silver poisoning. Some forty years ago Walters is said to have worked in a mine in Australia. If this report is correct, it is probable that while in the mine Walters breathed into his body nitrate of silver which turned him blue."

CONFESSED SLAYING OF HIS SON-IN-LAW

Newman, Ga., Aug. 20.—John W. Minter, father-in-law of Millard Tronton, who was kidnapped and killed a fortnight ago, tonight made a confession, the police announced, to having slain Tronton. Minter told the police he shot Tronton after he had been kidnapped by Minter's friends for that purpose.

FLIGHT OF 15 BOMBING PLANES OVER NEW ENGLAND

Boston, Aug. 20.—Fifteen planes with complete battle equipment passed over here about five o'clock this afternoon en route for Bangor, Maine, to participate in the peace-time maneuvers of the air force in New England. Five De Haviland observation planes which joined the flight at Mitchel Field, Long Island, this morning, landed at the Boston air port to refuel and pick up Albert E. Herman, cook for the squadron, who was aboard one of three advanced planes, his plane being forced down at South Attleboro last Saturday.

The bombers left Langley Field, Hampton, Va., early this morning and landed at Mitchel Field which they left between 1.55 and 2.45 P. M. From Bangor the planes will on Wednesday scatter to various strategic points throughout New England. Three planes will come to Boston, three will fly to Old Orchard, Maine, and the same number to York Beach, Maine, and a like contingent to Hartford, Conn. One plane will proceed to Rye Beach, N. H., one to Concord, N. H., and two to Rhode Island, one to Newport, and the other to Providence.

Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the air service, directed the movements of the planes by wireless, the location of his sending station being unknown to the pilots.

Air Fleet Arrives at Bangor

Two Martin bombers acting as scouts came Saturday. Thirteen Martin bombers and two De Havilands arrived at 5.05 o'clock this evening and six De Havilands arrived at 6.10.

WHEAT SELLING AT LESS THAN PRODUCTION COST

Washington, Aug. 20.—Thousands of American farmers will go to bankrupt with wheat selling at considerably less than cost of production, Secretary Wallace declared today, while thousands of others will be able to hold on only by the most grinding economy. For the present plane of prices of commodities other than agricultural is to be maintained, he added, then to have general prosperity, prices of farm products must be increased.

Eastern railroads could help by making substantial reductions in freight rates on agricultural products, especially if destined for export. Mr. Wallace asserted, pointing out, however, that until agriculture, industry and commerce are brought into a more normal relationship "acute agricultural problems will develop, one after the other."

The low price of wheat this year will bring some reduction in acreage, Mr. Wallace predicted, adding that "it is a terribly hard situation for the individual, but those who remain will be benefited."

TOOK SLEEPING POTION AND FAILED TO HEAR RESCUERS

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Mrs. James McNally, wife of the Chicago publisher, missing in the fire which destroyed the Wawa Hotel at Lake of Bays yesterday, met her death because a sleeping powder she had taken rendered her slumber so deep that she failed to hear rescuers, it was disclosed here today.

Mrs. McIntyre, a friend of the elderly Mrs. McNally, told the story here this afternoon. Mrs. McIntyre, who arrived on the refugee train from the scene of the fire, said she had pounded vainly on Mrs. McNally's door, and finally was forced to flee before the advancing flames without being able to awaken her.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 20.—The case of John C. Royce of Narragansett Pier, charged with being a common gambler, was continued until Friday, Aug. 31, at the request of the defendant who, when he appeared before Judge James Ora Watts in the Second district court at South Kingston this morning, declared he had been unable to procure counsel.

The complaint against Joyce was made by Sheriff John R. Wilcox of Washington county, who led a raid Friday night on the Clark block and Elm cottage, Narragansett Pier, said to be owned by Joyce. At the cottage 600 poker chips and several decks of cards were found.

The plane went into a nose dive after taking off, bursting into flames after it struck the ground.

While the airplane was privately owned, an army board of inquiry has been appointed to investigate the accident.

$5,500,000 for Rumanian Culture.

Bucharest, Aug. 20 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—A bequest of one billion lei (about $5,500,000) left by Jacques Elias, a Jewish millionaire, for Rumanian cultural and charitable purposes has been formally handed over to the Rumanian academy, and the distribution of the fund will be started in October. None of the heirs appealed against the will.

WIDOW'S STORY OF HER OIL STOCK INVESTMENT

Philadelphia, Aug. 20.—A widow told on the witness stand today at the trial of three former officials of the Black Panther Oil company charged with fraudulent conversion of more than $1,250,000 of stockholders' money, how she had been led to invest $15,000 of a $17,000 estate bequeathed by her husband, in stock of the concern, which is now in the hands of a receiver.

"I purchased the stock," said the witness, Mrs. Margaret Huff, of this city, "after a meeting I attended in 1921 with a number of stockholders of the company. The president of the company spoke at the meeting and said the concern earned and paid 100 percent dividends in 1920. Since the loss of my money I have been forced to work to support myself and three children."

The defendants, Max W. Friedell, of Marion, Ind., vice president, and Reuben Douglass, of this city, are charged specifically with conspiracy, false pretense and circulation of an erroneous statement as to the financial condition of the oil company.

"We will show," declared assistant District Attorney Shofield in outlining the prosecution's case, "that this Black Panther venture was a gigantic fraud, promoted and engineered by these defendants, and that some three or four thousand trusting investors were duped."

The trial will be continued tomorrow.

FEVERISH SEARCH MADE FOR KIDNAPPED INFANT

New York, Aug. 20.—An empty baby carriage stood all day at the spot in West 18th street where three-months-old Lillian McKenzie was kidnapped Saturday. It was placed there by Peter McKenzie in hope that the kidnapper would relent and return the child.

Tonight, McKenzie trundled it slowly home, still empty, to his wife, who had kept up her courage through the day by washing baby Lillian's clothes and telling herself over and over again that Lillian soon would be back to wear them. She recalled hopefully that an uncle kidnapped from almost the same spot years ago had been safely returned.

But Lillian still is missing, and the hundred detectives who devoted the entire day to a feverish search for her, have begun to fear that she is dead. Lillian was a delicate infant in whom the spark of life had been kept only by careful administration of a complicated food formula. Although the formula has been published broadcast in hope that the kidnapper would see it and take heed, this hope was slight. For the kidnapper, the police believe, was a demented woman who stole Lillian to satisfy a mother-craving.

Aiding the 100 detectives especially detailed for the search for Lillian, are all of the 12,000 police of the city, and 14,000 taxicab drivers, who have been given a meager description of the woman suspect and of the baby. Radio stations also have sent out descriptions.

More than 100 persons telephoned the police today with information they thought might be of value in the search. Police ran down every clue, but tonight were unable to offer any hope to the distracted parents.

Aerial Mail Service Across Continent

Today Attempt Will be Made to Deliver Transcontinental Mail in Record Time.

New York, Aug. 20.—(By the A. P.)—Uncle Sam tomorrow will make his most audacious attempt at delivering transcontinental mail in record time.

From New York a plane will wing its way westward, bound for San Francisco. From San Francisco a machine will speed eastward for New York. The aircraft will pass one another in the center of the continent, if plans carry.

For five days the country will have this aerial express mail service. After that test, Uncle Sam will decide whether daily trans-continental flights are to become mere routine and mail plane service from Atlantic to Pacific made permanent or not.

The flying schedule approved tonight calls for 30 hours elapsed flying time on the westbound trip, and 28 on the eastbound. The two hours difference represents the effect the prevailing westerlies are expected to have on an airplane at this time of year.

Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City and Reno are the points at which the mail planes will alight to refuel or shift pilot, machine and cargo.

The only night flying will be between Chicago and Cheyenne. This piece of the course will be blazed with electric lights, with incandescent buoys and even more powerful lighthouses to guide the pilots through darkness, fog and storm.

Postmaster Morgan announced that postage would be two cents an ounce or fraction thereof during the five days' test. Only letters specially addressed "via air mail" would be accepted, he added.

Tomorrow morning $1,000 "special delivery" letters carrying complimentary stamps and weighing 575 pounds, will be rushed by mail truck from New York post office and stowed aboard. Then a few first-edition afternoon papers will be taken on and at 31 A. M., the time of the take off.

FALSE TESTIMONY IN STOKES DIVORCE TRIAL

New York, Aug. 20.—Four witnesses in the sensational W. E. D. Stokes, divorce trial have admitted that they testified incorrectly it was disclosed today by Chief Assistant District Attorney Pecora. The suit was brought by Stokes, wealthy hotel owner, against Helen Elwood Stokes, his wife.

Mrs. Stokes is now seeking $1,000,000 damages from her step-son, W. E. D. Stokes, Jr., "Weddie" as he is commonly known, on the ground that he was party to a scheme to defame her character.

Mr. Pecora declared that the alleged false testimony all bore upon one of the most sensational features of the trial, the charge that Mrs. Stokes had been seen in the New York apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, wealthy California oil man.

"Mrs. Stokes sat in this office," said Mr. Pecora, "and four witnesses who had testified they had seen her in Mr. Wallace's apartment were called in. All had come to the district attorney's office in response to requests. All four witnesses admitted in the presence of Mrs. Stokes and myself that she was not the woman they had seen in Mr. Wallace's apartment."

Mr. Pecora said he had been called upon to investigate the alleged falsity of the testimony by Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for Mrs. Stokes.

STILL IN PURSUIT OF DETROIT BANDITS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 20.—Bloodhounds tracking three of the bandits who held up the Allendale inn early Sunday and later killed Patrolman Oscar Reiffhardt of Monroe, Mich., were taken off the scent late today when they led the possemen to the shore of Lake Erie, one mile west of Boles Harbor, which had been the object of intense scrutiny.

Subsequent to this came a report from a farmer that he had seen two men in a rowboat pulling for Raisen Point, which forms a bay with the swamp penetrated by the bandits, who made away with money and jewelry variously estimated at between $6,000 and $20,000 from the patrons of the inn. The farmer's story was verified by the fact that marks showed that a boat had been pushed off the shore. A small party of searchers set out across the bay for the point.

The remains of a bonfire which had been put put only about two hours before, spurred the remaining posse on. The party worked their way downshore where they were joined by members of the 126th howitzer company, Michigan national guard.

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 20.—Herman Sakoloss of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrested yesterday in connection with the robbery of the Allendale inn at Detroit and the murder of Motorcycle Policeman Oscar Reinhradt here Sunday morning, confessed tonight that he was one of the seven bandits, who held up the Allendale inn, according to police.

Sakoloss was arrested shortly after the murder of Reinhardt, near the abandoned automobile which the policeman attempted to stop when he was killed. Others in the machine are believed to have escaped into the marshes and posses still are searching for them tonight.

Six Americans Fell To Death in the Alps

Nice, Aug. 20 (By the A. P.).—Rev. Hiram Grant Person and Mrs. Person of Newton, Mass., Charles H. Gray, two women who have not yet been identified and an automobile bus driver were killed today when the bus went over the parapet of the road leading from Nice to Evian and plunged 300 feet into the River Var.

According to first reports six persons were killed and fifteen injured, several of them seriously. It is said that only one passenger escaped with minor hurts.

Mr. Lachenet, manager of the Transatlantic company, and Mr. Flint, both fo New York, and several other persons who were following the bus in a small car, witnessed the accident and immediately took steps to summon aid. While awaiting the arrival of help, they did all they could to succor the victims.

BODIES OF ELEVEN WOMEN HAVE BEEN RECOVERED

Huntsville, Ont., Aug. 20.—Bodies of eleven persons, all women, have been recovered tonight from the ashes of the Wawa Hotel, in Muskoka, which was destroyed by fire Sunday night. Eight of these, including three Americans, have been possitively identified. Three others were reported missing and five sustained injuries from which they may die, while twenty who were being cared for in hospitals were said to be out of danger.

The hotel, filled to capacity with summer vacationists, had just quieted down after the Saturday night festivities when the fire, caused either by a carelessly thrown cigarette or by friction in an elevator shaft, swept through the wooden building.

By the time the guests were awakened, the flames had gained such headway that they were sweeping up the elevator shafts and stairways. A majority of those in the hotel were women who, half crazed by the roar and glare of the fire, rushed screaming to the windows when the stairs and elevator shafts were in flames.

Hotel employes and residents in nearby cottages who had hurried to the scene lifted ladders to many of the windows, and scores were saved in this way, while others slid down ropes. Many, however, driven by the flames, jumped to the ground, receiving broken bones and cuts.

SEA CAPTAIN SHOT IN BATTLE WITH RUM PIRATES

Gloucester, Mass, Aug. 20.—In a battle with rum pirates on board his schooner, the J. Scott Hankenson, out of Nova Scotia, Captain Arthur Moore of Weymouth, N. S., was shot and probably fatally injured today. Harry Harm, cook of the vessel was also shot.

According to the story told by the crew of the schooner, the vessel was lying to off Rockport about 4.30 o'clock this afternoon when two men approached in a motorboat and boarded her. The schooner cargo consisted of 3,000 cases of whiskey.

The two men entered the cabin of the Hankenson and at once opened fire with revolvers on the captain and cook. Although shot through the stomach at the first volley, Captain Moore returned the fire, wounding one of his assailants. The cook was shot in the neck, shoulder and both legs.

The pirate, discouraged by the skipper's resistance, left the schooner without any plunder and headed offshore in their boat. Some time later two fishermen who were passing in a motor boat saw the schooner flying distress signals and took off the two wounded men, who were landed at Rockport and brought to a hospital here.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES FOR FUEL IN NEW ENGLAND

Organizing to Provide and Distribute Bituminous Coal in New England in the Event of a Strike of Anthracite Miners—Distribution to be Made Under the General Supervision of the Federal Government—In Each State a Representative of the Coal Industry Would be Placed to Receive Orders for Local Requirements.

Boston, Aug. 20.—Details of a plan by bituminous coal operators to supply New England with fuel in the event of a strike of anthracite miners were presented to the joint special coal investigation committee of the Massachusetts Legislature today by John C. Brydon, President of the National Coal Association and Chairman of the Bituminous Operators' Special Committee. The plan, he said, was worked out pursuant to the offer recently made to the federal government by bituminous operators to place their resources at the government's disposal should an emergency arise.

The proposed organization to provide and distribute bituminous coal to New England would function under the general supervision of the federal government, the program to be directed by the executive officers of the National Coal Association. Under them would be a general manager of production and distribution with representatives in every producing district and in each state where an emergency existed. Paralleling the coal production organization is a proposed transportation organization to be supplied by the American Railway association, which has endorsed the plan. A New England manager is provided for assisted by two traffic executives, an all rail manager and a water manager. In each state a representative of the coal industry would be placed to receive orders for local requirements.

MINERS AND OPERATORS RESUME CONFERENCE

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 20.—Wage rates in the anthracite industry were the chief topic of discussion before today's session of the renewed joint negotiations of mine operators and union officials. By common consent, both groups set aside the questions of check-off for union dues and union recognition, which blocked previous attempts at a settlement that would prevent a suspension of anthracite production Sept. 1, and proceeded to an analysis of the union's demands for general wage increases. They were, however, in no degree advanced toward a common viewpoint when adjournment was taken tonight, but left the topic open for more discussion tomorrow.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and district presidents in the anthracite region, laid out the union's demand for a $2 per day increase for all day workers in and around the mines, and for a 20 per cent. increase in piece rates per ton for mining coal. S. S. Warriner, chairman of the anthracite policies committee, and associate representatives for the opporators opposed. The operators took the general ground that the increase could only be met by increasing the price of coal, by perhaps as much as $2 per ton, and that the consumer was in no position to pay the extra charge, and that the industry was in no position to collect it. The competition of bituminous coal and oil, as substitute fuels, the operators claimed, would result in the shutting down of anthracite mines and the unstabilizing of anthracite production.

For the union, Mr. Lewis argued that wage rates in steel building, textile and other industries had been tending upward during the last year. He estimated that 90 per cent. of the men in the anthracite workings were employed at a wage rate of about $4.20 per day, and that the average yearly earnings of such a man, provided he worked the 271 days which is the average of anthracite operation, would be $1,138. The amount was inadequate, the union spokesman said.

Both sides questioned coal commission findings as to anthracite labor conditions, Mr. Warriner asserting that official report had found the labor rates sufficient to meet living costs. The union contingent said that the coal commission had suggested $1,700 as a fair yearly earning in coal and that the lower paid men would have to work Sundays, holidays and some nights to make that much.

Operators further said that the negotiations, so far as they were concerned, were being renewed with a continuous offer in behalf of the employers to leave points in the controversy to arbitration and to keep the mines running while arbitration proceeded, on the understanding that the final decision would be made retroactive to Sept. 1. Existing wage contracts in the industry expire on that date.

BAY STATE MAYORS DISCUSS COAL SITUATION

Boston, Aug. 20.—Addressing President Coolidge as "one accustomed to the rigors of a New England winter," the Mayors' club, composed of the 38 city executives of this state, passed resolutions here today, urging the President "to exercise his best endeavor to effect an early settlement of the anthracite situation." The club also voted to urge a wider use of oil as a fuel and the purchase of Welsh anthracite coal.

Frank P. Rock, of Boston, City Superintendent of Supplies, reporting to the club at the request of Mayor Curley, said that Boston would need at least 500,000 tons and that recently Welsh coal had been quoted to him at a price less than the $15.50 now charged for Pennsylvania anthracite. Mayor Curley announced that he would instruct Rock to order 15,000 tons from Wales at once, conditional on delivery within five or six weeks.

The mayors discussed the possibilities under the state constitution and statutes of municipal purchase and sale of coal. Last winter, according to the statement of Mayor Curley, the city of Boston sold 10,000 tons at one dollar less than the prevailing Pennsylvania price, the city making a profit of $2,500. He pointed out that, although bituminous coal was cheap, the price was already mounting. He quoted the report of the chief of the fire department that 20 per cent of the fires occurring in this city had been traced to the use of bituminous coal. Last year Boston substituted oil for coal to the extent of 80,000 tons at a saving of $7.20 per ton displaced. Plans for the displacement of 125,000 tons of coal this winter have already been completed. The ultimate plan, Mayor Curley said, was the use of oil in all municipal buildings.

The psychological effect on the mines and operators of the spread of such plans, the Mayor urged, would be to hurry them into a working settlement of the Pennsylvania situation. Competition with oil and Welsh coal ought to make both groups realize that only a speedy settlement and an assurance to the public of sufficient coal will prevent their losing the New England market, he concluded.

COOLIDGE DISCUSSED COAL SITUATION WITH HAMMOND

Washington, Aug. 20.—Eventualities in the anthracite situation were discussed with President Coolidge today by Chairman Hammond, of the coal commission.

"We merely discussed eventualities," said Mr. Hammond, after the conference. "I had no more information than I had when I saw the President on Saturday but Mr. Coolidge is a man who wants to be prepared. For that reason, I again went over the situation quite thoroughly with him."

Mr. Hammond declared that the commission had left the negotiation of a new wage contract up to the miners' and operators' representatives, who resumed discussions today in Atlantic City. He indicated that the government would take no further step, even though the Atlantic City negotiations fail to result in an agreement before August 31, the date when the present wage agreement expires.

As to the possibility of injunction proceedings in event anthracite production is suspended, Mr. Hammond said that was a matter with which the coal commission was not concerned but one which must be decided by the President and the legal authorities of the administration.

TALKS OF TROUBLES OF STATE FARM FOR WOMEN

Hartford, Aug. 20.—Former Senator Edward W. Hazen, of Haddam, admen, declared today that propaganda ministrator of the state farm for women started by Mrs. Helen W. Rogers of Hamden, a colleague on the board of directors, was responsible for the failure of the general assembly to provide funds for the expansion of the institution.

Senator Hazen heartily concurred with the statements concerning Mrs. Rogers in the report of Rev. Dr. Hastings Hornell Hart of the Russell Sage foundation's study of the state farm. "Mrs. Rogers is a theorist, and the rest of the board are practical per," he said. "That's why she could not agree with us."

He maintained that doubt and confusion about the institution was created in the minds of the legislature by the propaganda of Mrs. Rogers widely circulated by women's organizations of the state, and that it had worked a distinct injury to the farm. Instead of assisting her to attain the objects she had sought and failed to secure in the board of directors, it reacted against the entire institution, he said.

That Mrs. Rogers was sincerely interested in the welfare of the farm, Senator Hazen said he did not doubt, her efforts to force her theories upon it was the methods she pursued in the majority of the board of directors which caused the trouble.

GERMAN CABINET SITTING IN EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

Berlin, Aug. 20.—(By the A. P.)—An extraordinary session of the cabinet, presided over by President Ebert, tonight approved a number of emergency measures intended to meet the economic and social situation which steadily is growing worse in consequence of the further collapse of the value of the mark.

The meeting, which began at 7 o'clock in the reichstag were summoned with the purpose of acquainting them of the action the government purposes to take, which it is stated will be of a "draconic" nature.

The entire cabinet, it is said, is united in the conviction that the situation can be saved only by most energetic measures, the nature of which will be announced tomorrow.

The government is contemplating requisitioning all available private reserves of foreign currency in order to halt the drop in the mark and to provide funds for food purchases abroad.

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN
21 Church Street Telephone 1082

Much of the ice will be salvaged from the municipal ice plant which was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. Supt. Willard N. Bowen states that there will be plenty of ice left for the remainder of the summer season and early Sunday morning men in the employ of a local contractor began the work of constructing partitions enclosing and therefore preserving the ice. The cakes of ice which constituted the 3,500 tons stored in the houses, show signs of being considerably diminished in size through proximity to the terrific heat. Thousands of dollars have been saved for the people of the city since the plant began operating in 1915, when the large house with the four compartments was built. As compared with the prices existing in other cities, the ice harvested and distributed from the municipal plant has never sold at a cost exceeding 45 cents a hundred.

Due to the efforts of the committee and to the pleasant weather, the outing of the Federation of French Societies at Crystal Lake, Rockville, on Sunday, was a decided success. The affair was attended by over one hundred members and their guests. A delicious shore dinner was served at noon; field sports provided diversion during the afternoon.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie E. Ottenheimer was held Monday morning from her home, 41 Lewiston avenue. Requiem high mass at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock was sung by Rev. Jean E. Clark. Mrs. Edmund R. Portelance was at the organ and as the body was borne into the church, Miss Monalee McKeon sang Nearer, My God to Thee, singing at the offertory O, Salutaris and Face to Face as a waiting hymn. The floral pieces were beautiful. The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the St. Anne's Society were represented at the services. Burial was in the family plot in St. Joseph's cemetery where Rev. Father Clark read the committal service. The bearers were James Riordan, James and Charles Bromley, Dr. Edward Ottenheimer, Harry Grimley and John Meehan. Kilbourey Brothers were in charge of the arrangements.

Funeral services for Miss Idelia R. Thompson were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Henry Parker, 151 High street. Rev. Harry S. McCready was the officiating clergyman. Burial was in Vernon Center cemetery. Avery & Van Zandt were in charge of the arrangements.

At Lake Wangumbaug, South Coventry, the controversy between the cottage owners, versus the state board of health and the South Coventry Water Supply company remains at a standstill. Attorney John Buckley of Hartford informed the cottagers that they and their guests, in fact anyone so desired, had the right to bathe in the lake waters in spite of signs posted by the state board of health, on behalf of the Water Supply company, prohibiting such bathing. The state department threatened to prosecute anyone violating the order and made arrangements to have a state policeman, or several of them, if necessary, stationed at the lake Saturday and Sunday. It was thought that this would be done and that one bather would be placed under arrest and his case used as a test case. The state policemen remain absent, however, and the Kellermans are still doing their stunt. Numbers remained undisturbed Sunday while enjoying the cool waters of the lake.

The stretch of road between North Windham and Windham Center will be repaired, if the agitation on this matter meets with any results. The road is now of gravel and sand construction and in very poor condition in places. The agitators contend that with this piece of roadway in proper repair much of the congestion over the North Windham road leading from Willimantic would be relieved and that it would also take over much of the automobile travel which could then turn at South Windham, through Windham Center and over to North Windham to proceed on the Putnam highway.

State Highway Commissioner John MacDonald and the Windham board of selectmen motored to the place Monday forenoon, took notes on the defects on the piece of road in question and considered the possibility of transforming it to macadam or some other suitable construction. It is thought that some changes would be necessary in rebuilding the road, which is three and one-quarter miles in length. Should the work be done, it would be under the state aid act, the town of Windham standing one-quarter of the cost, which cannot as yet be estimated. It is expected that the question will be one of the clauses in the warning for the coming annual town meeting.

Dwight M. Royce, 74, a resident of Chaplin, died at St. Joseph's hospital this city, Saturday night. Mr. Royce was born in Mansfield, Dec. 3, 1848, a son of Salnan and Maryette Lamphear Royce. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. John Smith of West Hartford, four nieces, Mrs. Wilbur G. Stevens of North Windham, Mrs. Alfred Ennis of Danielson, Miss Etta Royce of Chaplin, and Mrs. Lottie Clark, of East Hampton, and three nephews, Henry and Grover Royce, of East Hampton, and Burt Royce.

Funeral services for Fred B. Eaton were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home in Mansfield Center. Rev. E. P. Ayer of Montville officiated. Burial was in the Mansfield Center cemetery. Avery & Van Zandt were in charge of the arrangements.

The contract for the erection of a vault at the new Willimantic cemetery was awarded, Monday, by the selectmen to Doyle & Murphy. There were five other bidders, all five bidding over the appropriation of $8,000. By the contract, the vault proper only, will be erected of concrete. The vault will contain racks for eighty-eight bodies, the racks being an extra cost. It was said that the entire work will be done well under the amount of the appropriation. The vault is to be erected against the east side of the knoll, close to the center of the cemetery, with a southern exposure. The walls are to be sixteen inches thick and the inside dimensions will be 24x35 feet. The work will be started this week.

Mrs. Isaac Hochberg, 57 South Park street, is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, suffering from a double fracture of the right arm and ruptured artery in her scalp, sustained Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock when she walked into the wrong doorway and fell down the cellar stairs at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Krug, on Valley street extension. She was rushed to the hospital but the artery bled profusely for some time.

Hubert Arsenault of Center street and George Rouillard, also of this city, members of the contracting firm engaged in building an addition to the home of Joseph F. Paulhus, 46 Maple avenue, were injured Monday forenoon when a portion of the staging gave way and the two men were thrown to the ground, eighteen feet. Rouillard fell into some soft dirt and escaped with slight injuries. Arsenault landed on a pile of timber and while he lay prostrate, a timber from the staging fell and struck him a severe blow. He was unable to rise and was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where it was found that his left leg was broken above the ankle.

In the local court Monday morning were William Messner and James Doyle, of this city, charged with intoxication. They pleaded guilty. Judge Foss imposed fines of $10 and costs amounting to $17.25 in each case, which were paid. The men were given some sound advice by the judge who advised Messner to return to his home in Worcester. Messner was before the court less than two weeks ago.

STONINGTON

The fact that Stonington has been short of housing facilities for a number of years, has prompted many who can afford to build, to erect their own homes. Just over the borough line of the road toward Westerly five new homes have been erected this year, and the owners are to reside in them. On the Mystic road, several houses have been put up this season. Coming back to the road running easterly from the borough, on the Wimpheimer property near the American Velvet company's mill, there are being put up five new houses, to be occupied by the employes at the plant here, and are all spoken for. This still leaves Stonington without housing facilities, for those from other places, who seek homes here who have business in town, and those who are employed here who would like to locate in Stonington borough. It is one reason why Stonington, has suffered in growth and perhaps prosperity, but never has the want been so apparent as at present. People coming here from Westerly as well as other places, seeking rents, and places to buy, would indicate that the shortage is no tconfined to Stonington, but is felt all through this section.

A man from a neighboring town was in town one day last week with $800 cash in his pocket to bind the bargain for the purchase of a house which would make him a home. He was not looking for a high priced house, but, a small bungalow, that would comfortably house three adults, but he could not find it.

Another man has searched the place for two months, expecting to find a suitable rent, but was unable to find one to his liking. This same man has booked with the agents here and is still waiting for the opportunity to secure one. A New York man has been in town recently, looking for a place to locate his business, and looked for a house to live in, but was unble to purchase, so he returned to the city apparently giving up the idea of locating in Stonington.

There are several families at the present time contemplating moving out of town because they are living in places not as good as they would like yet they cannot find anything better. One man has been all over the place looking for a job and a house in which to live because he is dissatisfied with the best he has thus been able to secure, and has been looking for a place for two years.

The town has not even the cheaper summer cottages for people from the cities during the summer months.

Pawcatuck seems to be advancing in this respect, as many of the old houses have been torn down and new ones erected on the sites.

Geary of New London, Judge Herbert Rathbun of Westerly, Judge William Wilcox of Pawcatuck, Charles H. Cowan, Judge Elias Hinckley and George Robinson of the borough. The active bearers were William D. Leahy of Milford, Mass., Cornelius Donohue, George Foley of Mystic, Thomas Garity, John Henry and Joseph Leahy of Stonington. Gray. The material necessary will be transported for filling for the proper grade, much better than by the old method of using horses and stone drags, as large quantities of stone which were blasted out from the ledge there, have been put to good use in the retaining wall on the side of the roadway. All not used in this manner will be used for filling in the low spots between the Stark and Gray properties.

NOW PLAYING AT THE STRAND THEATRE

Prohibition enforcement officers of today in search of bootleggers have an easy time compared with the job of revenue officials who used to hunt down the makers of illicit liquor in the mountains of the South.

A thrilling search for "moonshiners" is a feature of Thomas H. Ince's latest screen production, "Scars of Jealousy." It was staged for the films with the aid of a retired United States Marshal and it is said to be realistic in the extreme.

The former government official's advice was sought by Mr. Ince so that the scenes in the picture would not be overdrawn. The official, who resigned his post after being admitted to the practice of law, was one of the most noted of Uncle Sam's law and order army in the relentless prosecution of the mountaineer moonshiners of the South thirty years ago. Those were the days when a federal officer took his life in his hands when he set out to make an arrest, for the moonshiners were notoriously desperate and would shoot to kill before surrendering.

The scene of the moonshiners' den in "Scars of Jealousy" was taken in northern California in a region which once abounded with illicit stills. In an old abandoned cave which once served a gang of moonshiners captured by the former government official in 1892, a number of big scenes were staged. No more picturesque setting for this scene could have been chosen, and there is all the color and dash, all the thrills and excitement, that went into the business of capturing these outlaws and bringing them to justice in the days before national prohibition.

The killing of a revenue officer, the subsequent capture of a lynching party of an innocent man charged with murder, and his rescue by his sweetheart and escape through a burning forest, have been woven into a drama of tense interest. "Scars of Jealousy" will be at the Strand theatre today and Wednesday.

A Mermaid Comedy, "Three Strikes" and a News were the short subjects.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

One of the largest building projects in the eastern part of the state is that of the addition to the Eastern Connecticut Power Company's plant at Uncasville and here a great amount of work is being accomplished. The engineering company that is putting up the addition has rushed the work along in an endeavor to complete the project before the cold weather sets in. Marked progress has been made during the past few weeks and the addition is taking on sizable proportions.

The structural steel work is nearly completed and raised to the fourth story. The brick wall on the north side of the addition is practically complete and the work of laying the foundation for the four big chimneys has been started. The foundation for these chimneys is on the roof with strong reinforced steel under pinning running from the ground to the roof. The steel workers are engaged in installing the steel coal bunkers for the automatic stokers. Work is also being rushed along on the east and south walls.

Another local project that has made good progress during the past week is the Palace theatre where work is being rushed along by the H. Wales Lines Co. in order to complete the work in time for the fall theatre season. The work on the interior is well along and within a few days the interior staging will be removed and the interior decorations will be given full sway.

The work on the Pasnik block on West Main street is practically completed and ready for occupation. The other building projects in Norwich have made equally good progress. The building permits issued by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton are as follows:

To George E. Pitcher to alter house on Central avenue for Herman Mueller. The alterations will be mostly on the interior.

To William J. Dilworth to erect a frame garage at 28 Mowry avenue. The garage will be 18x18 feet and will be of frame construction throughout. The roof will be covered with a composition roofing.

To Fred W. Fitch to build a garage on Prospect street. The garage will be 20x40 feet with cement foundation and floor. The superstruction will be frame and slate-surfaced shingles will be used on the roof.

To Fowler and Rathbun to repair and add to the present house on Avery street for Albert Marticelli. New bath and plaster will be put on the interior and an ell, 9x10 feet, one story high will be erected.

To William Paprosiki to build a small shed in the rear of 151 Maple street. The building will be 8x15 feet and of frame construction with a composition roof.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

There were 20 sales of real estate in Norwich during the past week as compared to 12 sales for the corresponding week in 1922. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $27,690 and $31,650.

In New London there were 12 sales of real estate, one less sale than for the corresponding week in 1922. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $78,460 and $24,143.

THE STATE SITUATION.

It is quite evident that the revolt of the public against excessive prices of materials, wages and labor's domination is having the effect of steadily curtailing the volume of construction, not only locally, but throughout the country says the Commercial Record. Figures giving statistics of building operations show that the amount of building is constantly falling off. The record in the leading cities for the month of July falls considerably below that for the same month of last year, and is the second consecutive month of declining construction in 80 states. Locally, while the number of permits granted in the leading cities of the state in the week just ended was only 10 less than the record for the corresponding week of 1921, and the cost of building for which permits were granted was nearly $300,000 more, $754,110, comparing with $580,100, the cost of new construction in the like week of 1921 was approximately twice as great as in the past week, the new building in 1921 aggregating $1,458,561.

NEW LONDON.

Plans for a bulkhead of planks and piling to surround Happy Day Island, near Ocean beach, are out for figures. Plans are also being figured for several recreation buildings for the proposed amusement park to be erected on the island by the Coast Lines Amusement Co.

Local builders are building a six-room summer cottage for the Titus & Bishop Land Co., 108 State street, at Mago Point Beach. From private plans, the new house is 22x24 feet, arranged for six rooms, sheathed with sheetrock. Electric lights, hardwood floors and other improvements are included. Work will be started at once on a new house of similar design at Mago Point Beach for the same owners.

A Waterford builder has a summer cottage under construction for Bert C. Gable, Hartford, at Mago Point Beach. The house is of frame construction, with fireplace, open plumbing and other conveniences.

Plans are being prepared for an addition to the garage of Sulman Bros., on Church street. The addition will be 80x60 feet, of brick and steel construction. There will be steel mash and trusses, and concrete foundation.

The residence for Maude E. Prentice on Nameaug avenue is being plastered. From private plans, the dwelling is of frame construction, 27x46 feet, with steam heat and other improvements.

The cellar is in for the house near Colman street for Julia A. Cook and Mary A. Prentice. The new dwelling will be 30x42 feet, with eight rooms, having all improvements. A garage will be erected in the rear.

A one-story office building is being built for the Groton Lumber Co., at their new railroad station yard. The new building is of frame, 24x30 feet, with improvements. The contract for the plumbing has been awarded.

PUTNAM.

A New London architect has prepared plans for alterations to the dwelling of S. Kaminsky, Putnam. The present two-family house will be raised to allow for the building of a new first story. The new construction will be 44x41 feet, stucco exterior, arranged for seven rooms. There will be a new steam heating system.

EAST LYME.

Changes to three cottages at the State Farm for Women, East Lyme, are being made. The three additions will be 12x28 feet, 24x32 feet, two stories high, and 18x36 feet, two and a half stories high, respectively. There will be new plumbing, electric wiring and new steam heating systems.

Storage Batteries on Leviathan

Elaborate prosecutions are taken to maintain, in the event of emergency, radio communication between the Leviathan and the rest of the world.

This system of emergency radio on the Leviathan is explained by Mr. Benjamin of the local Exide Battery Service Station, the Norwich Electric Co. Should the main set, which is the greatest ship's radio in the world, become disabled, an emergency set will provide the means of communication with the nearest stations. This set is equipped with an Exide Battery of 60 cells, which is held in reserve, ready at all times to furnish the current that maybe needed in case of trouble to send broadcast the call for help.

The emergency power equipment, according to Mr. Benjamin is not the only provision made to insure uninterrupted service from the electrical equipment of the Leviathan. Incidentally, its electrical equipment is probably the most elaborate of any ship's today. For instance 600 inter-cabin telephones furnish facilities for the passengers to converse with one another from their staterooms. These, as well as the interior communication system, are operated by Exide Batteries.

Another of the many emergency units of storage batteries is that held in reserve in the event of the failure of the mighty generators, which supply the current for the thousands of lights throughout the ship. Should these generators fail, a sufficient part of the lighting load would be automatically taken up by an Exide Battery of 120 cells. Thus, confusion and possible panic that might follow the failure of the lights would be prevented.

One of the many devices which make the Leviathan the safest ship in the world for ocean travel is the "clear vision screen." This is a glass disc, electrically driven, at 2,000 R. P. M. It enables the Leviathan's officers to see through rain and mist. Exide Batteries, floating on the power line, insure unfailing power for this and many other of these devices with which the Leviathan is equipped for safety purposes.

Broad Theatre

Other pictures on the bill include the Pathe news, "Our New President," and a Joe Rock comedy.

Cold Storage.

Over eighty-five percent of the population in the United States live in cities of 10,000 or more. This, more than any other reason, has caused the tremendous growth of the cold storage industry within the last twenty-one years. City dwellers are dependent upon cold storage products for their food supply and this modern method of storing and preserving foods enables the urbanite to enjoy fruits, nuts, foul, butter, cheese, and a thousand and one delicacies all the year round.

A report issued last year indicated that 540,000,000 feet of cold storage space was in daily use in the United States. Chicago, home of the packing industry, has 327,000,000 feet and New York is second on the list with 118,000,000.

The ratifications of cold storage are far reaching. Furs, confectionery, cabbage, cured hide are only a few of the unusual products which are benefited by cold storage. In fact, every year new and interesting uses are discovered for the preservation and betterment of necessities.

Dr. Royal S Copeland, formally health commissioner of New York, and now Senator from that State says: "The cold storage house is a blessing to society. It permits the safe storage of food in times of flush production and holds it for public use during the non-productive seasons; and the conduct of such establishments is guarded by law."

Certain cities in the United States are so situated as to become natural food depos for the surrounding country. Boston is a center of supply for all New England and yearly thousands of tons of perishable food supplies are held there for distribution to outlying cities and towns.

All the garments discarded by the English royal family, which are practically as good as new, are sold for charity, but are not disposed of in England. They are purchased by dealers on the continent or in America, the name of the wearers not being divulged.

By DAVID CORY

Finding the Golden Box

The next morning when the bunny boy woke up he found half hidden among the dried leaves in the hollow stump a little gold box. It was a beautiful box carved with gold flowers and fitted with a small lock and key.

"I wonder what's inside," thought the little rabbit but he didn't turn the key and it is mighty lucky he didn't for if he had, the magic of the box would have disappeared.

Instead, he tucked the box under his arm and started off for a great castle standing up tall and stately on a neighboring hilltop.

On reaching the postern gate, he knocked boldly upon it with the handle of his jack knife. In a minute, it was opened by a little old man with long white hair. He was dressed all in doe skin and carried a great silver key in his hand.

"What do you wish?" he asked with a low bow.

"Does this gold box belong to you?" asked the honest little bunny boy, handing it over to the little old man who no sooner saw it than he gave a shout of delight.

"Come with me, you honest rabbit child," he said and quickly led the way into the castle.

Oh, what a strange sight met the little bunny's eyes as he entered the door. All the servants in the great castle were sound asleep and in their chairs of state, with eyes closed sat the lord and lady.

After closing the door and fastening it with the great bolt, ire little man in the doe skin suit gently turned the key in the little gold box and lifted the cover. Out sprang a little fairy sprite with gauzy wings and silver wand. At once she flew from one person to another, gently touching their eyelids with her finger tips, singing all the while in a sweet, low voice:

Come back from Spirit Land once more.
Awake for dreams are idle things.
And life is work and what it brings."

Slowly the sleeping people opened their eyes and stretched themselves and pretty soon the castle was humming with excitement.

"It was a wicked witch that threw the sleep speel over us," cried the lord of the castle. "Lucky it is that you found the little gold box," and he smiled at the bunny boy.

"You shall have the best horse in my stable," he added "for you are a long way off from the dear Old Bramble Patch," and, taking the little rabbit's paw, he led him to the royal stables.

"Goodness me! Would you believe it? There stood the Old Brown Horse, young and frisky for the fairies had fed him with magic hay.

"Little Jack Rabbit," neighed the faithful animal, "today is the happiest day of my life for I meet again my dear little master." And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

CALIFORNIA TEAM ELIMINATED IN FIRST ROUND OF DOUBLES PLAY

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 20.—The first round of play in the national doubles championship tournament on the courts of the Longwood Cricket club at Chestnut Hill saw the elimination of Howard and Robert Kinsey of San Francisco, rated as America's premier doubles combination, in straight sets. The conquerers of the Californians were Manuel Alonso, of Spain, and Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia, whose play was as brilliant as was their opponents' lacking in lustre.

All other seeded combinations advanced into the second round which will be played tomorrow. As a result of today's play among the strong combinations that will meet will be: Alonso and Johnson vs Richards, Yonkers, N. Y., and Dean Mathey, New York; William T. Tilden, 2nd, Philadelphia and Brian I. C. Norton, South Africa, vs. Pierre Hirsch, France, and Lawrence B. Rice, Boston; and R. N. Williams, 2nd, Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Watson Washburn, New York, vs Harvey Snodgrass, Los Angeles, and Wallace J. Bates, San Francisco.

The play of the Kinsey Brothers was ragged. Repeatedly tossing up short lobs to the lithe Spaniard who delighted to crash them so hard that they disappeared over the grandstands and showing an utter weakness in volleying, the boys from the coast played the poorest brand of tennis of which they have been guilty since they came east, it was declared. Howard dropped four out of his seven service games. Meanwhile the swarthy Alonso was popularizing himself with the galleries by the way in which he covered territory, and his brilliant placements had his opponents at sea. Johnson, apparently unconcerned, played a steady game and with perfect team work prevailing on his side of the net, the Kinseys never showed to good advantage.

The new team of Norton and Tilden succeeded in squelching the hopes of the Leland Stanford team of James M. Davies and Philip Neer but had to work to overcome a one set lead established at the beginning. Tilden started uncertainly, as did Norton. In the first game of the opening set the Philadelphian double faulted twice and, that game lost, service held away for the remainder of the set. Norton was wild at the start, but before the match was over he had steadied down and was volleying brilliantly and often slipping over skillful placements.

The victory of William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin, of San Francisco, who now are favored to win the title, over the southwestern champions, John Barr and Leven Jester, Dallas, by a score of 6-3, 6-1, 8-6, lacked the decisiveness expected of the Californians. In the third set the Dallas men led 5-4 in games and had the score 30 all—within two points of the set, when they wavered.

The foreign players with one exception, came through with little trouble. Commander Leonard Darby, Australia, who was paired with Carl H. Fischer, Cynwyd, Pa., fell before the strong Williams-Washburn team, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

James O. Anderson and John B. Hawkes, the Australian Davis cup doubles combination, started inauspiciously by dropping their first set, 2-6, to two experienced players, Leon A. De Turenne and H. Van Dyke Johns, Pacific Northwest champions, but thereafter were never threatened. The second string Australian team of Ian McInnis and W. E. Schlesinger advanced in the only five set match of the day by conquering Clyde Curry and Charles K. Shaw, Providence. Meanwhile the star French combination of Rene Lacoste and Jacques Brugnon walked through two Bostonians, Raymond Bidwell and W. E. Porter, Jr., 6-2, 6-1, 6-4. A third member of the French Davis cup team, Pierre Hirsch, advanced with Lawrence B. Rice, of Boston, by default.

Boston, Aug. 20.—Extra base hits off Toney by Nixon, Southworth and McInnis were deciding factors in Boston's 5 to 2 victory over St. Louis today. A running catch by Nixon at Stock's expense and several one-hand plays by the latter were fielding features. The score:

PIRATES EVEN UP SERIES WITH GIANTS, 5 TO 1

New York, Aug. 20. — Pittsburgh evened the series with the New York Nationals, taking the second game of the series by a score of 5 to 1. Morrison pitched a strong game for the Pirates, and was aided by strong support, his infield making three double plays behind him. Maranville was especially efficient at short stop.

Pittsburgh won the game off Nehf, its former nemesis, in the first inning, when singles by Carey, Rawlings and Mueller and a wild pitch produced two runs. Score.

St. Louis, Aug. 20.—Washington made it three straight from St. Louis by winning today's contest, 7 to 2. The visitors had 22 assists, making 43 in two days, and Peckinpaugh handled 15 chances.

In the fourth inning Manager Austin was banished by Umpire Evans for objecting to decisions and in the next inning Mr. Evans ordered all the team, except the playing regulars and three substitutes out of the dugout for "booing" him. The score:

GRIMES GETS BUMPED AS CUBS BEAT DODGERS

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 20.—After pitching 24 successive innings up to the fifth inning of today's game, Burleigh Grimes was bumped for five earned runs. He pitched two more runless innings and was bumped for five more runs in the eighth and ninth innings. Chicago winning 10 to 4. Grimes got poor support. The Dodgers make seven errors behind him, but the Cubs bunched ten of their twelve hits. Tom Griffith made four hits off Kaufmann, who twirled an effective game and was brilliantly supported. CONDITIONS FOR CHANNEL SWIM UNFAVORABLE

Dover, England, Aug. 20.—(By The A. P.)—Conditions this evening were dead against swimming in the English Channel, and Charles Toth, of Boston, again was obliged to call off the start of his proposed swim to the French coast. Fred Record and Frank Perks, Englishmen, who also were to start the long swim today, decided to wait for more favorable conditions.

FIRPO STARTS INTENSIVE TRAINING FOR HIS BOUT WITH JACK DEMPSEY

New York, Aug. 20.—For the first time since he signed to fight Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, at the Polo Grounds on September 14, Luis Angel Firpo today gave his undivided attention to preparation for the title bout.

Shortly after his return from Indianapolis where he ended an exhibition tour of several weeks by boxing Joe Downey, who was taken to a hospital from the effects of the Argentine's punishing blows, Firpo left for Atlantic City to inspect his training quarters. He will return to New York tonight to meet his new trainer, Horatio Lavelle, who is due tomorrow from Buenos Aires.

Lavelle, who has supplanted Jimmy DeForest, veteran American trainer, in Firpo's retinue, will take charge of the pugilists's program of conditioning at the seaside resort. Active workouts are slated to start Wednesday.

Firpo today obtained Cliff Kramer, Seattle heavyweight, as one of his sparring partners. He expects to complete his staff within a few days.

Tex Rickard, promoter of the title match, returned today from visiting Jack Dempsey's quarters at White Sulphur Springs, Saratoga, but did not see Firpo before the latter left for Atlantic City.

Rickard said he probably will not obtain the official license for the match from the state athletic commission before next week because of delay in the approval of arena plans by building inspectors. It is possible, however, he said, that this approval, a matter of routine, may be forthcoming in time to make application tomorrow at the commission's regular weekly meeting.

ENGLISH NET STARS GET JUMP ON AMERICAN PLAYERS

Casino Courts, Newport, R. I., Aug. 20.—England went into a 3-2 lead over the United States in the women's international tennis matches on the courts of the Newport Casino today. The teams ended the four singles matches of the day tied at 2-2, but Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. B. C. Covell, English pair, who won the American championship at Forest Hills last week, upheld their claim to the title by administering a second defeat to Mrs. George H. Wightman and Miss Eleanor Goss. The Americans, finalists at Forest Hills and victors over the English women in the Wightman cup series, were defeated in straight sets 6-4, 8-6.

In the singles, Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, playing an aggressive, hard-hitting game, defeated Mrs. Geraldine Beamish of England, 6-3, 6-1; Miss Goss won from Miss McKane, 7-5, 6-4; Mrs. B.-C. Covell overwhelmed Miss Leslie Bancroft of the American team 6-1, 6-0, and Mrs. R. C. Clayton of England won from Miss Lillian Scharman, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2.

The match between Miss Goss and Miss McKane, first British ranking player, and the doubles play stood out as the features of the day. Miss Goss and Miss McKane played brilliantly, the match resolving itself into a duel between Miss Goss' hard, deep driving and Miss McKane's overhead game at the net. Miss McKane started fast and ran up a lead of 4-2 in games before Miss Goss, who was driving outside and netting often, steadied her game. Then, sending over hard paced drives deep to the corners, she won three straight games. After that she maintained her lead and broke through service on the twelfth game to win at 7-5.

Mrs. Mallory was erratic early in her match with Mrs. Beamish but became steadier and was soon sending over perfectly placed forehand drives, with a pace that the English woman was unable to handle. She won easily in the first set at 6-3, and dropped only the second game in the second set, after which she raced through five straight games.

JUST DAVID WINS RICH PURSE AT NORTH RANDALL

North Randall, Cleveland, Aug. 20 (By the A. P.)—Just David, second choice in the betting, won the North Randall $5,000 purse, feature on today's Grand Circuit opening program from one of the best fields of 2.10 class trotters ever to face the starter here. The winner, driven by Charles Valentine, of Columbus, Ohio, took the first two heats and was a close third in the final heat, after a break, this mile went to Fayette National, which won second money. Taurida was third. Pearl Benboe, Tom Murphy's $25,000 mare and favorite to win the event, went into a break in the stretch run in each heat and finished a bad ninth.

The Tanner plan of three heat racing was inaugurated here today and will be continued for the rest of the meeting. It provides for the elimination of the third heat if one horse wins the first two. This plan applies only to purse events, the early closing stakes continuing to be raced under the old system.

RORTY OUT OF GAME FOR AT LEAST A MONTH

Hartford, Aug. 20.—Hurbie Rorty, local member of the Eastern league staff of umpires, will not officiate again for a month.

An X-ray picture of Rorty's body today disclosed three fractured ribs and Dr. Morris Wineck, who is attending him, has forbidden the umpire from doing any work for at least thirty days.

The attack on Rorty has apparently brought the so-called "open season" on umpires to a close. Since the start of the present race, the officials have been subjected to all sorts of verbal abuse, with pop bottle showers thrown in more than occasionally.

Sunday's affair in Bridgeport, however, has aroused the ire of Dan O'Neil, president of the league, and drastic action against the parties responsible for the near riot and the injury to Rorty is expected as soon as Rorty makes a report of the affair to the league head.

MATCH RACE BETWEEN ENGLISH AND AMERICAN HORSES

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 20.—The Epsom Derby winner, Papyrus, owned by Barney Irish, and an American three-year-old to be selected through tests, will meet at Belmont Park Saturday, October 20, in a race over the Derby distance, a mile and a half, for a purse of $100,000 under the auspices of the Jockey club, through arrangements concluded today by Chairman August Belmont, it was announced tonight.

The race, supported by the Westchester Racing Association, the announcement said, will carry an award of $20,000 for the loser. The American entry in the international event will be selected through tests on the closing day of the autumn meeting of the Westchester Racing Association at Belmont Park.

The preliminary will be known as the National Trial Sweepstakes, it was announced, and will be part of the September 15 program at Belmont Park. The event calls for a subscription of $1,000 for each candidate, the Westchester Racing Association to add $2,500. The American standard bearer will be selected by the jockey club from the three places horses on that occasion.

The most likely candidates were announced as: Harry F. Sinclair's Zev; R. T. Wilson's Wilderness; Harry Payne Whitney's Flagstaff; J. S. Cosden's Nightingale and Dunlin; Montford Jones' The Clown, and Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own. The owners of these horses have announced their willingness to have them participate in the trial, it was stated.

MARSHALL STILL IN LEAD IN CHESS TOURNEY

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., Aug. 20.—Winning his game in the twelfth and semi-final round today, Marshall, the United States champion, kept in the lead in the masters tournament of the ninth American Chess Congress. Marshall, whose score rose to 10-2, was opposed by Sournin of Washington. Kupchik of New York also gained a point by defeating Chajes, of New York. His score is 9 1-2-2 1-2. Janowski of Paris, 8 1-2-2 1-2, adjourned his game with Santasiere of New York in an even position. The summary of the day's play follows:

TAFTVILLE A. A. TO PLAY NUGGETS ON THURSDAY

Manager Jimmy Troland of the Taftville A. A., has booked a game for Thursday afternoon with George Madden's Nuggets. The game will be played at the Providence street grounds and will be, according to Manager Troland, a practice game for the Taftville team, in preparation for their game with the Corbin Red Sox on Saturday. Manager Madden is of an entirely different opinion and says that the Taftville manager is using a little English and that it should be that the Corbin Red Sox game will be a practice game for the Nuggets.

The Nuggets, who clinched second place in the Twilight league, have already trimmed the greater part of the Taftville team when several played with the Taftville clerks. Manager Madden is firmly determined to take a fall out of the Taftville team as the State Hospital and Baltic teams have done and is strengthening his team in a few places to make things a little more certain. This game is bound to be for blood for Manager Madden has been seeking a game with the Taftville team during the whole season and has at last got Manager Troland's name on a contract.

MURPHY CLUB TRIMS HALLVILLE CLOVERS, 3 TO 2

The Murphy club stopped the Hallville Clovers' winning streak Monday evening on the State Hospital diamond in a closely contested 3 to 2 game. "Wee Willie" Donovan, pitcher par excellence of the Murphys, let the Clovers down with two hits. An error by the centerfielder with men on bases was responsible for Hallville's two runs.

"Rip" Collins pitched stellar ball for Hallville and should have won easily provided his support had been good. "Shine" Cummings, the recent addition to the Clovers, looked well behind the bat and displayed amazing accuracy in throwing and time after time caught the Murphy baserunners flat-footed. "Shine's" fielding was also of a sensational calibre and he brought the stands to their feet in the fifth inning when he raced to the first base dugout and nailed a foul fly with his naked hand.

This was the first of a series of games between the two teams and the second battle will be staged on Thursday evening. The score by innings:

Collins and Cummings; Donovan and Flynn.

DEMPSEY PUTS IN HARD DAY AT TRAINING

White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, today put in one of the hardest days of training since he pitched camp here several weeks ago in preparation for the September 14 bout with Luis Angel Firpo of New York city.

Down to 195 pounds, the champion reeled off eight miles of mountain roads as his morning bracer and then devoted two rounds apiece to the light and heavy punching bags.

This afternoon he boxed two rounds each with George Godfrey and Jack Burke, and concluded the work of the day with two rounds against Elzear Rioux, French Canadian lumberjack, who stimulates the Firpo type of fighter.

HOYT IS SUSPENDED FOR ROW WITH OWENS

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Waite Hoyt, star pitcher of the New York Yankees today was indefinitely suspended by Ban Johnson, president of the league, following his attempted attack upon Umpire "Brick" Owens yesterday. Bill Barrett, of the Chicago club, was called safe on a close play at the plate in yesterday's game when he scored the winning run in the eighth inning. Hoyt protested the arbiter's decision and made vain attempts to strike Owens. Other players restrained him from doing so and he was led off the field.

UMPIRE SHOWERED WITH BOTTLES AS HARTFORD WINS

Waterbury, Aug. 20.—Umpire Brown received a shower of pop bottles at the game this afternoon, which the Senators won 5 to 1, by bunching hits in the early innings off "Lefty" Anderson on the mound for the Brasscos. Hauk made a triple and a homer in four trips to the plate. Brown ejected Manager Bronkie for protesting the work of Pitcher Sloan. The score by innings:

THE STATE FARM REPORT.

When it was disclosed that there was lack of harmony in the board of directors of the state farm for women at Niantic it was clearly evident that steps should be taken to overcome the situation.

Investigation by the governor showed the need of having a disinterested study of the situation made and he enlisted the services of the Russell Sage foundation. Rev. Dr. H. H. Hart, director of investigations for the foundation, has made such a study and handed his report to Governor Templeton. He sets forth the situation as he has found it and finds that the state should not lose the benefit of such an institution, that it had an efficient superintendent, that it has a competent board of directors but that the unwillingness of one member to be governed by the majority opinion and action of the board without undertaking personally to interfere with the conduct of the institution as the board directs has caused all the trouble.

The recommendations are that the governor do one of two things, dispense with the services of the one director who has caused all the friction, or remove the rest of the board and endeavor to get others who will work with the one member.

What action the governor will take remains a secret thus far. It is evident that the removal of the one obstacle to the harmonious action of the board in the conduct of the institution in the opinion of Dr. Hart lies in the retention of such members of the board as have been able to work together without friction.

Even though deeply interested in such work it is surprising that the one member who has not been able to adjust herself to labor with others has not seen the wisdom of sending in her resignation and freeing the board and the institution from the handicap that has prevailed and permit it to retain the services of a competent superintendent whose resignation has been forced through the activities of a board member who could not bring the remainder of the board to accept all her views.

Under the circumstances and in view of the report the course of the governor seems to be clearly fixed.

THE SHIP EARLY PLEA.

While we are being told that the railroads are carrying a greater quantity of freight than ever, indicative as it is of the business conditions, it is impossible to overlook the plea that is also being made to shippers that "nothing be left undone at this time to move the tonnages of those commodities which can be properly stocked by consumers during the next 30 days to meet their fall and winter requirements."

The purpose of this plea is clear. We are getting to the season of the year when there is certain to be an extra demand upon the equipment of the railroads for the movement of the crops. Already recording breaking business is being handled, but when the time comes for the movement of crops which cannot be handled now it means the placing of a greater strain upon the facilities than they are likely to be able to meet. That situation can be anticipated and relieved by the shipping of goods which can be moved at this time just as well as a month or two later. Whatever is done to keep the railroads engaged in record breaking transportation of goods at this season is going to make it possible for them to render better service as the demands upon them increase in the fall and the better the service they are able to render the greater the satisfaction, for all concerned, from the producer to the consumer.

Failure to give consideration to such matters in the past has served to increase the congestion, shortage of cars and dissatisfaction. Keeping the railroads busy with goods that can be moved when the moving can be given the best attention has time and again been emphasized in the handling of coal. It is only reasonable that it should be applied wherever it can be to other things.

It is thus a timely warning as well as an appeal that is being made by the car service division of the American Railway association.

EXCHANGING RATIFICATIONS.

Just a mere matter of form was the exchange of ratifications of the naval limitation treaty and the four power pact which were negotiated at the Washington conference. And yet that formal matter was of no little significance. It marks the successful culmination of that remarkable effort in behalf of peace which was instituted by the late president and the ending of the uncertainty that has prevailed since the Washington conference as to whether the respective nations would ratify the action of their representatives.

While the provisions of the treaty have to a certain extent received respect up to this time, there are features which were not undertaken but which will now be carried out. Among these is the scrapping of the vessels that have bene designated and the passing of which will serve to bring the naval strength of the respective nations to the ratio established.

All the nations have anticipated this step and yet all refrained from actually going ahead until it had been clearly established that there would be no fluke on the part of any member. Any doubt or suspicion that may have prevailed concerning the final outcome has now been swept away. There has been a joining of nations in a most commendable movement and immediately will attention be directed to the demolition of 28 American ships of an approximate tonnage of 750,000, some of which are fit for war purposes and others obsolete, while there are those in different stages of completion.

Many months have passed between the signing of the treaties and the exchange of ratifications but there has been no departure from the spirit of the treaties and in the years to come there are reasons for believing that there will be a steadily growing appreciation of the benefits that have been gained from that Washington conference.

"HOOKING" RIDES.

Possibly you have noticed the boy or girl "hooking" a ride by grasping the rear end of a truck or other vehicle and being pulled along without making the necessary exertion to keep the bicycle in motion. Possibly you have remarked the tendency to labor-saving devices of the present day and by chance you may have recognized the danger involved in what seems so much like innocent fun.

Only a few days ago a youngster was crushed under a truck while engaged in just such a stunt. He failed to appreciate the danger, considered that he could handle himself and wheel but overlooked the fact that he could not tell what the driver was going to do and disregarded the perilous position in which he placed himself in the face of other users of the highway.

It is a lamentable fact that so many lives are snuffed out in such a manner and it is all the more accentuated by the fact that so many continue to indulge in it despite the number who have sacrificed their lives because of their indulgence in such perilous pleasure. The idea of stumping the leader has always provided plenty of wholesome fun, but there is no chance for the boy who is thrown under the wheels when there is no opportunity to prevent it except that prevention which rests in his own hands.

"Danger, Keep Off" signs on the rear of such vehicles are put there to safeguard the lives of boys and girls. Unfortunately there are those who disregard them to their own detriment as well as to the harm of others by the setting of a dangerous example which many are easily influenced to emulate.

ANTHRACITE SUBSTITUTES.

For the coal consumer there is of course the alternative of the substitutes for anthracite such as bituminous, coke, oil and wood, to say nothing of the fine sizes of hard coal. Many have made use of them. Some have cultivated a liking for soft coal for household use, claiming that they can handle it without much dirt and that they get better results with a saving of money. Some who can afford it are turning to oil because it eliminates the worry about fuel and can be so easily handled even though it may cost more. Coke is of course limited while the use of wood doesn't appeal to those who can get a less bulky fuel.

But there is no great rush to adopt the substitutes because it is not believed to be necessary. Forced to use them it is necessary to make the best of a bad situation, but the consumer hasn't been convinced that it is really necessary and he isn't likely to be right away. There is plenty of anthracite and there is no good reason why the mining of it and its transportation to those who depend upon it should be interrupted.

If it were so that the supply was dwindling to the point of exhaustion or that it was impossible to get sufficient labor to operate the mines which yield anthracite the situation would be changed. There would be an eagerness to adopt the use of such substitutes as are available and to make the best of them. Until that time comes public sentiment is going to insist upon operation of the hard coal industry in a manner that will serve the consumer as well as those who are constantly doing their best to place a heavier and unjustified burden upon the chap that foots the bills. Those who make use of the substitutes realize, however, that they are putting themselves beyond the control of the merciless.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is no vacation for those who suffer from the hay fever.

The great trouble with vacations is the settling down to work that comes after them.

President Coolidge is going to ride horseback for exercise. Will he be a rough rider?

The man on the corner says: It takes the extremes of weather to create much of a discussion.

Stick by the rules of the road and safety and have no fear of the special motorcycle squad of state policemen.

The opening of the east side of Laurel Hill avenue means much relief to those obliged to use a bumpy and tortuous detour.

If Europe thought that President Coolidge was to differ in his foreign policy from President Harding it didn't take long for it to be disillusioned.

A study of the immigration situation from the European standpoint further supports the long maintained conviction that the selecting should be done on that side of the Atlantic.

If the example of the philatelists in convention in Washington in voting to abandon their plan to shake hands with President Coolidge is followed by others it will be a great relief to the chief executive.

HER NARROW ESCAPE

"Have you seen the junior class pins, Bobby?" On tiptoe before her senior brother, Gretta presented hers for inspection. As Bob stooped to examine the small gold triangle pinned to her blouse his smooth blond head just touched her curly brown one.

"Pretty rotten!" was his ultra-brotherly comment. "Is that the best you can do? I wouldn't wear one on a bet!"

"You're not likely to be asked, old bear," said Gretta complacently. "Not by me—at any rate. This little triangle stays right where it is. After what happened today I'm not taking any chances."

"Well—shoot!"

"Come and park in the window seat," commanded Gretta. "Bunch this pillow in behind your back, and fold up your legs a little. Do you 'spose you'll ever stop growing?"

"No immediate signs of it. Five feet eleven, and still going strong."

"You know Dirk Lawrence, that new boy who made the glee club right off the bat?"

"I've seen him."

"What do you think of him?"

"He'll make some girl a nice wife."

"I suppose you think that's funny."

"You asked me, and I told you. But go on—you seem to know him better than I do."

"He sits right across from me in French. All the girls are absolutely crazy about him. They were, that is, they just fell down in rows and had to be carried out."

"You, too?"

"N-no. There is something about his eyes. But you know, Chick and I—well, Bobby, I'm kind of a one-man girl."

Under his steady, amused gaze she colored brightly and modified this statement with, "I mean, one man at a time."

"That's what Mark Twain said about cigars. He never smoked more than one at a time."

"Then I'll tell you. The girls all fell for this sheik with the patent leather hair and you almost did, but not quite. And he asked you for your class pin, and you almost let him wear it, but not quite, and the real reason why you did not was that Chick had asked you first and you had turned him down. What happened next?"

"Who told you?" Gretta's voice was as blank as her face.

"I guessed. Well, what did happen?"

"He'd been playing around with all the girls—dating with a different one every night, but not running anybody especial. Then today we walked into French class, and when we saw his sweater we almost passed out. He was wearing twenty class pins, Bobby. Every girl's in the junior class but me."

"Moses!"

"Maybe I wasn't glad I followed my hunch and didn't even take mine off to let him look at it."

"Why, the poor prune!" Bob grew suddenly hot with mingled emotions, which dyed his ears a pleasing scarlet. "The big boob. Does he think he can live here three weeks and vamp the whole chicken coop like that? How he must hate himself."

"Now, Bobby, don't go off half cocked. It was an awfully conceited thing to do. But, it's funny, really. The girls had it coming to them—if I do say it. They were so easy, Bob. And he's good—you'll have to hand it to him; he had them all going. Of course, they're perfectly furious at him now, but do you know that every single one of them told me in private last week that she knew Dirk was going to date her for the prom?"

"Well, he can drag every Jane in the school to the prom if he wants to, for all the opposition he'll have. Wait till the fellows hear this!"

"But he doesn't want to," confided Gretta. "He wants to take just one girl, and when she said she wouldn't go with him he decided to stay home."

"Well, I'm glad there's one of 'em with a little something under her hat except her hair," grunted Bob—and then, with a sudden burst of generosity, "Who was it? I'll take her myself!"

"Sorry, old thing," dimpled Gretta, "I'm all dated up for weeks in advance!"

"You?" Bob favored his sister with a detached, appraising look. "And you turned him down?" he mused. "Well, that's something."

"Yes, wasn't it," she agreed demurely, "You see, I'd already promised Chick."—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The Duchess of Aosta, who is now traveling in Canada, is one of the most remarkable woman of European royalty. She is the child of the late Comte de Paris and until her marriage to the Duke of Aosta, eldest cousin of the present King of Italy, she knew no other home than England. A youthful romance was cut short by the death of the Duke of Clarence, heir presumptive to the English throne, to whom she had been reported engaged. The Duchess is a great traveler and a fine all round sportswoman and in particular is renowned as a big game huntress. She has penetrated to the wildest parts of Africa, to places where no white woman had ever ventured before. She has slept in the jungles with only black attendants to look after her. She has shot lions and tigers and leopards and had hairbreadth escapes and blood curdling adventures. During the late war she rendered heroic service as a Red Cross nurse.

Stories That Recall Others

Has Something Coming to Him.

"Tommy," said a young woman visitor at his home, "why not come to our Sabbath school? Several of your little friends have joined us lately."

Tommy hesitated a moment. Then suddenly: "Does a red-headed kid by the name of Jimmy Brown go to your school?"

"Yes, indeed," replied the new teacher.

"Well, then," replied Tommy, with an air of interest, "I'll be there next Sunday, you bet. I've been laying for that kid for three weeks, and never knew where to find him."

Makes the West.

"I don't like the wind," protested the newcomer to the cow country plaintively. "It blows so hard my conversation goes right back down my throat. And I've gotto talk. I'm a book agent."

"You don't like the wind?" interrogated the old timer. "Why, man, the wind clears the range—gives the cattle a chance to graze. Why, the wind's great for this country!"

"And the heat," protested the newcomer. "It's awful. Now I—"

"The heat?" countered the old timer. "Why, it's kinda hot sometimes. But summer ain't only a month long. Why the heat's the best part of it."

"But the dust," insisted the newcomer feebly. "The dust's awful, now isn't it? Now I—"

"Dust? Say stranger, you don't know nothin'. Why the dust's necessary!"

He turned from the tenderfoot in evident sorrow, not unmixed with disdain. "Why," he said over his shoulder, "all these disadvantages makes the west!"

A Little Talk on Thrift

"The large wastes are readily discovered, but it is the small ones that in the aggregate amount to much more than a few large ones and cause the most concern."

Thus an executive of an important American railway system recently epitomized the urgent need of thrift practice among railroad employes. He estimated that the waste in little things on the railroad with which he was connected amounted to $7,000,000 anpually. This did not include any outstanding instances of efficiency.

For example here is one sentence that illustrated his point: "We have millions of electric lights in service all over the system using thousands of watt-hours of current. How often do we see lights burning unnecessarily while the waste goes on?"

Some of the annual items of needless waste pointed out by him were as follows: Coal, $1,000,000; supplies, $300 000; stationery, $50,000; crossties, $100,000; locomotive repairs, $500,000.

Analysis of his statement reveals that about 7 per cent. of his company's operating expenses last year represented waste due to lack of thrift by employes. Inasmuch as the system with which he is connected represents about 3 per cent. of the gross railway mileage of the United States, and as conditions on the road referred to were probably a fair average of conditions on all lines, it is safe to set down the sum of $230,000,000 a year as the direct result of lack of thrift by employes.

One of the great economic problems of the present day pertains to transportation. In these matters of unnecessary expense, the cure can only come through the education of the employes. No other efficiency system can safeguard against these wastes.

The business men of America should learn that a very small percentage of the amount of money wasted by thriftless employes would, if spent in correct thrift education, bring amazingly beneficial results. — American Thrift Society.

FAVORABE REPORTS OF CROPS IN NEW ENGLAND

Wakefield, Mass., Aug. 20.—In spite of the unusually dry summer the total production of hay in New England this year will be about up to the standard with excellent quality, the statisticians of the New England crop reporting service say in a report made public tonight. Late reports indicate better yields from cultivated fields than seemed possible earlier in the season and the light rainfall will enable farmers to harvest a full acreage of wild or meadow hay. Conditions during the last two weeks have been reasonably favorable to the growth of nearly all crops. Recent rains have done much to push crops forward but rain is again needed in many places and corn needs warmer nights. The season so far for the most part has been unusually free from plant diseases. Insect pests except for the corn borer have not been especially troublesome.

The Maine sweet corn acreage has increased considerably over last year and the crop outlook is good if frost stays off long enough. Potatoes are reported as very promising in nearly all sections except Connecticut where drought greatly reduced the crop. Set onions from the Connecticut valley are moving to market and yields are good, but the seed crop is poor to fair. Tobacco shows one of the best crops in several years.

Early apples are of small size due to lack of rain but reports indicate that fall and winter apples are likely to be of good size and quality. The total New England crop of commercial apples will somewhat exceed last year's crop. Peaches are a good crop and of high quality. The prospects for cranberries are good.

WOONSOCKET FISHERMEN LANDED SEVEN-FOOT SHARK

Providence, R. I., Aug. 20.—A party of fishermen from Woonsocket landed a seven-foot shark in a seine at West Barrington today after an aquatic battle in which the big fish ripped the folds entangling him to shreds and was finally prevented from escaping only by the shallowness of the water. The sea terror lived for two and a half hours after being landed.

N. L. COUNCIL ACCEPTS BARLOW'S RESIGNATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Aug. 20.—The city council this evening voted to accept the resignation of Manager James E. Barlow, relieving him from further duty on the 15th of September next. He has been employed at a salary of $7,500 a year. There were a couple of applications for the place from out of town parties, but no action was taken upon the applications, the opinion being general that no non-resident will be engaged for the place. There are several New London aspirants to become city manager, among them being ex-Mayor Frank Morgan, William A. Holt and Thomas R. Murray. It is understood also that the next city manager will not get a salary of $7,500. He may get half of that sum.

TWENTY BATTLE PLANES PASS OVER NORWICH

Flying in close formation, twenty planes passed over Norwich about 3 P. M. Monday, en route from Langley Field, Va., to Boston, and Bangor, Me., their destination. It was the largest number of planes ever seen at one time by many residents of this city and they were flying low in a "V" formation.

Some residents of Wauwecus Hill and North Franklin reported from 31 to 24 planes in the flock but substantiated reports furnished by the Associated Press earlier in the day gave the correct number as 20 machines.

NEW NURSES' HOME FOR BACKUS HOSPITAL

The nurses home for the William W. Backus hospital, shown in the accompanying picture, is the new building that is to be added to the hospital group through the public appeal for $250,000 recently decided upon by the trustees. Inadequate provision for training nurses now threatens to impair the service given by the hospital to the community, and was one of the chief considerations that led to the decision.

The new nurses' home will be erected on the north side of the present administration building, and will face the driveway. It will harmonize architecturally with the existing unit and will give Norwich one of the more complete and efficient hospital groups in the state.

Fifty individual rooms for nurses will be provided in the new structure, which is planned to furnish the nurses with every necessary comfort and every proper means of instruction, rest and recreation.

A large reception and recreation room for the nurses, to the right of the entrance, will extend the whole width of the building. Two smaller rooms, adjacent, will give the nurses opportunity to entertain their families and friends.

The offices of the matron of the home will be to the left of the entrance. On the first floor will be the quarters of the superintendent of nurses. Each floor will be provided with large and suitable bathrooms and lavatories.

On the ground floor will be a special class room, provided with every equipment for use in lectures and demonstrations. On the same floor will be the nurses' dining room, and near this will be the diet kitchen in which student nurses will be instructed in invalid cookery.

For the conveniences of nurses who may desire to take care of some of their own laundry work, there will be a washing and ironing room where articles may be laundered by the nurses themselves. On the ground floor also will be a trunk room.

The new building will be lighted by means of modern electric lighting fixtures. Heating will be by steam, and it is believed that the best results will be had by installing a separate heating plant for the home.

There will be two glassed-in verandas. Present plans call for the use of terazzo for the corridors, with inlaid battleship linoleum for runners.

Construction of the new nurses' home will release the present nurses' building for other hospital uses, including the more comfortable housing of hospital employees.

The new building is to be connected by subway with the main corridor of the hospital that runs to every part of the plant.

JOHN IRISH'S OLD REGIMENT TO GIVE UP REUNIONS

There were tears in the eyes and a catch in the voices of the nine members of the First Connecticut Cavalry association as they sorrowfully nodded assent to the motion of Chaplain William T. Hilton, made at the fifty-sixth annual reunion in Hartford, that the meeting be adjourned "sine die" and that the regimental flag and the records of the association be turned over to Adjutant-General George M. Cole to be kept in the cabinet of state flags for preservation and historic reference as "flag of a regiment that had taken part in eighty-four battles and skirmishes with General George Custer."

The final officers were elected however. They are: President, William G. Renfrew of Plainville; first vice president, Rev. William B. Carey of Wethersfield; second vice president, John Irish of Norwich; secretary, Francis McKenna, Hartford; assistant and honorary secretary of Hartford, Dora A. Holbrook. Mr. McKenna was the only officer present Wednesday. The other eight men in attendance were: Lester Rockwell, Wallingford; G. M. Eagan, Waterbury, formerly the chief of police there; John L. Saxe, Waterbury; Thomas Coleman, New Haven; Edward Davis, Shelton; Samuel Miller, Shelton; William T. Hilton of Hartford and William G. Renfrew of Plainville.

Some of the major engagements the First Connecticut Cavalry took part in were: McDonald, Franklin, Harrisonburg, the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Five Forks, Appomattox, Cedar Creek, Cold Harbor, Chancellorsville and Cross Keys.

For the first time John Irish of Norwich did not feel able to be present at the annual reunion, which he and Mrs. Irish have always attended.

SAYS WOOD ALCOHOL VICTIM BADLY BEATEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Aug. 20.—The body of Frank Santora, 12 Home street, found dead at his home from wood alcohol poisoning Saturday morning and for which crime Joseph Foretta and Sebatino Turesi, the latter of Willimantic are being held in $2,500 for trial of the charge of manslaughter at the next term of the superior court, will be buried in St. Mary's cemetery tomorrow unless Coroner J. J. Desmond of Norwich, orders the body held a day or two longer, and this is not likely.

It developed late this afternoon that although no bruises were found on Santora's body at the autopsy Saturday, the man received a harsh beating before he was found on lower Bank street, Thursday evening. It is known that Santora went to a store where he annoyed the proprietor and that although he displayed symptoms of having indulged in drink, Santora was not drunk. During his stay at the place, Santora's conduct it is understood became such that he was ejected from the store and fell against an automobile and that while he was in the act of regaining his feet, he was dealt a blow on the jaw that sent him into the street unconscious. He was later picked up by friends and placed where he would not be in the gaze of the curious and later taken to his home. The police have not investigated the attack on Santora for it was not known by them that the assault occurred until early this evening.

PUTNAM VET GETS INTO LIMELIGHT AT NIANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, Aug. 20.—Vincent McEvoy of Putnam has returned from the disabled veterans' camp at Niantic, where Saturday he got into the limelight by being singled out by General Girouard, the Lion of the Argonne, who visited the camp and inspected the 90 men there. When the general passed the line McEvoy gave him his best salute. When informed that the Putnam man was the only member of the Rainbow division, which the general commanded, in the camp, the general called to him, shook his hand and, through an interpreter, held a conversation of several minutes. The general asked after his health and complimented the division and the American soldiers. He said that after learning that McEvoy was in Company G, 166th division, he was not surprised at the salute given. During the handshaking between the general and the Putnam man a newspaper photographer snapped the scene.

WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Chicago, Ill.—"I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back always ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it, it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. HELEN SEVCIK, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevcik is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

This (Tuesday) evening at the state armory, members of the Service battery, 192d Field Artillery, will have the pleasure of signing the payroll and tucking a total of about $2,000 in their jeans, this being their pay for the quarter ending June 30. The boys will like that and find ready use for the coin.

Captain F. O. Armington said Monday morning that the battery will leave here September 8, for a 15 days' tour of duty at Camp Eustis, Va. An advance detail of a cook and three privates will get away ahead of the command, leaving here for the south on September 5. The personnel of this detail had not been definitely established up to Monday

Before leaving Monday afternoon for his retreat at Manrosa Island, Rev. Ignatius Kost, pastor of St. Joseph's parish at Dayville, said that he anticipated the lawn fete recently given by the parish will net a profit of $1,-900. The exact figures are not yet available, but the gross receipts were in excess of $1400.

Father Kost, who has done remarkable work during his pastorate at Dayville, said that painters will this week begin going over the church property at Dayville. The church, the rectory and stables are to be painted and a new fence constructed about a certain section of the property. Painters also will give their attention to the mission Church of the Five Wounds, at Ballouville. Father Kost will return from his retreat in time for the services Sunday next.

When an especially made crown was set upon the head of Mrs. Elizabeth White of East Killingly, Sunday afternoon, at the outing of the Ponemah Wheel club of Taftville, holding its annual picnic at Wildwood park, 150 members and guests cheered lustily, for "Queen" Elizabeth had achieved the same pre-eminence as her consort, "King" George Jacques, with whom she has been associated in preparing "shore" dinners for a long term of years and bringing joy and happiness and gustatorial satisfaction to the thousands who have attended these affairs in many parts of eastern Connecticut and elsewhere in southern New England.

Fred Holdsworth, chairman of the committee of arrangements for the Wheel club outing, made the presentation speech. He said:

Brother Members of the Ponemah Wheel Club: As chairman of the clambake committee I ask your attention for a few minutes so that I may perform a ceremony that will be interesting to each and all of you. As you are all aware, the honorable gentleman who has catered for you today in such an able manner has established such a reputation as a caterer in years gone by that he was crowned king of the Clam Bake caterers, and, I think, you will all agree with me that he has earned and well deserves his high honor.

But upon investigation the committee found that something had been overlooked and forgotten. For hundreds of years it always has been the custom for a King to have a Queen, and we decided that there should be a queen of the Clam Bake caterers, as well as a King. We decided that if there was any lady that deserved the honor it was the one who has loyally helped and worked with King George, not only today, but as well in years that have gone. Her devotion to duty, her excellent cooking and her genial disposition will ever be a pleasant memory to all of us. We have secured a crown which is not very elaborate as an ornament in itself, but is a token of esteem and affection from the hearts of 150 young men. I hope this lady will not judge this crown from the standpoint of its intrinsic value or worth, but rather as a token of love and respect that we all have for her—for good cooks today are few and far between, and the surest way to a man's heart is through his stomach. This lady is known to all of us as Elizabeth, and it is my duty as well as my pleasure as the representative of these men here today to crown you Queen so that you can be an equal partner with the King and be known as Queen Elizabeth.

The annual outing of the Ponemah Wheel club this year was one of the best in its history. Short addresses were made by the president, John B. Benoit, and by Fred Webster, the first president. Songs and character sketches given by clever members added to the enjoyment of a day that was featured by a splendid shore dinner.

Raids horsabouts and in the town of Plainfield at the week-end were productive of finds by searching officers that will mean presentation in court of various persons who will be charged with violations of the liquor laws. These raids have stirred up more of a furore than has marked any other activities of the kind in the past two years and on Monday were causing widespread comment with predictions being freely made that the harvest of it all will come next fall when some of those who are scheduled to appear in court will take it out in a political way at the town elections. This is an interesting sidelight on the situation. While the state police are only engaged in their sworn duty of enforcing the law, they are coming in for widespread comment, some of which is favorable and much of it adverse. The fact is that a very considerable proportion of the population of this section of eastern Connecticut are opposed to the Volstead act and want to see it modified. Revelations made by the raids are further proof that there is wholesale violation of the liquor laws all through this section, as in many other sections of Connecticut. These violations are wholly due to the fact that there is a widespread demand for something with a kick and purveyors who are willing to furnish it and take the attendant risks of prosecution for the profit that is available. The raids appear to have stirred up a hornets' nest. No one can legitimately criticise the raiding officers for doing their duty, but, it appears, there are political ways and means of evening up the score against the party in power, and that is just exactly what is being threatened for next fall. The ballot is to be used as a weapon of punishment. Here is a situation that challenges the attention of all substantial citizens. Reprisals at the polls are promised because of the effort to enforce a law that is unpopular with large numbers of people, many of whom will not admit, openly, their attitude.

The situation is unique at least for the present generation and approximates, according ot old residents, conditions that prevailed in eastern Connecticut many years ago prior to the enactment of license and other regulatory laws.

Numbers here were interested Monday afternoon in watching the flight of squadrons of aeroplanes winging their way over the vicinity of Danielson and headed in the general direction of Providence.

Miss Margaret McBride, who has been seriously ill the past week at her home on Academy street, was reported Monday as much improved.

Lightning did only a small amount of damage in this territory in Sunday evening's electrical storm, but caused destruction of property at the H. H. Davenport place, in Pomfret.

Mrs. Katherine McCormack and Miss Margaret Sullivan are expected to return this week-end from a stay in New Hampshire.

A recent guest at Indian Hill farm, Allen Hill, was William Adams of the central branch of the Y. M. C. A., in Camden, N. J., who has been visiting with Clarence Salmon, Jr.

Mrs. J. C. Witter and Miss Katherine T. Thayer have returned from a vacation spent at Ocean Beach.

PUTNAM

Two gallons of moonshine which found its way from Webster to Putnam during Sunday was at the bottom of considerable trouble that kept the Putnam police busy most of Sunday night and augmented the number of cases in the city court to an even ten Monday morning. The session lasted all the morning and after using an interpreter and listening to an incessant flow of broken English the cases were disposed of by Deputy Judge Archibald Macdonald, Jr.

The facts as gleaned from the press table were to the effect that there was trouble in several sections of the city in which the moonshine, dice, cards, fists, and harsh names figured prominently. The belligerents, all in court, were a peaceful lot and apparently harbored no ill feelings one to the other.

Frank Louk, Stanley Novak, John Tybuski, Andrew Chebelo and Mike Sodzenski were all charged with being drunk, breach of the peace, assault and with gambling with dice or cards. All but Novak and Tybuski were found guilty. These two defendants had their cases nolled. Louk paid $41.64, Chebelo paid $17.14, and Sodzenski paid $41.64.

Earle Davis, who got out of jail two weeks ago after serving seven months for being a common drunkard, was sent back for 30 days after pleading guilty to intoxication.

George F. Ross, who owns a fleet of trucks, while unloading a heavy pump at the plant of the Adams Manufacturing company, about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, had his left arm badly smashed when the pump fell, crushing his arm from the wrist to the elbow against the side of the truck. Mr. Ross was removed to the Day Kimball hopital, where X-ray pictures of the injured arm will be taken. It is believed that the arm is fractured in several places.

A number of the nurses at the Day Kimball hospital were guests of friends at a cottage on the shores of Alexander's lake Monday evening. Supper was served and there was music and dancing.

F. W. Seward has returned from California, where he was the guest of his son, Dr. Lee Seward.

Merrick Walker, 73, for the past 20 years a citizen of North Grosvenordale, died at his home in that village Saturday night. He was born in Thompson April 10th, 1850, the son of Horace and Susan Sanger Walker. For some years he lived in Melrose, Mass., but moved back to his old home, where he died. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Leon of Putnam and Lewis of North Grosvenordale, and a daughter, Miss Tyra Walker, who lives ta home.

Peter A. Gardner, constable, while driving his automobile from Providence to Putnam Sunday afternoon, had an accident that badly damaged his car. The roadway had been recently sprinkled with oil and the machine skidded and could not be controlled. It careened to the side of the road but did not tip over, although the two wheels on one side were dished.

John A. Macdonald, state highway commissioner, was in Putnam Monday looking over work under way and proposed, especially the contemplated change at the Little River bridge which will straighten out this corner and eliminate a dangerous situation. While in the city he was the guest of his parents, Postmaster and Mrs. Archie Macdonald.

Misses Sylvia and Elizabeth Wheelock, who are spending the summer at the Wheelock summer home, Pleasant View, were in Putnam Monday.

Miss Ellen M. Wheelock and her aunt, Mrs. Emma Taft, of Uxbridge, Mass., who have been traveling in Europe for the past eight weeks, have sailed for home and are to land at Montreal on the 24th.

Malcolm M. Willey leaves today (Tuesday) for Winthrop, Mass., where he is to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Ballard for a few days. Mr. Willey and Mr. Ballard were college classmates.

NOTES FROM WILLIMANTIC CAMP GROUND

Willimantic, Aug. 20.—In the tabernacle Saturday evening there was a get-together social under the auspices of Norwich District Epworth League, the president, Rev. N. B. Burton of Putnam, presiding. He announced that there was a certain person in the room, and the twenty-third person who shook hands with that person would not have to pay the institute fee of one dollar. Miss Marjorie Stephens, of Vernon, was the person and Frank Mell, of Jewett City, had his fee remitted. Next followed a series of group stunts. Ten groups of about ten each sang different songs or called different yells, making various amusing bits. It ended by the ten groups getting together and doing all the stunts at once, which resulted in an uproarious, harmonious discord.

President Burton then announced that the "Look Up," "Lift Up," "Move Up" color contest of last year will be repeated the coming week. The Bible study period at 10.30, conducted daily by William B. Oliver, is to be public. F. B. Florian, of East Hartford, the secretary and registrar; Rev. F. W. Gray, of Rockville, formerly district president; Mrs. W. J. Stephens, fourth vice president of the district league; Miss Ruth LaForge, of Hockanum, Junior League superintendent; and Herman U. Leedy, of Youngstown, O., were called to the platform by the president, and presented to the audience. Mr. Leedy, who was introduced as the choirmaster for this season, stated that the regular Methodist hymnal would be the book used in all the services. A playlet entitled Ten Minutes for Refreshments, was given by young people from New London—Mrs. Samuel Jones, Mrs. Fred Damon, Miss Sarah Coulson, Joseph Dalton, Harold Berg, Kenneth Holmes and William Spargo. Various games were enjoyed under the leadership of Rev. Frank W. Gray of Rockville.

At 36 Haven avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Holmes, son Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Linkletter, son Otis and daughter Lila, all of New London.

Miss Flora M. Smith of Willimantic is spending from May to September at Hickory Roost, on Edgewood avenue.

Mrs. Phebe Winter of New Haven is with her as companion.

Monday, the first day of the Epworth league institute, the morning watch was in the tabernacle at 7.50. W. B. Oliver had charge and gave an address on the first Christian martyr, Stephen—A Message of Courage. Dr. A. Earl Kernahan began his lessons on Stewardship with an eloquent talk on God's Best Resource, which he declared to be a good man. At the same hour Mrs. Stevens had a class in Teacher Training in Epworth chapel. This is the new name for the old restaurant building, not used in recent years.

Mrs. Stevens also had the next period in that building, discussing The Sunday School at Work. In the tabernacle at this time Rev. John L. Davis, pastor of the M. E. church in New Britain, spoke. His general theme is Christian Citizenship. His topic today was The Individual and Social Gospel. Mr. Davis has established a men's class of 2,000 membership in his church and is an authority on Sunday school work.

A 15 minute interval for recreation is a daily feature of this institute, from 10 to 10.15, and Rev. Frank Gray conducts this as well as the one at the close of each afternoon service.

W. B. Oliver of Vineyard Haven gave an interesting introduction to the study of the Epistle to the Hebrewes in the open air auditorium at 10.20.

The closing period of the morning was in Epworth chapel where Rev. F. W. Gray spoke on A Birdseye View of the Epworth League.

The children's meeting was held at 1 p. m. in the New London house under the direction of Miss Ruth LaFarge, junior league superintendent. Mrs. F. W. Gray addressed the children.

The Stafford Springs Campmeeting House association held its first meeting in its cottage on Wesley circle at 1 o'clock. Capt. H. M. Randall of Port Jefferson, L. I., was leader. Mrs. J. R. Miller of East Thompson was the organist.

Rev. Chauncey W. Ruoff of Baltic gave the first inspirational address of the week at 2 p. m. in the tabernacle before a good sized audience. Christian Optimism was his theme. He declared the sure cure of pessimism was 1, the Bible 2, Prayer; 3, Work.

The first sermon of the evening was given in the tabernacle at 7 o'clock last evening by Rev. J. Garfield Sallis of Mystic.

A. D. Zabriskie of Norwich has charge of the dining room for the twelfth season, including years when he catered at the restaurant. He is assisted by Mrs. Zabriskie, Misses Grace and Marcia Zabriskie, his nieces, Misses Edith and Marion Pierce, Howard C. Zabriskie, Charles C. Pendleton and William M. Burdick, all of Norwich.

Miss Blanche Freeman, a delegate from Norwich Trinity M. E. church, is at Craigy-Reos, 76 Wesley circle, with Miss Florence Clifford and the owner of the cottage, Mrs. Alvin D. Lewis, of Norwich.

The Norwich Town house is occupied by Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Aldrich and sons, Lewis and Mark. Mrs. Albert Miner and granddaughter, Virginia Ward, the Misses Gladys and Hazel Crutchers, Florence Brown, Augusta Miller and Millard Manning, all of Norwich Town; also Miss Martha Davis of Jewett City and Miss Laura Brown of Berlin. This cottage has been much improved by a coat of paint applied by workers from the church. The windows have new drapery.

New recruits for the week at the Uncasville cottage are Mrs. A. C. Kellogg and daughter Elizabeth, Miss Myrtelene Gesner and Miss Rena Ungerer.

Priscilla Edna Maine, 7 months old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. S. F. Maine of Phenix, R. I., is the youngest member of the campground auxiliary of the W. H. M. S. She joined Saturday.

Miss Lenore Ellwood of New London is at camp for the week.

Rev. Joseph Cooper of South Manchester came Monday for the season He is quartered at South Manchester house, Church circle.

The Sunday evening service was a joint meeting of the Woman's Foreign and the Woman's Home Missionary societies. The first speaker was Mrs Curtis, representing the former society. Owing to a series of thunder showers early in the evening, the attendance was considerably less than that of the afternoon. An inspiring song service by choir and congregation, led by Prof. Leedy, preceded the addresses. Rev. N. B. Burton of Putnam, president and dean of Norwich District Epworth league, offered prayer, and Superintendent Bath made the announcements. In the address which followed Mrs. Curtis gave the explanation of the formation of the Women's Missionary societies. According to plans made by the missionaries of all denominations, the Methodist Episcopal church is responsible for the evangelization of 150,-000,000 people in the Orient, and the W. F. M. S. is responsible for one-half of these millions.

Mrs. Stevens followed with a vivid description of her travels over the land, especially emphasizing her visit to Nome, Alaska. Mrs. Stevens concluded by giving Story of Little Ann in a strikingly interesting and touching manner.

A series of nearby explosions startled the camp early yesterday morning. An Italian, Jim Jordan, has bought a lot next south of the lower entrance to the campground, has built a confectionery and fruit store there, and is now engaged in blasting rocks in the cellar, over which he plans to erect a dwelling.

The speaker for the inspirational service at 2 p. m. Tuesday is Rev. John L. Davis of New Britain, and the preacher at 7 p. m. is to be Rev. J. Harlow Graham of Norwich.

The annual campfire is scheduled for Tuesday night at the conclusion of the evening service, and the annual institute reception for Wednesday night.

JEWETT CITY

A fleet of 18 aeroplanes, bound from Langley field, Va., to Bangor, Me., via Boston, passed over the borough at 2.50 p. m. Monday. Probably 90 per cent of the townspeople witnessed the sight. First came the loud roar, which many mistook for passing automobiles, then came the airships, four abreast, flying at about 2500 feet, it was judged and at great speed, so great indeed, that they were over the horizon to the north in a few minutes. A Willimantic man, told of the regular air service between Boston and New York, and said those planes always passed a little to the east of Willimantic in taking an air line between the two cities. So it is believed here that the fleet of Monday had passed to the east of New York city.

Funeral services for William Welsh, of Jewett City, were held at St. Thomas' church in Voluntown, Monday morning. Rev. Ludovic Paradis celebrated the requiem mass. The bearers were D. F. Finn, Dennis Barnett, Joseph St. John and Thomas Cyr. Burial was in St. Thomas cemetery. Hourigan Bros. were the funeral directors in charge.

Miss Doris Myott is the guest of friends in Boston and later in the week she will be a member of an automobile party who will enjoy a New Hampshire mountain trip.

Local automobile drivers, who were out on frequented roads Sunday, say there is an much fault to be found with the persistent slow driver as with the speeder. Sunday, in the regular parade, that closes up tight, as the shore resorts are reached, there was to be seen the man that wouldn't move over 15 miles an hour. Then he would kick the hardest when other drivers cut in ahead.

Miss Margaret Donahue, of Pawtucket and Mrs. Frances Shannon and daughter Teresa of Stonington have been guests of Mrs. Prentice Chase.

Miss Jean Burleson goes to New Canaan today (Tuesday) for a visit. Miss Hallie Burleson returned Monday from New Canaan, accompanied by Miss Annie Hallam.

Among Jewett City people who are at Willimantic camp ground are R. W. Robertson's family, Mrs. Mary Howes, Mrs. Hattie Brewster, Charles Saunders, Bessie McCluggage, A. C. Burdick's family, Mrs. Sarah Tracy, Mrs. Ella Geer, Rev. H. T. Wilber and family.

The following scores were shot on the Voluntown Rifle club range. Geo. Sheldon was high man for the Edmond medal. He made 88 out of a possible 100 on the expert target, 50 shot off hand match, possible 500: John Kaufmann 493, George Sheldon 489, John Hall 474, Jim Hopkins 462, Henry De Rusha 460, Jos. Brumley 430, Clifford Doughty 426, Norman Doughty 414, Ernest Brousha 413, Bill Brumley 403, Ernest Brumley 396, Samuel Trudeau 390

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burr, and daughter Doris, Julia Sayles and Paul Geisler, Jr., are taking an automobile trip to Canada, Lake George and the White Mountains.

A telephone report reached this borough from Pachaug late Monday evening that a serious automobile accident had occurred near the Leonard cemetery and that a man had been badly hurt and an officer was needed. Officer McDermott secured a machine and went to the place to investigate. The officer found the report exaggerated and summed up in the fact that four Jewett City men in an automobile had collided with a stone wall near the cemetery. No one reported himself hurt and the machine came to Jewett City under its own power.

MARKET WAS RETROACTIVE.

New York, Aug. 20.—The upward movement of stock prices which had been in progress five days, was temporarily checked today by profit-taking on the part of professional traders, who had bought stocks for a turn a week or ten days ago, and by the offerings of short interests who desired to test the absorptive power of the market.

Offerings, generally, were well absorbed, the extreme losses of 1 to 2 points being substantially reduced in the closing dealings when a fair sized rally was staged under the leadership of the Independent Steel and Leather shares. The so-called pivotal stocks, U. S. Steel, Baldwin, Studebaker, American Woolen and American Can, all closed at net losses of a point or less.

Another cut of 25 cents a barrel in the price of Gulf Coast Crude Oil with reports that it would be followed by another reduction in the mid-continent price and lower raw and refined sugar prices had a somewhat pessimistic effect on sentiment. Another of Wall street's dividend rumors came today when the directors of the Hudson Motor Car Company declared a quarterly payment of 75 cents, placing the stock on a $3 annual basis, as against $2 heretofore.

While the stock market continued to ignore developments abroad, Wall street was inclined to look upon Premier Poincare's Sunday speech as conciliatory in tone and the German chancellor's expected reply is awaited with great interest. The foreign exchange market was featured by another collapse in German marks, which sent them down 12 cents a million, a week end depreciation of more than 50 per cent. French francs rallied 5 points to 5.57 cents but demand sterling broke sharply to 4.54 5-8, a new low for the year. Spanish pesetas dropped 13 points to 13.64 cents, the lowest in all time.

Gulf States Steel and Great Northern Ore led the late rally, each closing at a net gain of approximately 3 points. International Shoe was pushed up 5 points, commission houses reporting the buying as coming from New England points. Other strong spots were American Cotton Oil preferred, People's Gas, Pacific Gas & Electric, Beechnut Packing, Lorillard Tobacco and Iron Products, all up 2 points or more, National Biscuit established a new high for the year at 46 1-4.

Chemical shares were again attacked today, Allied Chemical losing 3 1-4 points on the day and having closing at 30 3-8 for a slight fractional loss after having sold as low as 29 7-8. Apart from a continuation of unfavorable trade conditions, there were no new developments to account for the renewal of selling pressure.

Call money opened at 4 3-4, advanced to 5 and thence to 5 1-2 and then dropped back to 5 again. The time money and commercial paper marks were rather quiet with 5 1-4 per cent. the ruling rate. Brokers' loans are estimated to have decreased $50,000,000 during the last month, the present total being about $1,450,000,000, as compared with the high point of $2,000,000,000 last February.

MAHEU RELEASED IN $5,000 BONDS BY FRANKLIN TOWN COURT

The case against John Maheu of Willimantic, charged with manslaughter, was continued one week by Judge Charles B. Davis in the Franklin town court Monday night. Bonds were fixed at $5,000 and were secured by the accused, his father, Octave Maheu of Willimantic, acting as surety.

Maheu was the driver of the Ford touring car which crashed into a high bank by the side of the road at Franklin Hill on the Norwich-Willimantic highway early Saturday evening, throwing Charles Manning, 49, of Willimantic, a passenger, out of the car and to his death on the macadam road. Manning struck on his head and was almost instantly killed. The machine was said to be traveling at a fast rate of speed when the fatality occurred, and it was also said that a bottle which evidently contained liquor was found in the wrecked car after the crash.

Deputy Sheriff George Hoxie of Lebanon arrested Maheu and he was brought to the local police station and held here over Sunday. Monday morning Coroner J. J. Desmond of this city conducted a hearing on the Maheu case at police headquarters and after hearing the evidence in the case decided to hold Maheu on a charge of manslaughter, for presentation before Judge Davis in the Franklin court.

Maheu faces three charges, manslaughter, operating a motor vehicle when under the influence of liquor, and failure to have a driver's license. Maheu's attorney, William King, of Willimantic, was granted a continuance of the case to Aug. 27.

NORWICH SHOWS GAIN IN POSTAL SAVINGS DEPOSITS

A statement issued by the post office department at Washington shows that Norwich ranks 99th with other cities throughout the country in regard to postal savings business transacted last month. The depositors' balance at the local post office last month was $115,364, a gain of $836 over the previous month.

Despite the drain of vacation days postal savings deposits made a slight gain during the month of July showing an increase of $12,000 over June according to the figures made public by Postmaster General New. On July 31 the balance on deposit in postal savings accounts throughout the country amounted to $131,712,580.

Uniontown, Penn., continues to be the feature of the report. During July the little mining town passed both San Francisco and Los Angeles in the amount of deposits after having, during the past six months, left Milwaukee, Jersey City, Cincinnati, Buffalo, Cleveland and Columbus far in the rear. With $807,432 on deposit Uniontown is drawing close to St. Louis, the next ranking city which has deposits of $960,549.

START POURING CEMENT ON LAUREL HILL TODAY

Work of pouring the cement on the east side of Laurel Hill avenue is to be started today (Tuesday) by Street Commissioner Albert E. Cruthers and the work will be rushed along as fast as possible. Work there has been delayed for some time to allow the Connecticut company to place new trolley tracks and to allow the several city departments to do whatever work was necessary on the avenue before the cement was poured.

Work is now being rushed on the north side of West Main street and the work of binding the road will start soon. Street Commissioner Cruthers expects to have this work completed before the New London County Fair opens at the Fairgrounds. The new street is a decided improvement over the old one.

Practically all city work will be completed before the frosts arrive. The next big job is on Central avenue where a new macadam road is to be built.

WRITES OF INTERESTING TRIP TO LIMA, PERU

Mrs. Appleton Main of Poquetanuck has received an interesting letter from her sister, Mrs. C. A. Babcock, formerly of Jewett City, describing her journey to Lima, Peru. The letter follows:

About noon June 23rd, Royal and I left New York on board the Essequibo. A harbor pilot took us out of port, as ships leaving and entering New York must be guided by someone who is well acquainted with the layout of the harbor.

All the way to Havana we were fortunate in having a comparatively quiet sea and fine weather. A condition for which we were extremely grateful. The coast line of Florida and Miami and Key West with the railroad connecting it to the mainland could be distinguished along the sky line. We reached Havana Wednesday, June 27th, about 7 a. m. and were informed that we were to remain in port until late in the afternoon. Before disembarking all passengers were obliged to be examined by a health officer of the city. The examination, however proved so simple that I didn't know when it took place. We were then allowed to go ashore so Royal and I engaged an auto and took a sight seeing trip.

The city of Havana impressed me as being one of the most picturesque cities I have ever seen. There is Old Havana with its very narrow street which were lined mostly by saloons. In contrast is New Havana with its wide streets, beautiful mansions and lovely parks, with tropical trees and plants.

We visited the president's palace which is a very beautiful structure and saw the palisades and castle which is some three hundred years old. After having seen many places of interest we returned to the ship which left the dock about 5 p. m.

Soon after leaving Havana we struck the Caribbean sea which we found to be quite rough. I didn't enjoy that. After sailing three days and seeing neither land nor ship we reached Colon about 9 p. m. Saturday, June 30th. The next morning after an inspector had come on board and called the roll, Royal and I went ashore and looked the town over, which didn't take long, as it doesn't cover a very large area. We returned to the ship in time for 1 o'clock lunch. Our ship after leaving part of its cargo and taking on more left Colon about 1.30 p. m., for it was necessary to leave at that time in order to pass through the canal before dark. The trip through the canal occupied some five or six hours and it was all very interesting and impressive. We saw where the French began to dig a canal, the line of which crossed ours. One of the most interesting features of the canal is the locks by means of which the ship is raised from the level of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific, a height of about 85 feet. The ship was guided through the locks by means of electric cars three on each side which were attached to it by cables. Next to the locks the Culebra Cut is probably the most remarkable part of the canal. It is a source of wonder to me how it was possible to dig a navigable canal where there was once a mountain.

July 5th we entered the harbor of Callao. It was so late that no one was permitted to go ashore until the next morning, following the doctor's inspection. The Peruvian officers at this time called for our vaccination certificates and took our passports which they said we could have again by calling at the police department building in Lima. As Callao, the seaport of Lima, has no dock facilities for large vessels we were obliged to anchor about a mile out in the bay. We were met by small boats which carried the passengers and baggage ashore. We were much interested in the launches that came out to our ship filled with stevedores each one possessed with the determination to be of a swarm of bees.

the first one on board and in their eagerness to do so they reminded me

While watching the launches approaching we were pleased to see one bringing my son and his wife. They came on board and attended to getting our luggage through the custom house and into Lima.

After I have had an opportunity to see more of Peru, I will try to write my impression of the place and people.

HOUSE AND BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, Aug. 20.—A bolt of lightning struck the large barn on the Chandler place in Pomfret last night, and the barn and large two and a half story house were totally destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of from $15,000 to $18,000, partly covered by insurance. Part of the loss was on a three ton oil tank truck, valued from $2,000 to $3,000, a lot of lumber valued at $2,000 and two snow plows owned by the state of Connecticut. The farm is owned by Henry H. Davenport of Pomfret, state highway supervisor. Mr. Davenport was not at his Pomfret home, which is not far from the site of the fire, as he is spending several weeks at a cottage at Crescent Beach. The house was occupied by the families of Ralph Jeanneane and Frank Raissford, both employed by the state highway department. Most of the household furniture was saved. Besides the property of the state stored in the barn, there was a hundred tons of hay, owned by Mr. Davenport, tools, etc. A pair of horses was rescued and taken to a barn near by.

When the barn was struck a number of children were sitting in an automobile within ten feet of the building but none of them felt the effects of the lightning.

Soon after the crash was heard the barn was a mass of flames. There is no way of fighting fire in Pomfret and no water was available even for a bucket brigade. The barn was soon a roaring mass of flame and in a short while the house caught. Neighbors who gathered gave their attention to saving the furniture and before the house caught most of the household effects had been removed.

The Chandler place is one of the old homes of Pomfret. It is just west of Overlock's corner, at the right side. The farm has not been worked in several years except to harvest the hay crop. The barn has been partly used for storing property of the state highway department used in this division. The fire was the most serious that has occurred in Pomfret since the Pomfret Manor inn was destroyed over a year ago.

May Oddo Gammon, at one time the wife of Rufus Gaynor, son of Mayor Gaynor of New York, was in court today charged with having abused her daughter, Constance, aged 16. The state announced that it had come in possession of evidence this morning that rendered it necessary to continue the case a few days that the evidence might be secured for presentation in court. The nature of the evidence was not disclosed, but the intimation was there that it would be damaging to the defendant and a complete justification of the charge that had been made against Mrs. Gammon.

Attorney for Mrs. Gammon insisted that the case should go to a hearing, but the acting prosecutor insisted on the right of the state to be allowed to present its testimony, so the matter was continued to the 24th inst.

Joe Peretta and Sebastian Torisi were in the police court this morning charged with manslaughter, in being responsible for the death of Frank Santora, a tailor, found dead at his board place, 12 Home street. The men were not put to plea today for Coroner J. J. Desmond of Norwich has not yet completed his investigation of the death. He suggested to Assistant Prosecutor Cronin that the case should be continued and it was put over for a week that the coroner may go over the testimony he secured from the parties who have knowledge of the way in which Santora spent his time during the period he was on a spree last week. The accused men were held in bail of $2500 each. Peretta secured a bond, but Torisi was not so fortunate and he is at the New London county jail. The attorneys engaged by the accused are Clayton B. Smith and Thomas E. Troland.

Two cases of liquor law violation were brought to the police court this morning, that of Victoria Coman, a woman who has worked in the silk mill, and that of Thomas A. Callahan, a railroad employe previous to the shopmen's strike, when he left his work. He says he quit, got because he wanted to leave, but because he did not like the idea of being called a scab. The parties were both accused of having liquor in their possession and with selling it contrary to law. The police visited their places Sunday and found unmistakable evidence of their guilt. Both had liquor and plenty of it. The woman, according to her own admission, had been making and selling beer. She began with beer and then got into the alcohol business. Callahan was a persistent offender, but had a supply that would have netted him a handsome profit. His patrons were chiefly railroad men. Two of these were found in Callahan's home. All the liquor found was taken to the police station. There were labels for use and a quantity of mash as well as the distilled liquor. Callahan is in poor circumstances. He has seven small children and they appeared in court with him this morning.

Mrs. Coman was fined $200. She could not pay. It was regarded as a hardship to send her to jail so an arrangement was made by which she is to be in the custody of Probation Officer Mansfield until she can pay the fine within six months. Callahan had $100, which she had acquired in the sale of the whiskey he disposed of. He declared that he made about $12 a week in his business and that he had the hardest sort of a time to get along on that. His children in appearance were evidence of the truth of what he said. He was fined $400 and sentenced to jail for 30 days. The execution of the judgment as to the jail sentence was suspended, and Callahan was given time to pay the balance of the $200 fine and costs. His appearance was that of a man who was poorly clothed and as poorly fed. He said he had got through with "striking."

William Sosa of Putnam, who was found drunk here and was scooped up by the police, was fined $5 and had the money to pay.

Samuel Jaffee of this city evidently doesn't read the newspapers nor does he take heed of things in general for he turned his automobile around within the safety zone on State street. For this he was fined $5.

Albert Ribiciotti was fined $10 for operating an auto without having a license. He said he supposed he did have one and that it was lost from the car.

Harry Mays, a stranger, was presented as a vagrant. His mental condition is such that his sanity is doubted and he was committed to jail that he may be examined.

E. D. Garret, a sailor, was presented for operating an automobile while intoxicated, but his case was not heard as he believes he can present mitigating testimony when the trial occurs.

E. D. Garrett was charged with driving an automobile while drunk. That case was adjourned till tomorrow.

Miners' Union Officials Declare Operators Were Unwilling to Concede And Part of the Demand for Increased Wages—Operators Assert That the Union Declined to Submit to the Test of Arbitration—Both Parties Are to Submit a Report on the Situation to the U. S. Coal Commission—Both Look for a Protracted Struggle Unless the Government Intervenes—Statement From White House Says the Fuel Necessities of the Public Would be Met.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 21. (By the A. P.)—Negotiations for a new wage contract in the anthracite industry ended abruptly today, leaving unrelieved the prospect of a suspension of hard coal mining Sept. 1.

Miners' union officials, who walked out of the joint meetings, said the efforts toward a peaceable adjustment of the conflict on the part of the industry itself had terminated because the operators were unwilling to concede any part of the demand for increased wages made by the men. The operators asserted that the breaking point was the unwillingness of the union to submit its demands to the test of arbitration. Both sides, however, assented to the submission of a report on the situation to the United States coal commission, through James A. Gorman, secretary of the joint conference.

Neither group looked for any prevention of a protracted industrial struggle in the anthracite region after September 11, by any other means than government intervention, though S. D. Warriner, chairman of the operators' policy committee, declared he "never lost hope" for peace.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, made no attempt to gloss over the prospect, as he gave out a brief summary of what had preceded the sudden conclusion of the wage conferences, which begun Monday.

"Time for mincing words has gone by," he said. "The mine workers are prepared to enter an industrial contest September 1 and to administer to the operators the most complete trouncing of their career. Since the anthracite operators intend never to recede or compromise on any point of working conditions or wage matters except after a defeat in fight, our people will go into a fight.

"We make no request to the coal commission. We look for no help from any agency, governmental or otherwise. Our people have tried out arbitration; we never get the offer to have issues settled by it unless we are strong enough to win without it. But the mine workers have always found reason for dissatisfaction with arbitration awards in the past.

"Today Mr. Warriner told us that the operators would not and could not grant any wage increases September 1. There isn't any purpose in further negotiations after that. We feel that the exorbitant and unwarranted profits now taken in the industry would allow wage increases without any increase in the cost of coal to the consumer. But regardless of that, suspension of anthracite coal production will automatically ensue in the anthracite region on the morning of September 1."

Mr. Lewis reviewed the history of recent attempts to reach a settlement of wages and contract conditions and the coal commission's intervention. He remarked that the union's willingness to let the mines continue operation had been covered in a proposal made to the government agency in New York last week. It hinged on the agreement of the operators to install the "check off" system of collecting union dues; to accept the conclusion that a wage increase was necessary; and to abolish any other than eight-hour day employment. That was the limit of concession the mine workers could make, he insisted, adding that neither the coal commission nor the operators have paid any attention to the proposal."

Mr. Warriner, after the break up, gave a slightly different account of the day's proceedings, insisting that the split came "simply and solely on the question of arbitration." As a last move in the joint session, he said, the operators had renewed the offer to arbitrate every point in dispute, to keep the mines running, and to make wage advances retroactive in case they were awarded later than September 1.

"Mr. Lewis told us further negotiations would be futile," he declared. "Yet what more, in the name of reason, can employers offer in order to avert a contest?"

There was every indication today that in view of the break-up of the Atlantic City anthracite conference, the federal government would renew promptly its efforts to secure some agreement to avert a suspension of production on September 1.

The only statement obtainable at the White House was that the president had nothing to say except that the public might be assured "there would be plenty of fuel."

When word of the break was given to John Hays Hammond, chairman of the coal commission, he said he would have no comment to make for the present, but indicated he would confer with President Coolidge as soon as details of the situation became known here.

Mr. Hammond already has talked over the anthracite problem with the president several times in the past few days, and in the absence of an authoritative announcement the impression was gained that steps would be taken on the part of the government to impress on both sides the seriousness of the situation that would result from failure to reach an agreement.

Soon after he had heard of the adjournment of the Atlantic City negotiations, Chairman Hammond hurried to the White House and went into conference with President Coolidge.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO MEET FUEL REQUIREMENTS

Washington, Aug. 21.—Failure of the anthracite operators and miners to reach an agreement at their Atlantic City conference will not be permitted to inflict a fuel shortage on the consumer, it was declared tonight at the White House. While no indication of the administration program was given, it was announced that President Coolidge wished to assure the public that normal requirements for fuel would be met.

Chairman Hammond of the coal commission, who discussed the anthracite situation late in the day with the president, said, however, an attempt would be made to fix responsibility for the failure of the latest negotiations, and it was indicated that the commission's findings in this particular might be incorporated in an "emergency report" to Mr. Coolidge which is now in preparation.

Mr. Hammond declared the commission did not consider the situation yet warranted the submission of this report. He denied, however, that either he or his associates had proposed to take the initiative at this time in endeavoring to obtain a resumption of negotiations between the operators and their employes.

"The commission," he asserted, "is prepared for eventualities." Immediately upon receipt of information that the Atlantic City conference had broken up over the question of increased wages, Mr. Hammond went to the White House for a conference with the president. Upon leaving the executive offices, he called an immediate meeting of the coal commission, and after it had been in session less than an hour, a recess was taken to enable Mr. Hammond and Commissioner Neill to confer further with President Coolidge.

The only public statement resulting from this second interview was the authorized announcement that, regardless of the outcome of the anthracite controversy, the fuel necessities of the public would be met.

Officials who have followed the anthracite crisis closely expressed the opinion tonight that the president would not intervene until the operators and miners had been given an opportunity to come forward with a proposal which might serve as a compromise upon which negotiations could be resumed. In the absence of any such move, it was said, the president might confine himself to a publication of the findings of the coal commission as to responsibility for the deadlock, in the belief that public opinion might prove effective in bringing about an adjustment, and at the same time would use available government agencies for accelerating the production and distribution of bituminous coal and of oil as emergency substitutes for anthracite.

STARTING CAMPAIGN FOR COOLIDGE FOR PRESIDENT

Grafton, Vt., Aug. 21.—(By the A. P.)—Approximately 150,000 former residents of Vermont, now voting in 47 other states, are actively supporting a national movement to organize and enlarge Coolidge-for-president clubs, John Barrett, former director of the Pan-American union, announced today on his return home from Washington and New York.

In a formal statement, Mr. Barrett, who conferred with President Coolidge regarding Pan American affairs while in Washington, asserted he had been invited in New York yesterday to direct the movement, but he feared other duties would prevent him taking the chairmanship of a provisional committee that has already been formed.

Mr. Barrett's statement followed one issued recently by Senator Moses of New Hampshire in which he asserted Mr. Coolidge would be a candidate for the republican nomination in 1924 and that he should receive the solid support of New England.

JAPANESE SUB SINKS WITH 85 MEMBERS OF HER CREW

Tokio, Aug. 21 (By the A. P.).—The newest Japanese submarine, just returned from a short trial trip, sank this morning at the Wawasaki docks at Kobe and 85 members of her crew, missing, are believed to have lost their lives. The captain, chief officer, five dockyard engineers and four other naval officers were saved.

The cause of the accident has not been determined. Submarine Engineer Yanagawa, who was aboard the vessel as a representative of the builders, was among those saved. He said the submarine had completed her trial trip and come to the surface, when, listing heavily, she started to sink. The captain ordered all the openings closed. Before his orders could be carried out, however, the water rushed in and the vessel sank.

Madrid, Aug. 21.—It is officially announced that an important military operation will be begun tomorrow in an attempt to relieve the Spanish garrison at Tifaruin, Morocco. Strong reinforcements for the Spanish army in Morocco are being sent from Spain.

BAFFLED BY KIDNAPPING OF THE McKENZIE INFANT

New York, Aug. 21.—One hundred and sixty-five New York detectives, several detailed from Jersey City police headquarters, hundreds of taxicab drivers and thousands of interested tonight had searched in vain for Lillian McKenzie, three-months-old, kidnapped from her perambulator in front of a West 18th street store last Saturday.

Baffled after a three days' search, the New York police department gave the McKenzie case its first attention. Not only was every available detective pressed into service, but 65 students from the detective school conducted by the department assigned to the search.

Desperate, the mother left her home this morning on a lone hunt through the streets for her child. Relatives traced her wanderings and brought her home. There she fell into a halt coma.

Peter McKenzie, the father, stuck by his telephone and asked newspapers to publish his number, Canal 5721, hoping that over the wire might come a clue that would restore to him his little daughter.

The baby carriage today again was placed in front of the store where the kidnapping had occurred, in the hope that the child might be restored. But the hope failed—possibly because the curious throngs which collected about the vehicle would have scared away any kidnapper, however conscience stricken.

DYING FROM THE WOUNDS INFLICTED BY RUM PIRATES

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 21.—With Captain Arthur Moore, of the Nova Scotia schooner J. Scott Hankenson in a dying condition in a hospital here as a result of his battle with rum pirates off Newport yesterday, and U. S. coast guard vessels searching off shore for the pillaged vessel, the local authorities tonight sought to piece together the story of the grim fight in which at least three men were wounded, one probably fatally.

Earlier reports that the pirates who boarded the British schooner and shot the skipper and his cook, Harry Harm, obtained a large sum of money from the rum-runner's safe and the captain's purse, could not be confirmed. The cook, in a hospital with bullet wounds in his neck, shoulder and both legs, told the city marshal today that the pirates could not have taken more han $50, that the captain's personal funds, amounting to $100, were intact when he was landed at Rockport late last night by fishermen who responded to the Hankenson's distress signals, and that the profits of the schooner's rum cruise, estimated at $15,000, had been brought ashore and deposited in a bank some time before the pirate attack.

WEATHER CONDITIONS AGAINST PLANE PROGRAM

Bangor, Me., Aug. 21.—Weather conditions tonight made it doubtful whether the squadron of army airplanes which arrived here yesterday from Langley, Field, Va., could carry out its program tomorrow, when it had been planned that the planes would disperse in small units to Boston and other points in New England. A strong southerly wind with rain prevailed tonight.

General William A. Mitchell, directing the maneuvers flew to Augusta this afternoon and dropped a message to Governor Percival Baxter, returning here later.

FOUND FOUR BLOODSTAINED REVOLVERS IN SHRUBBERY

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 21.—Officers searching marsh land near here for six gunmen alleged to have held up the Allendale inn at Detroit early Sunday morning and later shot motorcycle policeman Oscar Reinhardt here, found four bloodstained revolvers in the shrubbery late today. The guns were all loaded and were about half a mile from where the gang's abandoned automobile was found Sunday. Officers were led to the place where the guns were searched by Herman Sakoloss, alleged confessed member of the band.

CHARGED WITH DIRECTING AN AUTO CHECK LOTTERY

Boston, Aug. 21.—Henry G. Hambrecht, of Medford, and George E. Travers, of Danvers, alleged directors of the auto check lottery, which was raided here last week, and Max Lubets, said to be their assistant, pleaded not guilty when arraigned today before United States Commissioner Hayes on the charge of conspiracy to deposit lottery tickets with a common carrier.

Hambrecht and Travers were held in $5,000 bail and Lubets in $2,500. Hearing was set for August 31.

According to federal officers the organization had been for 18 months conducting a lottery based on the daily balances of the New York Clearing House, distributing thousands of tickets to outside cities and towns.

Progress of Express Aerial Mail Carriers

Guiding Lights for Night Pathway Are Visible From Three to 150 Miles.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—(By the A. P.)—Guided by powerful beacon lights, two government mail planes rushed toward each other through the night tonight. Somewhere over Nebraska they were scheduled to pass.

One of them carried mail that left the Golden Gate this morning, the other sped westward with mail that left New York a few hours later, and the flight marked the inauguration of trials in the proposed 36-hour transcontinental air mail service.

If all goes well, the east-bound plane will wing its way to earth at New York tomorrow afternoon while the west-bound ship will drop with its burden of mail at San Francisco shortly afterward.

The westbound plane entered the area of night travel between Chicago and Cheyenne when it hopped off here at 6.56 P. M., central standard time, piloted by Dean Smith. Its companion, winging its way eastward, flew up to meet the night east of Cheyenne.

The day travel of the two planes, or in reality several planes, for planes and drivers were frequently changed, was little more eventful than the day mail flying that has long been in progress. The night flying between Chicago and Cheyenne however, marked an innovation in the plan for continuous air mail service between San Francisco and New York.

The planes tonight are following what at their height seems a lighted pathway over the 885 miles of night flying of 2,680 mile journey across the continent.

Their path is marked by a series of lights ranging in intensity from 5,000 to 500,000,000 candlepower and visible from three to 150 miles. Small beacon lights are only three miles apart and at distances of 25 miles are great searchlights while the landing fields along the pathway of the speeding planes also are brilliantly lighted and the ships themselves are equipped with emergency searchlights for use in case of forced landings.

The day trips of the hurrying planes was marked with only one untoward incident, Pilot C. Eugene Johnson being ill when he reached Cleveland from New York on the first leg of the East-to-West flight. He was indisposed when he left New York, but it was necessary to help him from the plane at Cleveland.

Pilot Burr M. Winslow started the journey from Golden Gate at 5.59, Pacific coast time, with 64 pounds of mail while Pilot Johnson left New York at 11.01, eastern time, with 84 pounds of mail.

Pilot Winslow hurrying east was relieved at Reno, Nev., by Pilot Blanchfield who left there at 7.50 A. A., 25 minutes ahead of schedule. Pilot Scott took the eastbound ship from Elko, Nev., to Salt Lake City, 630 miles from San Francisco, arriving there at 1.18 P. M., mountain time, and nine minutes later Pilot Robert Ellis hopped off for Rock Springs, which was reached at 3 o'clock and Pilot Collison hurried away two minutes later for Cheyenne but was forced to turn back to Larmie because he was almost out of gasoline. He was nearly exhausted and suffering from cold when he came down.

45 MILES AHEAD OF THE SCHEDULE OUTLINED

CHARGE GENERAL WOOD APPOINTED EX-CONVICT

Washington, Aug. 21.—A cablegram from Manuel Quezon charging that Governor-General Woods, of the Philippines, had appointed Eulogio Rodriguez, "an ex-convict," as mayor of Manila was received late today at the war department, at the same time a message from General Woods reached the department in which he declared he had no previous knowledge "of anything unfavorable" in Rodriguez's record. He said he was making a thorough investigation of the charges.

The property damage is estimated at $2,9,000, while the McMullen family lost clothing and jewelry.

U.S.S. Gopher Sunk in Gulf of St. Lawrence

Washington, Aug. 21.—The U. S. S. Gopher, a training ship attached to the Ninth naval reserve district, was sunk today in the Gulf of St. Lawrence during a gale, according to a message received by the navy department, which said there was no loss of life.

The ship went down in 36 fathoms of water, said the message, which was sent from Quebec, and was signed "Signal Service."

The telegram to the navy department follows:

"Following message received from radio station at Grindstone, Magellan Islands: 'Following from U. S. S. Wandank 1.10 p. m.: "U. S. S. Gopher sunk in Gulf of St. Lawrence in northwest gale. Thirty-six fathoms of water. Latitude 46 degrees 47 minutes north longitude 62 degrees west. No loss of life."'"

The Gopher was listed in the official "ships' data" of the navy department as an obsolete gunboat. She displaced 840 deadweight tons, was of wooden construction throughout and was built at New York in 1871. Her last station was Toledo, O., as a reservist training ship with the Ninth district.

The Gopher's armament consisted of three three-pounders, her guns being just half the size of those now used in the navy for firing salutes.

The navy department was advised a week ago that the Gopher, having aboard Ohio naval reservists on their summer cruise, had been libelled and seized by Canadian authorities as a result of damage done by the ship to a lock in the Soulange canal. For several hours the reservists were held aboard the gunboat until on the intervention of the American consul at Montreal the dominion department of justice ordered their release.

The Gopher was not released from the libel until three days later. Since then the navy department had been uninformed as to the exact whereabouts of the craft.

The U. S. S. Wandark, mentioned in the telegram received by the department, is a fleet tug.

WAS BEING TOWED TO BOSTON NAVY YARDS

Columbus, O., Aug. 21.—Ohio naval reservist officers here declared tonight the U. S. S. Gopher was not on cruise when she was sunk. She was being towed from Montreal to the Boston navy yards, officered and manned by regular navy officers, they said, and no Ohio naval reservists were aboard. The boat was being towed into the yards because she was no longer suitable for salt water cruising, since she had not sufficient fresh water tanks.

SOCIETY OF FLORISTS AND HORTICULTURISTS

Hartford, Aug. 21.—The 29th annual convention of the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists opened in the state armory building this afternoon and before President Irwin Sertermann, of Indianapolis brought the gavel down for adjournment after the meeting had selected Los Angeles, Calif., for the next convention city, and had heard most of the important annual reports and had given elaborate praise for the way Hartford had received the delegates.

President Irwin Bertermann delivered an address commending the work of the past year and offering many suggestions for the coming year. He recommended among other things that the society establish a foundation for the advancement of floriculture and horticulture in North America to consist of one banker in a large city, a citizen interested in floriculture and three florists, all to be named for life and to receive funds to reward men devoting their lives to the production of new plants and flowers, the establishment of flower shows for the public and endowed park systems.

FUGITIVE AUTO THIEF CAPTURED IN MONTREAL

Bridgeport, Aug. 21.—Sheriff Simeon Pease tonight received a telegram from State Police Sergeant Frank Virelli, and Deputy Jailer Dennis O'Neil, of this city, who are in Montreal, Canada, that they have in their custody Alexander Zepko, Fairfield youth who on November 22, last, escaped from the county jail here with Eugene Ledoux, convicted automobile thief for whom a country-wide search has been in progress since that time.

Escaping from the county jail here by sliding from the third story of the building to the ground over an improvised rope made of bed sheets and odd ends of rope, the pair stole an automobile at Green's farms and fled to Massachusetts, where they were for a time detained by the police. Their escape was not discovered until several hours after their get-away. They fled their way to liberty in Massachusetts and eventually reached Canada.

CONFERENCE OF GOVERNORS OF THE PROHIBITION LAWS

Washington, Aug. 21.—A conference of state governors, called by President Coolidge to consider methods for strict enforcement of the prohibition laws was forecast today at the White House.

President Harding had made plans to confer with the state executives on that subject last spring, but the late sessions of the state legislatures made it advisable to request the governors to come to Washington. When he departed on his Alaskan trip he announced that the conference would be called soon after he returned, and White House officials today said there had been no change in that plan.

Arrangements for the conference probably will be worked out as soon as prohibition Commissioner Haynes returns from Washington.

HAVENSTEIN TO RESIGN AS PRESIDENT OF REICHSBANK

Has Been at the Head of the Reichsbank Since 1908—United Socialists Hold Herr Havenstein Responsible for the Collapse of the Mark—Have for Several Weeks Been Making Insistent Demands for His Retirement.

London, Aug. 21.—Reuter's Berlin corespondent in a despatch tonight credits socialist parliamentary quarters with the statement that Rudolf Havenstein will resign shortly as head of the German Reichsbank. Havenstein is said to have been summoned to meet President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann.

For several weeks there have been insistent demands by the United Socialists for the retirement of Herr Havenstein as President of the Reichsbank, and of the managing directors of the institution, on the ground that they had failed to devise financial reform measures which, the socialists believe, would have prevented the mark's collapse.

Vorwaerts, the socialist organ, on August 17 declared it was intolerable that the Reichsbank administration methods could be pursued and persons allowed to remain in office "in the face of distrust of almost the entire Reichstag and wide circles of the German people." It added that unless Havenstein and Otto Von Glasenapp, vice-president of the Reichsbank, tendered their resignations within three days the social democratic party would demand the immediate convening of the Reichstag to deal with the matter.

TWO FIREMEN KILLED, 47 INJURED IN BROOKLYN

New York, Aug. 20.—(By the A. P.)—The yellow-brick walls of a Brooklyn dance hall half a hundred years old, falling in the night, killed two firemen and injured 47 more in a fire which broke out shortly after midnight and burned well into the morning.

Half a hundred men were caught under the rain of masonry and for several hours it was believed that 10 had perished. But eight of the missing turned up in hospitals and the final death count—unless some of the injured should succumb—stood at two.

The fire, starting from a cause as yet officially undetermined, broke out in the basement of the New Plaza hall, a Brooklyn landmark that had been the scene of many political battles and once had been a Masonic hall.

As the hall stood in the midst of tenements, several alarms were turned in. By 3 o'clock the flames were brought under control and the crowd began to depart.

Then, without the slightest warning, beams cracked and one wall of the building, extending an entire block, crumpled. It hurled to the street several firemen sent to the roof to hack holes through which lines might be run and showered firemen on the sidewalk.

Raymond Farrell and James Sullivan, members of the same engine company were killed. Sullivan was dead by the time his comrades had clawed the hot bricks from his body. Farrell died soon after he reached a hospital.

But privates in the ranks of the department were not the only ones to suffer. Deputy Chief John O'Hara escaped by inches. Battalion Chief Isaac Ludgate was carried, sorely injured, to a hospital. Three lieutenants, also in the thick of the fight, were borne away.

In an instant all was confusion. The crowd flocked back. Several minutes elapsed before ambulances could force their way through the lines, bumping over the bricks for their load of injured. Meanwhile, Dr. Harry M. Archer, attached to the department, had set up an emergency station and had ministered to 24 cases.

Fire marshal and district attorney today joined in an investigation of the cause, while the employes of the building department tore down that part of the wall which had not fallen, in case it should crash down upon the street.

JAPAN ENDEAVORING TO WIN FRIENDSHIP OF KOREANS

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 21.—"Japan has greatly modified her treatment of the Koreans and is undoubtedly trying to win their friendship and promote the psychological unification of the two peoples," said Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, in an address. Recent developments in Korea, today at the conference of international relations from the Christian viewpoint, being held here under the auspices of the commission of international justice and good will of the federal council of churches. Dr. Gulick is secretary of the commission and has recently returned from an extensive tour of China, Japan, Korea and the Philippines.

A few Japanese, Dr. Gulick said, still feared that Korea would become the Ireland of Japan. "I was told that even yet all public meetings and church services are under supervision of the police. Missionaries and Koreans alike resent their supervision.

"While the higher officials are convinced that the missionaries are not seeking political ends, yet the lower officials, for the most part not being Christians, do not appreciate the missionary motive."

FINGER PRINT EVIDENCE FACTOR IN THEFT CASE

Stamford, Aug. 21.—Finger print evidence had much to do with the holding for trial in the superior court of Mrs. Francis H. Kearney, wife of a well known musician and member of a family of wide acquaintanceship, today, on a charge of having stolen $2200 from William J. O'Connell, former internal revenue collector and real estate dealer, who lives next door to the Kearneys in Belltown road.

Mr. O'Connell said he had the money in a tin box and missed it from his desk in his living room. There were fingerprints on the box and the arrest of Mrs. Kearney was made after the police had matched impressions of her fingers with those on the box. Previously the charge had been made by O'Connell that Mrs. Kearney was one of three persons who had been in the living room within the period of time when the money was last known to be in the box and when it was missed on July 30.

A bond was provided and Mrs. Kearney went home.

VERA CRUZ HAS BEEN ISOLATED BY A STRIKE

Mexico City, Aug. 21 (By the A. P.).—The strike in the state of Vera Cruz, which has isolated the city of Vera Cruz from the other parts of the republic and created chaotic conditions in the Orizaba industrial district, now is threatening to affect the entire country. Efforts are being made to induce the Federation of Railwaymen's societies, the Mexico City regional labor federation, and the General Federation of Workers to order a walkout throughout the republic in sympathy with the Vera Cruz federation of Railwaymen's societies in its conflict with the Workers' league of the Vera Cruz maritime zone.

An boycott against the Mexican railway by the Vera Cruz Workers' league is the latest development of the general strike which the league declared in Vera Cruz for the purpose of aiding the strike of electricians against the Vera Cruz Light and Power company.

No trains have arrived since yesterday at Vera Cruz on any of the four railways serving that city, port work has been interrupted, the men in virtually all trades are absent from their posts, while it is feared a general shutdown of business houses is imminent. The city is without light and street car service. Ten thousand workers are idle and the populace is on the verge of panic, especially since the aggressive attitude of the striking tenants, many of whom have paid no rent for a couple of years, has not altered.

The striking street car men in Orizaba, according to press despatches, are forcing contributions by means of the pistol from the owners of all classes of vehicles for the purpose of raising strike funds. The strikers are demanding a 50 per cent. wage increase and the employment of a special man on every street car for the sole purpose of turning switches.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. COOLIDGE IN WHITE HOUSE

Driving from the New Willard hotel, where they have lived not only since Mr. Coolidge returned to Washington as President, but throughout his service as vice-president, Mr. Coolidge and the new first lady slipped almost unnoticed into the executive mansion. A few minutes later the President walked on over to the executive offices.

A small crowd of tourists who happened to be visiting the White House grounds, saw the arrival but except for the presence of a few photographers, there was nothing to donate that the change had taken place.

The personal belongings of President and Mrs. Harding had been removed, express wagons and moving vans having been busy yesterday and this morning in transporting them away. Soon after Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge arrived this afternoon the work of removing their personal effects from the hotel to the White House was started.

FRENCH NOTE HAS BEEN DELIVERED IN LONDON

London, Aug. 21.—(By The A. P.)—Premier Poincare's reply to the British reparation note was delivered by the foreign office late tonight and copies were distributed to Prime Minister Baldwin and the other ministers who are on their vacations in the country. A copy was sent direct to Foreign Secretary Marquis Curzon at Bagnolles, France, where he is vacationing, by the British embassy in Paris.

Nothing was issued here indicating the nature of the reply, but this has to a great extent become public property through the forecasts published in Paris, and the fact that Premier Baldwin has made no sign of changing his holiday plans seems to prove that little hope is entertained that the French rejoinder will lead to anything but a continuance of the already protracted negotiations.

The existing contract between the operators and the owners expires September 1 and the men have threatened to strike at that time should their demands be rejected.

Alderman George W. Hickey was heard in a fine talk on the local traffic and parking situation, in which he summarized the action taken thus far by the aldermen and citizens' committees.

The remains of a freight wreck which occurred in the vicinity of Merrow some few weeks ago are being cleared up by a train of three freight cars, including one equipped with a derrick which arrived Tuesday morning from Midway.

Verbal fireworks were plentiful and of a noisy nature at the public hearing held Monday night in the town building on the parking situation in the business section in the city of Willimantic. The discussions on a number of the 13 suggestions drawn up by a joint committee of the board of aldermen and five citizens became so heated that Chairman Edgar W. Jacobs was forced to call for order several times.

The first suggestion to be taken up was in regard to the parking angle on Main street and after hearing the views of several of those present a motion made by M. E. Lincoln was adopted whereby angle lines not to exceed a 45 degree angle from the curbing were to be drawn on both sides on Main street from Railroad to High streets. The two hour parking time limit was ordered stricken from the list of suggestions after an argument in which M. E. Lincoln accused the local taxicabs for part of the congestion and Joseph Peck, a taxi man, placed the blame on the business men. After an hour's debate in which M. E. Lincoln fought to retain parking on both sides of North street where his place of business is located, it was voted to cause the parking of automobiles on the east side of Church street, west side on North, Walnut and High streets, south of Valley and Union, east of Center and west of Temple street.

By an unanimous vote the parking on Main street from Railroad street to the railroad crossing will be parallel to the curb with a view of making more room in that section of the main thoroughfare. Parking will be prohibited within 25 feet on either side of the crosswalk at the intersection of Union and Main street. As had been expected the big fireworks began to go off when Alderman George W. Hickey read the suggestion that intercity and outside jitneys running on stated schedules be restricted from parking on Railroad street to ten minutes before leaving time and that local jitneys be given the privilege of parking on that street with no time limit.

The members of the Hartford-Willimantic Elite Line Jitney Incorporation were present, 109 strong, and were headed by their president, Patrick Cahill, whose main contention was that the Blue line could not be considered an outside jitney service, as most of its members were Willimantic men.

Willimantic Camp Grounds

Willimantic, Aug. 21.—The second morning watch was held at 7.50 in the tabernacle Tuesday. W. B. Oliver's theme was Barnabas—A Message of Generosity. We should deal generously with others, looking on their better qualities.

Rev. A. Earl Karnahan, D. D., whose theme for the week is Stewardship, emphasized Man's Best Opportunity. We should invest our lives in the biggest things, and the biggest is to work with Jesus in the salvation of men. He related instances of personal work carried on in Chicago, at Gales Ferry, New Hampshire and other places.

Mrs. Cora Downs Stevens had in Epworth chapel at the same hour her teacher training class. This study is based upon a book by Betts, entitled How to Teach Religion.

Christian Citizenship is the subject which Rev. John L. Davis of New Britain, treated at 9.10. Sabbath observance was one of the themes discussed. He told of a big Congregational church in New Britain which is successfully running motion pictures, and considered it better than the commercialized Sunday as it is made by cheap vaudeville motion picture houses.

After fifteen minutes for recreation W. B. Oliver continued his exposition of the Epistle to the Hebrews. He spoke of how Christ was superior to the highest angels, Jesus being the Son of God, while angels are but servants.

How Shall I Prepare to Invest My Life? was the topic of Mrs. Cora Downs Stevens in her period devoted to The Sunday School at Work.

The closing period in the tabernacle was devoted to The Sunday School, and was under the leadership of the corresponding secretary of the Board of Sunday Schools of the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. W. S. Beard, D. D., of New York. He stated that 34 denominations in the United States have 150,000 Sunday schools with twenty millions of members enrolled. A quarter of these are in the Methodist Episcopal church. These five millions include 412,000 teachers. Sixty-five per cent of these Sunday school members are under twelve years of age, thirty-two per cent are between 12 and 24, and the other 22 per cent are adults. What we must do is to get the Bible, which is the most unsectarian book in the world, into the minds of the children more and more.

The usual children's meeting, and the devotional meeting at Stafford Springs house were held at 1 o'clock. Rev. J. M. Von Deak, of Oneco, was leader of the latter.

The Monday 6 o'clock meeting was addressed by W. B. Oliver.

L. C. Voke, of New Britain sang a solo of his own composition, The Land of Never-ending Day, accompanying himself on the piano, at the 2 o'clock service. He is assisting Rev. J. L. Davis in his work at New Britain. The latter was the afternoon speaker. Prayer was offered by Rev. G. D. Stanley, of New Bedford, Mass. Mr. Davis told the large audience of his experience in forming the men's class of 2,000 members in the Methodist church at New Britain. Two years ago he found a Bible class of 650 men on Staten Island. Its organizer told Mr. Davis how it was done. Organization is the essential thing. In New Britain they have a red, white and blue army. They have generals, majors and captains, also secretaries, treasurers, etc. The ocers keep in touch with every last man. "Now I don't claim to be an expert, for you know an expert is a little man away from home," he said. "Then we want to get men of good personality for officers."

Mrs. Bartlett Coffrey and sister, Miss Cora Darling of Attawaugan, spent Monday on the campground.

The Niantic house is occupied for the third season by the Methodist church people of Mystic—the pastor, Rev. J. Garfield Sallis, Miss Eleanor Chapman, Mrs. Amanda Gledhill, Mrs. J. W. Jackson and son Gordon, Mrs. M. L. Nichols, Mrs. G. W. Wallace and son Gordon, Miss Agnes Wilson and Mrs. Bertha Withee and daughter Ida.

Mrs. L. R. Franklin and niece, Miss Mary Clark, of South Coventry, came Monday to spend the remainder of the week with her sister, Mrs. E. C. Brownell, at Edgewood.

The annual meeting of the owners of cottages on the camp ground was held in the New London house at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. The president, Rev. Frank Chamberlain, of Myricks, was in the chair. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. D. Woodward of Gales Ferry. The secretary, Miss Helen Dyson, of East Orange, N. J., read the minutes of the meeting of last summer. A nominating committee, Mrs. Bertha Gridley and Miss Alice Strong, brought in the following list of officers for re-election and the secretary was authorized to cast the ballot for them, as follows: President, Rev. Frank Chamberlain, of Myricks, Mass.; vice president, Mrs. James Purdie, of Willimantic; secretary, Miss Helen Dyson. The list of delegates to the camp meeting association was then elected as follows: Mrs. J. E. Read, Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. Stephen Dunstan, Mrs. Jacob Betts, Mrs. James Purdie, Mrs. Bertha Gridley, Miss Addie Webber, and J. G. Neal, all of Willimantic; Miss Alice Strong, Boston; Mrs. Julia Hutt, of South Manchester; J. H. McCarthy, Springfield; Mrs. E. A. Brownell, East Hartford; Mrs. H. M. Randall, Port Jefferson, L. I.; Rev. Frederick Grant, Warren, Mass.; William Hibbard, of Manchester; Miss Helen Dyson, East Orange, N. J., and Miss Emma Colver, Manchester.

It was voted that thanks be tendered Superintendent S. L. Geer for the excellent condition of the grounds.

It was moved that the secretary ask the association to put a proper box at the lower gate for the protection of parcel-post matter.

The first sermon of the campmeeting was held in the tabernacle at 7 p. m., Monday. The customary praise service was held for twenty minutes, after which Scripture was read by Rev. J. G. Sallis, of Mystic, and prayer was offered by Rev. W. E. Plaxton of Hazardville. Rev. Mr. Sallis' text was Psalm 18: 19. "He led me forth also into a large place." I bring this text both as a testimony and a message. There is nothing small nor cramped about the religion of Jesus Christ. Large achievements are for the Christian, and broad relationships. He offered brief prayer at the close and pronounced the benediction.

The Children of Mary the candy booth, while the Knights of Columbus will introduce the new doll booth. There are other novelty booths and attractions, such as the "New Fishing Pond," "Spiking of Babe Ruth," and trying to "Down Sambo." There will be music and dancing every evening and the affair is to be held at the park. Reports for the only baseball game of the season between the married and single men of the parish will appear later in the week. The lineup is to be announced in The Bulletin. The general committee comprises: Warden Matthew Geary, John Dolan, Daniel F. Finn, Louis Masse, Joseph Malek, Eugene J. Carroll, Edward F. Rosseau, Patrick F. Driscoll, John A. Hourigan, Joseph Budkowski, Dennis Barret and Timothy D. Shea.

Miss Margery Leyden, the district nurse, is to have a month's vacation, commencing at once. Miss Alice Brennan, R. N., will take her place during her absence. Her telephone number is 62-14.

Mrs. George Hamilton of Springfield is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Moeller.

Mrs. Alex McNicol, Mrs. Andrew McNicol and Mrs. Alvan Reed are on an automobile trip in Maine.

Mrs. A. R. Young is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Champion Mathewson in New Haven. The trip was made by automobile and although Mrs. Young has not been away from home for three years, she stood the journey very well.

A party of members of Dorcas circle, King's Daughters and Sons, with guests is planning to spend today (Wednesday) with the leader, Miss M. A. Burdick, at her cottage at Groton Long Point. Eighteen or twenty will go by automobile from JJewett City, while others will go from Mystic, New London and Willimantic.

The hose house is to receive a number of improvements and repairs, which will include new shingles.

Representative and Mrs. Michael E. Shea were registered at Narragansett Pier Tuesday.

Some of the local wanderers afield Sunday brought home bunches of white boneset which is now to be seen in all the nearby swamps, in fine contrast with the red Joe pye-weed.

Many a Jewett City man can remember how in years gone by, the name or sight of this plant, at the time his mother demed that he needed a little medicine, meant something and the memory is unpleasant still.

The sagging beams of the attic always had a few nails set apart for bunches of "thorough-root" as it was sometimes called. Wet feet might result in a cold or malaria that was always to be warded off with copious draughts of boneset tea.

Dr. Millspaugh says it prominently adapted to cure a disease peculiar to the south, known as break-bone fever. Doubtless its name boneset is derived from that property. It is one of the few herbs whose efficacy has not been overrated.

A freight derailment Tuesday afternoon put the trolley and steam train out of commission for over two hours. The 3.35 train for Boston was over an hour late. The trolleys missed a couple of trips. Passengers desiring to reach Norwich chipped in and an improvised jitney service was established.

Mrs. George E. Willcox of Providence, R. I., and three children, George, Jr., Raymond and Hazel, are guests of Mrs. Willcox's mother, Mrs. Ida Benjamin.

ASHFORD

The concrete foundations of the new town building at Warrenville are beginning to take shape. Interest in the structure is calling many visitors from neighboring towns.

The new postoffice building which George M. Balch is erecting at Warrenville will soon be ready for occupancy.

A lecture of unusual interest is to be given in the Baptist church at Westford by Leon M. Heck of Great Falls, Mont. Mr. Heck is a native of Union, Conn., and has lived in the northwest for the past ten years. He will tell of his life out there; of how the large herds of cattle and horses are fed out on the prairies during the winter; how wild horses are broken and trained, and of Indian life and conditions. A social hour is to follow the lecture.

Mrs. B. C. Bugbee has returned from a visit to her old home in Maine.

Mrs. Helen Buck Irwin and children have returned to the Buck homestead after three weeks' vacation at Forest lake, Palmer, Mass.

By DAVID CORY

The Princess and the Frog

"Where shall we go?" asked the old brown horse as he and the little bunny left the castle where Little Jack Rabbit had broken the sleep spell of the wicked witch, as I mentioned in the last story.

"Just keep going," he answered. "We'll most likely meet with an adventure before long."

And this turned out to be true, for, all of a sudden, as they passed a high stone wall, a golden ball fell at the feet of the good old horse.

"Whoa!" shouted the little bunny rabbit. But no sooner had he hopped down to pick it up than over the top of a high stone wall appeared the face of a beautiful princess.

"Please hand me back my golden plaything," she cried.

"I can't reach so far," replied the little anxious bunny, and even when he climbed back on the Old Brown horse he was still too short.

"Toss it to me," said the princess. But oh dear me! She missed it and it dropped into a spring that bubbled up in the castle garden to flow away in a silver stream through the woods.

At this the little princess began to cry for the golden ball sank deep down in the cool depths of the spring and was lost to sight.

"Now, what shall I do?" she cried.

Pretty soon, she untied her silken girdle and lowered it over the wall to Little Jack Rabbit who pulled himself up hand over hand like a little sailor until he reached the top. Then jumping down, he looked into the spring.

"If I were only a frog," he sighed, "I'd swim to the bottom and get the ball.

The next moment a great frog jumped out on the bank and said:

"Princess, if you'll grant my wish, I'll dive deep in the spring.
So promise me my wish to grant
And I, the ball will bring."

At once the frog jumped into the water and diving deep down below the surface for a little while up he came with the golden ball.

"What is your wish?" asked the princess reaching out her hand to take the golden ball but the frog held back.

"Take me to your palace for a playmate," he answered, but oh dear me! The princess didn't want to play with a frog and without another word she took the golden ball and ran away to the castle.

"Stop, stop," cried the frog. "Take me in your arms. I cannot run as fast as you."

"But the princess only laughed and what she did after that you'll have to wait to hear in the next story.

STONINGTON

About one hundred and twenty-five members of the Second Congregational church school, and members of the church and congregation attended the annual picnic to Atlantic Beach Tuesday. At noon tables were set at the casino, and the lunches, together with ice cream and soda were enjoyed by all. Roller skating, bathing, boating, besides other sports, provided diversion. The party went by special trolley car, leaving the Elm and Cutler streets corner at 9.15 a. m. and returned by special car at 6.30 p. m.

Mrs. Joseph Squadrito, while walking on the sidewalk, was hit by a wheel ridden by Paul Gayner. Mrs. Squadrito was knocked down and her face was badly cut. Dr. Crandall of Westerly had to be called to stitch up the wound.

Mrs. Harris Pendleton, of New London, was a caller here this week.

Karl A. Reiche, and son Karl, from Bristolm, who were visitors here have returned home.

O. Henry's landlady still lives at 55 Irving street, New York where he wrote many stories.

AMERICAN TEAM TO DEFEND DAVIS CUP AGAINST AUSTRALIANS IS SELECTED

New York, Aug. 21 (By the A. P.)—The American team that will defend the Davis cup, international team tennis trophy, will be composed of R. Norris Williams, II, of Philadelphia, captain; William T. Tilden, II., of Philadelphia, national champion; William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, world's champion; and Vincent Richards, of Yonkers, N. Y.

This team, which will oppose Australia, survivor of the 1923 preliminary play, in the challenge round at Forest Hills, N. Y., August 31, September 1 and 3, is the same as that which successfully defended the historic trophy against the antipodeans last year. The selection was made late today by the Davis Cup committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, of which Julian S. Myrick, of New York, is chairman.

The committee's choice of Richards, No. 3 ranking star, occasioned some surprise because of the fact that the youngster had abandoned his national doubles title partnership with Tilden. In the 1922 Davis cup challenge round the United States sustained its only defeat when Richards and Tilden were beaten in the doubles by Gerald Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood.

The committee did not indicate, however, whether its selections meant a preference for the Tilden-Richards combination in the doubles.

Johnston and Tilden, who probably will bear the brunt of the singles play, will represent this country for the fourth successive year. They have never been beaten in the singles.

Walter Mace, Yale trainer, who has been selected to coach the team, will be in New York when the players arrive next Monday to start active practice.

Mr. Myrick left for Boston tonight where he will immediately get in touch with the players. While there he will discuss details of training and playing with Captain Williams, and it is expected that when the team arrive in New York they will have a definite understanding of their assignments.

While it is necessary under Davis cup regulations to nominate teams ten days prior to the opening contest, the actual order of play need not be divulged until within twenty-four hours of the start. The selection committee is expected to take advantage of this, and formal selection of singles and doubles combinations will probably not be announced until a later date.

TILDEN AND JOHNSTON PICKED TO BEAR BRUNT OF ATTACK

Boston, Aug. 21.—When the selection of the American Davis cup team was announced from New York today the opinion was expressed by a number of the leading exponents and followers of lawn tennis assembled here for the national doubles championships that William T Tilden, 2nd, and William M. Johnston, would be the only active players in the challenge round matches next month against Australia.

It was said that R. N. Williams, 2nd, of Bryn Mawr, Pa., would probably be a spare for doubles competition and that Vincent Richards of Yonkers, N. Y., would be a spare in singles play.

CARDINALS BUNCH HITS AND BEAT BRAVES

Boston, Aug. 21.—St. Louis bunched hits against Cooney in the sixth and Oeschger in the ninth today, defeating Boston 8 to 2. Double plays started by McInnis and Stock were the only fielding features. Hornsby and Bottomley hit when hits were needed. The score:

New York, Aug. 21.—Pittsburgh made it two out of three from New York here today, winning their last game of the season on the Polo grounds, 9 to 5. MULLION SAYS WILLS WON'T FIGHT FIRPO UNLESS FIRPO WINS FROM DEMPSEY

New York, Aug. 21.—Shortly after Tex Rickard announced today that he had signed Luis Angel Firpo to fight Harry Wills negro heavyweight, in Argentina next April, Paddy Mullins, Wills' manager, declared that he "wouldn't even think" of signing up with the South American unless the latter took the title from Dempsey on September 14 at the Polo Grounds. "There wouldn't be the slight point," said Mullins, "in fighting Firpo in the Argentine unless he held the world's heavyweight championship. Wills wants a fight with the champion, whoever the champion is, and not with an ex-champion. If Firpo knocks Dempsey out on September 14, Wills will be ready to sign up for a bout; not otherwise."

The negro fighter's manager declared he had received no word from Rickard concerning the proposed match, nor had he heard anything about it, except through the newspapers. He stated he would not consider the plan announced by Rickard of signing two contracts, one to hold in case Firpo gained the championship, and one for use if he lost.

"Rickard has said nothing about it to me," Mullins stated, "and he has evidently made no attempt to do so. He knows where he can find me if he has a proposition to make."

Tex Rickard, when told of Mullin's statement, said he was not surprised.

"I've been offering Wills a fight with Firpo for months past," he said, "but Mullins doesn't seem anxious to match him. I wanted to have the two men meet to decide which should stand up against Dempsey, but Mullins refused. Now I am offering him a chance to fight Firpo, win or lose. He can take it or not. With Dempsey, Wills will have a chance to fight him in Argentine. If Firpo wins Wills will have the same chance. Mullins has been holding off all along."

He stated he was in no hurry, and very likely would not put the matter up to Mullins until after the fight on September 14th.

In one of the best games of the season Sunday afternoon the Sterling team beat the fast Anthony, R. I. team 2 to 1. RACING MAGNATES SEE DEMPSEY IN TRAINING

White Sulphur Springs, Saratoga Lake, N. Y., Aug. 21. — Charles Schwartz, Foxhall D. Keene, and others of the racing elite from Saratoga Springs, saw Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, go through his paces today in training for his bout September 14 with Luis Angel Firpo.

Schwartz, Dempsey's opponent Saturday night in a four round exhibition bout for charity, was third man in the ring today when the champion went through three rounds against George Godfrey, giant negro. The daily crowd was amused when the champion handed Schwartz a few of the blows supposed to be intended for Godfrey.

The champion devoted the balance of the day to heavy routine work, calling it off only at the end of a long walk this evening.

RAIN HALTS RACING PROGRAMME AT CLEVELAND

North Randall, Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 21.—(By The A. P.)—Rain caused a postponement until tomorrow of the fourth and deciding heat of the 2.08 class pacing, the Forest City $3,000 purse, the feature of today's Grand Circuit card here.

The purse developed into a split heat affair when Buddy Mac, the Cleveland-owned colt, took the third heat after finishing eighth and seventh respectively in the first two miles. Hal Boy, the favorite, won the first heat easily but could not get up to beat Wrack in the second and lost by a scant neck. He also was nosed out by Buddy Mac and Wrack in the third mile.

Rose Scott, Tom Murphy's black mare, was the only winning favorite of the day, taking the 2.06 trot in straight heats. It was her second victory in her only starts of the season and was Murphy's twenty-fifth winning mount.

Dissatisfied with the way Tramp Cute trotted in the second mile when he finished third in five seconds slower time than was hung up when he won the first heat, the judges replaced Driver Marvin Thornton, with Vic Fleming but this made no change in the result of the race as Tramp Cute could not do better than fourth in the third heat and was a poor third in the race-off.

WEST ENDS DEFEAT THE HARDIGS

The first game of the series between the West Ends and the Hardigs turned out as was expected by all West End backers. Owing to the block dance a tthe other end of the city, the crowd numbered about 300. Moore's West Side Jazz band marched around the field, followed by the players of both teams, before the game, and retired to the grandstand and played popular airs through the seven innings. After the dust of the hard-fought battle cleared, the score stood 8 to 2 in favor of the West Ends.

The Hardigs claim their defeat came on account of the lack of advice in tight places from their most esteemed manager, Kamos, who is out of town seeking games. A big improvement to the team was Fitzgerald, the Boston Twilight leaguer. Every man on the team played airtight ball.

The West Ends' lineup is as follows: A. Geno, catcher, who caught like a big leaguer; "Socko" Spivery tossed the balls to the batters in his usual style, allowing only five hits; Manager King covered the first sack without an error; Sadinsky, at second, missed but one line drive, and outside of that one bad minute he also deserved credit. The only weak spot in the team was on short, played by Benny Butts, who missed everything that came his way, and once while he was looking toward the sky counting stars, a grounder hit his shins. Manager King is going to supply Butts with a bushel basket, to see if he can't strengthen the short field. "Moose" Hyatt stood his ground on the dizzy corner and had to work overtime to make up for Butts' undisturbed sleep at short. The outfield was taken care of by "Sneeze" Vollivitze, who took care of the left part of the garden. In center stood Long George Roebarge. Chauncey Moses Lacy took care of the right end.

The next game of the series is to be played at the fairgrounds next Thursday evening, starting at 6.30 o'clock. The band will lead the winning team from the fairgrounds to the block dance.

Crowley and Manning umpired a good game.

TAFTVILLE PLANT EVENS WITH WILLOW STREET TEAM

On the J. B. Martin diamond Monday evening the Taftville plant team turned the tables on the Willow street team, swamping them by a score of 13 to 2. It would have been a shutout but for the sixth inning, when "Baldy" Lund drove out a measly Texas leaguer which was followed by a home run by "Spindles" Blackledge, which gave the Willowites their only runs.

Great credit is due the Taftville boys because of their handicap in not having the services of "Home Run" Adams, the hero of the last game. "Dutch" Coleman, however, filled in very creditably, and his slide into home plate was one of the outstanding features of the game. The pitching of "Muggsy" McGlone was exceptional with the possible exception of the third inning, when he walked four of the Taftville batters, but redeemed himself by fanning "Chunk" Mulholland and Stromberg Bjork, the heavy hitters of the Taftville crew. Another brilliant fielding feature came in the fifth inning, when Stebbins nailed a hot one bare-handed and tossed to Buckingham for a double play. Hussey, the reputed Beichertown star, continued his good work behind the bat, and it was a lucky man who stole on him. "Chief" Gernhard came in for his share of lusty wallops at the ball, but unfortunately the ball freakishly went foul or behind the grandstand. Others of the Willowites who showed themselves to be in a distinct class were "Wild Bill" Elliott and R. U. Skinner.

Both teams dare a victory to their credit, and the deciding game will be played some afternoon soon.

ENGLISH WOMEN BEST AMERICANS IN TENNIS PLAY

Casino Courts, Newport, R. I., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Geraldine Beamish and Mrs. R. C. Clayton, British women's tennis team, defeated Miss Lillian Scharman and Miss Ceres Baker, representing the United States, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, in the last of six international matches played on the Casino courts yesterday and today. The victory of the English women gave England four victories in the matches played against two for the United States and also avenged the defeat suffered by the British pair at the hands of the Americans in the national tournament.

Earlier in the day, the draw brought Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory and Miss Eleanor Goss Americans, together. Mrs. Mallory winning 11-9, 6-2. In the other match between two English women Mrs. R. C. Clayton defeated Mrs. B. C. Covell, 6-1, 6-2.

The Americans were easy victims for the British women in the first set of the doubles. They were repeatedly caught out of position in midcourt. Mrs. Beamish's unique twisting underhand service also bothered them.

FIRPO'S SOUTH AMERICAN TRAINER ARRIVES

New York, Aug. 21.—Horatio Lavalle, millionaire Argentine sportsman and patron of Luis Angel Firpo, arrived today aboard the American Legion from Beunos Aires to take charge of the South American pugilist's campaign of training for his title match with Jack Dempsey on Sept. 14 at the Polo grounds.

Senor Lavalle, accompanied by several other ring enthusiasts from the pampas, was met by Firpo. After a short conference with Tex Rickard, promoter of the championship match, at Madison Square Garden, Lavalle departed for Atlantic City, where the challenger has established quarters. Active workouts will be started tomorrow, it was said.

"I have never seen Dempsey fight, but I have studied motion pictures of him in action, and have every confidence in the ability of my friend," said Lavalle. "Firpo should win easily. How quickly he will land the decisive punch I naturally am not in a position to say, but I feel sure that the fight will not last long."

Lavalle a Boxer.

Lavalle, himself an amateur boxer of prominence in South America, and scion of a wealthy and aristocratic Argentine family, declared he had made no definite plans for Firpo's training.

"That must wait until I have an opportunity to discuss these matters with Firpo," he said. "My theory of training, however, adds nothing new to present knowledge. It calls for hard work, good food, regular hours and the [illegible] proper adjustment of conditioning activity."

Lavalle declared he hel dnothing but the highest respect for Jimmy DeForest, veteran American trainer, discarded by Firpo after he had conditioned the South American for his fights with Bill Brennan, Jack McAuliffe and Jess Willard.

"DeForest is an excellent trainer," said Lavalle, "but he has certain drawbacks to Firpo. The primary one is that he doesn't know Spanish, and Firpo, notwithstanding the presence of interpreters, is irritated and bewildered by the speaking of a foreign language. I have known Firpo for more than 15 years. I know his weaknesses as well as his virtues in the boxing game, and think I can correct the more glaring of his defects."

Firpo Never a Drug Clerk.

The story that Firpo served an apprenticeship as drug clerk in Buenos Aires before beginning his ring career was exploded by other arrivals from the Argentine. Before Firpo took up boxing, they said, he was simply a manual laborer. He has been a stevedore, bootblack and at one time washed bottles in a drug store, where originated the drug clerk legend.

Lavalle, 28 years old, is millionaire owner of a wheat and grazing plantation near Buenos Aires. He is a college graduate and comes from one of the oldest Castilian families in the Argentine. His grandfather was an army general. Lavalle won the amateur light heavyweight championship of Latin America at the Brasilian centennial exposition last year.

Firpo today signed two sparring partners who will accompany him to his quarters at Atlantic City. They are Frank Kobie of Brooklyn, former amateur welterweight, and Jamaica Kid, negro light heavyweight. Cliff Kramer of Seattle wired the South American today that he would be unable to join the latter's training staff because of an injury to his hands.

FOREIGN PLAYERS STRONG IN NATIONAL TOURNEY

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 21.—A strong foreign contingent remained in the running for honors in the national lawn tennis doubles tournament as the second round of play was concluded at the Chestnut Hill courts of the Longwood Cricket club this evening.

The two Australian Davis Cup teams survived as did the two teams in which the Spanish Davis Cup star, Manuel Alonso, and the South African, Brian I. C. Norton, are competing. The French Davis cup doubles team, beaten here last week by the Australians, was eliminated today after a hard struggle.

Chess Tourney.

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., Aug. 21.—With two important games undecided and adjourned, the three leading prizes in the masters' tournament of the ninth American Chess Congress remain in doubt as the result of play in the thirteenth and final rounds today. They rest between Kupchik and Marshall of New York and Janowski of Paris.

Kupchik leads with 10 1-2—2 1-2, followed by Marshall with 10-2 and Janowski 9 1-2—2 1-2. Kupchik has finished playing, but the final standing of the other two depends upon the outcome of the Janowski-Santasiere and Hodgen-Marshall games.

Lasker of Chicago has won the fourth prize and Schapire of Columbia university, the fifth, with scores of 9-4 and 8 1-2—4 1-2 respectively.

National Junior Tennis.

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 21.—The field of players in the national junior singles championships tonight was reduced to seven with three fourth round matches remaining to be played, in a fourth round match today Edward G. Chandler, San Francisco, defeated H. G. Orser, New York, 6-0, 6-2.

The junior doubles team of George I. Ott, Chicago, and Julius Saguloswky, Indianapolis, advanced to the third round, as did Van Ryn and Appel of East Grange, N. J., and the Providence juniors, Ingraham and Chase. In the national boys' singles play today the field was reduced to six players, and in the doubles boys' competition the first round was complete.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Phil R. Miller, of Dallas, Texas, today won the amateur doubles championship of North America, the feature event of the Grand American Handicap Tournament at the South Shore Country club. He broke 181 out of a possible 200 targets. William Lambert, of Oklahoma City, Okla., and C. A. Gunning, Longmont, Colo., tied for second with 179.

Plainfield Whirlwinds Win.

The Plainfield Whirlwinds defeated Moosup in the first game of a series on Sunday afternoon 17 to 7. The game was loosely played, the Moosup team making many costly errors. The second game will be played at Moosup next Sunday.

WHY THEY DISLIKE WOOD.

Further reason as to why there has developed such a feleing against Governor General Wood and why there is an increased insistence upon immediate freedom for the Philippines is furnished by the making public of the report of Governor General Wood to the Philippine legislature concerning the condition of the Philippine National bank, which report was suppressed by the legislative leaders and is only publicly known now because the governor general saw the necessity of throwing needed light on the situation and disclosing what has been going on in the islands.

Having got into a deplorable condition and lost more than $50,000,000 it is easy to understand why the Filipino leaders wanted to keep the bank situation covered up, why they disliked the action of General Wood in endeavoring to call it to the attention of the legislature and why they displayed a new and increased desire to be free of the restraining influences of a governor general.

It has been maintained with excellent reason that the United States was unwilling to cast lose the Philippines until they were able to take care of themselves. It has no desire to leave its task there half completed and be forced to go in there and take possession at some later date because of yielding to the eager demands for freedom before independence was warranted.

Through the toleration of a previous governor general who was too favorably disposed to the demands of the Filipinos certain practices were sanctioned which demonstrate the lack of capacity of the Filipinos to direct their own affairs as a government and do so successfully in the interest of national welfare. The way in which the funds of the island government have been squandered tells its own story. The Filipinos do not like to hear it but it is a lesson nevertheless that should work to their own benefit if they will but apply it. It clearly shows that the time is far from ripe for independence and that guiding hand that will guide for their welfare is still greatly needed. They dislike General Wood because he will not wink at the raiding of the government funds.

MELLON STAYS.

While there has been no good reason to suppose that Secretary Mellon would not be willing to remain as a member of the cabinet of President Coolidge, there will be general satisfaction over the announcement that has been made to the effect that he will. His first call upon the new president confirms that.

Sitting as a member of the cabinet, President Coolidge has during his days as vice president been able to appreciate what the Mellon guidance of the treasury department has meant. But for the fact that the secretary has been in Europe, and thus away from the country and government circles during the trying time, there would have been no thought but what he would have done as the others have done and expressed himself before this.

Secretary Mellon has been a tower of strength in the handling of the financial affairs of the government during the past two and a half years. He is wonderfully qualified for the duties of the office and that high degree of service that he has rendered under President Harding certainly needs to be continued under the administration of President Coolidge. Thoroughly in sympathy with the policies of his predecessor and favorably disposed to such changes in taxation as have been urged by the secretary of the treasury it was the most natural thing that the president should be anxious to retain such a valuable and efficient head of that department, while the opportunity to continue his service to the country is not being disregarded by the secretary. It means much not only to the administration but to the country.

CUBA SHOULD TAKE HEED.

Cuba will do well to stop, look and listen. If it has not already done so it must give serious consideration to the warning that has been forwarded by the state department of this government with a view to preventing Cuba from doing a gross injustice to Americans.

Cuba is not the only country in which there is talk about and plans for the consolidation of railroads. Cuba's legislation with that object in view isn't prompted so much by the desire to better its railroad facilities as it is to put the private railroads out of business and force the business which they do into the other transportation channels. In other words its object seems to be to break down those private lines which have been developed in the handling of sugar and other commodities and make them valueless by closing the ports to which they have been built.

Inasmuch as many of these roads are owned by American capital which would be discriminated against in forcing business from 47 ports and concentrating it at those ports served by the lines under the proposed consolidation, this government has been quick to make a protest. But for the fact that the legislation is directed against American interests this government would not seem to be endeavoring to influence Cuban legislation.

Just what the outcome of the legislation is going to be is uncertain. It is now before the upper house after having been favorably acted upon by the lower house. With favorable action by both there remains no chance of a veto by the president with the possibility that it would be overridden. However much this legislation may seem to follow the insistence of our representative in Cuba that the laws against lottery there be upheld, and have the appearance of retaliation, it will be the height of folly for Cuba to disregard the warning that has been received from this government. This government is entirely within its rights and Cuba should not be anxious to do anything that would result in bringing about a reoccupation of the island.

PRESERVING TREES.

More than those who live in Cambridge will seriously regret the fact that the historic Washington elm which has been visited by unrecorded numbers in the past century is to be cut down. It was under this tree that General Washington assumed command of the Continental forces and for that reason there has been an extensive demand to have it preserved as long as possible.

In that endeavor no efforts have been spared but now that experts declare it dead it is to be taken down and converted into souvenirs. The place where it stands should and probably will be marked by some sort of a monument that will mark the historic spot more permanently if no more effectively than the tree had done for so many years.

It is not every tree that gets so much attention as has the Washington elm. Circumstances made it the object of widespread interest. Its life has doubtless been prolonged far beyond what it otherwise might have been had it been left to the ravages of disease and beetles or been required to maintain its existence the same as others.

Whether they are historical or not, there is much to be said in behalf of the efforts that are put forth each year for the preservation of attractive and useful shade trees. Each city can well afford to indulge therein in preference to neglecting them and being obliged to go to the expense of frequent removals and replacements. All cannot be Washington elms, but the preservation of all trees for their benefit to property value or for shade purposes is commendable.

It is regretted that so many of the elm trees about Norwich this year are showing the effects of negligence and giving indication that they will be marked for the woodpile another year.

INCREASING FIRE HAZARDS.

There can be no surprise that the paper published by an insurance company should be broadcasting a warning against a device which has been put on the market for the purpose of stimulating a sluggish fire in stove or grate. This device is described as consisting "of a brass pot holding about a quart of kerosene and a brass syringe for squirting the liquir on a fire to spread the flames and make the fire burn evenly, giving an immediate and hot fire."

It is an old practice for some people to employ kerosene in building a fire, especially if the wood happens to be green or wet, and there are those who hold to the idea that it is safe to pour kerosene on a smoldering fire in spite of the fact that many buildings have been badly damaged and lives lost through that very act.

Haste makes waste is no better emphasized than through the employment of kerosene in the building or stimulation of fires. There is a fire hazard in connection with it that is real. There is no need of insisting upon a personal demonstration before taking heed of the many warnings set forth by others.

Where kerosene is employed it means that there will be a quick spreading of the fire. There is no need for advertising that fact for the information of the average individual, and it is in that quick spread that so much danger lies. In fact the squirting of kerosene upon a fire is not so much different than pouring it from a can. There is a positive danger involved and the insurance company is rendering an excellent service when it directs attention to that fact. When it says "Existing fire hazards are serious enough without adding to them by the use of such dangerous apparatus" it makes no misstatements.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Even in these days of radio rumors of things which are not so continue to float around.

It is best to make the most of the cut in the price of gasoline, but it will hardly do to use it for a beverage.

The man on the corner says: August may be letting up on the hot weather, but it isn't skipping the hay fever.

"Heavy frost injures crops in the Adirondacks." There's some satisfaction, even at this season, in not living in that region.

With the Ku Klux Klan in control of a university in Indiana, there can be no opposition expected there to a full quota of secret societies.

Now that a man has been graduated from college at the age of 81 there will be frequent repetitions of the old saying that one is never too old to learn.

The soviet government of Russia is grateful for the help given by the United States. It ought to be. Look at the vast amount of grain it was able to export while this country fed the starving people.

LOW BAROMETER

"Is that you, mama?" said the red-eyed young woman into the phone. "This is Gladys and I just called you up to tell you that I am coming home for good, for forever—before it is time for Robert Alwyn Jenkins to get home for dinner. He can eat all alone for the rest of his life for all I care.

"No, there's not the least use of your coming over to help patch up. I don't want things patched up!

"The last straw was just now. You know when he was west on a business trip I told you I was cleaning house. I wanted to fix up his den to please him, nearly killed myself to make it comfortable because one night he said, 'Say, Puss, some day we've got to spend a little money to make this place look homier. It is kind of bare, I think, but we haven't the money just now.' That set me thinking and I planned the loveliest inexpensive room you ever saw, yet when he came home a few minutes ago he flew into a temper.

"Why, all I did was to have some lovely, old-timey, sprigged matting laid down on the slippery, bare, hardwood floor. I couldn't afford oriental rugs and so I thought I would change the period of the room. How was I to know that the man would put it down with double prong tacks and lay it in separate stripe at that?

"Yes, he was awful mad. Said he had saved several months before we were married to have that floor put in and had paid a horribly big price for the tiniest narrow boards and a skilled man to lay, scrape and polish them. Oh! my, but he was brutal!

"Of course, he's ridiculously proud of this old house—you know it's been in the family for so many generations—and he was so unreasonable as to be simply wild because I had the walnut woodwork enameled a lovely white and the old-fashioned verde-antique mantel painted to match. The room looked too sweet for anything, especially when I had the walls redecorated with a creamy white paper with pink roses climbing over trellises and hung dotted swiss curtains at the windows. He said it looked like a woman's sewing room.

"Well, that is nearly all the decorating I did. I just had the winding balustrade in the front hall done over in white at the same time. He was raging about that as well, and said his grandfather had the mahogany brought from goodness only knows where.

"What? N-n-n-no. I had the bills sent to him at the office.

"Yes, he brought me a present when he came home. It was a box of No. 8 gloves, all black and white, and the niftiest pair of No. 3 shoes you ever saw. They are beauties, but I can't get into anything smaller than 4½. Of course I didn't tell him the gloves were too large and the shoes too small. I am never willing to hurt people's feelings, so I did my best to appear pleased. Then I took him into the der and the front hall and he was so nasty about them I threw off the mask

"I just flew back and got those shoes and gloves and informed him I didn't want any such a freak assortment. He tried to tell me that as he didn't know my size he had asked the saleswoman to give him gloves and shoes for a rather tall brunette with capable hands and trim, dainty feet.

"What did I give him for his birthday before he went away? Why, a cut glass iced tea set with the cunningest little cut glass tea bell and reed tea wagon. They're too dear for anything and we needed them.

"There is ab-so-lutely no use thinking it over! My mind is made up. I cannot forget what I have suffered. Besides—just wait a moment, the door bell is ringing. Hold the wire for I want to ask your advice about the best lawyer—I'll be back in a moment.

"Oh, mamma, it's the darlingest little fluffy white silk dog that you ever saw. Bob sent it to me with a hastily scribbled note. Listen. He is the most ridiculous goose! He says: 'Gladys, dear, never mind the hardwood floor or the mahogany balustrade. I can have it all cleaned off and done over to look like new some day when we get rich. Here is a dog to match the woodwork as it is now. I thought he'd keep you company and out of mischief if I had to go away again. There is a special sale of silks on at Thresher's. You've been wanting a white crepe de chine. Here's your chance. Meet me at Chester's for lunch and we'll go over afterward and blow ourselves.

"'Your devoted Bob.'

"It's almost 12, mummy, and I must feed this angel dog and rush like a house afire to get the next car so I will be sure to meet Bobbie."—Chicago News.

Stories That Recall Others

Getting a Spring Bonnet

Having witnessed the disappearance of a woman's hat over the side of the boat carried by a sudden gust of wind, one of the passengers was heard to tell of what she saw during the windy days of March. She said:

"The wind was making playthings of everyone's headgear when a woman with a spring hat, resplendent with gay flowers, came down the street. A gust tossed the hat in the air and a hundred feet away. Two women started in pursuit when the owner was unable to overtake the hat. Then a fourth woman seeing it coming stepped off the sidewalk and grabbed the hat. Without looking she made for the nearest doorway, holding the hat closely to her side. All started toward her on the run but she disappeared in the big store."

Husbands and Husbandry

The office boy, whose wages went either for pie or for picturesque attire for his evening parade, was always facing financial problems. The Saturday pay envelope had come and gone, because certain creditors had to be satisfied, and he was attempting to borrow a dime to obtain his afternoon allowance for pie. The office force, however, was unresponsive, allied against him in fact, having learned from experience the difficulty attending the collection of reparations.

"Why don't you stop borrowing money?" one of the men in the office inquired. "Don't you know that repeated borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry?"

"That don't mean nothin' to me," he replied, "I'm not married."

CONTRADICTORY EVIDENCE IN WARD CASE MINUTES

New York, Aug. 21.—Minutes of the grand jury which re-indicted Walter S. Ward, wealthy baker's son, for the murder of Clarence Peters, ex-sailor, revealed today that Lieutenant Eugene E. Roberts, of the state police had contradicted testimony of his subordinates which indicted Peters was slain at a distance from the spot where his body was found in West Chester county.

Three troopers had emphasized, in the first instalments of the minutes made public yesterday by counsel for the accused, that Peters' body bore no evidence of a struggle on the spot by seemed, on the contrary, to have been carefully laid out where it was found.

Following the troopers before the grand jury, Roberts' testimony tended to bear out Ward's story that he shot Peters in self-defense, it was said. Peters' clothing was not disarranged, said the officer, and signs of a struggle or scuffle were absent. He thought, nevertheless, that "the man was shot right down in his tracks."

"At the bottom of his shoe was a film of mud," Roberts testified. "And there was the print of his heel as if he had been standing. The mud was not even scratched. I called the attention of the coroner, the detectives and the troopers to that perfect film of mud on his shoe, just as if Peters had kneeled back from the knockdown."

Rabenold and Scribner, counsel for Ward, announced today that they would make public as fast as printed, all of the 2,500 pages of grand jury minutes which the prosecution turned over yesterday after a long struggle in the courts over possession of the document.

MRS FORD REBUKED SCANTILY CLAD GIRLS

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Henry Ford publicly rebuked a number of women and girls wearing overalls and short stockings—the costume of the city resources in the Upper Peninsula—where they besieged her at Michigamme, a resort town near here yesterday, with requests for her autograph.

The Ford-Edison-Firestone party had just arrived from Iron Mountain and had pitched their tents, when the feminine resorters surrounded the party and requested autographs.

"You ladies and girls are showing very poor taste and worse judgment in coming into the town garbed as you are, without skirts or dresses," Mrs. Ford said. "I do not want to sign my name for you and prefer not to look at you. I resent your idea of dress."

Alex was the only one of the trio who went to jail pending his trial, the others having obtained a bond each. Bushoo declares that he is innocent of the crime attributed to him and says he was on his way home when he was called to the store door by the other youths. They wanted him to go to East New London, he says, and engage in a crap game, but he declined to do that and was about to start for home when the police appeared in answer to a telephone call from some one who saw the youths in the store door and imagined they were intent on burglary. It is claimed that Bushoo's companions were at work on the door endeavoring to enter the store when the police were called.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE SITE RECALLS LEBANON ORIGIN

Miss Averill and Miss Maria W. Averill, sisters of the late John C. Averill, who have many friends in Norwich society, are at Hanover, N. H., on their way to Boston and Maine. In Hanover, seat of Dartmouth college, they have come upon a number of interesting facts regarding the foundation of that college, which took its rise from the Indian school started in pre-Revolutionary times at Lebanon, Conn., by Rev. Eleazur Wheelock, who had the valuable assistance of Rev. Nathaniel Whitaker, of Norwich.

Dartmouth the past year had about 2,000 students and is growing rapidly. Its buildings are unusually fine and the little town in which it is located is ideal as a college site. In its excellent equipped library and in various other departments are reminders of Samson Occom, Godfearing, ambitious and able member of the Mohegan tribe, who was sent to England as an example of what education would do for his race. Occom preached in many towns in England, and Scotland, appearing before the king and queen. His eloquence and sincerity won the favor of wealthy pious Lord Dartmouth, who bestowed upon him the gift of eleven hundred pounds. On Occom's return, it was decided not to build the college at Lebanon—then a busy town on the line of the post road between New York and Boston—but to seek the seclusion of wooded New Hampshire, as less likely to distract the minds of students from their books. However, on the college books of Dartmouth there is a provision to this day, that one Indian annually shall be entitled to free tuition—a perpetual reminder of Rev. Samson Occom, of Mohegan, and the tribe still represented at the reservation below Norwich.

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Aug. 21.—The position of city manager, which will be vacant on the 15th of September on which day James E. Barlow, who has been the city manager since the commission form of government became operative in New London two years ago, is a job that will be hunted for assiduously. It is the best paying position this city ever had at its disposal, for it has been paying $7,500 a year, or more than $20 a day. But it is announced right from the council that the salary of the city manager is not to remain at that figure in the future. Indeed it was generally understood that if Mr. Barlow had remained his salary was to be cut, perhaps in two.

It is also as good as settled that the next city manager who can claim that title will be a New London man, and it is claimed that there are men here who are thoroughly competent to assume the duties of the office. At present there seem to be but two men in the running for th office, namely former Mayor E. Frank Morgan and William A. Holt, the latter now a commercial saleman and admittedly a competent young man for the place. There were others in the running for the position up to now, but public opinion is crystalizing about the gentlemen named.

There are other good position to be filled when the city manager is chosen. A purchasing agent for the city is to be selected, a director of law, a director of finance and a city treasurer are also to be selected and the city manager has the choice of them. The assessor is appointed by the city city manager too, and the town clerk is the choice of the council.

BIG CROWD AT EAST SIDE BLOCK DANCE

All roads led to the East Side Tuesday night when the second of a series of free block dances was given by the live wire people of the "Capitol" of Norwich. East Main street above Hamilton avenue had been roped off for a distance of about 100 feet and many electric lights had been strung along the highway giving great brilliance.

Early in the evening the crowd began to gather and by 8.30 when the Royal Radions played the opening number over a thousand people had arrived and dancing was enjoyed late into the evening.

The success of the block dance was due to the work of Chairman James Peduce and his committee and everything went off in fine manner.

Traffic was guided around the roped off area and one of the traffic officers on the job was "Colonel" George Fowler who was stationed at the Hamilton avenue junction. In full uniform the "Colonel" represented the law and order of the East Side and his work greatly aided the traffic officer sent out from police headquarters, located in the "suburbs" of Norwich.

New York papers Tuesday noted the marriage Monday morning at 11 o'clock, in the chapel of St. Francis Xavier's church, Brooklyn, of Miss Eleanor Stafford Smith, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward John Smith, of 767 Carroll street, Brooklyn, and John Campbell Fowler, son of Mrs. Catherine and the late Thomas Fowler, of New York city. The ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Monsignor David J. Hickey, who also sang the nuptial high mass. Only members of the two families attended.

The bridesmaid was Miss Grace Sturges, of Manhattan and Center Moriches, L. I., a seminary classmate of the bride. The best man was Thomas Fowler, brother of the groom. Mr. Fowler served overseas two and a half years in the army. He is a member of the class of 1916, Columbia university and is completing his course in the dental department of that college. The bride is a graduate of the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Kenwood on the Hudson. New York papers mention that she is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Weber, who make their home at the Madison Square hotel, New York, and that her brother is Gerard Smith, well known pony polo player of the Brooklyn Riding club.

She had a corsage bouquet of sweet peas. The matron of honor wore black silk trimmed with lace and a black velvet hat and carried sweet peas.

A quiet home wedding took place Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, standard time, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Weaver Leffingwell at East Great Plain, when their daughter, Ida Harriett, became the bride of Roger Allen Bullard.

The bride was beautiful in white canton crepe with veil and carried an arm bouquet of roses. Her only ornament was a necklace of opal pearls, a gift of the groom.

Rev. William Oakley of the Leffingwell Baptist church performed the ceremony, using the double ring service. The flower girl, little Miss Lois May Allen, cousin of the groom, carried the rings, and Lois May Leffingwell, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor. The decorations were carried out in rainbow colors, cut flowers and potted plants being effectively used.

After the ceremony a buffet lunch was served at the home of the bride, many relatives and friends attending.

Early in the evening the young couple left by automobile for an extensive tour of New England and will be at their home at Quaker Hill, North Waterford, after Oct. 1st.

SECRET OF HIS SUCCESS

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this country, in a recent article, said: "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe it all to my wife, from the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration and the greatest helpmate of my life." Health is the first essential of every woman who wants to be a successful wife and to hold the love and admiration of her husband. If a woman finds her energies flagging and dark circles appearing under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, nervousness and "the blues," she should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the medicine which holds the record for helping 98 out of every 100 women who try it. There is nothing better.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

An outstanding feature of the news of the day in Danielson Tuesday was relative to an effort that is being made to have the Chamber of Commerce take some action intended to curb the activities of state police stationed at the local barracks as to what some citizens of prominence regard as petty annoyance and interference.

An official of the Chamber of Commerce who was asked about the matter was extremely guarded in discussing the subject but admitted that he had been approached with a request that the organization take some sort of action on the matter. This official further stated that he would have no part in the furtherance of the program unless definite information and specific and detailed statements be supplied the chamber relative to incidents complained about.

The grounds on which the complaints are made have little to do with the enforcement of the liquor laws. Rather they concern minor matters—alleged instances in which state officers are charged with going out of their way to find fault over technical violations of the motor vehicle laws or to issue admonishing advice to people who are doing their best to obey the laws. The charges that are being talked of so generally in Danielson just now fall exclusively upon officers recently assigned to duty at the local barracks and not on the more experienced officers of longer service in the department. Much of what is being complained about is admittedly due to over-zealousness upon the part of the officers, and this is being generally resented as an unnecessary irritant and not at all essential to the proper enforcement to the law. Some of the criticism has come from members of the bar, from others prominent in official life and from citizens of high standing in the community. There is no apparent desire back of the complaints to razz the state officers.

The effect of what is complained about is to set up a widespread feeling of animosity toward the state police department, and that is very unfair when all the excellent work the department accomplishes is considered. Even the critics of some of the state police officers admit this, but contend that all this good work could continue without unnecessary annoyance of people who are doing their best to obey the laws and have no intention of violating them.

One might listen during discussions Tuesday to a list of incidents that figure in the effort to get some action from the Chamber of Commerce. Chief among these was the alleged practice of state officers in, at times, halting cars at night, while officers are out of uniform and in civilian clothing. In these days of holidays, it is contended, it is not at all difficult for anyone who desires to impersonate a state officer to halt a car, jump on the running board and flash a badge. In the meantime the party in the car is at the mercy of whoever so holds them up, and many drivers dread that situation and are apt to make an attempt to get away, or mayhap do something serious in an effort to protect themselves and those who are with them. The contention is that state officers never should be out of uniform when halting cars on highways at night, however valuable may be the use of civilian attire in carrying out other duties they have to perform. There are various other matters about which complaint is being made, but they need not be enmuerated here. Sufficient to the day is the presentation of a subject of very general discussion in the borough and one of which more may be heard later.

Mrs. Albert T. Bernier is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam and was in a favorable condition Tuesday after undergoing a serious surgical operation the previous day. The Masses, among other things, were charged with having been intoxicated. The outcome of it all was that a charge of resisting an officer figured in the affair before they were finally and conclusively placed under arrest.

Henry Bernier is away on a vacation that will take him to Niagara Falls and through the Thousand Islands.

The cottage had been prettily decorated by Mr. Dupre, pine boughs, leaves and ferns being used. Sixteen of the party assembled early and Miss Howard was brought in to the gathering after being taken for a short automobile ride. She was taken completely by surprise and saw in the party nurses from Worcester and friends from other places. Twenty in all sat down to supper, consisting of chicken salad, Parker house rolls, tomatoes, olives, apple pie and coffee.

Following the supper the party went to the lake pavilion, where, by the light of several automobiles, with a large candle for Pep's one-piece orchestra, Pep himself, to see by, there was dancing for an hour.

"Looking for seahorses, which they put in the water with ice," James Hannan, 66, unmarried, claiming Cincinnati, O., as his residence, was picked up by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown in front of the Westerly post office Monday morning. He was placed in the lockup by the chief to await further examination. Frank G. Ahearn of Elm street was in Hartford Tuesday.

A meeting was called Monday night in the room of the Central Labor Union of all the labor unions in Westerly, to take action on the report that had been spread that the labor unions were going to oppose the Westerly hospital drive. In a statement to The Bulletin correspondent Tuesday afternoon, Adam Sawyer secretary of the Granite Cutters' union said: "And story of the kind is absolutely false and I don't believe you will find a member who will not give to the project. They are not opposed to the hospital drive. Put it down strong and have it distinctly understood."

In the meeting Monday night which was largely attended, Edgar Mathews was the presiding officer with the following labor unions represented: Granite cutters, carpenters, bricklayers, quarry workers, plumbers, laborers, hod carriers, painters and textile workers. After a general discussion it was voted to appoint a committee of one delegate from each local to meet with the Westerly hospital committee. It was said that Mr. Folsom of the hospital drive had agreed to arrange a time for such a meeting soon. The following committee was named: Frank Booth, Granite Cutters; Cornelius Murphy, Carpenters; E. A. Smith, Bricklayers; Frank Roche, Painters; Luigi Turano, Laborers and Hod Carriers; Fred Hanson, Textile Workers; James Wills, plumbers; John Ahern, quarry workers.

The championship banner for the men's teams was carried to Mr. Ward's table by Thomas Perry, who had won it the day before, and the women's banner was carried by Mrs. George F. Barbour to the table of Mrs. Russell Hemphill, whose report of $4,359 was the highest in the women's division.

On the road between Stonington and Mystic, just beyond the Catholic cemetery, Sunday evening about 11.45 o'clock, a Ford touring car owned and driven by Anthony De Perry of Westerly coming from New London collided with the Overland touring automobile of H. Strong headlights are reported as being the cause of the collision in which the Ford car sustained damaged mud guards, broken wheel and sprung axle and not so much damage to the Groton car but what is could proceed. The occupants of the automobiles escaped with scratches and bruises. A state policeman was at the location of the collision.

Caveat Emptor!

Do you know what that means? It is a Latin expression and means —"let the buyer beware".

It is particularly necessary to "beware" when buying tires. Most of the big manufacturers make a "made-up-to-sell-cheap" tire. Some dealers, anxious to make a sale by tempting the customer with a low price, quote a lower price than a GOOD tire can be bought at, mention the name of the well known manufacturer, but do not divulge the fact that the tire is light in weight, has less plies of cord than a GOOD tire—or that it won't run as far. MONTFORD makes only one grade—the very best.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Total stock sales, 648,200 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 92.18 net gain .47. High 1923, 105.38; low, 86.91.

Twenty railroads averaged 78.31, net loss .12. High 1923, 80.63; low, 76.75.

MARKET WAS STRONG.

New York, Aug. 21.—The upward movement of prices was resumed in today's stock market despite the intermittent selling of the oil shares and occasional short attacks against other parts of the list. Pool operations were again in evidence apparently in the hope of attracting an outside interest which has not been very extensive in recent months.

Buying was most effective in the independent steels and American Can. Gulf States Steel, which is rather closely held, was pushed up 4 points; Crucible 2 1-2; Republic 1 3-4, and Bethlehem 1 1-2. American Can ranged from 95 3-8 to 99 1-4, closing at 98 3-4 for a net gain of 2 1-2 points.

Baldwin, Studebaker and U. S. Steel common, which were heavy in the early dealings, all closed at slight fractional gains.

Selling of the oil shares was based on unconfirmed reports of new financing by the Pan-American Company and speculative fears for the safety of the dividends of some of the smaller companies. The Pan-American issues each lost about 1 1-2 points on the day, as did Producers & Refiners. Most of the other losses is that group were of a fractional character.

There were no news developments to affect the course of prices. Wall street was intensely interested, however, in the French reply to Great Britain's note, which was delivered today and probably will be made public tomorrow.

The first of the July railroad earnings reports made their appearance today. Kansas City Southern reported an increase in both gross and net earnings thus far this year indicating an annual return of 4 1-2 per cent. or better on the common stock. Union Pacific reported a slight increase in gross last month over the month before but the net operating income was only $1,354,026 as against $2,229,325 in June, due to the higher operating expenses, mostly for maintenance of way and equipment.

Call money held firm at 5 per cent. Withdrawals of funds from this center by interior banks in order to finance crop movements resulted in a slightly higher asking rate for time money, which was offered at 5 1-2 per cent. with 5 1-4 bid. Business was dull. Most of the prime commercial paper moves at 5 1-4 per cent.

Allied exchange rates were slightly firmer. Demand sterling, which touched a new low yesterday, snapped back to $4.55 and French francs rallied 6 1-2 points to 5.63 1-2 cents. Spanish pesetas, which have been adversely affected by the unfavorable developments in Morocco, touched a new low at 13.37 cents and then rallied to 13.81.

DEATH OF LOUIS H. SPIER AT HIS HOME IN NEW YORK

Word has been received by relatives in Norwich of the death of Louis H. Spier at his home at 2600 Grand avenue, New York. Louis Spier was born in Norwich, the son of the late Levi and Regina Plaut Spier. His father conducted one of the first dry goods stores in Norwich, in what was known as the Spier block, now occupied by the White Star Clothing company. Louis Spier left Norwich for New York about forty years ago and was connected in New York with the then Wagner Palace Car company of New York. At the time of his death he was one of the firm of the Olin J. Stephens Coal company, located in New York. COUNTY PUBLIC HEALTH MEETING THIS WEEK

Investigation following discovery of smallpox cases in Hamden last week revealed the fact that there has been smallpox, not recognized as such, in the vicinity of the present cases and extending over into New Haven, for the past three months. At present the only known cases are at Hamden as those reported from New Haven have completely recovered.

That the outbreak did not become more extensive is attributed to the degree of immunity of the population from vaccination. The fact that cases of smallpox could occur without being recognized serves to emphasize the importance of further increasing immunity by still more general vaccination.

In addition to the usual conferences of the week the director of the bureau of child hygiene and Miss M. M. Tymon, R. N., of the bureau of public health nursing will speak August 24 at the New London County meeting of the Public Health Nursing association in Norwich.

The assets of the Norwich Building and Loan association now reach $112,846. This shows a steady gain and sturdy growth of the association.

Four new applications for loans were acted upon by the board of management.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE STRAND, THURS., FRI., SAT.

The complete list of B. F. Keith Vaudeville scheduled for the Strand theatre the last half of this week is as follows:

Morlen and Doran in a Musical Surprise; John Tobias, the funny monologist; Leon and Dawn, those rompling rollicking rascals in "Kids is Kids"; and Nora Jane and Carl in "Dancing De Luxe."

A picture of prison life given the most realistic and truest handling ever accorded the subject is promised by B. P. Schulberg, producer of Preferred Pictures, in "The Girl Who Came Back," opening Thursday at the Strand theatre. The story attains in its screen version a force it has never been able to reach even in the stage play that has been a favorite for many successive seasons.

Schulberg assigned its production to Director Tom Forman who it will be remembered, made Thomas Meighan's famous vehicle, "The City of Silent Men," a grim study of life "up the river." Prior to directing Meighan, Forman visited Sing Sing where he spent two weeks in prison garb among the convicts studying their psychology and mental reactions.

Cast, production and unusually beautiful photography are in keeping with the colorful story of thrills and heart throbs unfolded with their aid. Miriam Cooper, more beautiful than ever, Kenneth Harlan, and Gaston Glass—both recent acquisitions of the Schulberg organization—Joseph Dowling, Za Su Pitts, Ethel Shannon, and Fred Malatesta, make up the scintillating company of players used to interpret the story.

Breed Theatre

There have been thousands of methods of wedlock displayed in various motion pictures but local playgoers are promised a new sort when "Tillie" arrives at the Breed theatre today and Thursday.

The little Mennonite girl and her lover have just been reunited after a series of dramatic scenes involving stern members of the little Dutch Pennsylvania community. And then comes the unusual marriage scene to relieve the tension, and give a laugh right at the proper point.

But there was no laughing for the poor chap picked to be the mud caught Mennonite cider. For a whole day he stood to his waist in mud, and when it came time to haul him out, the mud had dried so that he had to be pried out with a two by four, at the expenditure of much skin and profanity!

The "mud-marriage" is said to be but one of the many interesting scenes which go to make up the strong photoplay which Allen Fyot has adapted from the Helen R. Martin novel and play by Frank Howe, Jr. The part of "Tillie" is said to be one of the most appealing in all Miss Minter's career. Frank Urson directed the picture which was supervised by Elmer Harris. Allen Davey had charge of the photography. The cast includes Noan Beery, Alan Forrest, Lucian Littlefield, Lillian Leighton, Ashley Cooper, Robert Anderson and Virginia Adair.

For the second feature Shirley Mason will be seen in "The New Teacher" and Movie Chats completes the bill.

Another big musical program Friday night by orchestra composed of twelve union musicians.

Improvement in the care and inspection of state highways during the winter months and a minimizing of the inconvenience caused to motorists by highway construction are outlined in a program for the highway department which Commissioner John A. Macdonald has drawn up and which is incorporated in the Connecticut Motor Vehicle register just published.

The register this year is larger and more complete than ever before and contains such features as the following: a terse summary of the main points of the motor vehicle law, an article on skidding, its causes and remedies, an article on proper signalling, a list of approved headlights with the methods of test and adjustment, the personnel of the motor vehicle department, a statement of the highway department, the complete motor vehicle law, graphic illustrations of the important rules of the road, a statement by Commissioner Robbins B. Stoeckel on the department's enforcement policy, a list of the state's licensed gasoline stations, and a list of all the motor vehicles in the state numerically arranged.

The register lists over 150,000 motor vehicles on over 1000 pages. It is more complete than ever before and has a number of new features. As the registration lists increase, supplements will be issued. Connecticut is one of the few states in the country to offer its motorists such a listing service.

"Some five years ago, I began to feel my advanced age bear heavily upon me. I tired quickly; lacked energy; spent restless nights; paid the penalty for every exposure to a draft; and had many a spell of mental depression. I made experiments with many so-called tonics but without result.

GOVERNORS INVITED TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR DISTRIBUTION OF COAL SUPPLIES

Chief Executives of the Principal Anthracite Consuming States Bidden to Meet in Conference at New York August 28—Will Deal With Emergency Measures in the Event of a Suspension of Work in the Anthracite Fields—An Important Subject to be Discussed Will be the Matter of Education of the Consumer in the Use of Other Fuels Than Anthracite.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Perfection of a system of distribution designed to insure an adequate supply of substitute fuel will be the first object of the government in case of stoppage of production in the anthracite fields.

The initial step to this end was taken today when F. H. Wadleigh, the federal fuel distributor, invited governors of anthracite-consuming states to send representatives to a meeting at New York August 28, to assist in formulating an emergency distribution system. The telegram, which went to the executives of the eleven states forming the New England and middle Atlantic tier to and including Maryland, was despatched after a conference between President Coolidge, acting Chairman Aitchison of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Mr. Wadleigh at the White House.

It was announced that the Interstate Commerce Commission and traffic departments of the principal eastern railroads would be represented at the New York meeting in order that any plan adopted might be worked out to the last detail.

A tentative plan for the institution of central distributing agencies in each state, with supervisory headquarters in Washington to assure priority of transportation, has been worked out by Mr. Wadleigh and will be laid before the conference.

Announcing the call to the governors, Mr. Wadleigh said:

"In order to discuss and formulate plans for the distribution of bituminous coal and coke for domestic use into the principal anthracite consuming states, in the event of a stoppage of work of the anthracite mines on September 1, the governors of the states interested will be requested to send representatives to attend a conference at New York city on August 28, 1923.

"It is hoped that every state will be represented, so that full discussion may be had and definite action taken in order to insure the distribution into the respective states of sufficient amounts of coal and coke, to the end that the public may suffer no inconvenience, owing to a lack of fuel for heating its homes, offices, etc.

"Representatives of the railways interested will probably be asked to attend the conference, and a representative of the Interstate Commerce commission will be present, as the whole matter of fuel distribution is largely one of adequate transportation.

"An important subject to be discussed will be the matter of education of the consumer in the use of fuels other than anthracite, as it is felt that a systematic plan of public instruction can be made of great service in the practical and efficient use of such fuels and will thereby reduce the actual cost of heating with resultant savings to the individual consumer and the community."

"Inclusion of the 'educational plank' in the conference platform is in line with the tentative policy understood to have been appointed by the administration as soon as the controversy between anthracite miners and operators become critical. This was to use every friendly means to secure mediation on the points at issue but but to bring to the attention of the disputants the danger of permanent injury to their basic markets growing out of any extended tieup of production.

A record surplus of crude oil supplies is believed by government officials to offer a substantial support to the reserve of substitute fuel available for use in an emergency. It was said officially that the commerce department had been informed that an unusual number of inquiries as to the adaptability of oil for economical heating of dwellings has been addressed to commercial firms distributing appliances for this purpose.

There were indications from various government branches today that the administration had no immediate intention of intervening in the situation existing between anthracite miners and operators. However, at the White House the coal commission and other bureaus directly interested in the national fuel supply the impression was given that hope of further negotiations had not been entirely dispelled. In the event neither side offers a compromise suggestion, the government was said to be determined to be ready to protect the public ends, both as to individuals and industry.

A survey of the situation, made by a government bureau with this policy in mind, was said to show a reserve of 50,000,000 to 55,000,000 tons of bituminous and 23,000,000 to 28,000,000 tons of anthracite on hand which could be rationed out through an emergency organization.

With normal consumption of hard coal averaging 2,000,000 tons a week, no fuel shortage was foreseen by government experts, even should a tieup of anthracite production continue until next spring. Recent increased production of soft coal grades was taken as an additional factor in support of the administration's assurance to the public.

WAITING FOR SOMETHING NOT LIKELY TO HAPPEN

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 22.—Officials of the miners' union and representatives of anthracite coal operators whose break-up of wage negotiations yesterday raised almost certain prospect of a stoppage of coal production September 1, kept fruitless vigil in separate Atlantic City hotels today. They were waiting, leaders said, without any idea of altering the positions which ended the joint conference, but as a matter of courtesy to the federal government, from some agency which there might possibly come a communication that would make conference desirable.

No direct message came either from the United States Coal Commission, at the instance of which the wage scale negotiations were renewed this week after a previous suspension, or from any other source.

John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers, said he had nothing to add to the announcement of yesterday that the union would "administer to the operators the trouncing of their carriers" in the mine stoppage he expects to see September 1. Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the Operators' Policy committee, remarked only that press comment and public reaction today all appeared to him to support the employers' attitude of refusing wage increases but offering arbitration of every disputed issue.

"We are standing on that," he added, "But there isn't any false pride on our part; we won't hesitate to ask the miners' spokesman to come back into another conference, and talk things over again, if anything should indicate therewas a possibility of changing the present situation."

Mr. Warriner remarked also that the general public was likely to suffer little by a stoppage of anthracite production this fall. There was a large supply of available substitutes for anthracite in the way of bituminous coal, coke, and oil, he said, and the consumer was in the "fortunate position of having to face nothing but inconvenience."

"There will be some real losses out of this controversy after September 1," he said, "but the miner and the operator will have to take them." Insure an adequate supply of sub-

TO ATTEMPT TO SETTLE STRIKE AT VERA CRUZ

Mexico City, Aug. 22.—Jose Luis Portillo, special representative of President Obregon, arrived today in Vera Cruz and will attempt to settle the strike which has isolated the city from the rest of the republic for the last few days. He immediately went into conference with the strike committee of the Workers League of the Vera Cruz maritime zone, whose conflict with the Federation of Railway Men's Societies has resulted in the suspension of all rail traffic into Vera Cruz.

The consequent numerous sympathetic strikes have left the city without transportation of any kind. Hotels and theatres have closed and stocks of perishable foodstuffs have been exhausted. Minor disorders frequently occur in the public markets when attempts are made to purchase food.

The clerks of all business houses threaten to walk out Thursday. This would completely paralyze all city activities.

TWO MEN KILLED WHEN PLANES CRASHED IN MID-AIR

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 22.—Captain George F. Hill, and Second Lieutenant Cornelius McFadden, both of the United States marine corps, were killed instantly today, and First Lieutenant M. A. Richal, also of the marine corps, probably fatally injured, when two Voight airplanes crashed in mid-air at an altitude of between 3,000 and 4,000 feet near the Pensacola naval air station.

McFadden, whose home address is Philadelphia, was pilot of one of the planes with Captain Hill as assistant pilot. Richal was flying alone in the second machine. The plans in which the two aviators were killed fell into the bay but Richal's machine dropped on land.

Hill was unmarried and his home address was Leominster, Mass. McFadden has a wife in Pensacola.

Naval physicians were not able to say as yet if Richal was injured internally.

FLORISTS INFORMED OF VALUE OF ADVERTISING

Hartford, Aug. 22.—Major P. J. O'Keefe, of Boston, originator of the slogan, "say it with flowers," warned the delegates to the convention of the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists here this afternoon that if the florists of America continue to allow their national advertising to decrease their slogan would fall into discard and that other industries would adopt it.

"Everybody is amazed," he said, "at thenuccess of our slogan. It is your slogan. You've got it, so why not hold onto it?" Major O'Keefe recommended that the delegates lay aside a certain proportion of their gross business for advertising and expressed the hope that future conventions would designate a whole day for the consideration of publicity.

Express Mail Planes Arrive at Terminals

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—(By The A. P.)—San Francisco moved nearly four days travel nearer to New York today through the success of the air mail service's first test of night flying westbound. Pilot Clair K. Vance brought more than 400 pounds of mail from eastern points to Crissley Field here tonight at 6.24 o'clock, 34 hours and 23 minutes after the first batch of it had left Hempstead Field, Long Island, yesterday morning.

This mail was delivered tonight so that within an hour official messengers from Mayor Hylan of New York to Mayor Rolph of an Francisco, or from eastern mail officials to those in charge of the service's affairs in the west, were being read.

The last rays of the setting sun, sweeping up through the Golden Gate toward the Berkeley Hills across San Francisco Bay gilded Vance's onrushing plane as it came out of the evening haze. Vance came on rapidly and settled down to the field, against the wind, without circling. He made a quick and graceful landing, his plane touching the ground less than a minute after the roar of the motor was heard.

The propeller of his plane had not stopped when a mail truck was backed up to the plane and men threw the pouches of mail from the cockpit to the truck, which sped away to the post office.

Half a dozen special messengers with motorcycles popping, stood by for special delivery letters and presently dashed away to make deliveries.

Vance a veteran mail pilot said there had been no unusual incidents in connection with his flight.

A. C. Nelson, superintendent of the western division of the air mail service, and Colonel W. E. Gilmore, of the air service of the Ninth Corps Area of the army, extended official greetings to Vance.

"I'm proud of our fellows," said Nelson. "Fogs such as delayed this west-bound mail four hours today in Wyoming would be an infrequent occurrence in our service. Today's accomplishment establishes that air mail service is a success."

The first package to come from the plane today was that which started from New York. In it was a motion picture news reel showing the preliminaries of the start west. It was added to the New York package at Hempstead Field.

HEROIC ACT OF 14-YEAR OLD GIRL SWIMMER

Northport, N. Y. Aug. 22.—The story of a mile swim through the chilly waters of Long Island sound last night by 14-year-old Margaret Candela, of Brooklyn, in order to obtain aid for her brother and three others who were adrift in a row boat, was told today after they had been picked up off port Jefferson.

The girl and her companions lost an oar when a mile from shore. They were clad in bathing suits and Miss Candela plunged overboard to recover the oar. The boat drifted away before the stiff wind and when she saw she could not reach it with the oar, she calmly set out for shore, guided by the twinkling lights of Northport.

Using a slow stroke, the girl fought the dangerous currents successfully and finally dragged herself ashore, exhausted. She was able to tell her story and in a short time many boats were searching the sound for the boat. It was found by fishermen who had joined the search. The frightened occupants had taken turns in paddling with the single oar during the night and were weak from the effort.

Mr. Ford and Mr. Firestone were said to have gone for a hike through the woods this afternoon. One of the erroneous reports said Mr. Edison had died of apoplexy.

Rum the "Treasure Trove" of Pirates

Yarmouth, N. S., Aug. 22.—When darkness lifted from the waters of this port today there could be seen riding at anchor off Yarmouth light the doughty little schooner J. Scott Hankenson upon whose decks armed borderers stood last Monday and who scudded into her home port after sending her wounded skipper and cook ashore on a Gloucester fisherman, victims of an attack by rum pirates off Rockport, Mass.

A band of newspapermen chartered a tug and steamed down the harbor to learn the story of the attack. They got the story; it was whipped to them by a wind which caught the words the Hankenson's mate roared over her rail. A stiff wind and angry sear forced the tug's commander to keep his distance.

And this, briefly, was the tale:

The Hankenson had cleared three weeks ago with a cargo of Scotch. "Nassau" read her clearance papers, but she got no further south than Massachusetts.

Last Monday a motorboat came alongside. Two men stepped aboard and descended into the schooner's cabin with her skipper, Arthur Moore. The cook, Harry Harm, at the time was in the cabin.

Suddenly Frank Moore, first mate, and his crew of three heard shots coming from the cabin where their captain called for help. They started toward him but seven armed men, hidden aboard the visiting craft, sprang to the schooner's decks and drove them down into the forcastle.

Then the pirates departed with the captain's money—how much the mate did not know. The Hankenson's crew found their wounded in a serious condition and, raising distress signals, flagged a passing fisherman which took captain and cook ashore.

OBREGON BELIEVES MEXICO WILL ADOPT PROHIBITION

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 22.—President Obregon of Mexico shares the belief of Bishop Wilbur P. Thirkfield of the Methodist Episcopal church that within a few years the country below the Rio Grande will adopt prohibition.

In an address tonight before the conference on international relations from a Christian viewpoint, the bishop quoted a letter from President Obrgon to him, which said:

"I believe frankly that your prestige as a prophet is not being compromised too much when you state that our tendency is toward prohibition and that at an early date Mexico will enter into that estate."

"The Minister of Education recently placed 3,000 text books on temperance in the hands of the teachers in the public schools," the bishop said. "In all deeds to land under the new Agrarian laws the raising of the Maguey plant, out of which intoxicating pulque is made, is prohibited. I confidently expect that within the next ten years Mexico will be dry."

STATESMEN AND PRESS OF FRANCE SUPPORT POINCARE

All Approve the Premier's Reply to Marquis Curzon's Reparations Note—Particularly the Part of the Note in Which Poincare Asks Curzon Whether France Should be Treated More Severely Than Great Britain Wanted to Treat Germany, Their Former Common Enemy.

Paris, Aug. 22 (By the A. P.)—Premier Poincare's reply to Marquis Curzon's reparation note apparently suits the French press and strikes a popular chord in public opinion. Few members of parliament are now in Paris, most of them being occupied in meetings of the general councils of the various departments, but those who were in the lobbies of the chamber this afternoon united in approving the premier's stand.

The part of the note that appealed most to the political leaders was that in which M. Poincare asked Lord Curzon whether France should be treated by her allies more severely than Great Britain wanted to treat Germany, their former common enemy.

Great stress was also laid on the assertion that if the British theory prevailed the Germans would emerge from the calamity of their own making with no interibr debt and a foreign debt of only 50,000,000,000 marks, with an annual interest charge much less than that France is obliged to bear. At the same time, it was declared, Germany had profited from the stoppage of work in the Ruhr by putting her industries in such shape that, when a settlement was finally reached, she would be able to compete more sharply than ever with those countries which suffered damage at her hands.

Comment in official quarters indicates plainly that Premier Poincare antipipates continuation of the discussion with the British cabinet, while American participation in any international expert conference to fix Germany's capacity to pay is regarded as altogether unlikely.

FRANCE REJECTS BRITISH PROPOSALS FOR REPARATIONS

Paris, Aug. 22.—The French government's reply to the recent British reparations note asserts that France refuses to withdraw from the Ruhr except as she is paid and that she rejects a plan for an international reestimate of Germany' capacity to pay. The reply, made public at the foreign office today maintains that the French operation in the Ruhr is absolutely legal. It offers to consider the fastest method of exacting payment from Germany when resistance has ceased, and expresses a willingness to continue the recent discussions with Great Britain.

The French position remains unchanged, according to the official summary issued in English at the foreign office prior to publication of the complete text. Premier Poincare in the reply stresses the priority of reparations over other war costs as represented by the inter-Allied debts.

GERMANY TO CONFISCATE ALL FOREIGN CURRENCIES

Berlin, Aug. 22 (By the A. P.)—The compulsory requisitioning or confiscation of foreign currencies wherever found is provided for in the government's programme of emergency measures which becomes effective immediately. Announcement of the drastic procedure was made in the course of a conference between Chancellor Stresemann, Finance Minister Hilferding and Minister of Economics Raumer, representing the government, and a delegation from the League of Industrialists.

The government previously had apprised the representatives of Berlin's banks of its determination to gather in all gold currencies by force wherever they were not surrendered voluntarily. The chancellor frankly informed the leaders of finance and big business that the government would not countenance the slightest attempt to evade the provisions of the forthcoming emergency ordinance and would deal with all slackers in the most drastic manner.

It is not proposed to be content with a formal appeal to patriotism; all foreign moneys will be gathered in without much formality, the owners being reimbursed with paper marks. The funds thus obtained will be devoted in part to an effort to regulate the internal financial chaos which is causing unwarranted advances in prices of food commodities, and also to establish a steady reserve from which food purchases abroad may be made. The government's money draft ordinance will be published publicly throughout Germany Friday.

BELGIAN NOTE TO BRITAIN SATURDAY OR SUNDAY

Brussels, Aug. 22.—(By the A. P.)—The Belgian government's reply to the British government's reparations note will not be sent to London before Saturday or Sunday. A cabinet meeting this afternoon approved the main lines of the note.

It is understood that the communication will strictly maintain Belgium's viewpoint on the question of priority in payments.

LOST HIS OWN LIFE SAVING LIVES OF SIX

New York, Aug. 22.—John Gilmartin, who by dint of hard labor and study worked his way up from a New York city policeman to assistant state's attorney of Illinois, only to be broken and dragged down again by ill health, was killed today in saving the lives of a gang of six railroad track laborers.

The former state's attorney had a job standing on a curb of the New York Central railroad, a whistle in hand, to warn track workers of approaching trains. A dozen men were working in a cut at Genevieur place when an express train was seen approaching by Gilmartin as it speeded around a bend. He blew his whistle and the men stepped over onto the express track, thinking the train was a local. Gilmartin, seeing their mistake, dashed toward them shouting a warning. As they jumped back to the other track, the engine struck him, killing him instantly.

Fifteen years ago Gilmartin gave up his job on the police force here and started to study law, attending Kent's college. He went to Chicago, was admitted to the bar and made a name for himself in private practice. Then he went into politics and became assistant state's attorney, holding that position for several years.

However, the hard price of study and work that he had kept for years finally told on him, and he was forced to give it up. On doctor's orders he travelled for a time. Then his money gave out, and his private practice being gone, he took the railroad job, his health still broken, in order to support his wife, Florence, with whom he lived here in a a two-room apartment.

When Andrews was released, Miss Tatnall was waiting for him at the prison gates and they departed together. Reports of their marriage on Monday were confirmed by Recorder McCarthy, of Bogota, who performed the ceremony.

INITIAL FLIGHT OF THE WORLD'S LARGEST AIRPLANE

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 22.—The Barling Bomber, world's largest airplane, took off from Wilbur Wright field at about 6.20 o'clock after several minutes preliminary tuning of the six liberty motors by mechanics. The big plane rose easily from the ground after a comparatively short run and in a few minutes was about 3,000 feet in the air. Aerial experts who are witnessing the flight say the ship appears to answer perfectly to the controls and the motors seem to be functioning smoothly.

The Bomber, following a 25-mile swing through the air, made a perfect landing at 6.45 o'clock this evening. The big ship took off on its epoch-making flight at 5.18.

Walter Henry Barling, designer of the huge craft, was one of the crew of four men who manned the ship on its maiden flight. Lieutenant Harold R. Harris and M. S. Fairchild, of McCook field, piloted the bomber. Douglas Culver, McCook field mechanic, was in charge of the engines.

New York, Aug. 22.—General Henry Joseph Gouraud, of France, "the lion of the Argonne," who has been touring the country for five weeks as the guest of the Rainbow division, sailed for home today on the France.

"I am sorry to leave America," he said. It fills me with sadness. That sadness is relieved, however, by the knowledge that I have gained of the kind feeling America has shown me personally and to France. I found the soldiers, who served under me five years ago, the same splendid men as then."

A group of officers of the Rainbow division bade him farewell and a band played the French and American national anthems. The general was presented with four volumes of clippings of his American trip, by the Rainbow division. He was astonished at the great number of words that had been written about him.

When asked about the situation in the Ruhr, the general denied that France had any intention of remaining permanently there.

ELECTRICAL STORM WITH 52-MILE GALE IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 22.—An electrical storm accompanied by a 52-mile gale brought to New York the coldest August weather today it has ever experienced in nearly fifty years.

The fall of 25 degrees from 78 yesterday afternoon to 53 this morning was made up this afternoon by a slow climb to 70. The cold wave, however, will continue, according to the local forecaster.

It was announced last Saturday that Superintendent fo State Police Robert Hurley would detail officers to patrol the shores of Lake Wangumbaug at South Coventry to prevent bathing, in conformity with signs posted there by the state board of health in the interest of the South Coventry Water Supply company. It was thought by many that the matter had either been dismissed by the state department or that some other method would be taken in its proceedings against the defiant cottagers at the lake, but Tuesday forenoon, Russell I Harmon of the Stafford Spring barracks put in an appearance. It was reported that the officer had made the circuit of the lake on foot stating that he had intended to patrol the lake in a motor launch but was prevented from doing so on account of engine trouble. The remainder of Tuesday was spent in attempting to get the launch started, but to no avail, and in the meantime several bathers enjoyed themselves at various points of the lake.

Gates and the common council Wednesday. Willimantic Camp Grounds

Willimantic, Aug. 22.—Zacchaeus—A Message of Promptness, was the subject of William B. Oliver's theme at the morning watch Wednesday in the tabernacle.

Dr. Earl Kernahan's subject in his Stewardship class was The World's Best Challenge, which he claimed was the idealism of Jesus. This is the sure cure for religious apathy, and a sure guard against the material conception of life.

Rev. John L. Davis in his Christian Citizenship period emphasized the need of citizens knowing both sides of every civic question. In an intelligent democracy lies the safety of the government. Autocrats in church or state want to keep the people ignorant.

W. B. Oliver continued his instructive talks on the epistle of the Hebrews. Mr. Oliver is a representative of the New Testament Pocket league, a layman in evangelistic work as D. L. Moody was, and S. D. Gordon is. In the third chapter of Hebrews Jesus is shown to be superior to Moses. This chapter warns against unbelief, and emphasizes a present day faith. Rest is promised. This chapter also says Jesus was better than Aaron, Israel's great high priest.

At 11.15 in the tabernacle Dr. Bovord during the Sunday school period spoke on What is Meant by Religious Education? During the same hour Rev. F. W. Gray in his discussion on Epworth league methods talked about Character Building. His wideawake talks are much enjoyed by the large class that fills Epworth chapel every day. He emphasized that Epworth league success depends upon two slogans, "We can do it if we will," "We can do it and we will." He insisted upon methodical preparation of hymns and subjects, deprecating the "scrap" method of clippings being passed around. He urged that each person prepare beforehand to speak briefly on the topic.

The Wednesday afternoon service was held in the tabernacle. Rev. A. Stanley Muirhead of Willimantic was the speaker. The text was We Are Laborers Together With God. The business of God's kingdom is the largest in the world. It has the biggest capitalization of any, for it includes resources of both earth and heaven. God is the capitalist. The product is vast. The interest is large, and there is no waste. Prayer, faith, kindness and vision are essential tools with which God's co-laborers must build His kingdom.

In the field below the campground a baseball game was played between nines made up of married men against single men yesterday following the afternoon service. The married men won 7 to 4. It was an exciting game for amateurs.

Dr. William S. Bovard of the Methodist Sunday school board was the speaker Tuesday evening. After the hymn service, Rev. A. W. Muirhead of Willimantic prayed. He emphasized the fact that men must get waked up to use all their talents for God and humanity. Another necessity is magnanimous generosity if we would succeed in our life work. Dr. Bovord concluded with prayer, and the benediction was pronounced by District Superintendent Bath.

Immediately after the Tuesday evening meeting some two hundred or more gathered in the field south of the grounds, where for a number of seasons a campfire has been held over which frankfurts are roasted at the ends of long branches. After the lunch of hot dogs, rolls and coffee there were songs by Misses Constance and Frances Hill of Noank and readings by Miss Arline Connery of Middletown and Miss Marguerite Nickerson.

A tiny playlet entitled Gathering Nuts was participated in by Frank Gray, Earl Kernahan, Joseph Cooper and Lenore Ellwood, with W. B. Oliver as director. He also directed Puss in Boots, aided by N. B. Burton and J. L. Davis. After hymns had been sung, Rev. John Davis spoke briefly in a serious vein. Closing prayer and testimonies followed.

Dissolve—use enough—soak

These are the simple directions

Just pour Rinso into a saucepan and add boiling water. It dissolves instantly and makes a good thick soapy solution.

Pour this Rinso solution into your tub half full of lukewarm water and whip up the suds. After you have put your clothes into the tub, the suds should stand up. If they do not you have not used enough Rinso.

Soak your clothes in these lasting suds for an hour or two—overnight, if you wish. This soaking takes the place of rubbing. It loosens the dirt so that it rinses right out. Only neck bands, cuff edges and seats and knees of children's play clothes will need a light rubbing with a little dry Rinso.

Get Rinso today—all grocery and department stores have it in the regular size and the big new package. Lever Bros. Co., 164 Broadway, Cambridge, Mass.

TAFTVILLE A. A. AND NUGGETS CLASH IN FIRST GAME OF SERIES TODAY

This afternoon at the Providence street grounds in Taftville the first game of the recently arranged series between the Taftville A. A. and the Nuggets will take place. The second game will be played Saturday afternoon. The game this afternoon will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

Taftville will use the regular lineup against the Nuggets with the exception of the battery, Morin and Belair being saved for Saturday's game. This afternoon "Shorty" Peltier, a coming young hurler, will be given a tryout and Manager Troland feels that this youngster can hold the Norwich team. Jim Murphy will do the catching. Cardie will play first and the invincible Jack Murphy will be at the second with Chip Dugas, the doughty little veteran, to take care of the third base section. The remainder of the team has not yet been selected but Troland says that some of his best men will be in the outer gardens.

The Nuggets have long waited for this change to engage with a team of repute and feel certain that they will take the series. Manager Georgie Madden is depending on Big Ed Harris to hold the Taftville team in hand. Harris, who is a former New England leaguer, has lost none of his cunning in the box and will be able to baffle the slugging athletes from the little mill village. Manchester or Murphy will do the catching, according to Manager Madden, who will take care of first. Harold Hull will be on second, with Berry and Ken Fox taking care of the shortfield and third. In the outfield will be Conly Standish and Burke.

The Nuggets will be even stronger for the Saturday game and if Manager Madden's judgment is reliable it looks as though the Nuggets would take both games, although there is never anything certain in a ball game. Manager Troland on the other hand is equally certain of taking both games and says that if his team comes out the small end of the horn he is through with baseball forever.

It looks as though Taftville would be without a manager after the series for the Nuggets are a dog-gone fighting bunch of ball players.

WORST SPILL IN HISTORY OF GRAND CIRCUIT

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 22.—(By the A. P.)—The Senator, owned by T. D. Taggart, French Lick, Ind., and driven by A. McDonald, won the championship stallion stake No. 14 for three-year-old trotters, value $9,500, from one of the best fields of colts that ever started in this event. The race was the feature of today's Grand Circuit program, which was marred by a bad spill in the 2.06 pace, in which five horses and their drivers went down.

Fred Edman, of Memphis, driving Jay Brook, was the most seriously injured. He sustained a broken collarbone, fractured ribs and wrist. Vic Fleming, the Canadian reinsman, driving Jane R., suffered a sprained right arm and torn ligaments, while George McKay, of Milwaukee, driving Quinla, was badly shaken up.

The accident, which was one of the worst ever seen on a Grand Circuit track, according to horsemen, occurred as the horses rounded the turn into the stretch in the first heat. Jane R. stumbled and fell and Quinla fell over her. McKay being thrown over the fence into the soft earth.

Edman could not pull Jay Brook out in time and was thrown to the ground. The rest of the field went on but as Lillian S. and Peter Oliver tried to turn out of the wreckage, the sulkies came together and Martin Thornton, driving Lillian S., and [illegible], driving Peter Oliver, went down but were able to drive in the following heats, having escaped injury.

Thompson Dillon, the favorite in the championship stallion stake, won the first heat in one of the prettiest finishes ever witnessed here. After leading the entire distance he managed to hold out just long enough to win. Hollywood Leonard, winner of the Matron stake at Toledo last week, finding the brush to the wire too severe and went into a break just before the wire was reached. The first four horses finished noses apart.

In the second and third heats The Senator had no trouble in winning after keeping away from the pacemakers.

Thompson Dillon won second money in the event and Hollywood Leonard third. The time for the three miles was very slow.

The Forest City purse of $3,000 for 2.08 class pacers, unfinished from yesterday, went to Hal Bee.

UNIQUE GOLF DISPLAY IN MARA'S WINDOW

Two of Norwich's most ardent devotees of that royal and ancient game of golf, Jimmy Mara and Chappie McKay, have arranged a unique golf display in the window of Mr. Mara's store on Franklin square. The display is a miniature reproduction of the seventh tee and seventh hole on the golf course at the Norwich Golf club which is a hole that has caused many a beginner to heave his clubs far and wide and swear a solemn oath never to engage in the game again.

There can be seen the seventh tee perched high on the brow of a hill with the treacherous brook at the foot of the hill and in the distance is the elusive seventh hole. The approach to the green is filled with hazards and rough which have been the undoing of many a good golfer. To make it more realistic there are four players on the course, Joe Kirkwood and Walter Hagen are on the green, while Gene Sarazen is about to tee off. Down in the rough is a local player, Jim Hassan, construction superintendent in charge of the new Palace theatre work. How Jim worked his way into such a high grade foursome is a mystery, but he is there gazing ruefully at the offending golf ball undecided whether to use a mashie or niblick or just kick the ball out onto the fairway with his foot. Across the brook there is evidence in the form of a broken club that Jim has had previous difficulties in negotiating the water hazard.

The display is one that has caused no little admiration for the artistic ability of Mr. Mara and Mr. McKay.

NO HARD FEELINGS, SAYS TRAINER JIMMY DE FORREST

New York, Aug. 22.—Jimmy De Forrest, Louis Angel Firpo's ex-trainer, when told tonight of Felix Bunge's statement in Buenos Aires that an unsportsmanlike champion had been waged against Firpo because De Forrest had been released, said there was not the slightest hard feeling between the Argentine fighter and himself.

"I should like to spike any rumors," he said, "that there has been any friction between Firpo, his advisors and myself. I trained Firpo for his other bouts in America, but I was not under contract with him indefinitely.

"My job was finished when Firpo knocked out Willard, and I have not communicated with the South American fighter since I left him after that fight. Firpo certainly has a right to select his own trainer. I have never sought the job. My business is to train men, and if they want my services they come and ask for them. If the terms are satisfactory we make an agreement, but I never feel badly about it either way.

"Every man has a right to select his trainer, just as much as he has the right to select his own automobile. Firpo is no exception."

FIRPO STARTS HIS TRAINING FOR DEMPSEY

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 22.—(By the A. P.)—Luis Angel Firpo arrived in this city today and opened a training campaign which he believed will end in the world's heavyweight boxing title going south of the Equator.

Under the direction of Horatio Lavalle, who came from Buenos Aires to point the South American champion for his title fight with Jack Dempsey at the Polo Grounds, Firpo worked until night fell, then ambled via the boardwalk to his hotel for dinner and early to bed.

Luis Angel tried out the punching bags and the weights that were rigged up for him in Atlantic Park and proved that they weren't rigged exactly to his liking. He pulled the weights off the wall. The punching bag was blown too tight and he burst it with one of his terrific rights.

Then he boxed four rounds, two with Frank Koebele, the Brooklyn light heavyweight, and another two with Natalio Pera, the Argentine adonis. Senor Pera has a wealth of curly hair, wears pearl greay spats and carries a cane, as well as a wallop. He is a heavyweight.

Lavalle declared he was overjoyed with Firpo's showing.

Firpo ate a hearty dinner and was in bed at eight o'clock. He will be up at six tomorrow morning for his road work; then will rest until the afternoon and the training grind at the park. He expressed the desire today for more sparring partners and was told that they would be employed. Lavalle wired to New York for a few of pugilists desiring strenuous work for three weeks and will let Firpo select his own play-fellows.

Chasley Schoenman, under Lavalle's direction, is caring for Firpo's muscle conditioning. Carlos Vega, formerly of Buenos Aires is acting as interpreter and Myer Saul, a local hotel man, is managing local business affairs for the party.

The whole outfit probably will move into a cottage on the outskirts of the city Friday, as Firpo wants to be away from the crowds of vacation folk while he is working.

DEMPSEY TAKES ON TWO LIGHT BOYS FOR SPEED

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 22.—(By the A. P.)—A chilling wind, carrying the breath of Autumn, swept off Saratoga Lake today, forcing Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion to work under restraint in preparation for his match with Luis Angel Forp at the Polo Grounds, September 14. Dempsey confined his training to six light rounds with a pair of 130 pounds, in addition to two rounds of bag punching and three minutes of shadow boxing.

Jack Bernstein, of New York, junior lightweight champion, and Billy Defoe, also of New York, bobbed around the ring for three rounds each, while Dempsey, ducking and weaving in and out kept his punches in restrain. He made no effort to land except shooting over an occasional left hook or a short right.

Wells, the elusive Briton, returned to New York and may sail for England because of the serious illness of his youngest child. Wells is anxious to see his family after an absence of 18 months. The Briton, who proved to be one of Dempsey's best sparring partners while the champion was preparing for Tommy Gibbons, was suffering from an injured left hand and probably would have been unable to engage in a workout for at least two weeks.

SENOR BUNGE PEEVED AT AMERICAN SPORT CRITICS

Buenos Aires, Aug. 22.—(By the A. P.)—Felix Bunge, adviser and patron of Luis Firpo, issued a statement today protesting against what he described as "the unjust and unsportsmanlike campaign waged by some of the New York sport critics against Firpo because he had released his American trainer on the eve of his fight with Jack Dempsey.

"The fact that Firpo has dispensed with the services of Jimmy De Forrest in no manner signifies anything detrimental to him or to the North Americans in general," said Senor Bunge, "because if he discarded him it was solely because of the difficulty of understanding the language. On the other hand, all that Lavalle transmits to Firpo we have learned from Dempsey himself. Thus we are going to fight the North Americans with their own weapons, which are undoubtedly the best."

VILLA KNOCKS OUT FELDMAN IN THIRD

New York, Aug. 22.—Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, knocked out Jackie Feldman, of New York, in the third round, of a ten-round match at the Velodrome tonight. The weights were Villa 109 1-2, Feldman 117.

Feldman substituted for Charley Rosenbe[illegible], who was ill.

In the semi-final bout Harry Kid Brown of Philadelphia won from Archie Walker of Brooklyn. The referee disqualified Walker in the seventh round for continued holding. Both are lightweights.

In the 11th Bridgeport scored when Gallagher booted Fisher's grounder with the bases full and two out. New Haven got their first two men on in their half of the 11th. Score by innings:

ANDERSON AND HAWKES PLAY BRIGHT TENNIS AGAINST PACIFIC TEAM

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 22 (By the A. P.)—The Australian Davis cup team of James O. Anderson and John B. Hawkes, gave followers of tennis an exhibition of championship doubles play today in defeating the much vaunted Pacific Coast combination of William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin in a third round match of the national doubles tournament. The galleries at the Longwood Cricket club at Chestnut Hill saw the team which many expected would represent America in the challenge round against Australia next month go down to defeat by the score of 6-4, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2.

The match in which the other Australian team, composed of the spares of Davis cup challengers, Ian D. McInnis, and W. E. Schlesinger, fought valiantly to advance to the fourth round, but after winning two sets faltered and then fell before the cunning and skill of Manuel Alonso, of Spain and his new partner, Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia. The scores were 4-6, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5 7-5.

William T. Tilden, 2nd, and his new doubles mate, Brian I. C. Norton, of South Africa, found the Harvard-Yale combination of W. W. Ingraham and Arnold W. Jones, who yesterday eliminated the Davis cup team of France, to be away off form, and walked through them in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2. The former Davis cup team of R. N. Williams 2nd, Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Watson Washburn, New York, had little difficulty in eliminating George P. Gardner, Jr., and Harry C. Johnson, Boston, 6-0, 6-3, 6-3.

Tomorrow the Australians will meet the Williams-Washburn team while Alonso and Johnsson will play Tilden and Norton on Friday for the right to enter the finals.

The elimination of Johnston and Griffin came as a surprise to many as they were favored to win their fourth national title. "Little Bill," however, apparently was too keen and a number of errors from his racquet bespoke the fact that he was trying too hard. On the other hand, the crisp volleying of Griffin which has carried him to victory in many a match, seemed lacking and Johnston was forced to bear too much of the burden.

The real star of the match was the left-handed Hawkes, who played a marvelous game, both for steadiness and brilliance. Anderson, the tall and lanky leader of Australia's tennis forces, faltered time and again and in the second set, which the Californians won, he did what he very rarely does—lost a service at love. But his game, too, sparkled in the pinches. At every opportunity he ran around balls to take them on his forehand, which was deadly accurate.

The colt combination of McInnis and Chlesinger supplied the surprise of the day and incidentally provided Alonso and Johnson with much sterner opposition than they have met in their conquests of Robert and Howard D. Kinsey, of California, and of Vincent Richards and Dean Mathey yesterday.

TROUNCING THE OPERATORS.

With a considerable flourish and what is intended to be regarded as a threat President Lewis of the mine workers declares "The mine workers are prepared to enter an industrial contest September first and to administer to the operators the most complete trouncing of their career."

That of course expreases confidence in the ability of the mine workers to do what he promises. It indicates also that preparations to such an end have been in progress for some time, if the matter of preparation means anything, and it probably discloses why the mine workers have persistently refused to agree to continue at work after August 31 while adjustments of the dispute between the operators and miners were being made.

But while President Lewis is promising such dire things to the coal operators it is difficult for the coal consumers to see why they should be made the goat. When the miners undertake to give the operators the greatest trouncing of their career it means, if it means anything, that it is the coal consuming public that is going to get the worst of it. Whatever the trouncing may do to the operators, it will do even worse to the public. They are not only being told that they must face a shortage of coal during the coming winter because demands which are not justified are refused, but they are of course brought face to face with the fact that fuel prices, whether they get their usual fuel or substitutes, are likely to rise.

Looked at in its true light the trouncing is bound to hurt the coal consumers more than anyone else. They must bear the hardships that will accompany it and they must stand the effects of it while it is on and afterward. There's nothing in the Lewis declaration that can please the public regardless of what the feeling may be toward the operators.

RESTRICTING BILLBOARDS.

It might be expected that sentiment in Boston would be divided over the plan that has been proposed for restricting the billboards. Those who are interested in the billboards, either through ownership or through the emoluments that come therefrom, can be expected to oppose what seems to interfers with their business. On the other hand those who deplore the disfiguring effects of such boards are not few. They have been maintaining a persistent opposition to their existence and they are bound to give their support to additional restrictions which are considered to be required.

According to the proposed regulations no signs shall exceed 12 feet in height or 25 feet in length, none shall be erected within 300 feet of a park, parkway, playground or reservation, none shall be established within 100 feet of another signboard, except they are built back to back and no such signboard can be erected in a residential section without the consent of the majority of the residents within 100 feet of the proposed location on that street. It is likewise provided that no billboard can be erected across the street in front of a residence without the permission of such an owner.

These provisions have been made because of practices that have prevailed in the past and the protests that developed as the result. Billboards have come very close to being classed as a nuisance in many instances to say nothing of the way in which they lower the value of adjoining property and make most unattractive what would otherwise be pretty landscape views.

Billboards have been erected without regard for size or the actual effect upon others and it is such a utilization of property without regard for others that has developed a widespread opposition. And Boston isn't the only place that has suffered from them or that has recognized the need of restrictive action.

BLOCKING THE KIDNAPPERS.

New York is much worked up over the kidnapping of a baby, young and in poor health. It is one of those distressing affairs that arouses indignation and a desire on the part of all to lend a helping hand in the recovery of the child as well as the punishment of the guilty party.

It is certainly getting to be an alarming situation when a mother cannot go to a store and leave her infant in a carriage outside the door for a few minutes without having it stolen. Yet all things are possible in New York and this is not the first time that such a kidnapping has taken place.

Stealing a baby cannot be condoned. It is a deliberate act that has every indication of being premeditated, whether the object was the particular child taken, or anyone that could be successfully carried off.

Parking a baby in its carriage in front of a store, whether it happens to be on the level or on a hillside, has its dangers. The helpless child, barring such cries as it may make is at the mercy of all sorts of things. Few would intentionally harm them but there is the brake that fails to hold, the eager and thoughtless crowd, those who cannot pass a baby without getting personally acquainted and a common run of street accidents that may never get sufficient consideration.

The New York kidnapping should serve as a warning to many mothers who have been in the habit of leaving their children outside stores as was done by Mrs. McKensie. Just how they will manage is uncertain. It is not always the easiest thing to have children cared for, and that is what prompts many to take them when they go on necessary shopping trips.

There is good reason for making an example of the kidnapper that will discourage such a practice if he can only be located, but in the meantime the wisdom of having police guards established over parking places for babies, nurses put in charge of such departments in big stores or stores built to accommodate the carriages will get attention. The kidnapper must be opposed from all angles.

TROLLEY FARES.

It was only a few weeks ago that the claim was made by the mayor of Detroit that the street railway of that city, municipally owned, had made a million dollar profit its first year. It was a statement based entirely upon one method of keeping books. Had there been due allowance for depreciation and had there been full compliance with the laws regarding pavements and other construction that alleged profit would have vanished into thin air.

Those facts were fully established by investigations made at the time, but if further proof was needed to show that Detroit was not making money so rapidly out of its electric railway venture it is furnished by the announcement by the assistant superintendent of the railway lines to the effect that commencing next month there is to be an increase in the fare rate. Instead of the five-cent fare the rate will be six cents henceforth with tickets sold at nine for 50 cents. Transfers will cost one cent additional.

If, as a matter of fact, Detroit had made a million dollars the first year on its street railway it would have no ground whatever for boosting the fares to its owners.

Detroit is of course in the same situation that Seattle was. It has insisted upon proof through its own experiments but it has come to the same conclusion that trolley roads have elsewhere, and that is that a five-cent fare is impossible. Seattle within the year was obliged to raise its rate to a higher figure than Detroit has. They have found it necessary to get a larger revenue in order to meet expenses and instead of making a gradual reduction such as was warranted by the conditions of business they undertook to cut fares to the prewar basis and are now forced to admit that it cannot be done successfully and go through the unpleasant experience of putting them up again. Trolley lines, whether privately or municipally operated, haven't found a way as yet to overcome the higher costs of operation that came with the war and affected all lines of industry.

FLYING ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

Tests of a character to determine the efficiency of the air service for the purpose of service and defense are being made in the coast to coast flight of mail planes and the despatching of a fleet of fliers, including bombing machines, to Maine. Crossing the country in one or several hops has been shown to be possible and now the speeding up of the mail service by the aid of the airplane is underway. Happily improvements have been such that there have not been the fatalities that were involved in the earlier transcontinental mail service trips.

With the sending of the fleet of fliers to Maine it is made clear how much more effective national defense is today than it ever was before. It means that there is no section of the country that is not within a comparatively short distance of the government's forces because of the flying machine. We are able to defend ourselves against the enemy that might resort to air attacks. We have the machines of power, speed and endurance to meet the requirements.

It is another bit of evidence showing what strides are being made in connection with the navigation of the air. Where it will stop no one is willing to risk a prediction. There are new accomplishments almost every day.

NEIGHBORLY INTEREST

"Good morning!" said the woman who had not lived in the building very long. She was speaking to the neighbor who was trying to be friendly. "How glad I am to see you. I have been housed with a cold until I feel like a complete back number. It's darling of you to run in informally in this way. I just told my husband at breakfast that I wished the people in this apartment were more sociable and friendly. It seems inhuman to know so little about one's nearest neighbors, doesn't it?

"Now there's that young Mrs. Tossey right across the court. I don't know a thing about her and when I asked Miss Mims, who has the tiny apartment next to hers, where Mr. Tossey was she said she didn't know if there was a Mr. Tossey. Of course she must have a husband somewhere, though he is never in evidence, but no widow would wear the bright colors she does. I wonder if you have seen her new spring hat. It's the most vivid red imginable.

"Yes, of course, perhaps that is her own business. Just the same, though, I think a young woman living alone the way she does should be most discreet.

"Well, yes, of course everybody doesn't talk, but there are always some who will do it if there's the least excuse, and I think myself that Mrs. Tossey ought to be more careful. For instance, why doesn't she cook all her own meals instead of going down into the cafe for dinner every night? I can't help feeling that she does it just to attract attention, but it won't do her any good for there's an awfully stupid lot of men go to the cafe. I don't believe they notice her at all.

"Well, perhaps she doesn't wish them to, but I think it would be more dignified for her to eat in her own apartment. I'm afraid that I'm a little old fashioned in my ideas of refinement and propriety. I believe she would be a great deal happier and safer, too, if she would occupy herself with housework.

"I asked Miss Mims whether she knew how Mrs. Tossey put in all her time, and she said she certainly did not, although she heard her playing the piano a good deal. She must have a large alimony if she is divorced, to be able to dress as expensively as she does and waste so much time playing the piano. I suppose she was one of these frivolous wives that never have a thought beyond their own appearance and their own pleasure. My heart aches for a man who marries that kind of selfish, thoughtless girl. It's a terrible handicap for a young man to get such a wife.

"Well, you may call it wasting sympathy, but you see I have a tender feeling for a husband who hasn't found a real helpmeet in his wife. It may ruin his whole career. I read something that a young man married is a young man married, and I think that applies to a case like Mr. Tossey's.

"You know when she first moved in here a month or so ago, I thought quite seriously of calling upon her. I'm glad now I didn't let my kind impulses run away with my good judgment.

"No, I don't actually know anything against her, but I never see any one going to her apartment. I don't believe that she has any friends or position at all. I asked Miss Mims what she knew about her and she said she appeared to be well, happy and busy, and that was all that she thought necessary for any one to know. Miss Mims is rather a queer person herself, but she is perfectly proper. No one who dresses as badly as she does could be anything else. If she would use a little powder and rouge it would make all the difference in the world in her appearance.

"Why, no, of course, I don't approve of overdoing it as Mrs. Tossey does. No one can make me believe her brilliant color is natural. I suppose she makes up a good deal for fear that people will think the trouble with her husband has affected her looks.

"Her own lovely red cheeks? No trouble with her husband!

"Why I had no idea you knew her.

"Your own niece, bravely teaching music here while her husband has gone to England to see his old mother? How very wonderful and interesting! Do stay and tell me more about her. I know she must be charming. Oh, dear, must you go? I didn't mean anything unkind. You know how one will run on when one gets to talking.

"I wish I had known that you meant to ask me to call on her.

"Must you really go? Well, do come in again soon."—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

An event of world-wide interest in Protestant Episcopal church circles will take place in Japan next month, when Rev. J. S. Motoda will be consecrated as first bishop of Tokio. A student of St. Paul's school in his earlier years, Dr. Motoda embraced the Christian faith, then came to the United States for his academic training at Kenyon college and at the University of Pennsylvania, from which last-named institution he received his Ph. D. degree. Upon his return to Japan he engaged in religious and educational work. For several years past he has been the Japanese president of St. Paul's University. Not only is Dr. Motoda recognized as a great Christian leader and as one of the foremost educators of his country, but he enjoys to an unusual degree the confidence and esteem of all the most progressive Japanese statesmen and publicists.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

The Kiel Canal.

One of the most significant indexes to the changes that the World war brought is seen in the Kiel canal case under consideration by the world court at the Hague. Under clauses of the treaty of Versailles the action was brought to keep the waterway open to all ships of nations with which Germany is at peace even when they carry war materials.

A bulletin just issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society deals with this canal which in effect more than doubled the strength of the German navy, and which prewar Germany managed as she chose.

"It was really by removing the mud and stones from the bed of the Kiel canal—or the Kaiser Wilhelm kanal, to give it its rightful name—that the German empire dug its way into its cherished weit politik and appeared as a great world power," says the bulletin. "Prussia had the vision of this most important waterway before the late empire or anything that could be considered a modern German political entity existed. Prussia did not own a square foot of territory on the North Sea. The Baltic was her only outlet. She had no navy; and Denmark stood across her path, a real naval power. On the North Sea were the Grand Duchy of Oldenburg, the Kingdom of Hanover and some smaller principalities.

"The first step toward the future canal was taken in 1852 when Prussia purchased from Oldenburg an area of marshland on the North Sea near the mouth of the Weser. On this low, muddy site soon rose the made-to-order city of Wilhelmshaven which was to become the second greatest German war-harbor and the greatest German naval base on the North Sea. The jealousies of the pre-empire days are well shown by the refusal of Hanover to permit the building of a railway to the site, which necessitated the slow transportation of all materials by water around Denmark.

"The land through which to construct the canal and its Baltic base, Kiel, came to Prussia in 1864 by conquest, as a result of the Prussian-Danish war. Two years later, Hanover, which had refused co-operation, was defeated by arms and incorporated into Prussia. But the canal was not built then nor even after the German Empire was established in 1871, for the big navy idea had hardly been born.

"Slowly the idea of naval competition with Great Britain grew; and it was probably with a pretty clear idea of what a North Sea-Baltic canal would mean in the naval life of Germany that the modern German Empire's first ruler, Kaiser Wilhelm I, officiated at the breaking of ground in 1887. The next year Wilhelm II came to the throne, and before long was not only pushing the canal to completion but was feverishly building up the navy, in the service of which the waterway was to find its chief function.

"When the emperor formally opened the Kiel Canal in 1895 he practically multiplied his navy by two. From the heavily fortified great naval base and ship-building center at Kiel—the solar plexus of the German navy—fighting ships could slip quietly in a few hours through German territory to the North Sea, for the German equivalent of a 'fight or a frolic.' The island of Helgoland, too, had been acquired from Great Britain in 1890 and was heavily fortified, forming the great bight into which the canal, the Weser, and the Elbe opened and on which Wilhelmshaven was situated, into a huge German naval preserve.

"The Kiel Canal and the German navy went hand in hand before the World War, mutually dependent on one another. The dimensions of the channel were ample for warships of the pre-Dreadnaught type, but when Great Britain began building battleships of too great size to traverse the waterway and Germany considered it imperative to follow with equally powerful vessels, there was nothing to do, if the navy was to remain efficiently mobile, but to widen and deepen the canal. This was undertaken in 1908 and by 1912 the width had been increased from 85 feet to 140 feet at the bottom. Ten feet was added to the depth, making it 46 feet.

"Her huge, improved canal was the key-stone of Germany's naval strategy durng the World War. Shielded by Helgoland, she could secretly shift her naval strength as she wished, meeting Russia in the Baltic so long as that was desirable, or concentrating the North Sea when protection or offense against Great Britain was necessary.

"Kiel, at the Baltic end of the sixty-mile-long canal, has a commodious, deep harbor which is considered one of the best havens in Europe. There centered everything most important to the German navy: the Naval Academy, supplies, docks, imperial shipbuilding yards and the construction slips of the Germain Company, the naval alter-ego of the Krupps. Kiel played its part in the ending of the war as it did in its progress. On November 7, four days before the Armistice, Kiel had already been seized by mutineers who set up soldiers, sailors and workmen's committees. This was one of the first places in Germany in which the imperial regime lost control. From there and from Hamburg the revolution spread rapidly. A little later many of Germany's most powerful fighting ships steamed away from Kiel on their way to internment by the Allies."
